Board discusses fall changes

by Patti Leach

At its March meeting, the Board of Visitors discussed several changes which will occur this year at CNC.

An ad hoc committee has completed the new faculty evaluation form. The new proposal will be voted on by the faculty at their April meeting. If passed, the new evaluation form will become effective with the fall semester.

Lisa Cipriano, Vice President of the Student Association, announced that students have been granted one non-voting member to sit in on faculty meetings. The faculty stipulated that the same person must serve for the entire year.

CNC has been authorized the same number of faculty positions for 1980-81 as for the current academic year. This may mean larger classes and a cutback in some course offerings.

Senate sets golf tourney

The CNC Student Senate will sponsor the second annual CNC Open Golf Tournament on Saturday, April 19, at 9:00 a.m. at the Hampton Golf Course. Tee times for the 18-hole tournament will be announced at a later date. All proceeds from the event will be donated to the 1980 CNC Fund Drive.

Trophies will be awarded to the overall champion and second and third place winners of the tournament. Medallions and/or prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in each of the following categories: CNC faculty and staff, CNC alumni, CNC students, college (non-CNC) and high school students, surprise category.

All participants will be eligible for "Closest to the Hole" and "Longest Drive" contests, and prizes will be presented to the winner and runner-up in each of these competitions.

Over $300 in gift certificates will be awarded as prizes.

Entry fee for students is $12.00; $15.00 for all other contestants. Applications will be available at the College's Campus Center Information Desk, and should be mailed along with check or money order to Effective with the fall semester, a late payment fee of $10.00 will be imposed on all students signing promissory notes who do not pay by the due date.

Tuition will be increased from $26.00 per credit hour to $32.00 per credit hour, effective with the summer session.

Senator John Warner has accepted an invitation to speak at the May graduation ceremonies. When asked whether there were plans to present Sen. Warner with an honorary degree, President John Anderson commented that one will just have to "... come and see."

Exam schedule due

The exam schedule will be published next week. Lack of space prevented its inclusion in this week's issue.

The summer session schedule will be out on Monday, March 31.

CNC in care of the Office of Vice-President for Student Affairs, or call 599-7197 for additional details.

Coach Bev Vaughan has been chosen both the Dixie Conference Coach of the Year and the NCAA Division III Coach of the Year. The voting covered 11 states and the D.C. area. The awards were made after the Dixie Conference Tournament championship. The Captains ended their season 19-8 (12-2 in conference play).

'The Helmsman' sinks; lack of support cited

by Patti Leach

On March 25, the staff and supporters of The Helmsman, CNC's proposed yearbook, met to discuss the fate of the project.

After several pleas for help, The Helmsman is folding. Production was running behind schedule, and with only 20 of 144 pages laid out, completion by the April 30 deadline seemed unlikely.

Problems have besieged The Helmsman in the areas of sales, staff, and interest. Lack of response from potential advertisers and alumni has further dampened the enthusiasm of Editor Ann Stafford and Business/Ad Manager Meg Overton.

Sales were poor, with only 60 books pre-sold--25 of which were to the Admissions Office for use in high school recruiting. To break even financially, it was estimated that 500 books would have to be sold.

Poor response spread into the area of student photos. Of 250 December 1979 graduates, only 40 had pictures taken, and the number of potential May graduates having theirs taken was even less.

Registrar John McCaughey, advisor to The Helmsman, commented that the situation had "... gotten to the point where there is perhaps no point of return." Dr. Charles Behymer, Vice President for Student Affairs, who financed the project from his budget, estimated that The Helmsman was "... probably very close, right now, to losing $2500-$3500."

Ann Stafford found the lack of adequate staff very frustrating and advised, "If anyone is going to try this again, they should make sure they have a large staff."

Dr. Behymer and McCaughey will try to negotiate on their contract with Intercollegiate Press to minimize losses and draw up a loss statement for the project.

May 1980 class to donate books

The Senior Caucus of the May 1980 graduating class, meeting on March 25, voted to collect donations from its members to present a gift to the Captain John Smith Library at graduation. Letters to this effect will be mailed to graduating seniors early next week. A committee to handle the mailing and the funds has been formed and will meet on Friday, March 28, in CC-233 at noon. Any graduating seniors who wish to assist are encouraged to come.

Senate attendance campaign produces good results

by Darlene R. Willett

At the beginning of this semester, the Student Senate launched a campaign to increase student attendance at their meetings, increase recognition of their organization from other parts of the Student Association, and perpetuate projects of benefit to the general student population.

