"Do you realize that the IRS man was actually breaking the law when he turned over Nixon's tax forms?"

"Oh sure! Anything's alright to do if you're willing to pay the consequences . . . rob, steal or even kill."

"I think it's possible to be a criminal as well as a moral hero."

"But mmmllfff -- Kevin, I just don't think I can talk with you anymore!"

INDIVIDUALITY: DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT IT'S FADING

The rationale for writing this tract is simple -- the writer has come to the point where he begins to wonder whether or not Huxley's 'New World' concepts are not already with us.

Living today has become more of a routine than an experience -- people huddled together for the long trip to work, school, leisure (en masse), and then back home (those modest looking buildings that furnish a roof over the family's head whether it be a 2x4 split level, a modern all convenience condominium, or the centrally located apartment community of the future, designed with you in mind, of course). Once home, the family, or a part thereof, breaks for what he, the collective he, believes to be freedom from the group. Leaving the security of home, he heads for the open spaces of the 'deja vu' coffee house, or the 'freedom foundation' sanctioning meeting, or the 'New You' night spot on the edge of town where, like all the others present, he foregoes the freedom for which he came, and falls into the same patterns of those around him for the sake of social acceptability.

Now don't get me wrong, I wouldn't imagine casting the first stone against the fraternal halls of brotherhood, or the vast and ever present grouping of collective societies that promise one the prize of inner peace and tranquility through some formula that was arrived at by long hours of work by one individual, for the sum of $68.49 down and $12.58 each session.

Though there is always some redeeming quality to be found in the presence of associates or friends who have the same interests, the qualities may be lost if the environment does not allow for the individual growth and development of involved members. Philosophers, psychologists, sociologists, and historians too, have all made a point of the necessity for social ties, that they protect not only the psyche but our property and person as well, but not without a price. Personal freedom, little idiosyncrasies, and many actions one thought to be 'normal,' all have to be dropped to conform to the wishes of the majority. Members of society often have to be desensitized for the betterment of society, and if you won't cooperate, the art of exorcism is practiced.

To make the statement, the blanket statement, that 'individualism is dead' is not worthy of this individual or others who feel that their's is not in jeopardy -- but take a look around and as objectively as possible see if you are the individual that you want to be or merely the product of some superstructure.

Does the Country Want Impeachment or Blood?

Something very strange is occurring in our society -- mass-vengefulness. A couple of years ago a desire began to grow in our country to rid ourselves of our leader because he did not in fact seem to be working for the people, at least not the majority of us. In the light of Watergate, we've discovered that the one thing our President seemed interested in was being President.

Now this man has "honorably withdrawn" (to reuse a former phrase) from his office and those people, including myself, who wished him impeached should be satisfied. Most are not. For some reason having attained our goal does not seem to be enough -- there in its place has arisen a new goal, a cry for blood.

The former President is an ordinary man and therefore not above the law. But he was not in an ordinary position, rather he was in the highest position that one can attain in our society. For those of us who know anything about power and status and egos, we should realize how much of a punishment Nixon has taken just in losing his office. I ask, how much do you want?

If we proceeded as the and politicians seem to have intended, perhaps we could have improved the quality of our lives. I feel that although he should not be considered above the law, he was put in the position of President by a majority of the people -- even though many of them were duped -- and should be shown some respect for his office. If being duped is what's bothering a large segment of the populace, then learn from this and attempt not to be duped in the future. Let us not waste the government's, the people's, our own time pursuing revenge. Our goal has been attained -- let it rest.

