SA proposal bans noon to one classes

by Linda Dozier

The Student Association has recently proposed that the time period from noon to 1 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday be left free from classes. This opening is an attempt to create interaction between students and to help clubs and organizations set a satisfactory time for meetings.

Kathy Martin, SA president, feels that the proposal is "an effort to have some kind of community interaction" which she feels is necessary at CNC.

The idea first came about when some clubs complained of not being able to find an adequate time for meetings. This noon to 1 p.m. open period would enable clubs to meet, thereby creating student interaction.

The noon to 1 p.m. period on Monday, Wednesday and Friday was chosen because they were the most populous periods on campus. Also the majority of classes are completed by noon.

Besides student benefits, the noon to 1 p.m. period would also help the turn-out at guest lectures and programs which are usually held at noon.

The idea of a two-hour period on Tuesdays and Thursdays from noon to 2 p.m. was also considered. This idea was later turned down due to the lack of students on campus those two days.

The only disagreement to the proposal has been from faculty members who feel the noon to 1 p.m. time zone is prime for classes. Presently Christopher Newport College has a number of classes from noon to 1 p.m., some of which are one time only classes.

The SA will circulate petitions throughout the student body for the next two weeks concerning the proposal. Petitions can also be obtained in the SA office in the Campus Center.

National Shakespeare Company to perform As You Like It at CNC

by Kelly Howell

The National Shakespeare Company will perform a production of William Shakespeare's comedy As You Like It in the Campus Center Theatre on December 11 at 8 p.m.

This production will be part of the Campus Program Board's first Annual Dinner Theatre. John McCaughey, director of Student Life, says they are trying something different. This will be the first time in recent years that an outside company has come onto campus to perform. They are a national touring company based in New York City.

Before the performance, a dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria, with tickets for both the dinner and the performance costing $15 per person. Seating for the dinner is limited to 100 people. A cash bar will be open at 5:30 p.m. and following the performance.

Tickets for the play only are $8 for general admission and $4 for students and senior citizens.

For reservations and information call 599-7260.

Fall ROTC awards ceremony honors cadets

by Kelly Howell

The Fall Awards Ceremony of Christopher Newport's Military Science Department was conducted Monday afternoon, November 8, behind Ratcliffe Gym.

The bi-annual ceremony began as Major Costigan commanded the cadets to present arms. The Continental Band of Fort Monroe performed the National Anthem. After this fanfare, Captain Gault, spokesman for the ceremony, began announcing the awards and the honored recipients.

The Brett Lassiter Memorial Award was presented to Cadet Major Keith Thomas. Presented by Mrs. Lassiter, Cadet Major Thomas received this award based on his overall performance in the ROTC program.

The Distinguished Military Student Awards were based on a high grade point average, leadership ability and military competence. Cadet Major Keith Thomas, C/Maj Glenn Jones, and Cadet Second Lieutenant Eric Cipriano were recipients of this award presented by Dr. Richard Summerville, vice president of Academic Affairs.

Cadet Corporal Michael Pepe and C/SSG Phil Clark received awards based on a high grade point average and the passing of certain military criteria. This Scholarship Award was presented by Mr. James Eagle, vice president of Financial Affairs.

A perfect score on her physical training tests earned Cadet Captain Michelle Biddle the 300 Club Award, presented by Dr. Charles Behrmer, vice president of Student Affairs.

Cadet Captain Robert Lutinski received the Military Proficiency Award in view of his performance this past summer at Fort Bragg, N.C. Dr. Robert Durel, dean of the School of Liberal Arts, Sciences and Education presented C/CPT Lutinski with this award.

Map reading, physical training tests and performances on recondo courses were the basis of the Recondo Badge. Presented by Dr. Algin King, Dean of the School of Business and Economics, the recipients of this award were Cadet Major Keith Thomas, Cadet Major Glenn Jones, Cadet Captain Michelle Biddle, Cadet First Lieutenant Dana Truesdale, Cadet Second Lieutenant Nicholas Spiridigliozzi, Cadet Lieutenant Robert Caffacus, Jr. and Cadet First Lieutenant Robert Lutinski.