Thus far, the Student Senate has been successful in the campaign. As anticipated, with an increase in student attendance at their meetings, there is an increase in ideas, and with the support of new members in the Senate, current issues are being resolved more efficiently.

Also, as the Senate becomes more effective, it is becoming more widely recognized by other parts of the Student Association. Old criticisms of weakness are no longer applicable.

Current projects in the Student Senate include:

1. Fund Drive Committee - The Senate is sponsoring the Second Annual CNC Open Golf Tournament at the Hampton Golf Course on April 19. Proceeds from the tournament will go to the CNC Fund Drive. At the present time, through the work done by many Senate members, over $250.00 in gift certificates has been donated by local businesses to be used as prizes in the tournament.

2. Textbook Committee - The Student Senate is currently investigating the price of textbooks and the mark-up that is added by the CNC Bookstore. Apparently, the same textbooks have been found at lower prices in local retail bookstores. The results of this investigation will be published at time of completion.

3. Political Affairs - The Senate is supporting a statewide bill that would require a student to be placed on the Board of Visitors of the College. This bill failed in the last session of the Virginia General Assembly.

Frank Wilson, Student Senate President, says, "I am very pleased with the favorable turnout in the Student Senate, and I hope that this upward trend will continue."

Faculty Forum sets April schedule

CNC has announced the topics for its radio program, Faculty Forum, which is aired on WGH-FM each Wednesday evening at 10:00 p.m. Moderator for the series is Dr. James M. Morris, Professor of History at CNC.

Guests, topics, and broadcast dates are: April 2, Dr. Robert M. Saunders, CNC Wilson: the Man and His Values - Part I; April 9, Dr. Saunders, "Wilson: the Man and His Values" - Part II; April 16, Dr. Albert Glickman, ODU, "The Changing World of Work"; April 23, Dr. Stuart Van Orden, CNC, "Modern American Art: What Is It Telling Us?"; April 30, Dr. James M. Morris, CNC, "The Decline of the American Merchant Marine."

Campus Close-Up

Log Deadline

Information for Campus Close-up must be submitted by 10 a.m. on the Monday preceding the next scheduled issue of the Captain's Log. Any notices received after that will be printed only if space and time permit.

ACM meets Friday

There will be an ACM meeting Friday, March 28, at 12 noon in N-117.

All members are urged to attend. Tour plans will be discussed.

Bake sale planned

The Sociology/Social Work Club is sponsoring a bake sale March 31 and April 1 and 2, 8:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m. and 5:00-7:00 p.m., in the Newport Sociology hall. The purpose of the bake sale is to raise money for future activities.

Counseling Center develops smorgasbord of workshops

As a result of surveying a sample of approximately 200 CNC students, the Counseling Center has developed a smorgasbord of workshops to be offered over the next six weeks. Eight of the nine topics for the workshop were those most frequently chosen from the list of eighteen suggested in the survey. The other topic agreed on—"Rape-Information and Prevention Strategies"—represents an ongoing effort by the Counseling Center staff to assist in the prevention of this crime and amelioration of the fallout which occurs in its aftermath.

After looking over the list of workshop offerings (below), students are invited to fill out a registration form at the Counseling Center (W-116) or at the Peer Advice Office, CC-204. Students who wish more information or prefer to register by phone should call the Counseling Center (599-7046) and leave their names with the office manager, Mrs. Judy Bryant.

"Where Do I Go from Here?" is a series of experiences which can enable students to come up with some answers. Taken together, the entire program represents a sequence which moves from the past to the present and into the future. A group under the leadership of a trained counselor will be the learning context for each session. You may sign up for one, two or all three of the following groups:

"Life Line" enables students to look at their past and to discover what experiences have shaped their present view of themselves, their knowledge, skills and their life situation at this time.

"Career Exploration" (2nd week) is a group process which raises students' awareness of the role of values, information, and goal setting as fundamental to any decision-making method. Groups will be limited to no more than five students.

"Getting There from Here" (3rd week) is a group experience which utilizes for 1980-81; the program is funded through the U.S. Office of Education.

For further information about eligibility, stipends, and institutions involved, see *Brochure G*POP in the Counseling Center, library, or W-224 (EEO/AA) or talk to Mrs. Lewis (Counseling Center, 599-7022) or Dr. Friedman (EEO/AA, W-224, 599-7070).

Library has job directory

The library has acquired a book of timely interest to students: the 1980 Summer Employment Directory of the United States. This directory lists 50,000 summer jobs and gives advice on job-hunting, work/learn programs, and instructions for those who are not U.S. citizens. The book is currently on display at the reference desk in the library. The call number is Ref HF5382.5 U5S955 1980.

