Everything will wind up on Saturday with the Homecoming basketball game at 8:00 pm. The Homecoming King and Queen will be crowned during the half-time of this game.

There will be a Volkswagen Bug Float parade during half-time activities also. Each club has been invited to enter a vehicle. A $2.00 entry fee is required, and there will be a cash award and trophy for the winner. Cars may be decorated in any manner. The deadline for entering is February 12.

SMOKING IN CLASSROOMS TO STOP

In a recent memorandum, President Windsor stated, "The subject of smoking in the classrooms on our campus is the most frequent topic of conversation when I visit with students. Cigarette butts and burned desks and tiles are also constant sources of irritation to those who have the responsibility of keeping the classrooms clean."

The memorandum points out that recent research on "Second-Hand Smoke" has reconfirmed the health hazard to the non-smoker. For example, the American Lung Association has said, "When a smoker inhales, researchers have calculated that two-thirds of the smoke from the burning cigarette goes into the environment. Sidestream smoke, from the burning end, has higher concentrations of noxious compounds than the main stream smoke inhaled by the smoker. After only thirty minutes in a smoke-filled room, the carbon monoxide level is frequently as high as 90 ppm, almost twice the maximum allowable for industrial plants."

Although the smoker has the right to smoke, non-smokers have the right to breathe air which is clean and free from harmful and irritating smoke. This right supersedes when the two conflict.

Dr. Windsor said, "in light of the above, and other considerations, a 'controlled' smoking policy will become effective with the beginning of the 1975 summer session. Smoking will not be allowed in the classrooms at CNC, with the understanding that those addicts who cannot endure the length of the class period without smoking may retire to the hallways for the necessary respite."

In order to provide an opportunity to discuss fully this new policy, Dr. Windsor has scheduled a meeting for Monday, February 17 in G-145 at noon where those interested may air their points of view on the subject.

The memorandum concluded with Dr. Windsor stating, "your cooperation in this matter will be appreciated."

Executive Council Meeting Revolves Around Homecoming, By-Law Amendments

At the bi-weekly SGA Executive Council meeting on February 4, the major topics discussed were Homecoming Week 1975 and proposed amendments to the SGA By-Laws.

This year's homecoming events are reportedly a coordinated effort of the four classes with each class responsible for at least a part of the week's activities which will culminate with the Homecoming game against Lynchburg College on Saturday, February 15.

Reporting on elections for Homecoming King and Queen, Senior Class President, Donna Walkup noted that some 26 candidates were competing for that honor.

Previous homecoming elections have been only for a Queen and escort, but due to the election last year of a male as Homecoming Queen, a referendum was held this January 27-28 to determine whether the students wanted to retain, revise, or replace the old system. Only 70 students, about 2.7% of the body, voted in the referendum with 51 votes for retaining the old system and 19 votes against.

Sophomore Class President, Missy Trevallion states that the half-time ceremony would include a VW Bug competition. She reported that a $2.00 entry fee would register any student or club VW for the competition. Prizes will include a trophy and cash. It was added that only VW Bugs would be eligible for the competition since the winners would have to drive around the gym.

A spaghetti dinner is scheduled from 5 to 7:30 pm, Continued on page 6 B See SGA.

Editorials

Last week, we looked at Academic Freedom from an instructor's point of view. We now turn to the student's point of view, which is varied.

Some of the students interviewed were for total academic freedom and others qualified it by saying that it has its place.

Tom Johnson, President of the SGA, is all for academic

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor

I am looking for someone to correspond with. I would appreciate it if you would publish my ad in your pen pal section of your news paper.

I am thirty years of age, a Pisces, and would like to hear from ladies between the ages of twenty-eight and thirty-eight, race will not be a barrier.

I hope that someone might be able to understand my situation, because I need to relate to someone in the free world.

