Vol. II Issue III

NEW CNC DISCIPLINARY CODE

The Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary, which is also the governing board for Christopher Newport College, adopted on September 11, 1970, the following statement on student conduct. The purpose of the statement is to protect the rights of students by making clear college policy. It is reproduced in its entirety for your information.

REGULATIONS REGARDING DISRUPTIVE CONDUCT OR INTERFERENCE WITH THE NORMAL FUNCTIONS AND ACTIVITIES OF THE COLLEGE

1. DEFINITIONS:

Christopher Newport College is a community of scholars existing to promote the advancement of learning, the encouragement of scholarship and the transmission of knowledge. As a publicly supported institution of learning, it endeavors to make its programs and resources available not only to the community of scholars but, to the extent feasible, to the public as well.

To attain its mission as an educational institution and to accomplish maximum utilization of its resources, it is essential that each student respect and recognize the authority of the College to engage in normal programs and activities. Violent or disruptive behavior which interferes with the conduct of normal programs and activities of the College cannot be tolerated. In this context, the following definitions are applicable:

A. Normal functions and activities. A normal function or activity is any lawful program, activity, operation, function or event carried on by the College, or conducted under the auspices of, sponsorship by, or with the permission of, the College on property owned by or permitted to be used by the College, and any lawful activity by members of the College community conducted under College sponsorship whether or not conducted on property owned by the College. Normal functions and activities, the carrying on of cultural, recreational athletic programs and events, the maintenance of security and protection of persons and property, the care of buildings and grounds, the allocation of facilities and space for use by organizations and groups, the maintenance of pedestrian and vehicular traffic conditions permitting movement within buildings and on roads and walks free of unreasonable obstructions, and the performance of duties by members of the faculty and staff of the college.

B. Disruptive Conduct. Disruptive conduct consists of:

(1) Any willful act of violence, force, coercion, arson, sabotage, trespass, obstruction or interference by presence, noise or otherwise that obstructs or disrupts any normal function or activity of the College. Such acts include, but are not limited to, willful or wanton destruction of College property, seizure of College buildings, unreasonably obstructing passage of others through the corridors or at entrances and exits, falsely reporting the presence of bombs or explosives on campus, participation in a riot, unauthorized presence in a building after normal closing hours or after notice that the building is being closed, physical detainment of a member of the administration, staff, or faculty against his will, or entering onto a drill, practice or playing field with the intent to, or awareness that such entry will, obstruct or prevent the conduct of any drill, practice or athletic event, or program in connection therewith by any class, team or group authorized to use such location.

(2) Any failure to comply with a request to move on, to vacate an area or to desist a particular course of conduct where such request is made by an authorized person in the reasonable and good faith belief that compliance with the request is necessary to the maintenance or restoration of the normal functions and activities of the College. For this purpose, an authorized person is the President of the College, the Dean of Faculty and the Dean of Students or any campus security officer and any law enforcement officer or conservator of the peace, and any person specifically authorized by the President orally or in writing who, in making such request, gives notice of the authority given him by the President.

(3) Any failure to comply with the terms of any curfew imposed by the president for the purpose of restoring or maintaining the security of persons and property.

2. PROHIBITED CONDUCT:

No student shall commit any act which amounts to disruptive conduct as defined in this regulation, nor knowingly participate with others in conduct which amounts to disruptive conduct.

3. PENALTY AND PROCEDURE:

Any person engaging in prohibited conduct hereunder may be charged with a violation of this regulation and such charge shall be heard in accordance with the established disciplinary procedures of the College. In all cases of action by the Discipline Committee, appeals may be made to the President by an aggrieved student. Any conduct prohibited in Section 2 may result in penalties of reprimand, probation, suspension for a specified period or expulsion, depending upon the gravity of the particular conduct involved and the presence or absence of extenuating circumstances.

SGA NEWS

On September 28, less than 100 Freshman out of a class of approximately 400 met to discuss with SGA representatives the upcoming Freshman elections. Only three candidates had submitted petitions to the SGA at the time of this meeting. The floor was open to questions. The decision finally made was to extend the period for receiving Freshman pre-election petitions.