After the awards ceremony, a small reception was held in the Admiralty Room for all cadets and their guests.

Planning and Placement sponsors recruiters

The Office of Career Planning and Placement has scheduled the following recruiters for the remainder of this semester:

Virginia National Bank Wed., Dec. 1 CC208
U.S. Marine Corps Tues., Dec. 7 CC Hallway
Wed., Dec. 8 CC Hallway
Rhythm and Bounce Tues., Dec. 7 CC208

Virginia National Bank is interested in interviewing Information Science majors; the U.S. Marines will interview all majors; and Rhythm and Bounce is particularly interested in interviewing Physical Education and/or Special Education majors with some background in psychology.

If you are interested in talking with any of the above-mentioned, please come into the Office of Career Planning and Placement to make an appointment.

Senior students and alumni are reminded to periodically check with the Office of Career Planning and Placement as more employers are obtained for the Recruitment Program. Those interested should make appointments for interviews in CC208 and should have their resumes completed before attending the interviews. For more information as well as assistance in resume writing, students should contact the Placement Office weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Financial aid checks can be picked up

Financial aid checks may be picked up between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Checks for BEOG (Pell Grant) and SEOG are in the cashier's office. Loan checks for NDSL and YSSL are in the Student Accounts Office, room 235.

Ms. Pac Man competition

Attention all students! There will be a meeting on Tuesday, November 30 at 12:30 p.m. in the gym for anyone interested in participating in the first Intramural Ms. Pac Man Competition. The competition is open for men and women. If it is not possible for you to make the meeting, please contact Vicky Gunn in the Intramurals office (599-7054) or leave a message.

Intramural turkey trot

The Intramural Turkey Trot will be held on Friday, November 19 at 3 p.m. Please meet at the Intramural Office at 2:45 p.m. The race will begin at 3 p.m. at the new parking lot near Wingfield Hall and will end at the tennis courts behind the gym. It is one and three-quarters miles long—one full lap around the school to where you started and then another three-quarters of a mile ending behind the gym. Ten-pound turkeys will be awarded to the winners of each age category at the end of the race. If you have any questions, please call Cherie Kautz at 599-7054.

Intramural volleyball

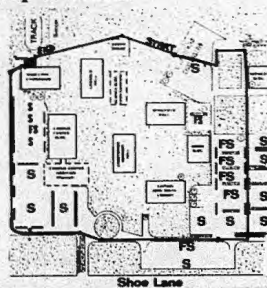

Intramural Volleyball entries will open on December 10. Sign up sheets will be in the Campus Center on the Intramural Board and outside the Intramural Office. It is open to any club, students, faculty, staff, and alumni. If you would like to play but don't have a team, leave your name and number in the Intramural Office. We hope to have a volleyball clinic going on every Sunday morning while the games are in process to give tips to anybody who is interested in learning more about the game and who is on an Intramural team.

People will be needed to help officiate the games which will be on Sundays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. If you are interested and have some experience, please stop by the Intramural Office and fill out an application. If you have any questions or would like more information please call Cherie Kautz at 599-7054 from 1 to 6 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Movie tickets for sale

Discount tickets to Newmarket Twin Theatres and Newmarket Rocking Chair Theatre in Newmarket South Shopping Center are on sale at the Campus Center Information Desk. They are available to CNC students, faculty & staff at $2.50 each which is a substantial savings. The tickets are good for one performance and must be exchanged at the box office. They will be honored any day, any time, any show until the expiration date of April 21, 1983.

Backgammon tournament ends

After several weeks Intramural Backgammon has come to an end. We had the largest sign-up than has been noted earlier but participation was low. After two weeks of play, a new bracket was set up for those who had played. The final game was between Phillip Brisco and Rich Burns with the Championship going to Rich Burns.

This year we had a separate tournament for girls. Though not quite as many as the guys, it was nice to see an interest to participate. The final round was a contest between Petra Roehrl and Shelly Pidgeon with the champion being Petra Roehrl. Keep up the interest in this and all intramural activities.