Thank you: Mr. James Martin

freedom. He feels that the instructor should be free to interpret a course in a manner which is most meaningful to him. If a student wants to be fully informed about a course before signing up for it, he has the right to consult the instructor. By doing this, the student can insure that the course will be beneficial to him. He then has the choice of taking or not taking the course.

While talking with a group of students, it was learned that they were on the same end of the spectrum as Tom.

THE STUDENTS' VIEW

However, some of the students added that they felt that the instructor should be able to use and cover any material relevant to the course.

But, this is where the controversy begins, some of the students see a need for a certain amount of standardization.

One of the students said that she felt that at times it would be beneficial to have a standard text book for a course because some instructors are poor judges when it comes to selecting texts.

Instructors sometimes have a tendency to select a book that is too easy, too difficult, or irrelevant. One suggestion was to use texts selected by both the students and the instructors.

Along with standard texts for a course, some students feel a need for more structure and standardization in continuous courses and the more concrete courses such as mathematics, accounting, or any of the physical sciences.

Art Taylor was one of the students who strongly supported this opinion. He feels that these departments should establish an outline for courses in order to guarantee the student a proper background for higher level courses.

He sees the necessity of all students learning the same material, even though taking the course under different instructors.

In Art's opinion, the student taking the more concrete courses gets ripped off with academic freedom, while those taking the more abstract courses benefit from it.

He might have something there - what do you think?

POLICE HAVE A RIGHT TO KILL!

Editor:

If I can find one outstanding deficiency in your newspaper, it would be your plastic, dream-world editorials. I have no idea who wrote the editorial on the Dum-Dum (hollow point bullet) issue, but whoever he was has no touch with reality.

This fantasy-minded individual (who failed to sign the editorial) has virtually no knowledge of the variances and contrasts of the hollow point round and the regular service revolver round. Upon impact, the hollow point will flatten, expand, and on occasion, fragment as it lodges in a body. This increases the amount of foot/pound force transferred from the bullet to the intended body. The hollow point round significantly reduces the danger of the ricochet of a misaimed round.

In contrast to this, a regular .38 or .357 caliber round will often pass thru an individual with still enough force to penetrate and lodge in a bystander. A regular 38 or .357 round will often enter and exit a body so cleanly and quickly that it has little initial effect on the individual. Cases are not uncommon where police officers have fired four to five regular rounds to the chest and stomach areas of assailants only to have them advance and stab or wound the policeman.

It should also be remembered that when a policeman draws his revolver and fires, his intent is not to wound, but to completely disable and demobilize a felon or suspected felon. The author of this former editorial had no working knowledge of the law as it related to justifiable homicide.

A peace officer is justified in using deadly force in defense of himself, in defense of a third party, to affect an arrest, or to prevent the escape from custody of a person whom he reasonably believes has committed a felony or attempted to commit a felony involving the use or threatened use of some deadly physical force. He can use deadly force when a suspected felon attempts to escape by the use of a deadly weapon or if the felon otherwise indicates that he is likely to inflict serious injury unless apprehended immediately.

If the author of the editorial on the Dum-Dum bullet had even the remotest knowledge of the law, he or she would not have included the incident of the recent death of a 16 year old armed robber in Richmond.

First of all, a 16 year old is a juvenile and has legal and criminal responsibilities for violent crimes and is just as capable of and responsible for the consequences of armed robbery as any other perpetrator of a crime. He brandished and threatened to rob a store proprietor of his day's earnings with a replica of an authentic gun. A police officer who observed the attempted armed robbery gave the regulation warning for the suspect to halt and submit to arrest, but the armed suspect attempted to escape, whereupon the officer executed his lawful duty to halt the felon, which he did.

The Dum-Dum bullet is a tool of the police and of law enforcement agencies that increases the risk for the felon and decreases the risk for the policeman. Our General Assembly recognized the need for its continuation and they acted with wisdom. As for the Richmond police officer, he acted within the guidelines of the law.

Black Awareness Week in Retrospect

By David Holley

Last week, the BSA sponsored three activities in observance of CNC's annual Black Awareness Week. In an age of accountability and evaluation, the Association would like to share its reflections with the college community.

