Student Association to hold fall elections

The Student Association will hold its regularly scheduled fall election on September 20, 21, 22.

Offices open during this election include: Student Association Vice-President, Educational and Communication Division President, and Senate seats, which are available in all departments.

Petitions must be circulated by the candidates and filed with the Dean of Student Affairs by Friday, September 15, 1978, in order to have your name entered on the ballot.

Graduate admission test deadlines set

Those planning to take one or more of the admission tests required by graduate and professional schools are advised to register for those tests immediately. A disruption in mail service could prevent those who delay from being registered for the early fall administrations.

Regular registration deadlines for the examinations are: Medical College Admission Test (MCAT), September 1; Dental Admission Test (DAT), September 11; Law School Admission Test (LSAT), September 14; Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT), September 21 and Graduate Record Examination (GRE), September 28.

Late registration deadlines generally are one week later than the regular registration deadlines.

1977-78 auto registration void for fall semester

All students, faculty and staff members of the college who operate or park one or more vehicles or motorcycles on the campus grounds must register each vehicle at the time of initial student registration or initial employment, or if the vehicle is acquired at a later date, it must be registered within forty-eight (48) hours after acquisition. Faculty/Staff and Student motor vehicle registration is required each academic year.

Example: 77-78 parking decal--effective September 1, 1977, thru August 31, 1978; 78-79 parking decal--effective September 1, 1978, thru August 31, 1979.

The March of Progress

Construction for the new addition to the Captain John Smith Library is finally taking visible shape. These girders were erected in only two days. Completion of the new wing is expected in March.

Science dept to participate in Nature Center program for area

Four members of the Science Department will participate in a science circus, sponsored by the Peninsula Nature and Science Center on the 23rd and 24th of September.

Dr. Robert Edwards, dean of academic affairs and professor of biology; Dr. Larry Sacks, professor of chemistry; Professor Sue Gray Al-Salam of the physics department; and Mrs. Ruth Simmons, professor of biology, will host exhibits in each of their fields.

Visitors to the Science Circus may bring in live spiders to be identified by Dr. Edwards. He will also be presenting several lectures each day on the natural history of the spider.

Dr. Sacks will deal with water chemistry and teach visitors how to determine mineral content in their home water supply. Prof. Al-Salam's demonstrations will deal with the physical sciences.

Mrs. Simmons will present a microscope exhibit, allowing visitors to observe a variety of objects under microscopes and to learn how to operate one.

Space models and rockets will be the central theme in a project by NASA Langley Research Center organized by Dr. Robert Helton. Mr. Mehrens of the Educational Programs Office of NASA will provide a working model of the Explorer I satellite for viewing.

Mr. Fred Duncan, an operations research analyst from Ft. Eustis, will have demonstrations and original displays on optical illusions using color and motion.

Some of Mr. Duncan's displays are currently being exhibited in the Palace of Art and Science in San Francisco and the Magic Castle in Los Angeles. His work was used on a nationally broadcast television series a few years ago.

The Association of Science-Technology Centers has developed an exhibit centering on the "Outstanding" children's science trade books published in 1977. You may want some of these for your home library.

An exhibit of Virginia's birds will be done by the Virginia Beach Chapter of the National Audubon Society.

Many more exhibits will be on hand on such topics as geology, photography and hot-air balloons.

Science Circus will be held at the Deer Park Elementary School adjacent to the Nature Center. The hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m. both days. Admission to Science Circus is $1.00 and includes Center museum and planetarium shows. For this special event, all parking will be across J. Clyde Morris Boulevard from the Center's entrance.

Setting objectives

Operation Self-Help seeks students for pay and academic credit

Operation Self-Help is searching for students interested in becoming more involved in various functions of Christopher Newport College. All participants are eligible to receive academic credit or an hourly wage, depending on the nature of the project.

Currently Operation Self-Help is involved in the planning and construction of a new greenhouse for CNC. Because the project is in the planning stage, student participation and ideas are essential. A meeting for this project is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 13, in the Pub. Any one interested is urged to attend.

On a smaller scale, Operation Self-Help has been asked by the Student Association to plan and construct SA information easels. These easels are to be placed in the building entrance ways and used to display advertisements for various campus events. Students will be paid for work on this project.

For further information on current projects or suggestions for future projects, students can contact Susan Glaheen, Director, or Chris Lovell, Assistant Director, in Room 230 of the Campus Center.