LETTERS - The Reader Speaks Out

Local DJ Refutes Attitudes of CNC Writer

To the Editor:

Throughout the school term last year, I felt Dan Kooi wrote in his column "Vibes" with an air of aloofness, reviewing a limited variety of LP's, to the point of a clique syndrome. What finally got to me was the column dated September 9, 1974, which dealt with C,S,N, &Y...and particularly Y. Specifically Mr. Kooi's reference to AM radio... "So if you're still into AM (they tell me some people still listen to it)." To Mr. Kooi, I say RUBBISH! Yes, some people do still listen to it. According to

The American Research Bureau, an average of 85,100 people age 18-65 listen to AM every quarter hour from 9am to midnight Monday through Sunday in Tidewater alone compared to 43,600 who listen to FM. During the past 9 years, I have worked for both AM and FM stations, and virtually every musical format, including my present employment with WGH-FM. I believe in FM and its potential for growth, but I am not prepared to look down my nose at those who still listen to an AM station, for whatever reason.

I would go one step more and say that such a narrow selection of material for review does not represent the enrollment at CNC, but rather reflects the enrollment at the more protected, juvenile indulging, Ivory Tower campuses, some of which are within driving distance from CNC.

As for 'nostalgia,' is not Neil Young reaping the financial reward from those of us who miss that ole 'C,S,N,&Y' magic and rush to their concerts and LP re-releases?

I must say, that I am in some agreement with what you have said in many of your reviews, Mr. Kooi, but would welcome a true entertainment column of wider scope.

Cafeteria Coffee Lends Itself to Student's Misery

To the editor:

I visited the Campus Center today to turn in some books from last year to A.K. Psi for resale.

While there I bought a cup of coffee from the cafeteria. The reason I bought it there is that Mr. Prue has a monopoly on the sale of coffee at CNC. Even though it is a small operation, it acts as a corporate giant in showing a lack of responsibility to the consumers who support it with their purchases (Reference, In The Name Of Profit, Robert L. Heilbroner & Others, 1972). The coffee was horrid. After two sips I discarded that liquid substance which was purchased as, but falsely sold as coffee. There is not a restaurant around that could sell that type of coffee without offending it's customers and refunding their money.

I feel that since Mr. Prue has the sole responsibility for selling coffee to the students, faculty, and staff at CNC, he should take pride in his performance since he does receive a salary for occupying his position.

I feel certain that Mr. Prue could make a pot of drinkable coffee with a small bit of experimentation with water levels, amounts of coffee used and different brands. After all, with the winter months ahead of you, the students, faculty, and staff deserve better coffee than what was served.

Who Needs a 'Yellow Meanie'? Pat doesn't!

To the Editor:

In reply to "Name withheld at Editor's Discretion," I am happy to say, brother, I am not a wandering and bewildered sister, and I never committed my personal experiences on marijuana. Even Mrs. Jerald Ford claims her children have tried it. But looking at things realistically, does a judge have to experience rape or murder to know it's wrong?

If you need grass to make your head develop, then your head is simply in a different place than mine. I feel I have learned to use my mind without using stimulants. I don't need marijuana to "clean out my mind" or put "sunshine on the hillside" and I don't feel that it is fair for you to advise me that I should light up a "yellow meanie." I prefer to light up my brain, but that is my choice.

I did not present my point of view for an argument and not to change one's belief, but simply to make you aware of the other side of the weed. I respect my opinion which took several weeks of accurate research to develop.

P.S. Put that in your pipe and smoke it!

CNC 'Vet-Rep' Robert Aspell hopes to give veterans quick effective assistance with VA claims.

VA Provides Vet-Rep for College Campuses

Mr. Robert J. Aspell will be the Veterans Administration's "man-on-campus" for Christopher Newport College. The VA's new program is designed to provide personalized service to veterans receiving educational assistance benefits under the GI Bill.

Under the new program announced in May by the VA, each college in the nation will have a Vet-Rep either on campus or have access to a traveling Vet-Rep from a nearby college on a regular schedule.

Mr. Aspell, who joined the VA this year, was one of 1,327 Vet-Reps hired or assigned from within the VA for the positions. Priority was given to Vietnam Era veterans who have experienced campus life.

Mr. Aspell received orientation at the VA Regional Office in Roanoke, Va., and returned July 20 from an intensive two week course conducted at West Georgia College in Carrollton, Georgia, for Vet-Reps from the 13 southeastern states.