Gymnastics Club to meet

The Gymnastics Club will meet on Wednesdays from 3:00-5:00 p.m. in the large gym. All are invited to participate and learn something about the sport.

guided fantasy to help people get in touch with their own creative potential for carrying out the plans, dreams, and aspirations which represent each one's hope for his or her future.

The second workshop offering, "Want to Know More About Yourself?" is a group of tests that help students explore themselves—interest inventories, values inventories, personality traits assessments. Students may come to the Counseling Center (W-116) at their convenience and take any or all of these tests. An appointment will be made for personal interpretation of the tests when they have been scored.

"Concentrate-Relax, Reducing Anxiety" teaches students to recognize stress and to handle it more appropriately.

"Rape-Information and Prevention Strategies" is a seminar to increase awareness of strategies for preventing rape, assisting rape victims and their families, and community resources that are available to rape victims.

"Speak Out (for Yourself): Assertive Training" teaches students how to be more assertive with friends, family, professors, lovers. Students learn how to stand up for their rights, say "No," speak up, express feelings from anger to caring, and communicate more effectively.

"Talking-Listening Learning Effective Communication Skills": Would you like to be heard when you speak? Would you like to know how to communicate caring to another person? Would you like to be able to express anger and not be destructive? Good communication skills are an asset in every kind of interpersonal relationship.

"Too Many Tasks--Not Enough Time: Effective Time Management" teaches effective strategies for making the most of the time you have. Exercises will be used to teach participants the "how-to's" of

by James S. Powell

The Executive Council of the Student Association reconsidered the future of The Helmsman at their March 13 meeting. The yearbook is now on the verge of collapse; its future will be decided in the next few weeks. It should be noted that the yearbook could fold prior to its first publication. If this occurs, the administration will simply accept the loss. Any individual who feels that he can be of assistance to The Helmsman is urged to contact Ann Stafford in The Helmsman office.

The Annual Art Show will be held on

Career Planning and Placement

Mr. Ralph DeRosa, branch manager of the Coliseum branch of Newport News Savings and Loan Association, will talk to CNC students on "How to Go for a Job Interview," Wednesday, April 2, from 12 noon to 1:00 p.m. in the Campus Center Theatre.

Mr. DeRosa is a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., and was graduated from CNC in 1978 with a B.S.B.A. degree in finance. He has been employed with Newport News Savings and Loan since graduation.

Also on the program will be Mr. David Herndon of Herndon Associates of Newport News. The firm provides career consultation, resume writing and job placement services.

The following comments were furnished by one of the recruiters, Ms. Marge Dishman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., about the students and one of the professors at CNC:

"Compliments to Professor Coker and his motivation for students to research the recruiting source."

"Impressed with students' rating of academic climate of CNC."

"Overall communication skills were very good—quality of responses."

The Department of Human Ecology at Hampton Institute is having a Career Day Seminar on April 3 for students interested in the following fields: fashion merchandising and design, gerontology, foods and nutrition, education, human services, and housing and interior design. Panels of currently active young professionals will speak on each of the above subject areas. They will discuss their own related career and futures within that career choice.

CNC students interested in attending this seminar should contact the Placement Office, CC-208, so that seating may be arranged for those in attendance.

Recruiting Schedule:

4/1, Xerox Corp. - all majors for sales; 4/3, N.Y. Life Insurance Co. - all majors for sales; Va. Dept. of Education - Marketing and Retailing majors for instructors.

4/9, Internal Revenue Service - Accounting majors for auditor positions; 4/11, Makemie Woods - Counselor and water safety instructors (summer employment); Camp Shon Ta'i - Psychology, sociology and education majors for counselors.

4/16, VCU Dept. of Planning - all majors for graduate studies; 4/18, Montgomery Ward - Business Administration, ac-April 9. During the show, there will be several student artists performing. In addition, several judges have been obtained to assess the artwork which has been entered in the show.

The Fund Drive Student Committee is having problems because of circumstances beyond their control. The Fund Drive is supposed to wind up on April 15; as of this date, no parents have been solicited. The reason for this is a lack of brochures and return envelopes. It is anticipated that this dilemma will be rectified in the very near future.

counting, management majors for staff trainees and commissioned sales.

The following article—"The Job as Property Right," by Peter F. Drucker—appeared in the March 4, 1980 Wall Street Journal.

"In every developed non-Communist country, jobs are rapidly turning into a kind of property. The mechanism differs from culture to culture; the results are very much the same.

