Controversy over Academic Freedom Continues

By Mary Dvorak

Recently a very important topic was brought to the attention of some of the students at CNC. The topic is one that effects all of the students, yet few are aware of it. The topic is Academic

SGA PROTECTS STUDENT'S RIGHTS

During the past few weeks, the Student Meeting Room in the Campus Center has been repeatedly commandeered for classes.

In addition to the way this room has been taken over, its use for classes restricts access to the room by students who have a legitimate right to enter it.

The Student Government Association, in a letter to President James C. Windsor, has strongly objected to these encroachments and requested that they cease immediately.

Freedom and part of the definition published in the American Association of University Professors Policy Documents and Reports-1973 edition is, "The teacher is entitled to freedom in the classroom in discussing his subject, but he should be careful not to introduce into his teaching controversial matter which has no relation to his subject." But, this was only part of what Dr. Lopater, of the Psychology Department, had to say when I talked with him about Academic Freedom.

For Dr. Lopater, Academic Freedom includes the instructor's privilege to make the course what he feels it should be and to select material he feels is appropriate for that course. The instructor also has the right to present this material as he sees fit and this material may be controversial.

However, it is the expressed view of Dr. Lopater that this should all be done in a responsible way, because of the instructor's accountability to the students.

Academic Freedom is also beneficial to the students because it allows them to question things and not have to believe all that is told to them by the instructor. It also helps to give them a selection of courses because different instructors will present different material in the same course. And because instructors are free to select the material they see fit, students will also receive a diversity of topics.

Along with the freedoms given an instructor, Dr. Lopater also feels that the instructor has certain obligations. One is to respect the implicit contract a student makes when signing up for a course. Another, and probably the most important obligation, is to believe in the basic dignity of the student as an individual.

So, to Dr. Lopater, Academic Freedom allows the instructor certain liberties, while at the same time setting down certain responsibilities and obligations for the instructor.

BSA Sponsors Black Awareness Week

The Black Student Association is sponsoring a week of activities, February 3-6, 1975, in celebration of the first annual Black Awareness Week at Christopher Newport College. The activities for the week are geared to acquaint the college community with the talents and cultural contributions of blacks on the local as well as the national level.

David Holley, President of BSA, feels that preparation for the week's activities have been both unifying and revitalizing for the club's members. "Because of limited funds," he stated, "we were unable to personally contract a national figure to participate in our activities, however, we are sure that the program we have planned represents the best in talent, culture and Blackness."

The activities for the week include the following:

Monday, February 3, 7:00 p.m., Campus Center-Gospel Night, Musical talents of local Church Choirs; Admission is $0.50.

Tuesday, February 4, 8:00 p.m., Campus Center-Film- I Have A Dream; Admission is free.

Thursday, February 6, 8:00 p.m., Campus Center-UHURA Hampton Institute Dancers; Admission is 50¢.

Newman Club Plans Washington Trip

The Christopher Newport College Newman Club is planning a trip to Washington, D.C. for February 14-16.

Anyone interested in going on this trip is requested to send inquiries in care of the Newman Club, P.O. Box 6070, Christopher Newport College, N.N. Va., 23606.

The club is also holding a Mass at noon on Feb. 7, in CC-233. All are invited to attend.

Alpha Kappa Psi Seeks New Members

Both business and life are becoming more and more complex every day. If you are willing to make the efforts to start working with people and to develop a professional attitude towards life then consider joining Alpha Kappa Psi, the Business Fraternity.

AKPsi was started in 1970 and became an active national fraternity in May 1972. AKPsi is a professional business fraternity which serves Christopher Newport College and the surrounding community through specially planned campaigns and projects.

Campaigns such as: the AKPsi booksale which saves students money and recycles used books; the AKPsi annual contribution to the Daily Press Christmas Fund; and the AKPsi used clothing and can goods drive for the needy.

Projects Include: AKPsi's work at the CNC Day Care Center; AKPsi's cleaning of the picnic area behind Wingfield Hall; AKPsi's painting of the parking spaces and "No Parking" zones at CNC.

If you are interested in taking part in an active organization contact Tom Sertz at 877-7738 or Steve Jackson at 596-2718 or John Peach at 229-1286.

If a phone call is inconvenient then stop by Wingfield Hall or the Information desk in the Campus Center and pick up a flier and fill it out and give it to any brother or leave it at the information desk.

Editorials Are Dum-Dums Inhumane

During the 1975 session of the Virginia General Assembly, the delegates elected to this body decided that it was in the public's interest to permit Virginia law enforcement officials to use the controversial "dum-dum" bullet in their service revolvers.