The Vet-Reps will be prepared to resolve individual payment inquiries. He is expected to eliminate many payment delays caused by changes of address, dependence status or a change in school courses. He will also be on hand to assure that proper certification is made by both student and the school.

The Vet-Rep will serve as liaison for all campus veteran groups and brief them on benefit matters, and consult with college officials and faculty on VA matters.

Mr. Aspell is a Vietnam Era veteran having served in the Air Force from 1952 to 1973.

He has attended the University of Colorado, Southern Colorado State College and the University of Hawaii.

He will be in the Counseling Center, Wingfield Hall from 8AM to 4:30PM on Mondays and Wednesdays, and on Thursdays from 1PM to 4:30PM. On Thursday evenings he will be in Room 212, Campus Center from 6PM to 9PM. Mr. Aspell will also service veterans attending the College of William and Mary and Rappahannock Community College.

New Professor of Art added to CNC Faculty

Dr. Stuart Van Orden has been appointed the new professor of Art in the Department of Fine and Performing Arts.

Van Orden received his BA from Southwestern University with a major in Art and a minor in History, his M.F.A. from Cornell University with a major in Painting and a minor in Art History, and his PhD. in Humanities from Syracuse University with a major in Art History. He has also studied drawing, design, and painting at Cooper Union and at the Art Students' League.

He has three years teaching experience which often included curriculum design and management at Illinois Wesleyan University, Ohio State University, Pan American University, Sul Ross State University, Wesleyan College, Wells College, and Eisenhower College.

Van Orden has traveled extensively in the US, Central America, Mexico, and Europe. He has considerable experience in medical illustration, advertising art, stage design, and curriculum advising.

He has appeared on TV as a panelist for four years, acted as host on a radio interview show for a year, and has served as a magazine art editor.

Dr. Van Orden has exhibited his paintings extensively and won numerous awards. He continues to sell his paintings in London and Florence through an agent.

Van Orden and his wife Marie, a sculptor, reside in Newport News.

CNC Sailing Club will host Regatta

The CNC Sailing Club will host a South Atlantic Sailing Association regatta at the Langley AFB Yacht Club this coming Saturday, September 21. Invited to the regatta are Davidson, Duke, U.Va., O.D.U., and U.N.C.

The competitors in this one design event will be sailing Ghost 13's. Sailing will start at 9:30 am and continue into the afternoon.

Everyone is invited to attend the races and support the Captains.

CNC's Tim Hund and Mike Knez dribble downfield in preparation for the upcoming Virginia Wesleyan game.

Soccer Team Faces First Intercollegiate Match

by Doug Ferris

On September 18, Wednesday afternoon, the Soccer Team of CNC will have its first match event in the Dixie Conference against Virginia Wesleyan. The match will be played on the Captains' home field behind Ratcliffe Gym at 4 pm.

Opening the season against Virginia Wesleyan, the Captains have challenged a formidable foe. Strong last year in the conference, Virginia Wesleyan beat the well established team of William and Mary, which will be even stronger with returning veterans for the new season.

Additional matches are scheduled for the infant team of CNC making a total of twelve matches for the season.

Whether you're an avid soccer fan or have never seen a match before, the new addition to the CNC intercollegiate sport schedule should provide a season of excitement. Remember, while rugby players may bury their dead, soccer players drink their opponents' blood.

Graduate Fellowships Available for 1975

Inquiries about the Danforth Fellowships, to be awarded by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, in March, 1975, are invited, according to the local campus representative, Dr. Joyce Sancetta, CNC Professor of English.

The Fellowships are open to all qualified persons of any race, creed, or citizenship, single or married, who have serious interest in careers in teaching and/or administration in colleges and universities, and who plan to study for a PhD in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum in the U.S. Applicants must be under 35 years of age at the time of application, and may not have undertaken any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate. Persons must be nominated by liaison officers of their undergraduate institution by November 20, 1974. The Danforth Foundation does not accept direct applications for the Fellowships. Approximately 100 Fellowships will be awarded in March, 1975.