Members of the BSA now realize that the week should have been called "Black Togetherness Week," for at no time before had its members been drawn closer than they were as preparations for the week's activities progressed.

At no other time had its members been more aware of their purpose and goal at CNC, nor of the means by which they could be attained.

The members came to a greater realization of the importance of unity, self-determination and confidence, and more cognizant of their identity and prouder of their Blackness.

Blacks have historically communicated their intentions and desires to God and man through spiritual songs, appropriately, the week began with two hours of Gospel sing-

The 'Travelling Angels,' one of three groups to perform during the recent Blackness Week. (Photo by Lyon)

The performances of the "Sunbeams," "The Gospel Four" and "The Traveling Angels" were both unifying and communicative.

Tuesday's film, "From Montgomery to Memphis," which traced the life of the late Martin Luther King, Jr., was appreciated for the determination and courage it evoked. Hampton Institute's Uhura Dancers and the Black Unity Band of Newport News performed on Thursday.

The audience was captivated by the intricate steps and seemingly endless energy of the Uhura Dancers, who are a definite credit to the Peninsula and to the State.

Beyond the superb performance was the apparent enjoyment of the dancers as they shared their interpretations of the Black man's earliest way of life. Their dances portrayed a total satisfaction with life, a satisfaction found only through inner peace.

The Black Unity Band, specializing in African sounds, performed for the Captain's Wheelhouse following the performance. In spite of their excellence, the group had to play to the jeers and harassment of those who neither understood nor cared to.

Applause and admiration followed the band as they left the Wheelhouse with a desire to perpetuate brotherhood, a powerful brotherhood that comes only with unity and togetherness.

The BSA quite subjectively rates the past week as a big success. Though the attendance was small, the enjoyment was immeasurable. The week began and ended in love, brotherhood, and peace.

CNC TRACKMEN BREAK THREE INDOOR RECORDS

Competing in their first official indoor track meet of the season, the CNC Captains broke three school records. The Captains broke records in the sprint medley, 880 relay and mile relay. They barely missed the record in the distance medley.

The mile relay team of Robert Gemmill, John Clark, Kenneth Hogge, and James Stibbs ran a 3:40.2 to place second in their heat in the mile relay. Their time broke the record of 3:42.4 set by Bill Robins, Gary Jackson, Steve Kojosich and John Clark in 1973 at the Lynchburg Relays.

Robert Gemmill led off with a 2:07 880 followed by a fine 3:19 3/4 by Dirl Riddle, but the team of Gemmill, Hogge, Riddle and Vincent West failed to break the school record of 11:11.1.

John Schindel teamed with Clark, Hogge and Stibbs to set a new school indoor record of 1:37.4 in the 880 relay breaking the record of 1:39.3 set by Hopkins, Tate, Kojosich and Robbins in 1972 at the VMI Relays.

With a 2:04.1 anchor leg by Dirl Riddle in the sprint medley, the Captains' team of James Stibbs, John Schindel, Kenneth Hogge and Riddle ran a 3:49.1 sprint medley breaking the indoor record of 3:52.5 held by Bill Robins, Bob Deans, Ira Tate and Kojosich. Their time was also below the outdoor 1970 record of 3:50.1 set by Seymore, Hopkins, Robbins and Bill Alto.

Cercle Francais de la Peninsula Give $150 in Prize Money

The Cercle Francais de la Peninsula, a local organization of French natives which has been assisting the CNC French Club, has generously offered $150 to reward the progress of those students who consistently attend the noon meetings every Wednesday in the Campus Center 209.

A first prize of $100 and a second prize of $50 will be awarded to those students who excel in a competitive "non academic" exam based on the topics discussed during the noon meetings. This exam will be given on Wednesday, April 23 at noon.

For further info, please contact Frances Meyer, president of the French Club at CNC, or Mr. Guthrie in the Department of Modern Languages, W-206, ext. 297.