Several students still owe their SGA dues. If this fee is not paid by October 9, ID cards will not be issued to these students.

CLUB NEWS

On the 23 of September the VC (Veterans Club) officially returned to the CNC campus to raise more hell. The club decided to expand their coolly received Professor Recommendation List so that the entire campus could enjoy the benefits that were reaped by the Vets in the first semester. They fully intend to take a campus-wide poll of professors for the use of all students and all professors.

Leaning to the far right, they decided to initiate the first test file on this campus. Their campaign for the end of P.E. requirements for all college students was renewed.

Rumors that the club was accepting female, non-veteran members are false. Each individual veteran must recruit his own for his own purposes.

Any veteran of more than 181 days of miserable servitude is cordially invited to re-enlist in this semi-military organization. Proof of service is required (a complete description of your first Sargeant will do).

This year the students of CNC have a chance to bring controversy, enlightenment, and thought to their campus. Mr. Williams of the Government Department with support from a few interested students initiated the Patrick Henry Forum during the summer, for the purpose of intelligent conversation.

During the year to come, the forum is open to all students for membership. Any student can propose prospective speakers to the activities committee of the forum. Any reasonable topic in any field is welcome. Cost is the only obstacle, for good speakers do cost money.

The activities committee consists of Mrs. Bleckman, Mr. Healey and Mr. Flick. They have already issued invitations to Rawlings, Garland, and Byro, the Senatorial candidates, for October 23. Early in October they have slated speakers on the new Virginia Constitution.

Some of their future topics include Police and Community Relations, Ecology, and Racial Relations.

Heading the new forum on the executive committee is Mr. Mazarella of the history department. He is backed by Mr. Healey, Mrs. Staik and Al Reeder in guiding the forum. Promises of organizational support have been given by the Veteran's Club and the Circle K Club. Without real support from its members (the student body), the forum will fail; but with a mature reaction to the forum it could lead to a better understanding of the issues that surround us all.

Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority would like to invite all female full-time students who have completed one full semester at CNC to a tea on Sunday, October 25, 1970. The tea will be held in the Hampton Room at the Holiday Inn on Mercury Blvd. from 2:00-4:00 pm. This will mark the beginning of "Rush" week for all prospective members. We hope that everyone will attend the tea and we genuinely welcome you to look into membership in CNC's first sorority.

CAMPUS INFO

Acting President Windsor announced during orientation that he would provide regular opportunities for interested students to meet with him in his office to discuss matters of mutual concern. The first such conversation with the President is scheduled for 12:00 noon Tuesday, October 13. All interested students are invited to attend.

James C. Windsor, Acting President of CNC, announces that for the first time at the College seniors will have an opportunity to compete in the very popular Federal Service Entrance Examination (FSEE) when it is given on a walk-in basis at our campus, Saturday, October 17, Christopher Newport Hall, Room 110, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Complete details and FSEE announcements are now available at the Placement Office.

During the past year about 200 on-campus tests were given at 105 colleges within the Philadelphia region which covers five states including this area. More than 3,500 men and women competed in these tests and more than 60% attained an eligible rating.

The FSEE was designed with the college student in mind. One test taken one time in one place opens the door to approximately 60 different and challenging career fields in many Federal agencies at locations all over the country.

Open to seniors and graduates in any academic major the program is appropriate for students in all curricula except Engineering, Physical Sciences, Accounting and a limited number of other technical fields. This examination is unquestionably the most popular avenue for Federal employment ever devised.

All seniors interested in obtaining jobs after graduation should be aware that interviews are being held on campus by local business and government organizations. The bulletin board out-

SGA AUTHORITY

In the last edition of the Captain's Log, we made mention of the fact that our SGA overstepped their authority by appointing Susie Patrick as SGA Treasurer; even though the Constitutional By-Laws state that a special election should be held. In talking to members of the student government, it was ascertained that they share an understanding that the decision of such an election is left up to their discretion. That they picked Susie because she had polled the second largest number of votes is a credit to the organization; it is to their credit because the SGA, obviously, had honorable intentions. On the other hand, there is nothing in said By-Laws that would prevent them from appointing any qualified student to the post.