The award is for one year and is normally renewable until completion of the degree or for a maximum of four years of graduate study. Fellowship stipends are based on individual need, but may not exceed $2025 for single Fellows and $2200 for married Fellows for the academic year, plus dependency allowances for children and required tuition and fees.

Other fellowships may be held concurrently with a Danforth Fellowship, except for those administered through other programs of the Danforth Foundation. Income from other awards will be taken into consideration in determining the supplementary living expense stipend if the amount received is less than the Danforth maximum, and if the agency concerned will allow this.

The Danforth Foundation

was created in 1927 by the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth of St. Louis as a philanthropy devoted to providing aid and encouragement to persons, to emphasizing the humane values that come from a religious and democratic heritage, and to strengthening the essential quality of education.

VIBES

by Dan Kooi

I had my first visit to Ramblin' Conrads this past Friday with intentions of watching our own Barbara Anderson performing away from home. Ramblin' Conrads is a weird little place right across from ODU in Norfolk. I say it's weird because it's the only place I've seen with walls covered with 6 string and 12 string guitars, banjos, dulcimers, lutes, and a host of other stringed instruments. They also carry all kinds of folk records such as "folk-legacy" label that you won't find elsewhere, as well as used guitars and even kits for building your own dulcimer.

In this kind of atmosphere you naturally expect to find those kinds of people who would play these instruments from the newest amateurs and novices to others from all over the east coast who have been playing for years. Up to now it's been just kind of a gathering place for Songmakers of Virginia, people from ODU, and others generally interested. As of this past Friday, it has also become a Friday night coffee house, coffee and cokes in the back for those who fail to notice, with different groups or individuals providing the entertainment. All this for just a buck. The entertainment varies from quite bad to quite good. It varies that much because the manager, Bob Zentz, likes to give new talent a chance to perform in front of people.

The good talent occurs because giving people a chance to play means that people like Barbara occasionally turn up. Barbara has an exciting voice. She opened up with "King of the Road" and the audience, many of whom are themselves musicians, loved it. Her second song, one of her 'sailor' songs, was so moving I got chills -- and the only other musical item that's done that lately is Roy Buchanan's blues guitar. A new set of strings resulting in a lot of tuning did detract from the rest of her performance, I admit, but then no one else did G minor, suspended 4 tuning, either.

What Barbara lacks in performing experience is more than made up for by her experience in feeling -- something you know when you hear her sing. We should get a chance to hear her at Christopher Newport on October 18 at the fall folk festival. Once a few more people hear her I doubt she'll have much difficulty gaining performing experience.

All in all, Ramblin' Conrads was worth visiting on its own merits and future Fridays will likely find me there again. And if Barbara should be there singing, well, that's about all you could ask for.

Leathercraft Demo to be set up in Campus Center

The Campus Center will sponsor a leathercrafting demonstration and sale in the Campus Center rear lobby, first floor, on Tuesday, September 17, from 9 am to 3 pm. Students are welcome to try out leathercrafting tools and skills under the guidance of a professional leathercraftsman. In addition, ready-made items will be on display and for sale.

'Woodstock' to show Sunday

For the 400,000 kids who made the pilgrimage to Woodstock, the three-day marathon of peace, love, and music, the event is more than history. For those not present, filmmakers Michael Wadleigh and Bob Maurice captured the mind-boggling spectacle in an overwhelming display of cinematic technique. "Woodstock" won the 1970 Academy Award for Best Documentary Feature.

Running three full hours, the film features Joe Cocker;

Crosby, Stills, & Nash; Arlo Guthrie; Jimi Hendrix; Santana; Sha-na-na; Sly and the Family Stone; Ten Years After; The Who; Joan Baez; Country Joe and the Fish; Richie Havens; and John Sebastian.