It could be that you, the public, do not realize the killing power of this particular projectile. The dum-dum, or hollow point, bullet is a projectile which expands upon impact, tearing, crippling, and killing. This projectile was declared illegal in warfare at the Geneva Convention by every world power. And yet, we, the American people, a democracy, allows its use against our own citizens.

Last week, in Richmond, a policeman shot and killed a 16 year old robbery suspect using this very same ammunition. The significant thing about this killing was not the fact that the person was only a suspect, nor was it that he was 16 and had a toy pistol in his hand. No, the significant thing about this killing was that the youth was killed by a shot in the hip.

Policemen claim that this projectile has a greater stopping power than that of the conventional, solid bullet, which is true. The one thing they have failed to point out is its killing power. This was vividly demonstrated in the Richmond incident.

Now, I do not advocate that our policemen should go on duty unarmed, nor do

I propose that they take unnecessary risks in the performance of the duties they are being paid to perform. However, I do advocate a more responsible and humane approach in dispatching these duties and responsibilities.

Law enforcement officers are hired, by the public, to enforce the laws, not to be a judge, jury, and executioner. Our laws provides that we are innocent until proven guilty. When we invest our law enforcement officials with the power to shoot and kill a fleeing suspect, in the back, and without being fired upon, we are voiding this right.