It has come to our attention that there are two class officers who hold offices for classes other than their own. Specifically, "Mac" McGlaun, a Junior, is Treasurer of the Senior Class; Paul Babcock, a Freshman, is Treasurer of the Sophomore Class. That both of these men are capable leaders is unimportant; and, that both of these men will be members of their elected classes next term is also unimportant. The important point is that our SGA, with full knowledge of their deficiencies, allowed these men to hold office.

We are not asking that they be removed from office. We are questioning the judgement of our elected officials. It is one thing to govern within the constitutional framework; it is quite another to govern with an "understanding" that officials are acting in the best interest of all concerned.

It has been pointed out that the students probably don't give a damn who holds office. It is on this assumption that allows a sloppy government to exist. We would like to think that students do care; if not, then our SGA has acted in a correct manner. If you do not agree with the above assumption, then you should make your feelings known to your class officers. If by-laws do not exist that specifically state the qualifications for holding an office, then such by-laws should be adopted. We do not think that we are over-stating our case when we point out that a lack of government is better than irresponsible government. THINK ABOUT IT!

Food for Thought

"According to many ecologists, mankind has only 25 years to survive if we continue to pollute at our present rate." Scare tactics? Maybe. But let's look at a few of the facts. Ship captains start dodging refuse 200 miles off the coast of the United States. If all the solid waste produced by the state of California in a week was piled up, it would build a wall 6 feet high and 6 feet wide, and would stretch from Oregon to Mexico. Cows' milk cannot be shipped across state lines if it contains more than 1 ppm DDT--mothers' milk, on the average, contains 5 ppm DDT. Industry causes 20% of all air pollution--man anties up 60% via the automobile and 20% via his home heating plant. Sulfates, common in air pollution, mix with water vapor to form sulfuric acid, which has virtually destroyed the marble statues in Venice--not to mention your respiratory system. As air pollution continues to build up in our atmosphere, heat will not be able to escape, the glaciers will melt, and we will be treading water in tidewater. If you live in a major city, the air you breath contains foreign matter equivalent to 3-4 packs of cigarettes a day. Rapid transit, the only answer to big city air pollution, has been turned down by the voters in every major city--it costs money. If the Everglades continues to be treated as it is now, it will be dry land and 2 x 4 houses in 20 years--not to mention the extinction of the American alligator. Many birds of prey--the bald eagle especially--will be extinct in 15 years--the build up of pesticides in the food chain is stored in the gonads, rendering them quite sterile. Every year 350 million gallons of used motor oil is dumped from service stations--where does it go? You should be able to pick up a used sail boat this year--many sailors have given up, tired of cleaning oil off their hulls after a sail in Chesapeake Bay. The detergents used on oil spills are in many cases more harmful to animal life than the oil itself. Carbon monoxide at a concentration of 40 ppm has been shown to drastically slow down such normal responses as picking a red light or a green light--during the shipyard rush hour traffic on Warwick Blvd., CO often reaches 100 ppm--wonder why there are so many minor accidents on Warwick Blvd? During a rainstorm, the sewage disposal plant at the Small Boat Harbor in Newport News, "opens up," dumping raw sewage and rainwater into Hampton Roads. If you own an aluminum boat, don't use it on the James River near Hopewell--the aluminum will be etched and the boat weakened. If you live near Yorktown, you pay for electricity twice--once to VEPCO and once for rewashing clothes and repainting your house every year because of the flyash. Hope you are not in a plane trying to land at Patrick Henry when the runway is obscured by smoke from trash burning.

Not scare tactics, just fact. What can you do--every little bit helps. If you want to see more grass on campus, keep your litter off--help in the campus cleanup. From the Trident Desk

On October 14, the student body will have an opportunity to vote for one of the two choices stated below.

1. Students will have individual pictures in the yearbook according to class. Each student having this picture taken must pay of $3.00 to cover the cost of the photographer.

2. Individual class pictures will be eliminated to make room for better coverage of class activities sports, organizations, and graduation, and more candied pictures of campus activities.

Other decisions concerning the Trident will be voted on at a later date.