Season tickets for the Campus Center Movies will be on sale until the end of this week. Cost is $7.00 for 14 movies. After "Woodstock," season tickets will no longer be available, and single admission is one dollar.

Counseling Center Expands Special Services This Fall

Special Services offered by the Counseling Center during Fall Semester include a Personal group with Bob Wildblood informal weekly rap sessions for veterans with Glenn Voight and Bob Aspell (Veterans Representative) a women's development class with Bonnie Hansen and Cathy Hastings, and a weight reduction class with Ms. Hansen.

The women's Development Class is scheduled for Monday 2-5 pm beginning today, September 16. Career and personal goals and ways to achieve them will be explored.

"Write Off those Extra Pounds" will meet every Tuesday 12:15 to 1:45 pm. Methods to control weight will be offered, using some behavior modification and Gestalt awareness techniques.

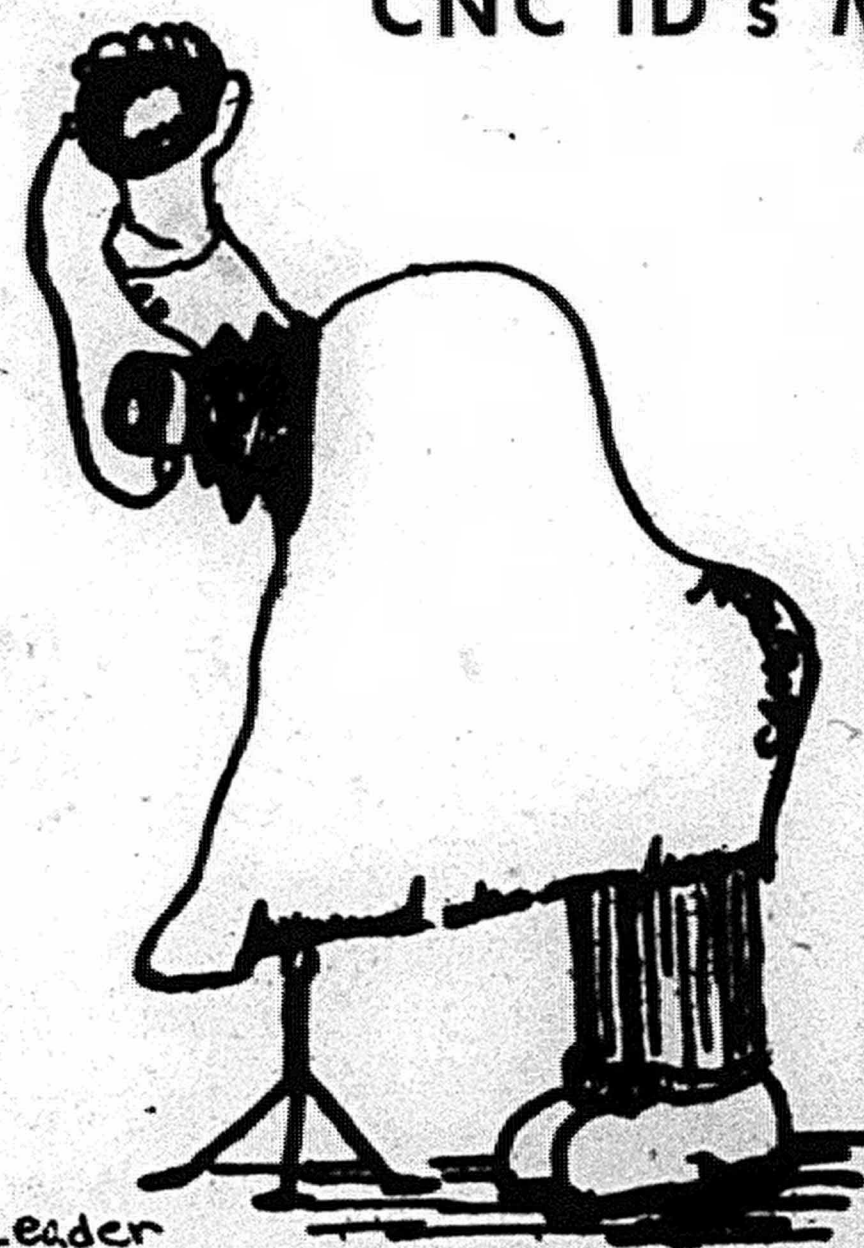

The Personal Growth and Veterans Rap groups will be held at mutually convenient times.