"In Japan there is 'lifetime employment' for the 'permanent' (that is, primarily, male) employee in government and large businesses. This means, in effect, that short of bankruptcy the business is run primarily for the employee, whose right to the job has precedence over outside creditors and legal 'owners' alike.

"In Europe, increasingly, employees cannot be laid off; they have to be bought out with 'redundancy payments.' In a few countries, such as Belgium and Spain, these payments are equivalent to a full salary or wage over the remainder of an employee's lifetime, for any worker with a few years of seniority. And the High Court of the European Community, in a decision which is considered binding for all member communities, has ruled that the claim to redundancy payments survives even an employer's bankruptcy and extends to the other assets of the owners of the employing firm.

"In the U.S. recent legislation has given the employee's pension claim a great deal of the protection traditionally reserved for property. Indeed, in the event of bankruptcy or liquidation of the employing firm, employee pension claims take precedence over all other claims (except government taxes) for up to 30% of the employing firm's net worth.

A Matter of Rights

"The various fair-employment regulations in the U.S., whether on behalf of racial minorities, women, the handicapped or the aged, treat promotion, training, job security and access to jobs as a matter of rights. It's getting harder to dismiss any employee except 'for cause.' And there is growing pressure, including a bill before Congress, to make the employer responsible for finding the employee an equivalent job in the event of a layoff.

"Jobs, in effect, are being treated as a species of property rather than as contractual claims. Historically there have been three kinds of property: 'real' property such as land; 'personal' property such

Call Ahead for Orders to Go

Last Call for a 19 year old Christopher Newport College Sophomore to become a 21 year old Army Officer.

The Army offers college sophomores the opportunity to earn an officer's commission in two years. The deadline for this year's class is soon.

Apply now and once you are accepted for the special two year program, you attend a six weeks' summer camp, for which you'll be paid approximately $500. And that's not all. You may find yourself in the best physical condition you've ever been in.

Then back to college and the Army ROTC Advanced Course in the fall. If you've done exceptionally well at camp, you may be heading back to college with a full two-year scholarship.

For the next two years, you learn what it takes to be an Army officer. You get the kind of management and leadership experience that will be an asset to you in any career, military or civilian. You will earn an extra $100 a month up to 20 months. And when you graduate, you will have earned your college degree along with the gold bars of an Army officer.

Nauman gets the "raft"

by Patricia Earls

The fear of nuclear or other holocausts sneaks into our lives daily. Although we talk about it off-handedly and jokingly, we accept the fact that it could happen.

Here at CNC, one yearly event exemplifies this theme: the Raft Debate. Sponsored by Operation Self-Help, the debate consists of departmental representatives and a moderator. These representatives are the survivors on an imaginary raft. Each one's purpose is to eliminate all of the other disciplines, making his the only one to be carried on to the rest of humanity.

This year's raft debate, held on March 12, included Dr. H. Marshall Booker, economics; Dr. Keith Fernsler, sociology; Dr. St. Elmo Nauman, philosophy; Dr. Larry Sacks, science; Dr. Sandy Lopater, psychology; and Dr. Bill Wolf, humanities. Dr. Al Millar was moderator.

The arguments and rebuttals ran from the sublime to the ridiculous. Early in the debate, the main tactic was mud-slinging. Dr. Booker, who was the first speaker, described the various disciplines to the audience. "Philosophy is a person in a dark room trying to find a black cat that wasn't there in the first place."

Dr. Lopater, supported by many of his psychology students, won much applause with his sexual innuendoes. Dr. Nauman, whose arguments stuck closely to the topic, won the debate with the familiar, "Ah, yes," with which he starts each lecture.

The Raft Debate earned $42.72 for Operation Self-Help. This money was in turn donated to the CNC Fund Drive.

Spring Thing seeks talent

The Newport News Spring Thing/Armed Forces Day celebration is coming up fast—May 17-18 is right around the corner. Talent is still being sought by the entertainment committee, especially for the Gong Show portion of the festivities. "Audition times are going fast," said entertainment chairman Adrian Harpool.

The committee is looking for amateur or professional acts to perform on the outdoor stages of the superblock in downtown Newport News during the two-day festival.

There will be opportunities for singers, dancers, jugglers, comics, and almost any other form of entertainer to share in the local limelight. For the Gong Show segment, Harpool is looking for the unusual, unique, or downright amazing performer or performing group. Those auditioning for the Gong Show should so indicate when they call for an audition time.

