News and General Information

Victor Kiam via Video - Teleconference

VICTOR KIAM will be at CNC Wednesday, March 18, 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. via video-teleconference. The program in the Anderson Auditorium is available to CNC faculty and staff at $37.50, which is half the advertised price. This includes a copy of Victor Kiam's hardback book Go For It!, lunch, a workbook, and an exciting experience with a true entrepreneur - the man who bought the Remington Company! We'd like for you to see CNC's newest technology so that you can anticipate using teleconferencing to enhance your teaching. To register by check, credit card or departmental transfer of funds, call Continuing Education at 7158. We will be here even though it's spring break, so call us!

-- Agnes Braganza, Director of Continuing Education

Newport News Schools' Summer Institute for the Arts at CNC

Children of CNC Faculty & Staff members who are Newport News residents may apply to audition for the Summer Institute for the Arts whether they are students in public or private schools. Those audition-qualified Newport News residents who are not NN public school students will be accepted on a space available basis. Dr. Rita Hubbard is CNC's Director of the Institute. Application forms are available to CNC faculty and staff through the Office of Continuing Education, A328.

-- Rita Hubbard, Chairman Arts & Communication

Distinguished Professor Nominations

The Virginia Zeta Chapter of Alpha Chi National Honor Scholarship Society is seeking nominations for its third annual Distinguished Professor Award to be presented at the Honors Convocation Ceremony prior to graduation.

The award winner will be selected by an anonymous evaluation of candidates' credentials according to a rating scale established by the Committee. While evidence of teaching effectiveness is required, the award winner must primarily show evidence of exceptional professional and scholarly achievement, the major criteria for the award.

Please submit your nomination, a brief rationale for the nomination, and a current vita of the nominee by March 31 to:

The Alpha Chi Distinguished Professor Award Committee
c/o David Game, Alpha Chi Faculty Advisor

-- Jean Stuart, President, Alpha Chi