National Teacher Exams to be offered to advanced degree and teaching students

PRINCETON, N.J.--Students completing teacher preparation programs and advanced degree candidates in specific fields may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of three different test dates in 1978-79. Educational Testing Service, the nonprofit, educational organization that administers this testing program, said that the tests will be given November 11, 1978; February 17, 1979; and July 21, 1979, at test centers throughout the United States.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are considered by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and used by several states for the credentialing of teachers or licensing of advanced candidates. Some colleges require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

On each full day of testing, registrants may take the Common Examinations, which measure their professional preparation and general educational background, and/or an Area Examination that measures their mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective registrants should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, their colleges, or appropriate educational association for advice about which examinations to take and when to take them.

The Bulletin of Information contains a list of test centers and traction form. Copies may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08541.

Minority group members offered fellowship to increase representation in social sciences

The Committee on Institutional Cooperation has established two fellowship programs designed to increase the representation of minority group members among those who hold doctorates in the social sciences and the humanities.

Funded by grants from the Lilly Endowment, Inc., and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation that total more than $1 million, the program will provide 25 two-year fellowships in the social sciences and 10 in the humanities for the 1979-80 academic year.

The Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) is the academic consortium of 11 Midwestern universities--the Big Ten universities and the University of Chicago. Recipients of the fellowships may use them at any one of the 11 CIC universities, provided they are accepted for admission to graduate study.

The fellowships provide full tuition plus a stipend of $4,000 for each of two academic years. Two additional years of support will be provided by the doctoral candidate's institution as long as normal progress towards the Ph.D. is made.

Anyone who has or will receive a bachelor's degree by September, 1979, is eligible to apply for the 1979 competition. Graduate students may also apply.

The deadline for application is January 15, 1979, although students are urged to apply as early as possible in the fall. A one-step application procedure combines application for the fellowship with application for admission to any of the CIC universities on a single form.

Anyone desiring detailed information about either fellowship program should write to: CIC Minorities Fellowships Program, Kirkwood Hall 111, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana 47401.

Between September 15 and January 15, prospective applicants from outside Indiana may call toll free between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. EST for information. The number is 800-457-4420.

Now in its second year, the CIC fellowships program in the social sciences makes awards in anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, and sociology.

The humanities fellowships are available to students seeking doctorates in American studies, art history, classics, comparative literature, English, German, linguistics, music, philosophy, religion, Romance languages, and Slavic languages.

President Windsor and members of the CNC community welcome retirees at a luncheon.

Retirees offer experiences to career program students

A new dimension will be added to the Career Program during the 1978-79 academic year with the addition of retirees taking part in this program. The retirees will be present for the discipline that is related to their career.

Eight of the thirteen retirees met at the College for lunch in the Campus Center this past Wednesday. Dr. James Windsor gave a word of welcome to those present; and Bill Bell, President of the Student Association, explained to the retirees that the students would gain a great deal from the career experiences that the retirees could offer them.

Ms. Helen Wornom was the first woman Registrar for the City of Newport News, and her husband, Forest, worked in the Treasurer's Office of Newport News Shipbuilding. Ms. Blanche Pitts was the first woman real estate broker in Newport News and for many years was associated as an officer with W.T.

Chapin. At the time of his retirement, Mr. Charles D. Roach was an engineer with Aviation Laboratories in Fort Eustis, and his wife, Helen, is an accomplished musician and composer of several cantatas.

Dr. Barnes Gillespie served in the U.S. Navy as a medical doctor. After leaving the service, he engaged in private practice, and at the time of his retirement was a physician with Newport News Shipbuilding. Mr. Philip Donely retired from NASA as an engineer, and Mr. William Kiermaier retired from the U.S. Air Force as a photographic engineer.

Other retirees taking part in the Career Program but not present at the luncheon will be Mr. Mark Hopkins, former manager of the American Oil Company plant in Yorktown; Mr. Malcolm Cram, retired safety engineer from NASA; and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hueston, retired teachers from the Peninsula schools.

Student locator services aid minority

PRINCETON, N.J.--Many minority students, entering their junior or senior years of college or already possessing undergraduate degrees, may be thinking about continuing their education in graduate school.

If so, Educational Testing Service (ETS) and the Graduate Record Examinations Board can help identify opportunities for advanced study.