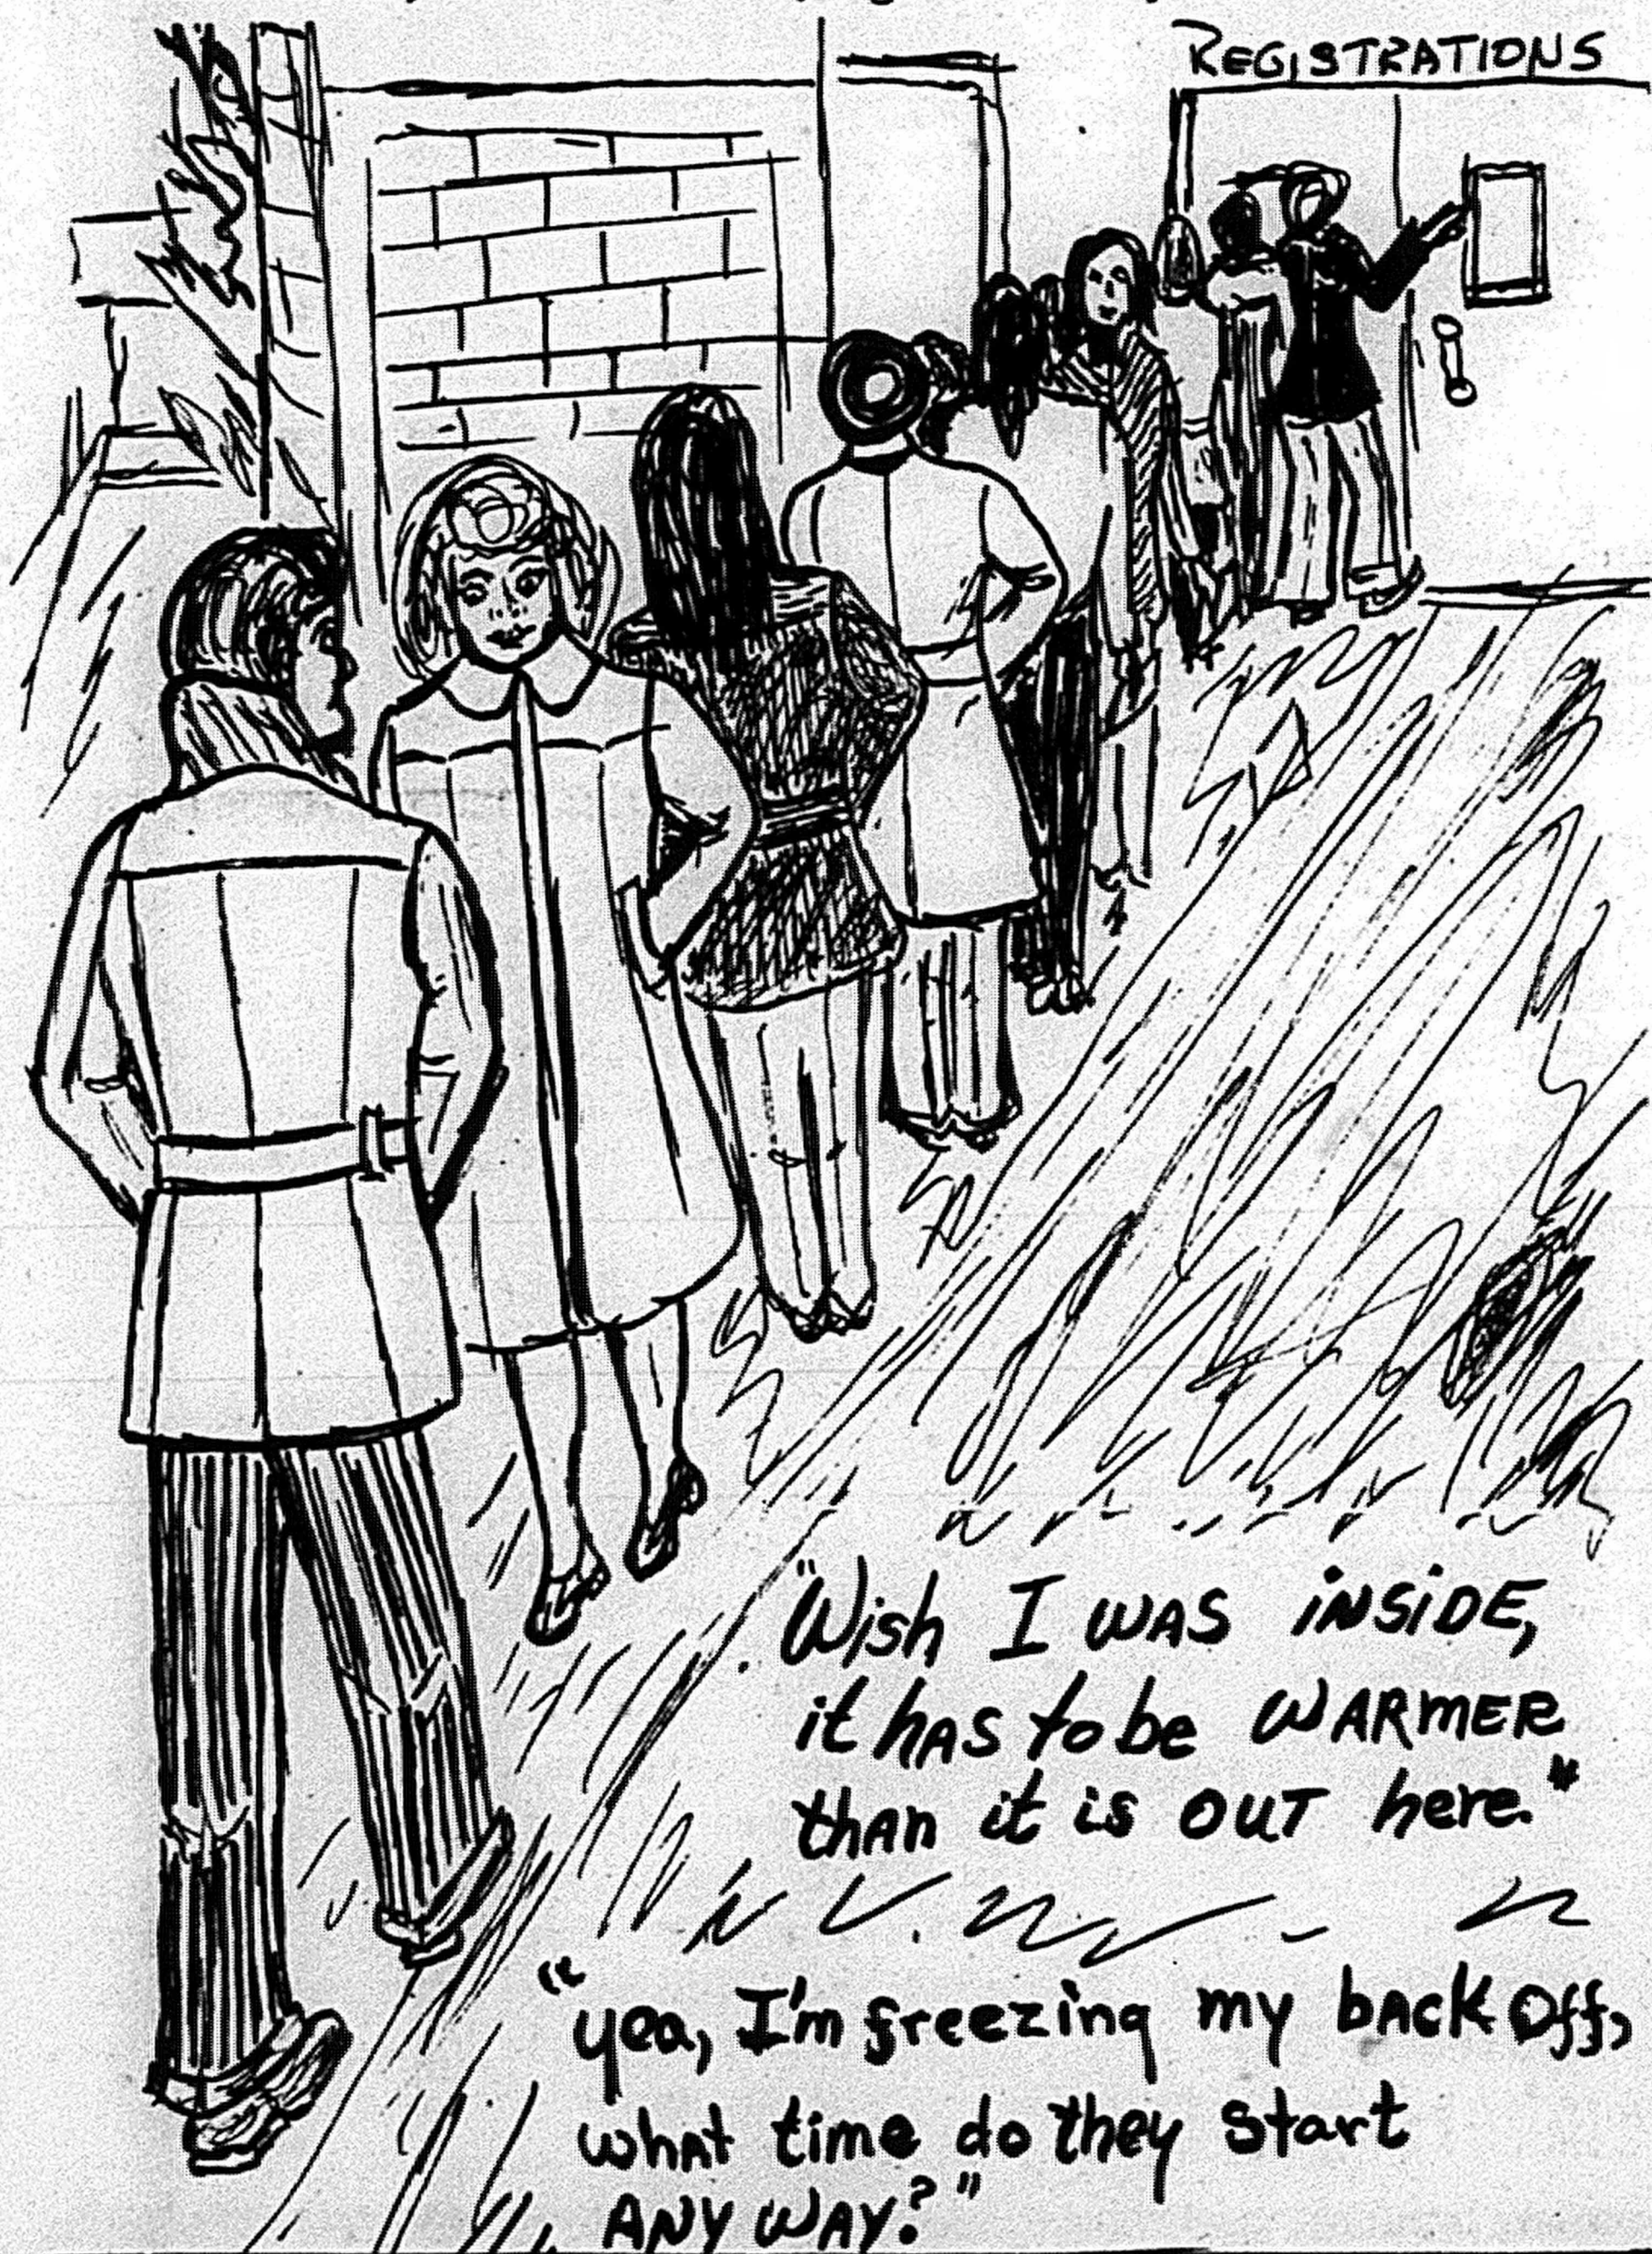

While most of us go about our daily affairs, breaking only a few minor laws, we do not feel that we are affected by the laxity of our present system. Nor do we feel that we will ever be the victim of one of these indiscriminate killings. But we are affected because we are permitting these outrageous acts, such as in Richmond, to continue.

The investigation of the Richmond killing is still underway, and, no doubt, before it is concluded, there will be another such killing somewhere in our society. Are we to continue to permit our citizens, criminals they may be, to be slaughtered by these outlawed projectiles?

Do we care more for our pets than for our fellowmen? Perhaps we're waiting until one of us, innocently, becomes the next victim.