Bitch 'n Pieces

PART II--It has come to our attention that Thomas Nelson is now offering a night time course in "social graces." As quoted in the news item, "enrollees will be reviewed in the essentials of charm, personality and social graces." It is gratifying to note that, in this age of social upheaval, there are those who still want to know the correct way for holding a cup of tea.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Due to the fact that the SGA Council is very much aware of the deficiencies within the SGA structure, they are trying very hard to correct them. This cannot happen without student involvement and concern.

First, the SGA Council has appointed a committee to revise the CNC SGA constitution to make it relevant to the four-year degree-granting institution that we have grown to be. Through this publication, you will be informed as to the progress of the Revisions Committee.

Secondly, your SGA Council members are on campus. They are available to you for any information you so desire concerning the working of SGA. Talk to them...you'll both feel better!

Stephen D. Franklin,
SGA President

From The Editor:

It has come to the attention of the Captain's Log staff that many people on campus feel that the paper reflects only one view of many subjects. This column, Letters to the Editor" is for students who do not have the time or inclination to join the staff to express their views. Instead of complaining to no-one in particular, write your beef in a letter. We print all letters that are received and which are not morally objectionable.

Girls Basketball and Tennis

Christopher Newport is a coeducational institution. That is, there are sports programs for the women here as well as the men. One such program is the girls' basketball program.

The basketball season will start in November after the last game of the girls' hockey season. Basketball will start with practice in early November and the season will follow. The program will be played on an intercollegiate level. In all the team will play eleven games, against such teams as William and Mary.

To be eligible one must be a full time student. There is still time to sign up for the program and anyone interested should contact Miss Royall.

Another program in the planning stages is the girls' tennis team. Miss Royall said if enough interest is shown the team would materialize, but if not, there would be no team. Once again any interested persons should contact Miss Royall.

This year Christopher Newport will definitely have a tennis team. Last year there was no team because of the necessary funds to organize a team. But this year there are accessible funds and the response has been good.

The tennis team this year will be managed by Coach Armistead. He said that this year the team will play ten to twelve matches on an intercollegiate level. Although the schedule is not yet certain, Coach Armistead said most of the matches would be against four-year colleges.

The team will play its home games on the Hilton tennis courts. The team will consist of eight to ten men, the exact number depending on the money available for uniforms and such.

About twenty people have signed up for the team and at the present time between twelve and fifteen people have come out for practice. In practice several men have looked rather good. Some of them are: Gene Tingle, Doug Henkel, Bill Gleistian, Sam Whrenburg, and Mac McGlaun.

Practice will proceed until early March when the team will be chosen. But before the actual selection of team members there will be a call for tryouts. After the team is chosen more practice will go on until the first of April when matches will begin.

When asked about the tennis team's first year and his hopes for it, Coach Armistead was very enthusiastic but he said he didn't know about the first year because he didn't know what the exact schedule was. He said the program has been met with good response and several of those trying out appear to be of a very good caliber. Coach Armistead said the first year would be an organizational year and the team would be built up as the years go by. And next year the school will start recruiting tennis players from various high schools to strengthen the team.

Flag Football

As can be seen from the pictures on this page, the Intramural Flag Football season has begun. The bruises, cuts, and broken arms are the end results of an infectious disease known as football fever. The seriousness of this disease is evident when witnessing the beer-bellied and unphysically fit individuals running, jumping, hitting and working like hell to commit mayhem.

The sun was bright on that splendid Sunday in September. A refreshing breeze blew across the field where in a few moments the contestants of the forthcoming brutal battle would engage in a bone crushing, head-jarring, wrists-breaking, ankle-spraining, relatively non-violent sport. Flag Football, oh un noble sport of college fools; were Achilles alive he would mess up his heel, were Samson alive his head would soon be bald, were Oedipus alive he would tackle his mother. And who would witness these sacrifices, who would watch as our boys met headon in youthful exuberance? No one! To think that these cuts, bruises and breaks were all in vain. Where's the glory, the esprit-de-corps of so noble a battle? The games were started and ended. The end resulted in Blue, Red and White winning. Flag Football has enveloped us, let it be and rejoice for its coming. Next Sunday partake and enjoy.