Through the Minority Graduate Student Locator Service, developed by ETS and offered by the GRE Board, college juniors, seniors and graduates who are members of racial and ethnic minorities in the United States can make their intentions known to graduate schools seeking such applicants. There is no cost to students for this service.

Students sign up by completing the registration form contained in the GRE/MGSLs Information Bulletin. It is the same form used to register for the Graduate Record Examinations. The GRE are comprehensive aptitude and advanced tests used in the admissions process by many of the nation's graduate schools. Students need not take the GRE to use the Locator Service.

The Information Bulletin explains what all students must know to participate in the service. Copies of the Bulletin can be obtained at most colleges or by writing to MGSLs, Box 2615, Princeton, N.J. 08541.

To take part in the Locator Service, students describe themselves by answering a series of questions on the registration form that ask for ethnic background, undergraduate major and other information about educational experience and objectives. This information is placed in the Locator Service file and made available upon request to participating graduate schools. GRE scores are not included in the Locator Service file.

Each graduate school establishes its own criteria for identifying students from the Locator Service file based on ethnic background, expected major field of study, degree objective and state of residence. Students who use the Locator Service and meet the criteria set by a particular school will have their names automatically submitted to that school.

Students who want to make information available to graduate schools three times during the academic year must have their registration forms in by Sept. 22. A student who misses that deadline and has the form in by Nov. 6 will be able to participate twice. Graduate schools will correspond with those students in whom they are interested to inform them of the procedures to follow in applying for admission.

Because of the interest among graduate schools throughout the nation in attracting qualified minority students, it is likely that a student's name will be sent to a number of institutions. Because a graduate school may not wish to contact all students whose names it receives, students are not informed of the identity of those institutions to which their names have been forwarded.

The Locator Service is not an application to graduate school or for financial assistance and does not constitute a guarantee of admission or financial aid. It is designed only to supplement a student's own efforts to locate and seek admission to a suitable graduate program and to find resources for financial assistance.

Information students supply for the Locator Service file is treated confidentially and is released only to participating graduate schools and scholarship programs.

Last year, more than 21,000 students made use of the Locator Service, and student information was provided to more than 120 graduate schools around the country.

The GRE and the MGSLs are administered by ETS under policies determined by the GRE Board, an independent board affiliated with the Association of Graduate Schools and the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States.

New Campus Center Directors hope to make a nicer place for students

by Melissa Edeburn

Even if you're new here, you've probably found your way to the Campus Center. It's one of the five two-story buildings at CNC but boasts an even greater distinction in its Pub, game room, and cafeteria.

What you may not know about are the center's newest staff members, Mr. Bill Kennedy, Director of Services, Pub and Campus Center, and Ms. Linda Ellingwood, Assistant Director of Auxiliary Services. Both have been working here approximately seven weeks. Kennedy took over his duties July 15 with Ellingwood stepping into her job two days later.

Kennedy's duties are a veritable smorgasboard ranging from managing the maintenance crews, overseeing scheduling of the offices and the theatre, to handling general repairs on the building itself. "Basically," Kennedy says, "what I want to do is to make the Campus Center a nicer place for the students to congregate."

Kennedy has already formulated a few innovations. "I'm working on trying to improve the Pub as far as the interior goes . . . we've gotten some new equipment . . . even added pizzas to the menu."

Some changes have already been incorporated which, Kennedy adds, "may not be noticeable if you haven't been here before."

Renovations include repainting several offices, putting some carpeting down, and thoroughly cleaning the Pub and cafeteria.

Recently retired from the Air Force and presently a full-time senior student at St. Leo's College majoring in Human Resources Administration, Kennedy is contemplating further changes for the Campus Center. "We're planning some improvements for the cafeteria," Ellingwood added, "We're looking for ways to make it more efficient because students don't want to spend 35 minutes of their lunch hour standing in line." The Pub, Kennedy revealed, will soon be getting its own coffee machine and popcorn maker.

Although their duties sometimes overlap, Ellingwood, a graduate of Longwood College, is primarily responsible for the handling of the front desk and its workers, along with the game room. She manages the financial affairs of the center as well.

Both say they like their jobs. "I haven't had any negative student reaction so far," Ellingwood said. "It's great." She went on to compliment what she called students' well-behaved manners at CNC's first dance as an example. Both agree, however, that "The job keeps you very busy."

Hall plans prostitution history

Dr. Phyllis A. Hall, assistant professor in the department of history, will be teaching Western Civilization. She is looking forward to the courses and feels that freshman classes are the most challenging, and perhaps, the most important.