Our police forces are only as good as we make them, we can have both law enforcement and humane treatment, but it's up to us to see that we get it. Let's stop these unnecessary and inhumane killings now.

Letters to the Editor: The Registration Bummer! Was It Really?

Dear Editor:

With reference to our conversation, we are attaching a copy of the original article written by the Computer Staff submitted for publishing in the Captain's Log.

You will note that in addition to the article being shown as written by Emily Simpkins, the last paragraph was deleted.

Signed: Ken Parageter

Dear Ken:

You're right, we did not publish all of your article, "The Registration Bummer? Was It Really?," and I offer our sincere apologies for this oversight.

The missing paragraph and the correct credit lines are published below.

The Editor As mentioned before, some of the confusion and waiting in long lines could have been avoided by the student themselves. The Spring Registration News clearly stated registration formats and schedules. As one student was told as he entered the 'Exit Only' door, "We have a great Basic Studies course in Reading".

Hospitality Hotseat: Dr. Jean Pugh, Curriculum Committee Chairperson

By Bobby Hale

The Hospitality Hotseat is a chance to air your opinions, settle your beefs, make suggestions, or just plain rap. For the uninformed, the Hotseat is held bi-weekly, on Mondays from 12 to 1 p.m., in the corridor leading to the Campus Center cafeteria. At this time you may find anyone from the custodian to the Dean of Academic Affairs there to discuss whatever is on your mind.

Last Monday, the Hospitality Hotseat featured Dr. Jean Pugh, the chairwoman of the not too well known but exceedingly significant Curriculum Committee. Dr. Pugh is also a professor of Biology at the college.

Student response was poor last week and thus enabled Dr. Pugh to describe briefly the operations of the committee which are many and varied.

The Curriculum Committee has as one of its functions, the study of distribution requirements. In this regard, the committee attempts to vary the options open for a student in a required area of study by introducing more related but different courses.

The committee also studies the feasibility of suggested new courses and if the course has sufficient merit, it can be included in the curriculum. Real Estate is just one of the new fields of study opened up by the committee. Also, the committee assists the smaller departments in their course planning.

The Curriculum Committee members includes the Dean of Academic Affairs, selected members of the faculty and students. Yes, students, and at the moment, they are in acute need of a student advisor to fill a vacancy in the staff. For the committee to be an equitable voice, more student participation is required.

Students are encouraged to come and be a part of the meetings, and as Dr. Pugh says, "If you gotta bitch, we'll be glad to hear you," and you can do your barking at their meetings, which are held on the second floor of the Campus Center on the first and third Wednesday of each month from 2 pm to 4 pm. See you there.

New Education Loans for Vets being Processed by VA

The Veterans Administration is now processing applications for new education loans for veterans attending school under the GI Bill. The loans, up to a maximum of $600 in one academic year, were established by the Vietnam-era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, enacted by Congress in December.

Vet Rep On Campus (VROC), Mr. Robert J. Aspell, said the new measure provides that applicants must have exhausted all efforts to obtain guaranteed student loans administered by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The student must list all lenders applied to, with dates notified of final decisions. If denied a guaranteed student loan, copies of the denial statements from each lender must accompany the VA application.

All financial resources must be reported by the student, including other educational loans, grants, scholarships, VA educational assistance, cash assets and income.

Mr. Aspell also said the school must certify the student's course of study, tuition and fees, and any room and board charges.

No loan may be approved for intersession or other enrollment periods of less than 10 weeks.

The effective date for the loan program was January 1. However, all eligible veterans, wives, widows, and children will be considered for initial loans based upon the full amount of their tuition and all other costs of attendance anticipated for the entire 1974-75 academic year. This is considered to have started about September 1.

Under the new law, those granted loans will be required to execute promissory notes agreeing to repayment of principal plus 8 per cent interest. Repayment of principal and interest will be deferred while the student is attending classes at least on a half-time basis.

Installment payments must start nine months after the student ceases at least half-time enrollment, with full payment within 10 years and nine months after that date. Part or all of the loan may be prepaid without penalty. Interest will not accrue on the loan balance until the required beginning date of repayment.

A 3 per cent loan fee will be deducted from the approved loan amount to provide a fund to insure against defaults under the loan program. Defaults will be considered overpayments and recovered in the same manner as other debts due the government.

The VROC office is located in the Counseling Center,

Wingfield Hall. Office hours are Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday, 8 A.M. to 4:30 P.M.

Senior Job Interviews Scheduled

The following organizations' representatives will be on campus during the next month to interview you for job possibilities after graduation. You may make appointments for the interviews in Gosnold Hall, room 206.