A Happy Warrior Basketball Season

Once again the basketball season has started. When this edition comes out practice will have already started. Coach Vaughan said the first two weeks of practice would consist of physical conditioning. He said the team would do plenty of running, weight training and other exercises to build up the prospective players and get them in good shape for the season. Actual basketball practice will start practice in the gym. Practice will continue up until December 4 when the team will have its first game, a home game, against George Mason. Another welcome addition to the team is Lee Townsend, 5'11", a transfer student from Wake Forest.

About the team, Coach Vaughan is still very optimistic about the team and expects to have a very good season.

Intramurals

Intramural athletics have again returned to Christopher for another season. Intramural soccer and basketball will be played again this year and horseshoes will be another activity.

Soccer will begin on Tuesday, October 20. The games will be played during lunch. As it stands now, the games will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

On October 23 there will be a sign up sheet for intramural basketball. The sheet will remain up for two weeks, allowing anyone interested to sign up. A common draft will be held on December 9 to select teams. The games, also played during the lunch hour, will start on December 14, with games Monday through Thursday. For both of these sports a team trophy will be awarded to the team that finishes the season in first place.

Intramural horseshoes will be played any time the students want to. A sign up sheet will be posted and matches will start on October 14. Trophies will also be awarded in horseshoes in individual and doubles competition.

Last, Herb Womom, intramural director here at Christopher Newport, wishes to make an appeal to the students. Last year the students had intramural table tennis but somehow the table was damaged and not enough funds are available for its repair. He said that if the students wanted table tennis again they would have to come in and help repair the table. Then and only then can competition start. Singles and double matches will be played and trophies will be awarded in each category. So if you want to play, go down and help fix the table.

The annual fall intramural championship golf tournament was held Saturday, September 19. It took place in Gloucester. The tournament was open to all the students and faculty of Christopher Newport College. Besides the actual tournament, prizes were given for the longest drive and for the closest shot to the hole on a par three hole six. The winners in the division were Mr. Mollick, for the longest drive, and Dr. Edwards, for the closest shot to the hole. The winners in the actual golf tournament were Dr. Edwards, in the faculty division, and Harold Walker, in the students division. The Captain's Log wishes to congratulate all the winners and all the participants in the tournament.

Lecture Series

"Black Man In Contemporary America"

Dr. Herbert A. Marshall, Coordinator of the Black Studies Program at Norfolk State College, will deliver the first lecture in the Christopher Newport Reading and Lecture Series entitled "The Black Man in Contemporary America." His lecture on W. E. B. Du Bois' The Souls of Black Folk will be given on Friday evening, October 9, at 8 p.m. in N110. His lecture will be followed by an open discussion. Admission is free to all students and interested members of the community.

The lecture series is sponsored by the Christopher Newport Humanities division in an effort to provide meaningful lectures and discussion forums for the student body and the community.

Last year's series entitled "Man and Alienation" was attended by several hundred people.

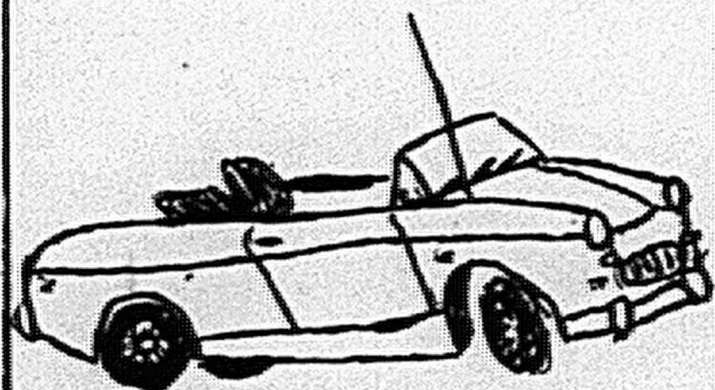

This year, on November 3, the second lecture in the series will be given by Mrs. Elizabeth R. Jordan on Ralph Ellison's novel, The Invisible Man. Mrs. Jordan is an Assistant Professor of English at Norfolk State College and is currently teaching a course in Afro-American Literature.

