Marshall Booker and Carl Colonna have been invited to present a paper on Saturday, April 29 at the Eastern Economic Association meeting in Washington, D.C. The session is on the History of Economic Thought and is chaired by a noted economist, Dr. Ingrid Irma. The topic of the paper is "Thomas Roderick Dew-American Economist of the 19th Century."

Additionally, Marshall Booker is the chairman of a contributed paper session at the Eastern Economic Association meeting on Labor Economics and Manpower Development.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Curriculum Committee

1. The Curriculum Committee voted to table the Expository Prose - Competency Test in Writing proposal until further information is available. The Committee is sympathetic to the aims of the proposal but is unable at this time to resolve all the problems attendant in implementing the proposal.
2. The Committee voted unanimously to recommend to the Faculty approval of a cooperative program with Duke University leading to the professional degrees of Master of Forestry or Master of Environmental Management.
3. The following proposed change in the core curriculum and distribution requirements is recommended to the faculty by the unanimous vote of the Curriculum Committee:

English	6		core curriculum
Math/Philosophy	4-6
Social Science	12		distribution requirements
Natural Science	6-8
Humanities	12
Foreign Language	6
Phys. Ed./Studio	2-3