Now that the tournament is over people have come to me with complaints. I am interested in any suggestions or ideas which you may have to improve this tournament. Intramurals is for you to participate in and enjoy. If you have any suggestions, ideas or questions please call me, Cherie Kautz, at 599-7054, Mondays through Fridays from 1 to 6 p.m.

Copier moved

The IBM copy machine previously on the second floor of the Administration Building has been moved to the printing and mail room in room 128, Smith Hall. The area will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Deadlines

The last issue of The Captain's Log for the Fall semester will come out on Friday, December 3. The Thanksgiving break will not interrupt our deadline and printing schedules; all ad copy, closeups, classifieds, personals, and articles must be in our office by noon on Monday, November 29.

Labels elude Movies

by Anne Doop

Writers find it easier to use a term that everyone is familiar with rather than to try and to describe the situation. This labeling often causes problems in that the audience becomes immune to the definition—the real definition—of a term. In the music business there have developed labels for types of music. These have become ambiguous and overused. What good is a label if it becomes too broad?

The Movies are a band that have shed the labels assigned them. "New Wave" is not even a word to me," Thom Wilder says. He provides the rhythm for the band. David Waltrip, bassist and vocalist, calls it "Progressive Pop." "It has a good beat and melody. 'Punk' doesn't have melody." Who said anything about punk? "Joe Jackson is 'posh.'"

Tunes like "Psychedelic Furs" "Pretty In Pink" and The Clash's "Train In Vain" contrast with tunes like Rolling Stones' "Brown Sugar" and the Beatles' "Day Tripper" but only in style.

The Movies have a problem separating their types of music. When they apply their own style to them, they all sound the same. But they will rebutt this statement by the use of the word "style." That gives a band some kind of unwritten right to do just what they want to, and defend themselves with that one overused and underrated word, "style."

The crowd was, as usual, boring. Not bored, mind you, but boring. Until a few non-conformists got up and danced, the audience sat and talked about the term paper that they should have been doing.

A hand for these four guys. They at least have the audacity to try and make it in a business where it's who you look like, not who you are.

A Ziggy Christmas

Internationally syndicated cartoon character, Ziggy, will debut this Christmas season in his very own half-hour, a fully animated television special, Ziggy's Gift. The program will air on December 1, 8 p.m., on the ABC-TV network.

Ziggy's Gift is a classic Christmas tale in which Ziggy shows us the magic of giving. Before the tale ends, Ziggy has captivated a cop and even taught a pick-pocket the meaning of Christmas. As the refrain of Harry Nilsson's theme song, Ziggy's Gift reminds us, "Love is the only word that counts. Love is the answer."

Soccer '82 — Time for Reflection

by David M. Bean

Now that the 1982 soccer season is over, it's time for reflection, and all the other good things which face a soccer coach when he is not on the field. Such is the life of Seth Roland, but it is really better than it sounds. Roland talked about the past season and his hopes for next fall.

"I am pleased with the improvement we have made in the conference. I'm pleased that we have achieved respectability in the conference. I am not pleased with the way we played out of conference. There is no reason why we can't do well out of conference. We now have to work towards being the best in the conference." The Captains were 0-8-1 out of conference, but they were 3-3 in the Dixie Inter-Collegiate Athletic Conference (DIAC).

The high points of this year were several, according to Roland. "Naturally, the fact of having Victor Kwanteng as a freshman being selected as both All-DIAC and All Virginia Inter-Collegiate Soccer Association (VISA) a major high point. Both his play and that of Chak Pang really helped us. Pang's stalwart defensive play has kept us in many close contests."

"We finished in fourth place, which was the highest CNC has ever gone in the standings, plus we won more conference games this year than we had won total games in the last three years. The improvement in play from Mark Yacobi is a good point as well."

"The disappointments were losing to Hampden-Sydney, Randolph-Macon, University of Richmond, Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) and Radford. I am most disappointed in the way we lost to UR and R-M. Also the way we were tied by Liberty Baptist in the last minute. The injuries to Tom Hammond and Dave Turpin. The last one, I guess, would be the inability of people to forsake their jobs for the team."