Mr. William Carroll, Instructor of English at Norfolk State College, will review The Autobiography of Malcolm X on December 11.

A dramatic work or film is planned for February 13, 1971; and the series will end with a panel discussion on March 12 led by Mr. Joseph Healey of the Christopher Newport Sociology Department. Mr. Healey plans to invite Black students from Christopher Newport and The College of William and Mary to participate in this discussion which will be opened to the audience as well.

The Christopher Newport Book Store has a supply of paperback editions of the books which are to be discussed in this series.

The Age of Aquarius

The Age of Violence

Mr. Gerald A. Berlin, past chairman of the Civil Liberties Union of Mass. and past Assistant Attorney General for the state of Mass., recently spoke before a meeting of the American Civil Liberties Union of Virginia, held at the Unitarian Fellowship Church. Mr. Berlin was born on the Peninsula and received his B. A. from U.Va. in 1940.

Mr. Berlin briefly outlined the policies, activities, and problems of A.C.L.U., answered questions and led a discussion concerning A.C.L.U. He gave the basic job of A.C.L.U. as being to protect individual rights. He also said that A.C.L.U. did not seem to attract Negroes or college students but claimed that non-professionals could be trained to carry out day to day work.

The Problems of Academic Freedom were given by Mr. Berlin as one of the basic categories of A.C.L.U. work today. Most college administrators operate for convenience and legislature. Students are treated like 6th graders with the attitudes of administrators being similar to those of a high school principle.

Mr. Berlin claims that the breakdown in communication in the Police Department is where this communication is most necessary between the police and the public. The Police Chief communicates with the policeman and with the public, but a valuable means of communication is lost when information is passed through this middle man.

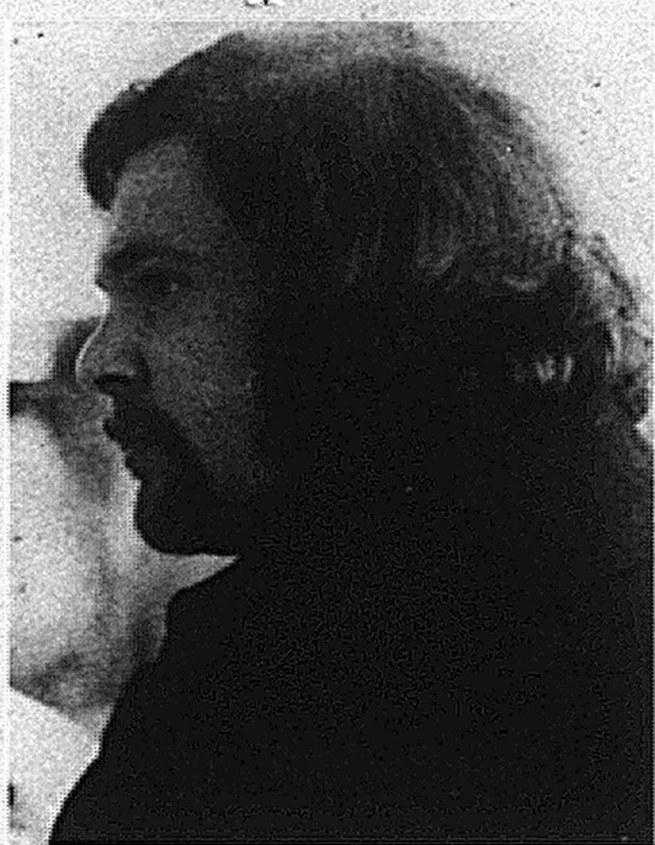

This is the Age of Violence: the police force may be looking for a scapegoat to explain the evils of society and find this target in the "liberal". Such charges as unlawful assembly, disorderly conduct, loitering, etc., can allow a judge to "slam the door" on bearded youths, Blacks, peace nuts, militants, et.al.

Mr. Berlin was quoted as saying, "I happen to think that an independent Federal Judiciary is one of the crowns of constitutional government"; and that, "the Constitution is a miracle of a social document." An administration that cannot cope with today's social problems will result in a police state and repression of individual rights!