Bad Luck Plagues Road Trip, Three Losses Drops Captains to Fifth in Dixie Conference

By Stuart Smith

It seems that the Captains' luck has been all bad the last two weeks as the team received its fourth and fifth losses in six road games from UNC at Greensboro and Greensboro College.

The Spartans of UNC at Greensboro pulled out an 81-77 win over the Captains in overtime play on Friday, February 7.

The Captains led the Spartans at the half 33-30, and moved out to a 39-32 lead in the opening minutes of the second half. The Spartans poured it on and with 14:19 left in the game edged ahead 44-43.

The score see-sawed back and forth as both teams battled for the win. With 0:34 remaining, the Spartans put in two free throws to lead 67-65. The Captains' Malcolm Scott dropped in the saving basket with 0:11 left.

In overtime play, the Captains outshot the Spartans from the field hitting five buckets to their opponents' four. But the Spartans collected on six of six charity shots to move ahead and hand the Captains a 6-5 Dixie Conference record. The Spartans upped their record to 3-8 in the conference and 6-10 overall.

As in earlier games this season, the Captains outshot their opponent from the field with 34 field goals to the Spartans' 32. However, the Spartans hit 17-24 free throws to CNC's 9 of 19.

Double figure men for the Captains were Mike Tallon and Dave Hutcheson each with 15, and Doug Baggett with 14. Sherwin Green, CNC's leading scorer averaging 17.4 PPG coming into the game, was held to 8 points.

The Spartans high-scorers were Kermit Crawford with 18; Steve Jones with 13, and Mark Bullock and Bobby Duncan each with 12.

The Captains had a 77-58 win over the Spartans earlier this season on the home court. The upset seems to have come from the second-semester acquisition of Crawford and the home-court influence.

Saturday night, February 8, was an even bigger disappointment for the Captains when the Greensboro College Hornets edged ahead in the final two minutes for a 79-77 win.

The Captains poured on a tremendous offense and defense in the first half that closed down the Hornets and moved the Captains out to a 49-36 lead in the first 20 minutes. The Captains hit 21 of 38 (55%) from the field and 7 of 17 (41%) free throws while Greensboro was held to 14 of 32 (44%) from the field and 8-16 (50%) from the line.

