Free Library/Campus I.D. Cards Distributed to Faculty and Staff by Library

Beginning with the fall 1981 semester all CNC faculty, staff, and students will be issued library/campus I.D. cards. These I.D. cards will provide identification for all campus events as well as allowing control of library materials. In order to utilize these cards, the library will implement a Gaylord automatic charger which will expedite the charging of library materials and allow the library to keep more accurate circulation records. An additional advantage of the system will be the capability of identifying the class of library user who is charging out various categories of materials--i.e. faculty, student, community member. This information will assist the library in determining the actual resource needs of the students and faculty members and thereby assist the library in acquiring the most appropriate library resources to meet campus needs. An additional benefit of the cards will be that they will also serve to identify the holder to merchants and others off campus.

The library will provide one free card to all faculty, including part-time and adjunct faculty, and staff members of the College. These cards may be used indefinitely, but faculty and staff members must have their cards validated by the library each year and adjunct faculty each semester in order to be current. The library is able to provide one card only to each individual; if a card is lost, there will be a replacement charge of $2.00 to defray the cost. Faculty and staff I.D. cards may be obtained at the circulation desk of the library.

Bette V. Mosteller, Library Director

NEWS & GENERAL INFORMATION

Research Carrels Available in Library for Fall Semester

Five of the locking library carrels have been designated by the Faculty Library Committee as research carrels. Eligible persons include all faculty and students engaged in research sufficiently extensive to warrant a carrel. Applications for carrels, for fall semester are now available in my office or at the library circulation desk. Please return completed applications to me by 4:00 PM, September 11, for consideration by the committee.

Requests for Audio-Visual Equipment

The media department of the library will be glad to provide audio-visual equipment in classrooms but asks that two days prior notice be given on such requests. On request, the media department also will attempt to find inexpensive sources of films or video cassettes. The department has listings of such materials which may be borrowed at no charge from various agencies. The media department phone number is 7136.

Professor(s) Needed to Teach Humanistic Studies 290 Proseminar (The Nature of Man)

Any faculty member (or team of members) interested in teaching the HMST 290 Proseminar (The Nature of Man) in Spring semester 1982 should submit by Friday, September 11, to the Humanistic Studies Committee chairman six copies (one for each Committee member) of a reading list and tentative syllabus for the course. At least half the reading list should consist of excerpts from "The Great Books." The course objectives will be found on pp. 6-7 of the Humanistic Studies Program proposal distributed to the faculty in March. A list of these objectives is also posted outside N208, and a copy can be obtained from the Committee chairman, Ken Newell, in N208. In addition, copies of some anthologies (and tables of contents of other anthologies) usable as texts in the course are available for examination in N208.

Coordinator of Off-Campus Programs

Jimmie L. Williams, Jr., Coordinator of Off-Campus Programs in the Office of Continuing Education, joined the Christopher Newport College staff July 1. He is a recently retired U.S. Army Lieutenant Colonel with extensive experience in Management Training and Administration. He holds a B.S. degree from Tuskegee Institute and a Masters Degree in Educational Administration from Howard University. Mr. Williams completed numerous other management and technical courses while serving in the Armed Forces to include the United States Army Command and General Staff College. He has held numerous positions encompassing considerable responsibility for developing and implementing training programs. He has taught ROTC students at the university level and served as head of an academic department at the U.S. Army Transportation School for the past four years. His responsibilities at CNC focus on all credit courses taught off-campus, including Telecourses. He is in the new Administration Building, room 456, and can be reached at 599-7045/7158.

CNC Students Have Stories Published

In the past year, two CNC students published stories in The Rectangle, a magazine sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta, the national English honorary. Leslie Kidd's story, "Mary Frances' Baptism," appeared in the Fall 1980 issue, and Wanda Cohen's "Mr. Ludlow" appeared in the Spring 1981 number. Ms. Cohen received honorable mention in the annual fiction competition, judged by Philip O'Connor. Just recently she learned she had won the Judson Q. Owen Graduate Fellowship, given annually to the author of the best writing to appear in The Rectangle. The prestigious award consists of a check for $1,000. Gwendolyn Brooks, Pulitzer Prize winning poet, judged the entries.

FACULTY/STAFF NEWS

Jay Paul's poems appear in recent issues of Cream City Review and Poetry Northwest. His essay on the poetry of Lucien Stryk, who read from his work at CNC in February, 1979, appears in the Autumn 1980 issue of Chicago Review.