For more information and to register for any of these sessions, contact Mrs. Bryant at the Counseling Center (ext. 291/292)

CNC ID's MUST BE CURRENT

Students are reminded that they must have a current CNC ID card to be able to use Campus Center facilities and for special events.

Any student without an ID must have a new card made this week from 11 am-1 pm. No ID cards will be made after this week.

OWE Hosts 'Get Acquainted' Meeting Wednesday

The CNC Organization for Women's Equality is hosting a free lunch "Get Acquainted" meeting for members and potential members at noon, Wednesday, September 18 in the Campus Center, room 233.

Members will be present to discuss plans for the 1974-75 year. Anticipated projects include regular issues of OWE's newsletter Women to Women, the annual women's workshop on February 8, 1975, and participation in the William and Mary Women's Day Festival. There will also be the usual monthly on campus programs. For further information, contact Bonnie Hansen at the Counseling Center.

National Student Lobby Fights for Low-Cost Student Air Travel

Throughout the fall the National Student Lobby, a four year old federation of individual students and student governments headquartered in Washington, DC, will fight for adoption of Congressional legislation insuring a national air transportation policy that will benefit students.

Arthur Rodbell, Executive

Director of the National Student Lobby, announced that NSL's lobbying strategy will center around the passage of two bills by Congress, S. 1739 and S. 2651. Both bills appear to have excellent chances of passage before Congress adjourns for the November elections.

On of these bills, S. 2651, would overturn a decision of two years ago by the Civil Aeronautics Board prohibiting the scheduled airlines from offering the so-called "youth fares." Due to NSL's massive lobbying effort, the bill, S. 2651, was unanimously passed by the Senate in November of 1973, and is due to come up for hearings before the House Subcommittee on Transportation and Aeronautics as the Subcommittee's next order of business. S. 2651 would reinstate discount air fares on a standby basis for youth under 22, senior citizens over 65, and handicapped persons.

The second bill, S. 1739, would liberalize the conditions under which the US airlines may offer inclusive tour charters (ITCs) to the public. Restrictions would be removed which now prohibit airlines from offering the lowest possible prices and the greatest selection of packages to the travelling point.

"Students stand to gain in different ways from each of these bills," Rodbell said. "According to the U.S. Office of Education, 1.6 million students commute 500 miles or more between their homes and school. The cost of air travel is no small component in the overall cost of obtaining a post-secondary education in the 1970's. When travel costs suddenly and dramatically increase, an extreme burden is imposed upon the student, the student's family, and in some cases the student cannot complete his/her education because of the financial hardship."

S. 2651, which would allow the student with a flexible time schedule to travel standby at a reduced price, could save students as a whole an amount approaching 100 million dollars annually. Passage of S. 1739 would provide the student a greatly expanded opportunity to travel by group charter, and save in many cases more than half of what would be the current costs of their travel.

Letters are needed now from students who care about the prohibitive cost of air travel. Write your Representative (c/o House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515) expressing your support for the passage of S. 2651, and to your two Senators (c/o U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510) stating complete support for S. 1739.

Students to vote on New Code for Academic Work

by Karen Gardner

On September 26-27, students will vote on a referendum concerning the adaptation of the new Code for Academic Work. Below is a summary of the differences between the old Code of Honor and the new Code for Academic Work.