CAMPUS FACES: Two Ethiopians in classes here

By Bill Hart

Miss Abebe, a Business Administration major, and a sophomore, said, "I like the school and the people here very much."

Miss Abebe remarked that her parents were financing her education here. When asked about educational opportunities in Ethiopia, she replied, "I think that this country has a better system on the college level than Ethiopia."

Negede Gedamu, a quiet, unaggressive man, the fiance of Miss Abebe, leaves you with a lasting and friendly impression.

"Nicky," as his close friends call him, is twenty-four years old, a Hampton Institute transferee, and is an Ethiopian also.

Alemesh Abebe, 21, a transfer student from Hampton Institute this past semester, now attending CNC, is a classic example of Ethiopian beauty.

Mr. Gedamu is presently a Math major and served as spokesman for this interesting couple.

Four years ago, "Nicky" came to the United States as an exchange enlisted man from the Ethiopian Army to the U. S. Army. After returning to his country, he came back with Miss Abebe to continue his education in America.

During our interview, the couple told of the strong family hand in Ethiopian male and female relationships. As if from another time continuum the couple told of parental arranged courtships and marriages which are still commonplace in their country. The two agreed that as strange as it may seem, these arrangements are quite welcomed and greatly valued. Mr. Gedamu said that as a result of these arrangements, "divorces in Ethiopia are quite infrequent."

Finally, Mr. Gedamu smiled and said, "The man is still the dominant factor in the family structure of the Ethiopian household."

Thank God, it still exists.

CAPTAINS WIN ONE, LOSE TWO ON ROAD

By Stuart Smith

The Captains' hopes to move into first place in Dixie Conference play were dampened last week when the Captains lost 60-48 to undefeated Methodist Saturday night, February 1. The game followed a 70-64 loss to Lynchburg College, January 28, and a 95-60 win over St. Andrew's, January 31.

The Methodist contest was the third road game for the Captains last week and the Methodist Monarchs took an early lead in a low scoring first half. With 10:27 left in the half, Methodist led 14-8 and at one point extended its lead to 12 points, but at the half it was 29-20.

The Captains came back in the second half to pull within five. With 16:05 remaining in the game, Methodist led 31-26 with only one basket in almost four minutes of play, but extended their lead to 14 points (52-36) with 4:40 remaining.

Plagued by fouls, the Captains were unable to rally as Methodist claimed a 10-0 Dixie Conference record with 13-2 overall and handed the Captains a 6-3 conference record with 10-6 overall. The Monarchs put in 16 of 21 charity shots while CNC shot two of three from the line. Excessive fouls and 18 turnovers to Methodists' 14 seemed to turn the tables against the Captains who shot 23 field goals to Methodists' 22.

Forward Sherwin Green was high scorer for the game with 16 points and 11 rebounds. Methodist forward Greg Jones and Harold Boone each scored 14 points followed by center G. Porter with 12. Guard Mike Tallon hit 10 points for the only other Captains' double figures.

The Captains' best offensive and defensive effort of the week was against St. Andrews College as CNC defeated the Knights 95-60 with five Captains hitting double figures. In contrast to the Methodist game, CNC moved out to a 14-0 lead in the first five minutes of play with the Knights first point coming from the free throw line.

The Captains led 45-25 at the half, and outscored St. Andrews in the second half to put the game away. Sherwin Green was high scorer with 21 points, followed by David Hutcheson with 15, and Doug Baggett, Mike Tallon, and Steve Brown each with 10.

In the loss to Lynchburg, the Captains outshot Lynchburg from the floor putting in 28 baskets to Lynchburg's 23. But Lynchburg had all the breaks on foul shots with 24 of 35 while CNC had only 8 of 16. Double figures were hit by Lynchburg's Steve Wheeler with 18, Wayne Davis with 16, and Bobby Layne with 13. Captains' high scorers were Green with 15, Tallon with 14, and Baggett with 10.

CNC Takes Third Place in Fencing

By Dr. Robert E. Kraft

A trio of CNC students from Dr. Kraft's fencing class set out recently to display their newly acquired fencing skills.

Bob Wilson, Steve McCormick, and Mark Italiano represented CNC in a Fencing Tournament held at Old Dominion University.

Surprisingly, the CNC entry finished in third place in a field of five teams, behind William and Mary and South Side Fencing Club, while foiling the efforts of Norfolk's "A" and "B" Fencing Club teams.

Only Bob Wilson had any prior fencing experience, so congratulations are in order for the fine showing of these students.

Chess Club Purchases New Equipment

The Chess Club has purchased twelve new chess sets and two chess clocks. The sets may be used by the club's members.

The club was organized to provide chess competition, an opportunity for students and faculty to improve their skills in chess, and to provide an opportunity to students who do not play to take lessons.