Dr. Hall's specialty is European Renaissance and Reformation History, but her other interests are almost a paradox to the scholarly studies she has done in these areas. While in New Hampshire, her last position, she taught Women in History and began research on a book she hopes to begin writing soon on the history of prostitution. Dr. Hall received an NEH research grant this past summer for her project and has made contact with a variety of people involved in prostitution studies and counseling.

Obviously a lady of diverse interests, Dr. Hall's avocation is skiing. She has been active in down-hill since the age of three, and two years ago took up cross-country skiing.

Self-Help sees productive summer

by Kenneth Gillespie

Operation Self-Help, what is it, what does it do? Operation Self Help was originally organized to give students with a particular skill or interest an opportunity to earn extra money by completing projects on campus which ordinarily would have been given to outside firms at a higher cost.

Operation Self Help is supervised by Susan Glasheen, its director, who was appointed by the Student Association.

How well Self Help has succeeded can be judged by the results or lack of results of the various projects it has undertaken on campus.

Operation Self Help was born one year ago and since then a new greenhouse has been on the drawing board. It still is. When asked about the cause of the delays,

Phot by Everett Griffin

Two new boat racks, designed and constructed by Chal Brady, project coordinator for Self-Help, are just one of the projects completed over the summer by students involved in Operation Self-Help.

features

Ms. Glasheen said that the delays are the result of "infeasible designs." New plans are now being drawn up. The greenhouse project will be funded by the Energy Research and Development Administration. Greenhouse project coordinators are Bill Enos and Kenny Somerset.

Operation Self Help, in cooperation with Dr. Killam's Sight, Planning, and Design II class, tackled the problem of inadequate parking space. The goal was to increase parking space and increase safety.

While safety has been increased apparently, the parking is still inadequate. Before the parking lot was redesigned there were 671 stalls and now there are 654 stalls, a decrease of 17 stalls.

The parking lot now is said to have these advantages: fewer cars backing into the traffic lanes, the parking lot light is no longer in the center of the aisle, and there are no dead end aisles.

There is still a lot of congestion in the parking lot. And with CNC's student body growing every year, there is an immediate need for more parking space.

In addition to these projects, Vennie Wright is the project coordinator of the new student handbook. The handbook will be distributed to the student body later this semester.

A continual project of Operation Self Help is the Peer Advising Group. Joe Slide is project coordinator for this project--where students can go to talk out their problems with other students.

The boat racks in front of Ratcliffe Gym were the work of Self Help, and project coordinator Chal Brady, who was also project coordinator for refinishing the wooden desks. The boats are used by the Sailing Club, but are also for the use of the student body.

Anyone interested in working with Operation Self Help should contact Susan Glasheen in the attorney general's office

Rugby comes to Newport News

Rugby gains popularity

by Nelson Harris

Good things seem to come in bunches--and for sports buffs this fall here at CNC, one of these bunches is the new CNC Chapter of the Newport News Rugby Football Club.

Starting just four short weeks ago as the Newport News Rugby Club, this group of intrepid young athletes is not only providing considerable fun and exercise for its members, but also will provide sports enthusiasts both thrills and something else to brag about when referring to their "home town."

In case you are among the uninitiated to the game of rugby, it is not a game for the faint-hearted or the short of breath. A game consists of two forty-minute halves, with no time outs and no substitutions.

Fifteen players are allowed on each side, but some games don't see that many players on the field at the finish. If someone is hurt or for some other reason cannot finish, his team is compelled by the rules to do the best it can with those that are left.

Points are scored by various means, including running and kicking; but no forward passing is allowed. Play is continuous and there is never any "dead time," even when the referees are exacting a penalty.

The game began unceremoniously some 80 years ago in the town of Rugby, England, when an impatient young soccer player picked up the ball and ran across the goal, touched it down for a try, and was awarded four points (posthumously).

Essentially, that explains the game. Players are quick, however, to point out that there is no such thing as "professional" rugby, and that the game is played out of dedication and self-satisfaction. Yet most of the sport's steadfast admit that they were drawn in by the coaxing and peer pressure of their fellows.

Every Tuesday and Thursday evening, in relative obscurity and drawing stares from curious passersby, a band of twenty or so "Ruggers" gather behind the Hidenwood school for a couple hours of bumping, bruising, and scraping in order to get ready for the next "big" game.