Auditions will be held in Room 204 at Newport News Intermediate School April 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and again April 13 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the Huntington Intermediate School auditorium.

Audition times can be scheduled by calling Clyde Point or Adrian Harpool at 244-0551.

Needlework exhibit set in Hampton

The Golden Thimble Needlecraft Guild will hold its Seventh Annual Needlework Show on Saturday, April 12, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and Sunday, April 13, from 12:00 noon to 4:00 p.m., at Hampton City Hall, 22 Lincoln Street, Hampton. Admission is free, and the public is invited to attend.

KN torn apart

FT. LAUDERDALE—The boastful cries of Kappa Nu fraternity were brought to an end last week when KN was torn apart in a volleyball tournament with the GDI's. The GDI's were at first reluctant, to play against the Nu's, not wanting to embarrass them in front of the crowds of Ft. Lauderdale, but they eventually took the challenge and met them on the pool deck of the Oceanside Holiday Inn. Although the Nu's were able to score some points, they were never close to victory and lost the tournament with a final score of GDI's, two games, Kappa Nu, none. Rumor has it that the Nu's have decided not to return next year.

Coal Miner's Daughter is a film biography of country and western singer Loretta Lynn. Through careful direction it manages to escape being just another cliché, rise-to-stardom type movie; instead a feeling of authenticity is maintained.

As the name implies, Loretta is a coal miner's daughter from Butcher Holler, Kentucky. Although her parents don't have much money, they have plenty of love. Young Loretta Webb is immediately taken when she meets the fast-talking Doolittle "Mooney" Lynn. She marries him, even though she is a very ignorant 13. By the age of 14 she is pregnant. Mooney decides to leave Kentucky and Loretta soon follows. It is as a housewife in Washington state that she realizes she enjoys singing, first to the children, and later, with Mooney's help, in small honky tonks. Soon they press her first record themselves and drive through Tennessee to get some airplay. When she's Number 14 on the chart, she makes it to the Grand Ol' Opry in Nashville.

Her career goes straight up, but things aren't so smooth for her marriage. Even the career takes its toll eventually, and she suffers a nervous breakdown. But the Lynns overcome this, just like everything else.

Loretta's poor childhood is shown effectively and not exploited. In fact, the major strength of this film as a show-biz biography is that it is not exploitative. Nor is it overglamorized. Instead the childhood scenes are very natural and well photographed, with a well-established mood.

There are times, however, when one wishes that the subject matter weren't treated so subtly that some aspects are almost overlooked, like her possible drug addiction and the cause of her breakdown. The process of her recovery also seems to have been skipped.

The casting in the film is just perfect. Sissy Spacek may not really look like Loretta, but she captures the accent and the manner of the young Kentucky girl most believably. To add to her authenticity she does her own singing, which to even a non-C&W fan sounds pretty good. Tommy Lee Jones as Mooney has the same sort of charm and humor that comes across well on the screen. The two work well together as a couple. Also of note is Beverly D'Angelo as the late Patsy Cline, a fellow singer and close friend to Loretta. She brings a little spice to a rather tame film. The film even tends to drag a bit after her death.

Coal Miner's Daughter is a gentle, often touching show-biz tale that avoids most of the clichés through its careful and authentic style. And it's entertaining too!

Coal Miner's Daughter is rated PG and is playing at the Coliseum Mall Twin.

For the first time in the history of the CAC, capacity crowds filled the cafeteria to hear a band. As soon as "States" began to play, the doors had to be closed with waits up to 20 minutes.

Formerly "McDonald," "States" is nationally known and gets air time over radio stations FM99 and K94. They have released one album on Chrysalis Records and are currently working on their second.