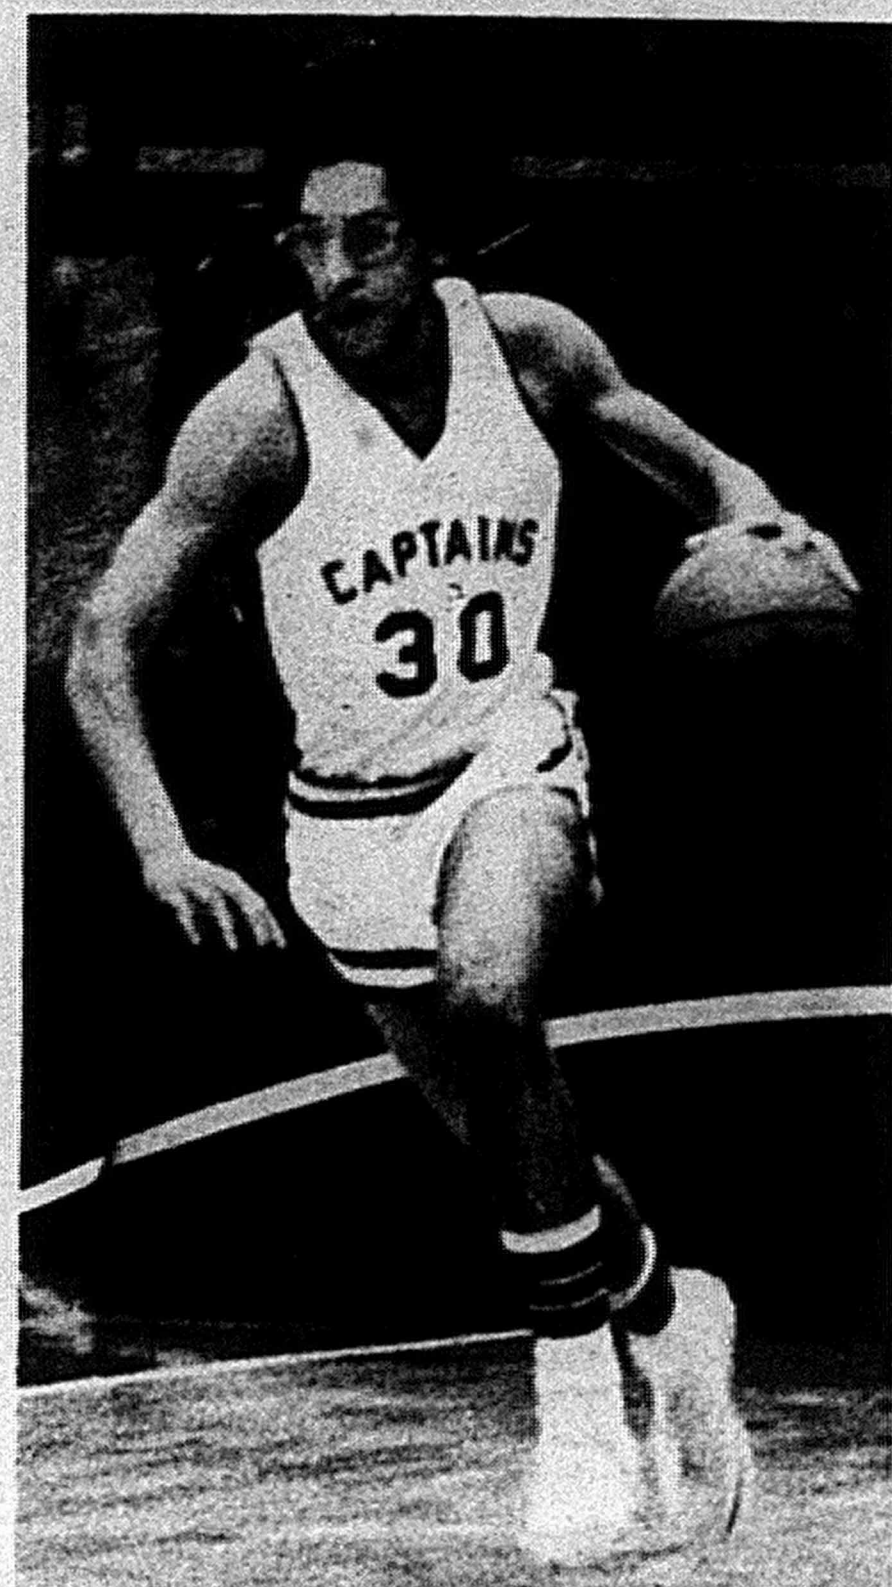

When the second half began, the Captains shut out Greensboro until fouls started piling up against the Captains. Starters for CNC Baggett, Hutcheson, Green, and Kilpatrick all fouled out. None of the Hornets fouled out although Bloxom Mabry had four at the half and Dane Skeele had three.

The Hornets put in 13 of 20 charity shots as they began collecting on the bonus. With 5:27 left, guard Rick Ballard put in two free throws to put the Hornets within three points at 67-64.

With 2:36 left in the game, the Hornets finally took the lead 72-71. The Hornets last seven points were all made from the free throw line.

The Captains never moved into the bonus situation as the Hornets committed only six fouls in the second half. The Captains were 0-0 from the line in the second half.

The loss gives CNC a 10-9 overall and a 6-6 conference record while Greensboro grabbed an 8-4 conference record.

CNC guard Steve Brown moves downcourt against UNC-Greensboro in Friday's game

The Captains beat the Hornets 75-72 in overtime play in a home-game this year.