Opposing players (15 to the team) tear each other apart on the field; the play doesn't stop even for an injury. After the game, however, at the party, it's a different story. On the field disputes are never revived during a rugby party, and often the worst of enemies on the field become the best of friends at the party. The parties are always free to players and fans alike and are sponsored by dues and donations of the home team which go to buy the kegs, hot dogs, hamburgers, and what not.

"This season, I just want the team to get in shape and to learn what the game is all about," said Dr. Mitchell Avent, the coach of the Newport News team. "We have a few veteran Ruggers with us, but for the most part, our club is very green. We have a lot of depth, especially in our scrum, but a lot of work is still in store for the whole team."

The CNC Chapter of the Newport News Rugby Football Club held its first organizational meeting last Thursday night in the Campus Center. Attendance was not as high as had been anticipated, but membership is hoped to increase.

"There is an untapped wealth of potentially great rugby players here at CNC," Dr. Avent went on to say. "I am hoping that this chapter will constitute a great majority of our 'A' Team."

New coaches in tennis and soccer

Keri O'Donnell has been named women's tennis coach at Christopher Newport College. She succeeds Bob Dunn.

The 22-year-old University of Virginia graduate is a former member of the Ferguson High boys' tennis team.

Keri and twin sister Cheri O'Donnell were both top-ranked junior players.

During Coach O'Donnell's career at UVA, the Cavaliers won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and were the 12th ranked team in the nation.

She captained the Cavaliers' women's team her last two years at the Charlottesville school.

She currently is the assistant pro at James River Country Club.

CNC Athletic Director Bev Vaughan has also announced that Hamptonian Tom Bailey is the Captains' new assistant soccer coach.

Bailey was CNC's Most Valuable Player last year, when he also coached Denbigh High to its most successful season ever.

CNC Track Team on the move

by Bill Seals

A revitalized effort is underway this year in the entire CNC track program, according to coach Doug Dickinson. Further, this year's cross country schedule promises to be a most challenging one. The schedule includes several Division I and II schools (CNC is Division III).

When asked as to why there were so many Division I and II schools, Coach Dickinson replied that this was the first time in several years that the four track schools in Virginia--St. Andrews, Va. Wesleyan, N.C. Wesleyan, and Methodist College--have all fielded cross country teams as well as the usual indoor and outdoor teams.

As a result, the schedule is tougher, which is necessary to rebuild a strong cross country, indoor and outdoor track team.

As to the outlook for the team this fall, Coach Dickinson is most optimistic. Having taken the Dixie Conference championship last spring, all six members of that team are returning this fall. They include David Williams, returning senior, and the 1st place man from the Dixie Conference championship of 1978; Ken Roberts, returning junior and the 880 and mile run champ for outdoor track in 1978.

Rounding out last year's returning group are Charles Dunston, Mike Parsell, Bob McIlheney, and Tom Walsh, all sophomores, from which a lot can be expected.

Also, a fresh crop of runners will be bolstering the effort. These men include Chris Przygocki, freshman, an outstanding runner for Menchville High School and one of the top runners in this state; Burt Thompson, a transferring junior from the University of Maryland at Munich; and freshmen Scott Wagner and Joe Page; sophomores Vernon Greene and Peter Kjeldsen; juniors Doug Johnson, Brett Griffin and Jim Thompson; and seniors Arthur Thatcher and Bill Seals.

In years past Christopher Newport has had a successful team, and Coach Dickinson is working to be very competitive.

Although the team is a young one and relatively inexperienced, the team has the desire to be number one, and that desire is going to make all the difference.

Copland to conduct Symphony

Monthly Concerts begin Sept. 15th

Aaron Copland, the dean of American composers and one of the most beloved figures in the world of music, will conduct the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra in a special non-subscription benefit concert on Sunday evening, September 17, at 8:00 p.m. in Chrysler Hall. Dr. Copland, who at age 77 is busily pursuing his second career as orchestral conductor, will be making his eastern Virginia conducting debut.

The concert is being presented by the Symphony Association in cooperation with the City of Norfolk's Convention Bureau, which will be hosting the annual convention of the Virginia Municipal League, bringing over 1,000 state and local government officials to Tidewater. Proceeds of the concert will be applied to the Orchestra's accumulated deficit.