"Peace. Love. Music"

The line spreading back into the street was composed of bobbling long hairs (approximately the same age) and braless females (approximately 16 years of age) all waiting to pay their greasy two dollars and a half to see Woodstock.

Yes, the kiddies did turn out in force to satisfy their curiosity. It was the advertising; key to the success of any movie.

"Peace, Love, Music", an interesting reality in the picture. Though three hours in length (with no intermission for full effect of three days of festival (?)), the movie was an enrapturing display of both sides of the proverbial coin.

The first scene opens to the sound of CSN (before Y joined) and to the "taking" of the virgin crease of Max Yasgur's farm. The ground is tilled, the booths are being built, the stage is taking shape, the movie and sound towers are being erected and people are arriving. Chaos? Not yet.

Watching carpenters at work is not my idea of a big time, but they (with arse length hair) seemed to really be getting into what they were doing. They were really, hitting the nail on the head. (Yech) It just did not look like, they were working. So it began.

Families Come

Now, as you watch the place form before your eyes, people begin to arrive. These are not the plastic, long hair, pre-pubescent, teeny-hippie that went to see the movie; these were families, complete families. Already things reach a spectrum beyond that of the expected.

Think of your father driving an old school bus X miles with the entire family, babies and all, to make camp at a music festival. Also, think of your father with shoulder length hair, and you know have the wrong impression. Anyway, it is unusual isn't it? Something special. The children were beautiful and, strangely, they fit. Everything fit. This was part of the mystery, the mystique, of WOODSTOCK.

Then havoc. PEOPLE - hundreds, thousands, tens of thousands. WOW. Most were on foot. Others drove or hitched and, like a biblical storm of locusts, they, began to cover the country side and roads (cutting off the New York Thoroughway).

Richie Havens

Richie Havens was the first to the stage. There is very little to be said about him. At the very least, he gave the crowd the money's worth. He began to play

Jimmi

Then came JIMI. I saw the picture shortly after hearing of his death, and, because of the fact that I own all of his albums, I will refrain from going into much detail on his performance. I'm a little biased.

He was not a nigger that played his guitar left handed. He WAS a man (DIG IT) with an air of elegance, who made his sound felt by tripping the kids on stuff that were too young to try. His music could take you far away and float you high above reality; or, he could slam you to the ground and make you see what you didn't have the guts to look at.

All I will say is that he illustrated the national anthem to a vivid image; tripped you on Purple Haze and carressed you with the last jam number.

There Will Never Be Another Woodstock

Then it was over.

All that remained was the residue of 500,000 people and a monetary loss. They all went home and let it come to pass. It was to be the start of a new concept; but no matter, who says that THERE WILL NEVER BE ANOTHER WOODSTOCK.

CON-

Laughed At Joe Cocker

They also laughed at Joe Cocker. Oh how could they? With a voice like Ray Charles and a power all his own, he took a Battle song (With a little help...) and built it into a sexual experience. Hell, as soon as he introduced the number, a half million people cheered him. And, after he sang the first four words, they cheered him again. The Newport News gang laughed.

No one laughed at Sly though, and no one had the courage to laugh at Santana.

They were good, Santana was the better of the two, and yet, they just did not impress me (myself and I) as giving their best. Santana was tight and really getting into their music, but, their sound just didn't come across as strong as was anticipated. Sly, came on in a flash of sight, but, that was caused by their dress. They, too, were tight, but you just knew inside that they were better. They once made an appearance on the now defunct, Music Scene, which really knocked me down. Their flash was in sound. They sounded so good that people leaped on the stage and danced 'till the cameras faded. That was an experience. But, in the Movie they came across with all the rhythm and flash, but their MUSIC was a BORE!

(For those who saw the show and are wondering about the drummer for Santana, he was 16 at the time.)

Party Policy

The Student Activities Committee is presently attempting to formulate a policy for student-sponsored parties held in connection with the college. The main question to be dealt with by this committee is the role and responsibility of the faculty member acting as chaperon and also the roll and responsibilities of the student group sponsoring the event. Since two students are actively serving on this committee --Sharon Eager and Rich Hahn-- we would like to invite all student to voice their suggestions on this policy to these two students or to the Dean of Students. Let's make our own policy.