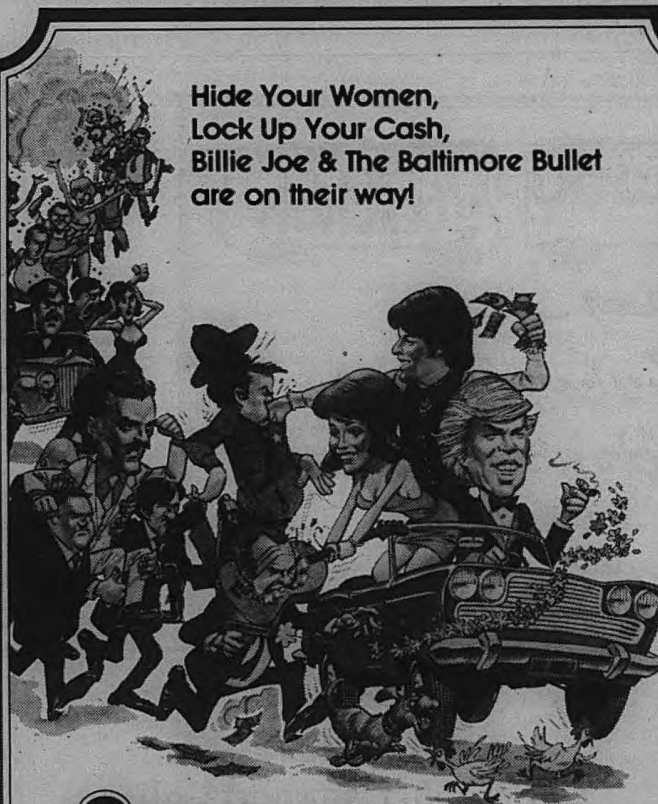

Opening with "Lies," "States" performed various songs from their album, including "My Latest Girl" and "Much Too Young. Vocals resembled the sounds of Styx.

According to Greg Jackson, "This was the 'tightest' band we've had here yet. The drummer, Morgan Hampton, just joined and is one of the best drummers on the East Coast. He added another dimension to the vocals."

"States" returned for three encores. They offered the crowds all they knew and left exhausted. The response, however, was tremendous and for those who missed "States," the possibility of a return show is very good.

Lady Captains end best season on sour note

by David Bean

The Lady Captains ended their best season ever on a sour note. Having endured weeks on the road, and coming close to the point of despair several times, they finished up at the national Division III tournament in Willimantic, Connecticut, with a 68-61 loss to Eastern Connecticut.

Usually the team is eight strong, but only seven made the trip. Sophomore transfer GiGi Johnson reinjured her knees at the regional tournament and could not play. The lack of players has prevailed all season.

In both halves of the game, Eastern Connecticut did more damage with their bench than with anything else. The first half found CNC's offense playing at their worst since mid-season, as Coach Phil Lee commented later. At the half, it was Eastern Connecticut State, 36; CNC, 26.

The second half was a lot better for the Ladies. Hitting 60 percent from the floor, they pulled within two points after trailing by 15. Although they outscored Eastern Connecticut, 35-32, in the second half, they were just too far behind to make up the difference.

Despite the loss, three Lady Captains led in the scoring department: Linda Richardson had 22, Patty Kelliher had 16, and Gwynn Drewry put in 15. The final record for this season is 18-13; post-season play was 3-4.

CNC could have NCAA baseball team

by Hobert Corbett

It is very possible that Christopher Newport College can have an NCAA baseball team within a year. To accomplish this, however, a list of those who would like to play baseball must be accompanied by a budget and submitted to Coach Bev Vaughan and Dr. Charles Behymer, Vice President for Student Affairs.

The team must be a club for one year; then if Coach Vaughan's approval is met the NCAA status can be achieved and the team can start playing in NCAA competition this time next year.

Requirements to be met by prospective players are that they be students at CNC and have at least a 2.0 Grade Point Average.

To sign up, write your name, classification, and GPA on a piece of paper and drop it into the shoe box located at the Information Desk in the Campus Center. Phone numbers should be included.

For further information, contact Hobert Corbett in the Captain's Log office (CC-228) or at 596-4755.

Golf team gets season off to a swinging start over break

After having a match against Greensboro and UNC-G "iced out" prior to spring break, the CNC golf team played three matches during the break. On Monday, in the rain, they defeated Averett College, 335-342. Individual scores were Mike Hott, 86; Mike Ruggeri, 81; David Falin, 84; Dennis Casey, 92; Rich Burns, 84; and Mark Paquette, 86.

They defeated Virginia Wesleyan on Tuesday, 335-341. Hott shot an 82; Ruggeri, 84; Casey, 82; Burns, 93; and Paquette, 87.

Thursday, the team suffered its first loss in a game against North Carolina Wesleyan at Rocky Mount with a score of 303-324. Hott had a 74; Ruggeri, 84; Falin, 84; Casey, 84; Burns, 82; Paquette, 86.

An important factor this year is the development of team balance. Before this season, it was difficult to have four of the six players scoring well. So far this year, all six players have scored well. Since only the top four scores count, the players have taken up the slack when one of the team members has had a bad game. In the match against Virginia Wesleyan, David Falin did not play due to illness and Rich Burns shot a 93. At this point, CNC was five strokes behind, but the sixth man, Dennis Casey, shot an 82, eliminating the 93 score and giving CNC the victory by six points.