Sharing the podium with Dr. Copland will be the Symphony's music director, Russell Stanger, who will conduct the American Festival Overture by Johannes Brahms and a new fanfare for orchestra composed by Mr. Stanger for this occasion.

Dr. Copland will conduct three of his own works: Suite from Billy the Kid; the first set of Old American Songs ("Boatmen's Dance," "The Dodger," "Long Time Ago," "Simple Gifts," and "I Bought Me a Cat"); and A Lincoln Portrait.

The Honorable G. William Whitehurst, U.S. Representative from Norfolk, will narrate A Lincoln Portrait. The distinguished American bass, Raeder Anderson, a recent addition to the music faculty at the University of West Virginia, will be soloist for the songs.

Among Mr. Anderson's upcoming engagements are appearances with Robert Shaw and the Atlanta Symphony, the Milwaukee Opera Company, and world premiere opera for the Public Broadcasting Series. He is baritone soloist on a soon-to-be released Vox recording of Brahms' A German Requiem with Robert Shaw and the Atlanta Symphony.

Tickets for this concert are now on sale at $19.00, $16.00, $14.00, and $8.00 at the Symphony Office, 623-2310. One half of the ticket price is a tax deductible contribution to the Symphony Association.

The concert will be repeated on Monday evening, September 18, at Phi Beta Kappa Hall on the College of William and Mary campus in Williamsburg. On that occasion, the narration to A Lincoln Portrait will be read by Raeder Anderson.

For those of you who are new to CNC this semester, and as a reminder to us "ole timers," the Fine and Performing Arts Department and the CNC Music Club sponsor the CNC Monthly Concert Series each year for the enjoyment of students, faculty, and members of the community. These concerts are performed on the third Friday of each month, at 8:15 p.m., in the Campus Center Theater. Admission is free to all this year for the first time, where previously only CNC students were admitted free. A reception is held after each concert and is open to the entire audience.

This season's first concert is to be presented on Friday, September 15, 1978, at 8:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Theater, and the performer will be Beth Ohlhorst, a flutist with wide professional experiences that have taken her to many parts of the U.S.

Sound Solution

by Rick Dunn

In 1976 Thin Lizzy was just an inch away from superstardom in America, but they blew it. They had a hit single, "The Boys Are Back in Town," and a fabulous album, Jailbreak, that was both a critical and chart success for the band.

Then things fell apart. Phil Lynott, leader of Lizzy, fell ill and the Jailbreak tour was cut short. The group's next two albums, Johnny the Fox and Bad Reputation, failed to live up to the standard set by Jailbreak. Thin Lizzy started leaning more into heavy metal, shying away from the mid-tempo ballads that highlighted their 1976 effort.

Thin Lizzy has a new label now and a new album to go with it, a live set entitled Live and Dangerous. At this stage of their career, a live package is the best move that Thin Lizzy could have made.

It's sort of a greatest hits thing, the best moments from Thin Lizzy's recording career captured on stage, along with some new material. The extended heavy metal jams are gone. The rock on this two-record set is tough and to the point, short and sweet.

Phil Lynott is one of the most gifted songwriters in contemporary music. His lyrics are cleverly crafted and you really have to listen and use your mind to get to the real eman meaning of some of his songs.

The song "Warrior" seems to be a sci-fi epic at first listen, but it is actually a tribute to great guitarists in rock who have died, notably Jimi Hendrix and Brian Jones. "Emerald" is a track about Irish nationalism that sounds like some tale off the comic pages the first time around.

Of course, not every track is so pretentious. The thing that made "The boys Are Back in Town" such a hit was its street-wise simplicity ("You know that chick that used to dance a lot/Every night she'd be on the floor shakin' what she's got . . ."). "Dancin' in the Moonlight," "Still in Love with You," and a great cover of Bob Segar's "Rosalie" are right along these lines.

As live recordings go, the engineering is the best I've ever heard. The mix is perfect and the twin guitars of Brian Robertson and Scott Gorham are just as crisp and exciting as they are in the studio. I hope this album does it for Thin Lizzy. As long as Lynott and the boys have been plugging at it, they certainly deserve a break today.

New music library dedicated in ceremonies honoring Cary McMurrin

A recital and reception at Christopher Newport College dedicated the College's new Cary McMurrin Music Library collection Saturday evening. The funds for the music library were donated by a group of friends of the College, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Emanuel E. Falk, to honor the contributions Mr. McMurrin has made to the musical life of the Peninsula community as a teacher, conductor of the Peninsula Symphony, and pianist.