Gary Collie, president of the club, is trying to organize some chess matches with other clubs to provide further experience and competition for the membership.

Students interested in learning to play, or who would just like some competition are invited to attend our meetings. The club meets every Wednesday in CC-227 at noon.

'A Clockwork Orange' Comes to CNC

Stanley Kubrick's "A Clockwork Orange," which shows this Sunday, February 9, at 2:00 and 7:30 p.m., has been acclaimed and dissected by critics, argued over in Parliament, editorialized in newsprint, magazine print, radio-TV voice-print. Only on one point does everyone, even Pauline Kael, agree. Malcolm McDowell as Alex, the engaging tough whose principal interests are now nearly immortal, gives a singularly brilliant performance that not only heralds the arrival of a superstar, but also of the most accomplished British actor of his generation. At 28, he has defined the most important and central character of any of master filmmaker Stanley Kubrick's nine creations.

Conviction is his lifestyle; Malcolm doesn't hedge: "A great director is not someone who says 'You come in, sit down and you take a cigarette.' That's not directing to me, that's an academic process. Kubrick is a great director because he creates an atmosphere which allows you the freedom to make contribution. And he encourages this, if he trusts you." On actors: "I think John Gielgud is the greatest actor alive, yes, better than Olivier. Olivier will never be vulnerable and Gielgud is, he tears you up." On the violence in Clockwork Orange: "In New York, where 88 women are raped every day, with nobody doing anything about it except making conversation in elevators riding to the 40th floor- what's all the excitement about. The film poses questions and warnings. It's a return to the Christian ethic."

He walks into a restaurant, politely thanks the admirers who have seen the film, sits down and is presented with a glass of milk by the waitress. "We didn't order this," "Two girls asked me to bring it over to you," she says. "Thank them for me," Malcolm replies and smiles. Moloku-plus (drug laced milk) is one of the manifestations of the Clockwork Orange world. The milk on the table is evidence of the strong response and admiration Malcolm elicits from the audience.

Don't miss A Clockwork Orange; admission only 50¢ to CNC students.

Critic's Review

IN MY OPINION

By Doug Ferris

A See Saw is a simple child's ride. One can go up, down, up, down, for hours on end and, though never leaving the spot where he started, feel as if he has traveled great distances while enjoying the ride.

Last Saturday I had the same feeling; I never left from where I started and hated to leave when I knew it was all over.

I started in Chrysler Hall and two hours later I was still there but had ridden on the "See Saw" of Cy Coleman's hit musical of the same name.

John Raitt and Liz Torres starred in the musical revue which brought the heart and soul of New York to Norfolk. The plot structure is simple, but in the hands of Mr. Raitt and Miss Torres, it was a lively and sensitive performance.

The show itself deals with the possibilities of a typical Jewish girl from the Bronx, Gittle, making it with a recently separated, sophisticated lawyer from Nebraska, Jerry. The current on which the show moves is the desire of David, Gittle's dancing friend, to put on a showcase to show his ability as a choreographer.

With little less than pure genius and spectacular talent, "See Saw" carries through with both themes, it rewards the riders with a show of light, sight gags, music, and local New York colloquialisms.

Mr. Raitt, though billed as the lead, has to take a back seat to Miss Torres in this performance. She dominates the performance with her charisma and, all too real, New York personality.

The lines were written around the way in which Gittle moves and reacts to probably her first serious experience with a man of high sophistication, therefore leaving Jerry, (Mr. Raitt) waiting in the wings for his cue.

Mr. Raitt is well suited and qualified for the role. His mastery of music and stage presence is obvious and appreciated. It should be noted that he even carries beyond what is required of any actor who travels on the road to put on as many shows, three in two days, as Mr. Raitt.

Even with the stars, "See Saw" would not have been the pleasure it was if it were not for the choreography of the play within the play. Comical and capricious were the dance numbers and music which made a pleasant ride even more of an experience.

In my opinion, "See Saw," like other New York based shows should have an introduction that points out the otherwise obvious puns, to an almost all Southern audience. Too many times a line is not picked up by those present simply because they have never been to New York.

Next up at Chrysler Hall is "Rager Niger," performed by the "Negro Ensemble." Don't miss it!

Mrs. Alice Randall, head of Basic Studies (Minniear Photo)

By Mary Dvorak

Recently, this reporter found, tucked away on the second floor of Wingfield

Basic Studies serves College and Community

Hall, a new department. Although the department is not new, it has just moved its offices to Wingfield Hall.

The department is Basic Studies and its chairperson is Mrs. Alice Randall, a most enthusiastic person, who was more than willing to talk about the programs offered at CNC, and in the community, through the department.