"We played inspired in some games, but uninspired in many others. The key to success is that we will have to play well consistently and to try and recruit the type of players who are good and want to contribute to this program. To have players that will sacrifice for the team and who have an intense inner drive to succeed. This will improve the pride of the players as well as the playing intensity level. We do have the potential for good recruiting, and thus we will try to raise the over-all standard of the program."

Berry, Borsheim qualify for nationals; girls finish strong

by Vince Kelly

Ron Borsheim and Tom Berry qualified for the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division III cross-country meet by placing second and third, respectively, in this past weekend's regional meet in Lynchburg.

Berry led the 8,000-meter race for three miles, but foot problems caused him to fade. This allowed Borsheim and Lynchburg's Grattan Garbee to catch up. Borsheim and Garbee battled for the individual title until the end when Garbee outkicked him for the win. Garbee posted a time of 27:51, nine seconds better than Borsheim's 27:16.

Ricky Mitchell also turned in a fine performance finishing twenty-fourth over the very hilly course. The team finished seventh out of 15 teams.

The Nationals will be held this weekend at Freedonia, New York. Assistant Coach Randy Fields says, "The outlook is good that both [Borsheim and Berry] could be CNC's first All-American in cross-country, despite the snowy weather and tough competition they will encounter."

The Lady Captains also ran Saturday, finishing fifth out of 10 teams. Cindy Smith, the number one runner for CNC all year, ran a "very gutsy" race over the hilly 5,000 meter course; despite being ill before the meet. Her sixth place finish was one place shy of qualifying for the National meet.

Following closely behind Smith in thirteenth place was team captain Ronnie Lovko, and in twenty-first place Tina DeHaven. Both ran strong races, according to Coach Fields, but were unable to overcome the many hills on the course.

Although the coaches felt sorry that some of the girls did not qualify for the Nationals, they could find no reason to be disappointed with the women's team and their season. During the regular season they went undefeated in all dual and tri-meets. They won the Tidewater Championship meet and placed second only to tough Division I competitor Virginia Commonwealth University in the Old Dominion University Invitational meet.

Flag football title won by OU81

by George Koutris

The Flag Football Championship game last Sunday lived up to its expectations of a close contest. The contest was between OU81 and the Good Ole Boys (GOB), and the game was the first overtime game of the season.

Football fans of the past can recall such names as the "Four Horsemen" and the "Seven Blocks of Granite". After Sunday though they can add another nickname to the list; OU81 now has the alias of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" with Leigh Smith playing the leading role of Snow White, and Mike Grounds playing the dwarf in charge.

The game in the early going was a defensive battle with the score remaining 0-0 through the first half. OU81 then scored first on a touchdown pass from "Snow White" Smith to Dave Walkup. Smith passed to Richard Gould for the conversion and the 7-0 lead.

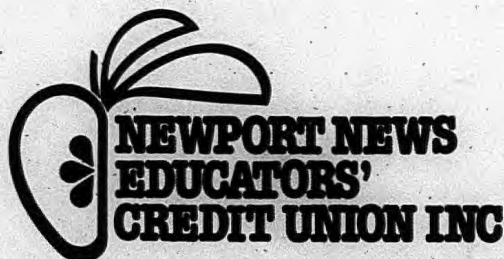

The game then went into overtime which consists of each team having four plays from the 50-yard line; the team that gains the most yardage wins. OU81 had the ball first but lost eight yards; this set up the situation for the GOB where on their offensive plays, they needed only to keep from losing negative eight yards. But a gutsy OU81 defense caused them to lose nine yards. OU81 then were declared the champions by the net total of negative one yard.

OU81 will play an all-star team from the rest of the league next Sunday at 11 a.m.

Donated fleet aids Sailing Club

by Rose M. Ward

Interested in sailing, meeting other students, and joining the college community? The Christopher Newport College Sailing Club offers those opportunities to all students who attend the college.