The ceremonies included a brief recital by harpsichordist William Tim Reed, a student of Mr. McMurrin and a well-known soloist now residing in New York, and were followed by a reception for Mr. McMurrin, his family, friends, and professional associates.

The collection will ultimately be housed in the addition now being constructed to the Captain John Smith Library at the College. First purchases of records and documents for this collection are underway, and it is expected that the College will spend some $10,000 from contributions for the purpose this year. According to Mrs. Falk, plans are being made to continue a modest drive for funds for the music library on an annual basis, to raise about $10,000 each year. "We want this to be the finest music library in the area," she said. "It is a tribute from his friends and admirers to the outstanding musical figure in the community."

From the Hip

by Bill Seals

As this year is an election year for our congressional districts, I felt that perhaps a few thoughts on elections are in order.

Although I personally remain unimpressed by the candidates, for as usual they really don't have anything to say, it is important that we, as voters, try to pierce this wall of words that candidates spew forth and attempt at least to perceive the better person for the job. Why is it so important?

Because it was and is the Congress of the United States that can get us in or out of debacles such as Vietnam or other troubles either domestic or international.

I was amazed in the 1972 Presidential election at how much emphasis was placed on the President doing this or that. Nixon promised and eventually did get us out of Vietnam; but we could have gotten out sooner if we had only pressured our Congressmen to do something.

People, it is the Congress that controls the finances of this country, not the President. It is the Congress that can override a Presidential veto, not vice-versa. And contrary to popular belief, even undeclared wars cannot be fought if there is no money to fight them.

The point of all this is that attention to these small fry on the glory scale of our nation is necessary.

Why? Because the spectre of war is raising its ugly head even now in Rhodesia, Nicaragua, South Africa, Lebanon and places yet unknown to us. So pay attention and vote. It's your future that you're voting for.

Check it out wierdos! CNC may not be "squaresville" after all. The astute observer might even see evidence of a certain degree of "laidbackness" present on these hallowed grounds. Watch the line of cars coming back from a Merry Point excursion at lunchtime, or catch the gleam in those veterans' eyes as they return to the Pub fresh from a short walk to the gym parking lot. What about that black dude with the Coca Cola emblem silk-screened on his T-shirt?

Are all these free spirits buzzing on a natural high or did they drive to school via Columbia, or Jamaica, or some other torpical outpost? Do you think they are smiling over their latest English composition or grade? Are they "mellowed-out" because of their got through standing in registration lines to find out all the classes are closed or cancelled? Face it, captains and captainettes, Shoe Lane U. has a drug problem!!!

Yes, right here on our own ship of knowledge we have a contraband cargo buried deep in the hold. Everyone knows that falling motivation levels, promiscuity, liberal morality, comma splices, and glazed eyes are on the rise. Who but a fool could fail to identify the source of this evil?

There are those who are not willing to see this growing threat to public safety and decency con-

Letters

Dear CNC Student,

Do you know who represents you on issues, as a student? Are you disturbed by some aspect of Christopher Newport College? Would you like to have someone listen and help assist you in solving the disturbance?

Well, that's what your Student Association does for you daily. Your elected officers keep their ears to the ground and their eyes sharply focused on all activities on this Campus. We have had much success in the past with projects and will continue to have a record of success if you come out and support us.

Your Student Association offers you entertainment through the Campus Activities Committee. This is a totally student operated organization. CAC is responsible for the entertainment in the Pub and the majority of the dances held on campus. This year the CAC is expected to spend over $40,000.00 in entertainment.

Your Student Association represents you in over twenty student-faculty committees. It also represents you with students on all the committees of the Board of Visitors. With these positions, the Student Association can and does voice all ideas and complaints at the root of all decision making that affects CNC campus. The list of all the things your Student Association does for you is quite lengthy. But I hope you get the point. Your Student Association has power that is enormous compared to many other colleges. Do not regard us lightly. Support us and we can support you. Without your support we cannot possibly maintain this voice. We need your ideas, talents, and time. GET INVOLVED!

Dear Editor,

You probably know that it was Bill Parks' fondest wish to see his son, William Jr., obtain the best possible education. Billy is in his senior year in high school and plans to enter college in 1979. You may also know that he is a very bright and mature young man with excellent prospects for a bright educational future.