Of course the most important program is the one offered to students at CNC and includes Reading, Writing and Math. These courses are non-credit and are offered to help prepare students for college work. Some of the students need these courses to help bridge the gap between high school and college. Other students, those who have been out of school for a few years, use these courses to help them readjust to school and ease their apprehension about returning to college and give them confidence in themselves. Basically these courses help to prepare the student to be successful in his (her) credit courses.

The courses are tailored to the individual needs of the students. Some students may enroll in the course and lab and others may enroll in just the lab, depending on the student's needs and goals. In order to help obtain their goals some students may form a contract with the instructor.

Students presently enrolled in Basic Studies courses were referred by either the Counseling Center, Dean of Admissions, a faculty member or themselves. If a student is interested in enrolling in one of the courses they may contact Mrs. Randall in W-212 or he may contact Mr. John Harwood, the Writing instructor or Stavrouls Kostake, the Math instructor.

But, Basic Studies is not just for students at CNC. Officers from thirteen southeast Asian countries are presently taking one of the reading courses. These people meet three times a week to read and discuss articles from the Christian Science Monitor. This course offers them experience in reading the English language and in using it as well.

However, instruction in Reading, Studying, and Writing may soon be moving off campus. Social Agencies in Newport News have asked for the above courses to be taught in the East End and it is presently in the planning stages. If all goes well the program will begin in February of this year.

These are but two of the ways CNC is able to reach out and serve the community and students of CNC as well.

Deadline nears for Financial Aid Applications

The Virginia College Scholarship Assistance Program (CSAP) is administered by the State Council of Higher Education For Virginia (SCHEV). Applications for this program are submitted directly to the State Council. Many of you have already received applications and information on this program. You are reminded that the application and related financial statement (Parents' Confidential Statement/Student's Financial Statement PCS/SFS) must be received by the State Council and the College Scholarship Service (CSS) respectively not later than February 15, 1975.

Others are reminded that if you will be enrolled as a full-time freshman, sophomore or junior during the 1975-76 academic year, have been a Virginia resident for at least one year and demonstrate sufficient financial need you are eligible to receive awards under this program. Those of you who wish to apply and have not already received an application may pick one up in the Financial Aid Office, Gosnold 216.

The Basic Education Opportunity Grant (BEOG) program is administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). Applications are submitted directly to the Program. The 1975-76 BEOG applications have just arrived with instructions. Those of you who received these awards last year will be receiving your new applications in the mail shortly and should submit them not later than April 1 if you are again applying for other financial aid. Others who might be interested in this program are reminded that the criteria for eligibility are as follows: the student must have a documented financial need; he began or will begin college or vocational or technical school after April 1, 1973; he is a U.S. citizen or permanent resident; and he is a full-time student. Applications may be obtained in the Financial Aid Office.

1975-76 Applications for other need-based programs administered by the College are available in the Financial Aid Office. These applications, together with the appropriate financial statement (PCS/SFS) should be submitted to the College and to the CSS not later than May 1 and April 1 respectively. Applications have already been sent to renewal applicants and these students are also reminded to not delay submission of their forms.

If you have questions concerning financial aid, please contact the Financial Aid Office in Gosnold 216 or call ext. 316.

VETERANS' HOT LINE: Questions and Answers on Education Benefits and Problems

Q. I was taking basic studies courses last semester but now I am taking all credit courses. Is there anything I should do?

A. Yes. Notify Mrs. Harrison in the Admissions Office of your new schedule. Although basic studies courses qualify for benefits, they are not charged against your entitlement. Therefore, all changes must be promptly reported.

Q. Did the new law change the eligibility criteria for the Vocational Rehabilitation Program?

A. Yes. OWE Presents Workshop on Saturday

"Realizing Women's Potential" is the theme for the second annual Community Workshop presented by the Organization for Women's Equality of Christopher Newport College, which will be held at the Campus Center, Saturday, February 8, 1975.

OWE is a student group working for increased opportunities for women to explore and realize their needs and potentials. OWE invites all people young and old, female and male, professional and non-professional to participate in the workshop.

The keynote speaker will be Ms. Del Dobbins of Springfield, Virginia. She is the State Coordinator for Virginia, National Organization for Women. She is 28 years old, the daughter and granddaughter of Shenandoah Valley, women, a working journalist, mother of a 6 year-old woman-child Kelly, married, into the women's movement so she can work for and not just benefit from change.

There is a full days program planned culminating in a general rap on women's needs and plans to establish a Women's Center on the Peninsula.

For more information, contact Bonnie Hansen, Counseling Center, Christopher Newport College.