The theme of CNC Sailing Club is "to promote sailing in the area," said Cathy Miller, President of the club. The club now owns 13 new laser sailboats donated by members of the community in honor of Euclid Hanbury. These new boats, the Euclid Hanbury fleet, will allow the club to increase its membership.

Dr. George Webb, faculty advisor for The CNC Sailing Club, says, "We have plenty of boats now, and we would like to see more students take advantage of what the club offers. We have the facilities, the teachers, and the boats. Cathy has set up a very nice organization for teaching people how to sail.

"This Fall we had three classes people could plug into. We had probably about 6 people in each group who began knowing nothing about sailing, but by now can sail boats by themselves. In the springtime we will start that program again, and the only thing you have to do to take the sailing lessons is to join the club which costs $10 a semester and $15 a year."

Besides the boats that were just donated, Dr. Webb says, "The college has 17 small sailboats that it can use for recreational sailing that it shares with the Warwick Yacht Club where the club keeps its boats. Seven of these are owned by the College, and maybe 10 by the Yacht Club."

Not only is the CNC Sailing Club a recreational club, but it does a lot of service for the college, according to Dr. Webb. He said, "For instance, last year, they had a bunch of sea song singers, sea chantys, to come to the College and put on a program. The event was jointly sponsored by Ferguson High Honor Society. About 250 people came to hear them, and they made a fair amount of money which the club used entirely to buy books for the CNC library, about 20 or 25 new books about sailing."

"Club members help at Spring and Fall Fest, Plug-in-Peninsula, and other events the College holds, by selling food and doing other things that generally need to be done. The members have a very strong service orientation. Right now, we are trying to help this man whose boat drifted ashore in the last storm that we had. It was, I guess you'd call it, burglarized."

Time and space does not allow for a more in-depth report of the CNC Sailing Club, but Dr. Webb would appreciate anyone interested in the club to call him at 599-7082 or Cathy Miller at 596-0247.

Equestrian Club makes good show

by Pat Andrews

Are you interested in riding horseback for competition, or just plain fun? If so, the Equestrian Club just might be your thing! The Club, which was started last semester, is open to anyone, competitive, non-competitive, beginner or expert. It is a member of the Inter-collegiate Horse Show Association, which groups together colleges such as William & Mary (W&M), University of Virginia (UVA), Randolph-Macon, Sweetbriar, and now, Christopher Newport College (CNC).

The Club operates out of Oakcrest Stables where instructors Beverly Canady and Shirley Hardee give lessons on horsemanship. Beverly, who works most closely with the CNC team, is a graduate of the Southern Seminary Horsemanship Course, and has competed herself.

Shirley Hardee, the owner of Oakcrest Stables, works most closely with the W&M team, but was a pri:ne supporter of the organization of CNC's club last semester.

The president of the Club and its chief organizer, is Paula Mangus, now a senior. She feels that it "is important that we show the club well, because we're hoping to get a horse-back riding class into the gym offerings. That way, people will get credit for working so hard."

The Equestrian Club members have been working very hard recently, and their efforts are showing. On November 6, they put on a very successful Benefit Show at Oakcrest Stables, raising about $166 to support the team. Both W&M and CNC participated in the show, and Judge Donna Schrum came down to give tips to the novices. Each class received ribbons, and each division received a trophy.

Locally, the CNC Student Association contributed the funds for a champion trophy. "That show of support really helps," said Paula.

Competitive Equestrian Club members are Paula Mangus, Wanda Bass, Rita Pickerell, Mary Ellen Canen, Lori Peebles, and Sandra Ripley. Non-competitive members are Kathleen Pimblet, Melody Baily, Sandra Tucker, and Tim Custor. The club's faculty advisor is Dr. Mario Mazzarella.

If you are interested in joining the Equestrian Club or would like more information, contact Paula Mangus or a club member.

To the Puds, Thanx for the dedication. Too bad I wasn't there to thank you in person. Oh well. Anne Hey. Why don't you say it to my face. Anne.

Soror Amita Blowe, Happy belated birthday! The sorors of Nu Epsilon.