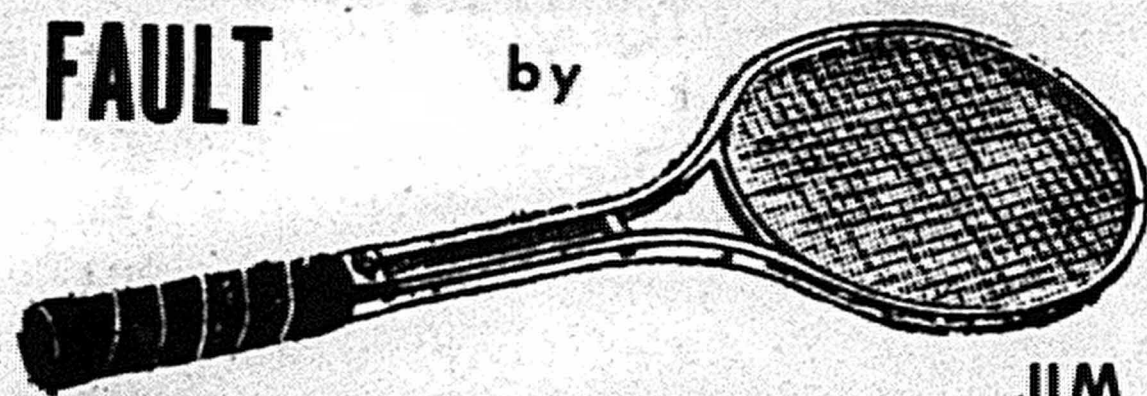

Coach Bev Vaughan feels that this weekend was important and beneficial for the Captains despite the losses.

Vaughan noted that, "We (the team) learned a lot about ourselves and our playing and playing ability. I mean that in a very positive manner."

"I believe things will fall into place now. I feel confident about the rest of the season," he said.

DOUBLE FAULT

by

JIM EYRE

The CNC Tennis Team opened its spring practice last week with a large turn-out. Ten prospects with several years of playing experience will be contending for the six singles and three doubles spots this season.

Coach Jack Armistead is looking for a winning season. Several bright freshman prospects will bolster this year's team which includes returning lettermen Jim Jordan and Jim Eyre.

The team will hold daily work-outs indoors during the month of February at the Centre Court Racket Club. The first outdoor match will be March 14 at Virginia Wesleyan.

Coach Armistead has been working the squad in the gym the past week and says much has been done in the way of conditioning and stroke work.

Individual breakdowns of members of the squad will appear in future issues of the Captain's Log.

Elsewhere on the tennis scene, we find the City of Hampton and the Coliseum Mall have finally managed to complete arrangements for the Hampton Coliseum Mall tennis tournament.

Jimmy Connors, Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, Clark Graebner of New York, Jon Tiriac of Romania, Roger Taylor of England, John Feaver, Manolo Santana and Juan Gisbert of Spain were definitely signed to play in the tournament being held at the Hampton Roads Coliseum March 11-16.

Jurgen Fassbender and Kark Meiler of Germany, Jan Fletcher of Australia, Roger Dowsdwell of Rhodesia and Gene Mayer of the USA are all expected to play, but no definite arrangements have been made.

Ilie Nastase's (Nasty) return will be determined by the stork. His wife had her first child during the week of the last tournament.

Jimmy Connors, after beating Rod Laver in a one on one match last week, is undisputedly the No. 1 player in the world. By winning this last match against Laver, Jim Connors won the largest purse for any tennis tournament... $100,000.00!

Sailing Club Sponsors Lectures

The Christopher Newport Sailing Club will sponsor Mr. Clinton Chamberlain in an eight week lecture course on "The Fundamentals of Sailing."

VETERANS' HOT LINE: Questions and Answers on Education Benefits and Problems

QUESTION: Last semester I was going full time but had to drop back to 9 hours (3/4 time) for the Spring Semester. The check I received on February 1 was for the full amount. What happens now?