Individual averages are Mike Hott, 80.7; Mike Ruggeri, 83.0; David Falin, 84.0; Dennis Casey, 86.0; Rich Burns, 86.3; and Mark Paquette, 86.3.

Intramurals begin season wrap-up

by Hobert Corbett

The Bleaps met the Blue Devils in the first semi-final match of intramural basketball Sunday and came away with a 65-36 victory. Glen Corey paced the Bleaps with a game high 30 points, followed by John Paden with 13 points. Paden also had assists and rebounds in the double figure column. David Richardson led the Blue Devils' efforts, pumping in 22 points. His set shot at the outset of the game beat the Bleaps' zone and led to a man-to-man defense which seemed more effective for the Bleaps.

The other semi-final match between the Tarheels and DU will be played sometime this week. The winning team goes against the Bleaps at 7:00 p.m. Sunday, March 30, for the intramural basketball championship.

During spring break, very few intramural volleyball games were played and several were forfeited. The final regular season ends this Sunday when games rescheduled from February 10 will be played. The top four teams will be determined at the end of Sunday's match.

Team standings are as follows:

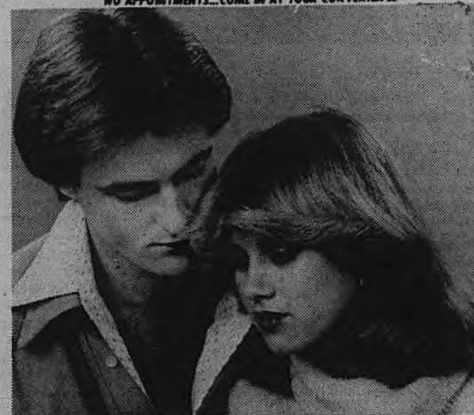

Blue	White
Govt. Club	8-2	EHO's	7-1
Cosmics	7-2	Headhunters	7-1
Alumni OTHG 5-3		PTP	6-2
Our Team	4-4	OTHG#1	4-5

Letters to the Editor

All letters submitted to the Captain's Log must be signed. Names will be withheld at the discretion of the Editor. Address and phone number is required for file purposes only.

Letters are not edited in any way, but are printed as we receive them. We reserve the right to refrain from printing due to lack of space or failure to meet the deadline.

Letters printed in the Captain's Log should not be construed as representing the views of the staff. We welcome comments, suggestions, and criticism of a constructive nature.

Editor's Note: The following letter was received from the sister of a former student at CNC who was killed about a year ago, Larry Bacher.

Warmest greetings. Because Larry's parents live in California, they did not have the opportunity to meet or know most of you. To help fill in this gap, if any of you have a memory of my brother that you would be willing to share with his parents, could you please write it down and send it to them?

Mr. & Mrs. Ed Bacher
5614 Kermit Lane
Stockton, California 95207

"Thank you" does not adequately express my gratitude for the comfort your shared memories would provide. God bless each of you.

Lynn Bacher Shanks

Dear Editor:

Being a junior at CNC and having spent half that time taking all but two physical education courses the college offers, I feel I have reason to be disgusted with the editorial in the Captain's Log on February 21 concerning a certain student's outlook toward physical education.

Physical education is an important distribution requirement just as English, history, science, math, and the languages. A student's education should be well-rounded which includes all subjects. Like the other requirements, students can waiver [sic] physical education. Physical education classes are crip [sic] courses and their purpose is to help people find activities they enjoy participating in and would like to continue doing throughout their life. Since people have more leisure time today and its [sic] still increasing, people need to be educated toward this area and also toward their health and body.

The student who wrote the editorial quotes the college catalog as saying "the Physical Education Department is committed to education through a sound mind and body." This is true because the objectives of physical education are largely related to that statement. The main objective is to develop skills, knowledge, and attitudes essential to a satisfying, enjoyable physical recreation experience throughout one's lifetime. This is also associated with an individual's mind and body.

When she says she should make the decisions concerning her physical fitness she is right. The department does not determine the particular courses a student must take, that is left up to the individual's interests. The Physical Education Department offers a variety of courses and some of them demand less physical exertion than others for the vast number of older students attending CNC. Carry over sports such as golf, tennis, and bowling are offered also.

She suggests that the physical education courses be made easier, more attractive, and give full credit. Degrees are not given away. You must work for them in any field. I think 2 credits for physical education classes is sufficient since its [sic] not a lecture class (3 credits) or a lab class (1 credit).

Physical education majors along with the other majors are required to take a certain number of distribution requirements. Every field should be interdisciplinary allowing the student to gain knowledge in various areas. Physical education is a discipline and should be treated that way.

