

CHRONICLE

Sept. 4, 1992

UNIVERSITY CELEBRATION -- Some tickets still remain for the Sept. 19th dinner/dance, one of the special events planned to celebrate University status. The fun begins at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails in the Terrace. Dinner, featuring Filet Mignon, will be at 7:15 in Christopher's. Dancing to the sounds of the top-40 band "Limosine" will be from 8 to 11 p.m. Reservations, by Friday, Sept. 11, are required. Contact the Office of University Relations, Ext. 4-7039, for more information.

FOUNDERS DAY -- Founders Day is Sept. 17. The entire campus community is invited to take part in the first University Convocation to be held on the Great Lawn. The processional begins at 10:30 a.m. This university dedication ceremony will be followed by a complimentary pig picking. Call the Office of University Relations at Ext. 4-7039 for more details.

FACULTY ACTIVITIES -- John J. Avioli, professor of mathematics and computer science, presented the paper "Computer Labs Using Calculus T/L" at the Conference on the Teaching of Calculus at Harvard University, Cambridge, MA, on June 12.

LIBRARY CARRELS -- The Smith Library has locking study carrels available for faculty as well as for upperclass students taking senior seminars requiring intensive research. Applications, which are available at the Circulation Desk, are due by Sept. 18.

FACULTY ACTIVITIES -- Clyde W. Brockett's report on research on American music, resulting from papers delivered and round-table discussions at the International Musicological Society Congress in Madrid, has been published in the Sonneck Society for American Music Bulletin. Also published there is a captioned photograph he took of the Sonneck Society's exhibit -- an exhibit he organized for this event.

DEAN'S COLLOQUIA -- The Dean William Parks Memorial Colloquia series kicks off its 1992 - 93 series Monday, Sept. 14. Richard Beauchamp, associate professor of religious studies, will present the paper, "Morality as Contractual Imperative: A Proposed Normative Ethical Model." The presentation begins at noon in the John Gaines Theatre. Faculty are asked to encourage your students to attend this important event in the academic life of the University. Faculty and staff who would like to attend the luncheon in honor of Dr. Beauchamp should forward $6 to Dr. Jim Morris in the History Department by Thursday, Sept. 10, at the latest. The luncheon will be in the Banquet Room, in the rear of Christopher's, immediately following the presentation.

HANDBOOK CHANGES -- The University Handbook Committee requests that any faculty member who wishes to recommend a change to the Handbook submit such changes to Dr. Ron Mollick, faculty senate president, or to representatives of the Handbook committee (Doctors Nancy Barendse, Ronnie Cohen and Sheila Greenlee). Proposed changes or recommendations must be submitted by Sept. 28 to be processed and distributed prior to faculty signing their contracts.

NEW FACULTY LUNCHEON -- United Campus Ministries will welcome new faculty members with a lunch from noon to 1 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 16, in the Banquet Room of Christopher's. This informal gathering will give new faculty a chance to become acquainted as well as learn about campus ministry at CNU. Replies should be made to Carolyn Lawrence at 595-7604 by Wednesday Sept. 9.

FACULTY ACTIVITIES -- Carl M. Colonna and John E. Anderson had the article, "Does Art have Significant Economic Value in Urban Development? A Case for Public Support of the Arts" published in the March 1992 Atlantic Economic Journal, vol. 20 number 1.

FACULTY ACTIVITIES -- Jay Paul's poem "A Morning after the Great War" and his article "Dave Etter's Rural Modernism" appear, respectively, in the current issues of Artemis and The Midwest Quarterly.

HAITIAN PRESIDENT TO SPEAK -- Jean-Bertrand Aristide, the exiled president of Haiti, will discuss "Christianity and Democracy in Haiti" at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13. The event will be held at Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church, 2150 Cunningham Drive (near Coliseum Mall) in Hampton. Tickets are $6 at the door. Faculty and students of government, history, philosophy, etc., should find this particularly interesting. Questions and answers will follow the talk. For more information, contact Dr. Mazzarella at Ext. 4-7003.

WELCOME -- New classified employees: Louise H. Toole, secretary senior, Dept. of Biology, Chemistry and Environmental Science; Nina B. Bates, office services specialist, Smith Library; Beverly E. Kozelka, enrollment services assistant, Financial Aid Office; Shirley E. Rowe, office services specialist, Library; Lorraine M. Westphal, fiscal technician, Payroll Office; Tammy L. MEMORANDUM

TO: All Account Managers

FROM: Provost

SUBJECT: Transfer of Responsibilities

Effective September 1, 1992, the procurement of computer related items will be the sole responsibility of the Office of Purchasing who will provide both the APR (Agency Procurement Request) approval required by the State Department of Information Technology (DIT) and the purchasing approval required by the State Department of General Services. In this capacity, the University's Office of Purchasing will administer the "Blanket" purchase contract for computer equipment and supplies and will be responsible for following the relevant state regulations. The CNU Office of Information Technology Services will continue to provide design and configuration advice on a voluntary basis. Please call TTSV at extension 4-7180 to request these services.

Also effective September 1, 1992, all telephone related activities and services will be transferred from the Department of University Services to the Office of Information Technology Services.