Jenny, Sore muscles, aching feet, time and energy channeled into the play; you made it worth the while. Thank you, my friend for the flowers on opening night. Much love, Juanilda.

Hey Alphonso and Bebonial! It's unbelievable. The Game of the Year and you set us up. Dam the luck! Hey, it's okay because we demand a rematch. Until then, Blind Billy-Paul and Skee-Bob Nil.

To my roomies at the Cameron Carnival, Thank you for all your support during these hectic long months of never ending rehearsals and dramatic babblings. Io Iacche, it's finally over! Love and black-lipped kisses, Nilde.

Hey Dizzy, Give Mike a big hug and kiss for all of us!! The Girls.

Communications program

To the Editor of The Captain's Log:

I read with interest Anne Doop's editorial in the November 12 issue of The Captain's Log in which she expressed her opinion that CNC in its 22nd year has "stalled out" because it has not introduced a communications program.

Like Ms. Doop, I regret that CNC has not yet met the needs of students interested in a communications program. (There are presently 24 students at CNC who list communications as their major even though the College has no such program.) However, I am not yet ready to despair because of this delay; the 22-year-old CNC has introduced and continues to introduce many solid and innovative programs.

Presently, my department is proceeding with cautious optimism to prepare an interdisciplinary communications program combining speech communication, journalism, and mass media. Such a program, we believe, could be introduced within the Fine and Performing Arts degree. Our consultant in this planning is Dr. Donald McConkey, Dean of the School of Fine Arts and Communication at James Madison University.

We proceed without offering any promises to students. This program will need to be examined, evaluated, and approved by the Humanities Division, the Curriculum Committee, and the full faculty; and it will need administrative commitment of scarce resources before it can be implemented.

My department welcomes the comments of students in order to determine the extent of interest among present enrollees. Therefore, I request that any responses you get as a result of Ms. Doop's editorial be shared with my department.

CNC exists to serve the educational needs of its community. When these needs are known, the College responds to the limit of its resources.

"Is it safe?"

Dear Cap,

In reference to last week's article about the new science building; when I read that the building had been proclaimed structurally sound I was elated! And why shouldn't I have been? Not only had my fear of falling block been dissolved, but also I was most fortunate in that I had witnessed an epistemological breakthrough which undoubtedly will be employed by structural inspectors when, in the future, they are posed with the question: "Is it safe?" They have but to step under the thing and see if they contract a bump on the head!

Sodas were there

Dear Editor:

In response to the "Concerned CNC Student" who expressed an understandable concern about the Over-The-Hill Gang/Pi Kappa Sigma annual Halloween party, I would like to take this opportunity to clarify a few points.

First, any and all advertisements for the event in question promised only "Unlimited Refreshments" and entertainment. Nowhere in these advertisements was the term beer used. Any reference to this being an entirely alcohol-oriented event were not made by members of my organization or by the members of Pi Kappa Sigma.

As for the non-drinkers (yes, we have some in the Over-The-Hill gang) we made every effort to satisfy their discriminating tastes. Several cases of assorted soft drinks were purchased at a price, that was in fact, higher than the cost of the beer that was served. You can easily attain your own proof by pricing a six-pack of Coke versus a six-pack of any popularly-priced beer. These same efforts to satisfy non-drinkers were carried out during the last two years of this event. In other words, the soft drinks were available, all you had to do was ask for one.

However, if you feel that you did not receive five or seven dollars worth of soda, please see me. I have a locker full of soda that I can't get rid of.

Sincerely,

Jim Whalen, President, Over-The-Hill Gang
Karey Englert, President, Pi Kappa Sigma

Alternatives needed

Dear Editor:

In response to the letter in last week's paper titled "Why only beer," I agree with the concerns of the student. Alternative beverages are necessary at functions where beer is served, and in fact free soda was available at the Halloween Party. With the assistance of an OTHG member, I personally iced down 6-8 cases of assorted sodas and placed them in the hallway next to the pay telephones. At evening's end, there were about 20 sodas left. I apologize if these sodas were not made visible enough for all to see.