Jeanice M. Johnson
Physical Education Major

(Editor's note: The "editorial" to which Ms. Johnson refers was a letter to the editor and not written by any member of the Log staff.)

Dear Editor:

I would like to see math distribution requirements dropped. Everyone has their likes and dislikes as far as classes go and I am sure there are classes some people would rather not take. I don't like math that well but how does it look for me to just come out and say drop math. I don't think it's fair to make me do all that adding, subtracting ect [sic]. If someone can determine their own physical fitness without the aid of CNC physical education courses I should be able to determine what I want my math ability to be and whether I need to take any at CNC. Why stop at math, I'm not too crazy about English either so let me pick my spots in that to [sic]. As a matter of fact why don't we just let everyone take the courses they like and make them easy to pass and we can all just pick out the kind of degree we want.

To nitpick over two semesters of physical education courses is just absurd. Everyone has there [sic] dislikes but we can't expect to change curriculums at our convenience just because we don't like a subject. We all have our weaknesses and should just work harder at them. Physical education should be part of making everyone a well rounded student and person.

James M. Jarvis

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the recent article [Ed. note: letter to the editor] by Susan Scarborough-Scotti, regarding the Physical Education requirements. She wanted to remove physical education from the distribution requirements. I don't think that Ms. Scotti understands the importance of physical education. Everybody should be interested in building a sound mind and body. Unfortunately a lot of people wait until they become ill, and their doctor enforces fitness. How can you do away with something that has been helping people for many years? No other department in the college can do more for the health and well-being of a person than physical education.

If every person in the college voiced their opinion on distribution requirements we probably wouldn't have any. Somebody else might not like biology as a distribution requirement. Should that person complain and ask that biology be dropped? If Ms. Scotti read the Student Handbook she would find out that she didn't have to take physical education as a requirement. If physical education is too hard to pass she could have dropped it, and taken the rest of the distribution requirements.

as money, tools, furnishings and personal possessions; and 'intangible' property, such as copyrights and patents. It is not too farfetched to speak of the emergency of a fourth--the 'property in the job'--closely analogous to property in the land in pre-modern times.

"The property rights in the job, such as pension claims or lifetime employment, cannot be bought or sold, pawned or bequeathed. Nor can they be taken away from their 'rightful owner.' And this was pretty much the way the law treated property in land in medieval Europe and pre-modern Japan.

"This parallel is no accident, I submit. The emergency of property rights in the job does not result from union pressures or government fiat; neither, for instance, had much to do with Japan's lifetime employment practices. Rather, what a Marxist would call the 'objective forces of history' have dictated that first land and now jobs would be accorded the status of real property."

To be continued in next week's issue.

Captain's Commentary

by Judith Hrul

Although the CNC faculty cannot comprehend why any student would subject himself/herself to such flagellation, they voted at their last meeting to permit a student to attend future faculty meetings. The student will be appointed by the Student Association and serve for one year. In mock retaliation, the faculty made student attendance mandatory. Since faculty attendance is also mandatory, there is little student concern with this stipulation.

Allegedly, the proceedings at these meetings are a yawn, and most of the battles are fought in the committee meetings, many of which have student representatives. In spite of this, students feel that having a representative at these meetings will strengthen faculty-student relations and hopefully promote a better understanding of the feelings of each group on various issues.

Along the same line, both the Political Science and Sociology Departments at CNC have invited students to attend departmental faculty meetings. Other departments may have students attending their meetings, but if they do, it's a well-kept secret. Having a student at departmental meetings provides benefits for both faculty and students. Faculty members can get an immediate response to proposed courses, requirements, and stipulations. A department program may even benefit from student perspectives and suggestions. Students, on the other hand, gain insight into the decision-making process of the College. It isn't often wildly exciting to attend these meetings, but the long term benefits will certainly outweigh the short term agony.

ATTENTION PHILOSOPHY MAJORS:

Q. Why is Bacon so respected?

A. Because Bacon is the best thing that ever happened to a cheeseburger.

And you can save 30¢ when you buy our brand-new bacon cheeseburger.

We're pretty sure that Bacon didn't write Shakespeare after all. But then he didn't invent Roy Rogers bacon cheeseburger either. It takes a real imagination to top our perfect cheeseburger with crisp, delicious bacon.

Nevertheless, even Bacon would approve of our offer. For a limited time only when you buy one bacon cheeseburger, we'll give you 30¢ off. But, Sir Francis still can't take credit for our bacon cheeseburger. So why's it named after him?