To help bring about Bill's goal, a trust fund has been established in his memory to be used exclusively for the educational expenses Billy will incur. We are writing to ask for your help in building this fund.

If you wish to remember Bill Parks in this very special way, please make your check payable to The William Parks Scholarship Fund. Your contribution may be sent to Mr. Keith F. McLoughland, Christopher Newport College, P.O. Box 6070, Newport News, Virginia 23606.

Dear Editor,

It is a shame to think that the reopening of a Child Development Center is up to the Board of Visitors. Think back to what you wrote. If the Child Care Center was originally started by students, then interested students and those expressing the need can reopen tinue, however, and are taking steps to combat the menace. First, the NNPD narcs (they're the ones who wear white socks and bell bottoms and have two-way radios on their belts). They go to the Pub and say things like, "Hey man, know where I can score some reefer for me and my chick?" Once they even suckered someone into selling them some, but it turned out that he was an undercover DEA agent. Anyway, while they're out there fighting "drug abuse," they keep the Pub financially solvent.

Of course, the administration is concerned. A memo from the President's office entitled "Life one.

The forces that began the initial center have different heads, but your Student Association is stronger than ever. This organization can, with the help of the parents, set up a child care center.

Funding, location, etc. are small problems compared to finding the people who desire to set up something to help themselves. The aid, the advice, the politics are all available for your use: use it.

Students want it; let us work for a new child care center. You don't have to wait for anything

The Eighteen Minute Gap

Unfortunately the rest of the memo caused an insomnia attack. Of course the Financial Aid Office is doing its part by keeping students so poor they can't afford to buy the stuff.

Your reporter, wishing to be fair-minded, decided to seek out another opinion. In the parking lot at lunchtime this reporter found a CNC captain, reclining in his '77 Pontiac Firebird, catching some tunes piped out from the two Advents in the back seat, wearing a T-shirt reading "If it feels good, do it," red, white, and blue America #1 ski glasses, fondling his frisbee.

In response to my questions concerning CNC's drug problem, he said, "Far out, Rosemary, you're o.k., I mean I could get into going to the Spectrum with you . . . I mean, look, Rosie, could you dig going to Ms. Fast-cumb's class straight? How ya' going to deal with Dr. Yawnman without copping a buzz? See, it ain't the drug scene that needs changing, it's the reasons why you gotta' take them and ah . . . you see . . . that's how it is. I mean, does a pound of flour make a big cookie?"

"I see," this reporter said, "you have a point there."

So there it is, captains and captainettes, all you nautical smoothies, the drug scene arrives at CNC in a big way. It's all part of growing up, I guess. So, tune-in, turn-on, toot-up, and drop add.

Later,
Rosemary

. . . work for it.

Dear Editor,

A student newspaper is naturally a mouthpiece for legitimate gripes the student body has and/or imagines it has with the administration. Generally, with this article being a notable exception, such altercations are conducted with consideration for both parties and are written presenting the facts and opinions as each sees them. In such an atmosphere, an appeal is made to the reader so that he is able to judge the merits involved by the facts. It is only damaging to one's own cause and credibility to engage in slander. If Rosemary sees these 15 points as problems here at CNC, she is her own worst enemy if she considers this as a manner in which to present them.

I took particular exception to the fact that her article was presented as a welcoming letter to the Freshman Class. To the Freshman Class, I must say that I have also met some of the people to whom she alludes, and it was in no way possible to reconcile my impressions of them with those of Rosemary.

I got the feeling from the tone of the article that the author was attempting to be witty. I can only say that it seems to this reader a regrettable lack of maturity to make such serious allegations in so off-hand a manner. The honor of several people has been seriously impugned here, whether the author realizes it or not. If there is truth in what she says, she ought to come forward with proof; if not, I find that a retraction and apology would be the least that she could do to make amends to the people she has libelled.

Dear Editor,

Dr. Bill Parks came to CNC in the Fall of 1972 with high hopes for its future and for his own. His commitment to our academic community was so genuine that he was appointed Dean of Arts & Letters four years later. He never truly left the classroom, however, because he loved teaching and there was a fair amount of pressure from his students and faculty for him to remain a member of the teaching staff.

Dr. Parks also extended himself in such a way that so many of us who knew him well felt that he was a very dear and close friend.

Because he was so successfully involved with students, teachers and administrators and, more than that, because of the tremendous warmth of the man, his presence will be sorely missed for a very long time.