In addition to alternative beverages, I feel that making food available at functions where alcohol is served is also important. All of us need to be aware of the abuses that can occur when alcohol is not handled in a responsible manner. We can all help in preventing a CNC student from becoming a statistic.

Sincerely,
Richard Ryther

Reruns, exotic sports fail to please

by Wes Witten

Another weekend is upon us and the great American pacifier does not promise to deliver the bone jarring action of the National Football League. At the beginning of the football strike, many of our kind were literally beside ourselves because we knew not what we would do with our Sundays. It is hard to change the conditioning of many years. What does a person do on a cold Sunday?

The networks tried various ways to quench our thirst for the Sunday sacrifice of humans. They tried to run past performances of games. It was not good enough since we knew who would be the ones to get hurt. But we sat on.

Then, some brave cameraman trekked to the Great White North. All that came from that show was a cameraman with frostbite. This new form of drug was foreign to our minds so we rejected it. But we sat on.

Someone suggested that maybe a college game would appease our ever-growing hunger. Two teams were found to play on a Sunday; again the names and places were unknown. But we sat on.

Out of the boobtube poured an assortment of other exotic sports from all over the world. But it was not the same. But we sat on.

The networks were not about to give up. They had to give the Sunday viewers something. Out of the deep dark vaults came a Tarzan film. Maybe this would feed our need for action. But it failed.

Then, they thought that maybe, just maybe, they could divert our minds to some other form of entertainment. Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin films did not make us laugh. But we sat on.

I did enjoy the Music Television station for five minutes, but my father became nauseated. I turned quickly to a T.V. evangelist, and he was healed. But we did not sit and watch that any longer.

A new sport began its season. The National Basketball Association was its name and basketball was its game. There are many intelligent men in this league. One man must have a Ph.D. since they call him the doctor. But this game would not hold our interest.

Then another national sports network began. It is a form of organized fighting among teams called hockey. But it looked too much like a crippled man's sport since each man needed a stick to hold himself up. We missed the voice of Howard Cosell. But we sat on.

We sat on because we were lazy. Because we only wanted to sit around on Sundays was the reason why we watched football. It was as good an excuse as any.

Your views on campus lights

As reported in last week's issue of The Captain's Log, Capital Outlay Specialist Richard White said that the College might receive additional money which may be used to install extra lights on campus. Reporter Steve Coburn asked students Thursday night, November 11, the following question: "What do you think about the existing lights on campus, and where do you feel the new lights should be placed?"

Alex Longo
Sophomore

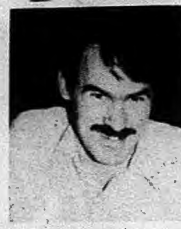

"I think you need new lights in the central area. In between these halls: Gosnold, Wingfield, and the library. Because at night, I'm usually in the computer center; I go home, and the lighting is terrible. I wish they would have some type of lights, since they close at 11 p.m. They need some lights in the parking lot."

Angela Marcopoulous
Junior

"Right now I don't feel we have an adequate amount of light. It gets really dark, especially during the winter. If you want to come from the library or Wingfield to the Campus Center, it's a really long walk. I think we need to put more lights along the sidewalk and especially at the entrance of the Campus Center."

Guy Temple
Senior

"I think we should turn on the lights we do have. Keep them on all night to help secure the place."

Jerry Waddy
Junior

"I come from Newport Hall late at night when I am working in the computer center. When you have to go out to your car late at night, it is always dark around 11."

John Trevet
Junior

"There are several areas that are darker than they should be. Around the front of Newport Hall and Gosnold."

Lloyd Redd
Junior

"Most of it is pretty good except back behind Wingfield Hall. At times it is pretty dark, especially late at night. I'd like to see a couple more put behind Wingfield Hall, and in from Gosnold, too. It's pretty dark there near the science building."

Michelle Whitlow
Senior

"I think they are adequate. I think the lane that runs down the middle of the campus should be lit more. I just don't think it's adequate for night-time students."