According to Roger Warf, chairman of the Honor Council for the past two years, the changes have been made to make for a realistic and a viable method of dealing with academic conduct.

The old Honor Council is made up of six students, selected by the SGA, and one faculty member chosen by the council to act as an advisor.

The proposed Academic Trial Board would be made up of three students, three faculty members and a Hearing Examiner. The three students would be selected by the SGA, and the three faculty members would be chosen by their colleagues. The Hearing Examiner would be appointed by the President of the College and would serve as a non-voting member of the Board.

In the old code, a student or professor would go directly to the student or to the Honor Council to report a violation. The student then could either resign from college or report himself to the Honor Council. If a student wished to remain anonymous, he could notify the professor whose student was cheating.

In the new code, a student could report a violation by alerting the professor. If a professor suspects a student, he must contact him for a conference. "In conducting his investigation, the professor must use discretion in order to preserve the name of the student not yet proven guilty. If the professor finds no real evidence against the student, he must drop the charges." (Section II, A-1).

If found guilty, the consequences provided for in the old code are suspension, reprimand by letter (a copy to stay on file for seven years),

Sierra Club to Meet Wednesday

The Peninsula Group of the Sierra Club will meet at 7:30 pm, Wednesday, September 18, at Harwood's Mill, Orianna Rd. (Rte. 173). The public is invited, both to see a movie to be presented by Newton Ancarrow, and to see the workings of the Sierra Club. Additional information may be obtained from Jim May at 595-3795.

and a grade of 'F' plus dismissal from the course.

The penalties under the new code are dismissal from the course with a grade of 'F' (a copy to remain in a confidential file for five years or until a baccalaureate degree is awarded), a grade of zero to be averaged in with other grades, and dismissal from college if a violation occurs twice and results in two courses with 'F' grades.

The new code requires the accused student to present his own case at the trial, while "The old code permits a lawyer or counselor to question witnesses, if he thinks such questioning to be helpful in presenting the case."

The accuser is permitted to present his case in the new code. After this, he is excluded from the deliberations of the Board. The accuser under the old code was not permitted to take part in the trial unless called upon as a witness.

A provision has been added in the new code that allows the accused to study the written minutes of the trial or other exhibits before and during the trial.

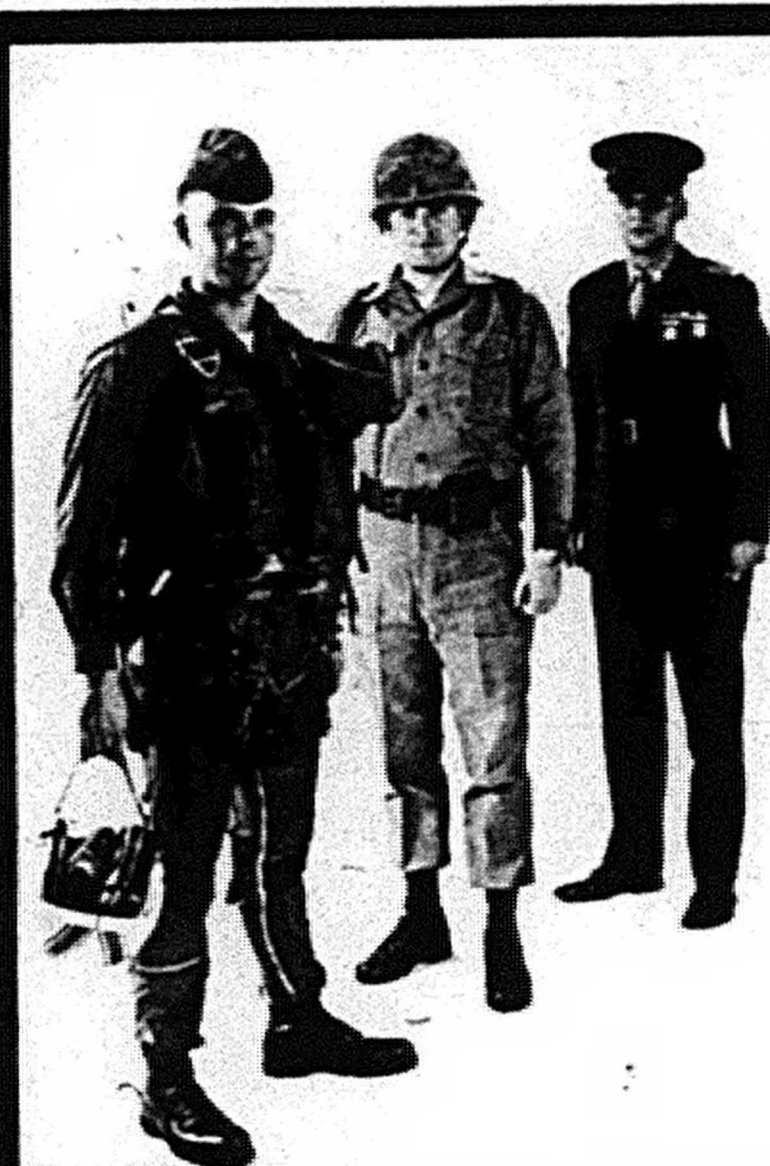

The new code excludes the old provision of public notice for actions taken at the trial. Information concerning the trial was to be posted on the library bulletin board and published in The

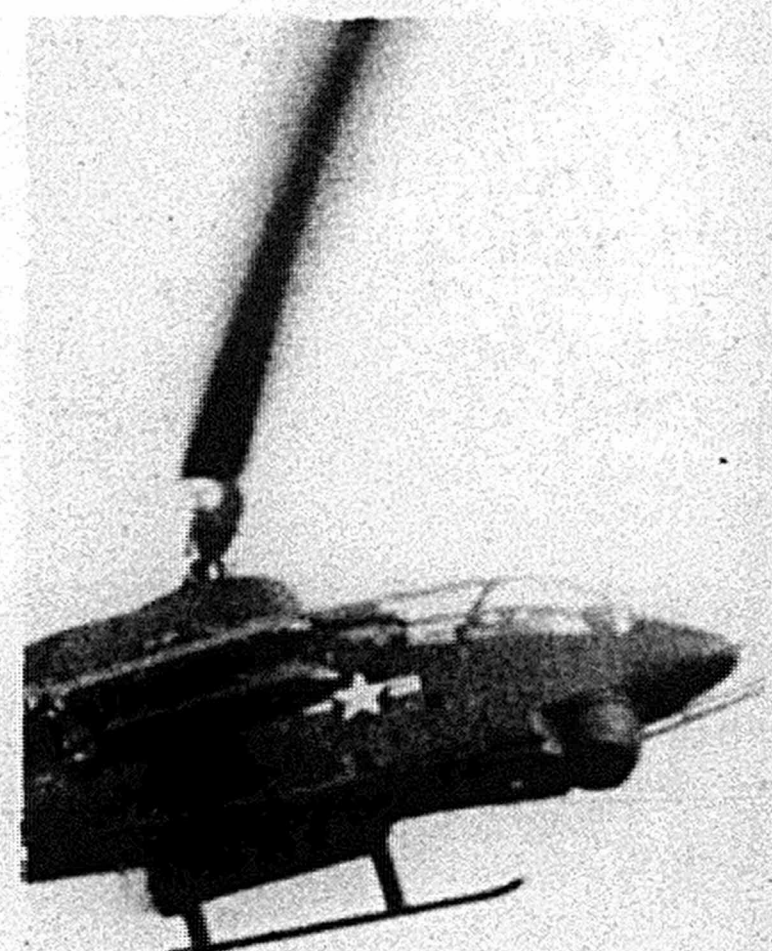

ROGER WARF, HONOR CODE COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

Captain's Log; however, no names could be mentioned.

Finally, the new code permits only those authorized to be present at the trial.