ANSWER: You will be considered on a 3/4 time basis from January 20, 1975 to the end of the semester. The over payment will be deducted off your March check.

* * *

QUESTION: During enrollment I indicated that I would not attend the summer session. If I change my mind and do go during the summer, what should I do to keep my checks coming?

ANSWER: Contact Mrs. Harrison in the Admissions Office. A new enrollment certification will have to be submitted.

I saw Mary McCaslin and Jim Ringer a year and a half ago at the Old Dominion Folk Festival, and since that time I have hunted down three of their albums, worn out my only live tape of them, and added several of their original songs to my own repertoire.

It is now my extreme pleasure to announce that the Songmakers of Virginia, in conjunction with the SGA, will present Mary and Jim along with Bob Zentz in a special Valentine's Day concert.

Mary McCaslin is a singer, songwriter, and guitarist. Her latest album, "Way Out West" (Philo 1011), is convincing proof of her talent. According to Rolling Stone, while "the Rock scene still suffers from a surfeit of sensitive singer/songwriters, some of the best practitioners are still being ignored. A case in point is Mary McCaslin, who has an exceptional album...right up there with today's best contemporaries."

"It's simpler than most, but McCaslin's unorthodox guitar tunings create unusual ethereal melodies of striking beauty. Combined with her clear, delicately affecting vocals, the effects are magical..."

Besides being a highly skilled performer, she is exceptionally well informed on the technical aspects of guitar playing and writes the "Open Guitar Tunings" column for the Los Angeles publication Folk Scene.

Jim Ringer can probably be best described as a veteran rambler. He was born in the Ozarks and grew up near Fresno, and has probably lived or wandered through most of the country.

Of his background he says, "My family lays claim to bums, bootleggers, moonshiners, and other prominent ne'er-do-wells." He has worked as a logger, mechanic, carpenter, writer, vacuum cleaner salesman, heavy equipment operator, and a body and fender man.

He also sings. And all the varied experiences of his past have provided him with a valuable source of material and an equally valuable source of inspiration for many of his own tunes. He knows "hard times and good times and can sing about them with the insight of personal experience."

Jim's latest album, "Good to Get Home," (Philo 1012) was praised by "Bluegrass Unlimited": "It has been some time since most of us have heard from those musicians who so thoroughly understand what modern white folk music is all about. . . Now again for the first time in years Jim Ringer recalls, oh so well, what so few musicians have been able to do in times past. . . It is difficult to know exactly where to begin the praise."

As for Bob -- there are very few accolades I have not already awarded Bob Zentz. Owner, proprietor, and chief-cook-and-bottle-washer for Ramblin's Conrad's, the man is a fantastic talent and an equally fantastic person.

He also has a recently released album, "Mirrors and Changes" (Folk Legacy FSI-51) which is an important addition to any one's record collection; I gave one away as a Christmas present!

You can hear all three of these fine performers this Friday night, February 14, in the Campus Center Theatre at 8:30 P.M. Keep Singing.

Critic's Review

IN MY OPINION

By Doug Ferris

PCT's presentation of "Vivat! Vivat Regina!" not only lived up to its advance publicity, but exceeded it!

Robert Bolt's script gives a dramatic presentation of the lives and battles of two sovereigns; Elizabeth I of England and Mary Stuart of Scotland.

The rivalry between the Anglican and Catholic churches is legendary and no retelling is complete without giving rightful respect to the story of these two cousins.

History records that Mary was executed by Elizabeth in 1587, thus the first monarch ever to be executed by another for treason. The retelling of a tale that is so full of expression, personality, and intrigue can only be done by a master artist. In this case, the master is Jan Bartek Baran (Mary), Phyllis Kyle Stephenson (Elizabeth I), et al.

As with most plays that are based in history, fact is not always held to religiously or is there a proper jumping off from where one can start. In "Vivat!" the development of character and story is, at first, slow but does not suffer from a laborious entailment of past histories or relationships.

The beauty of the show is the way in which it maintains the aura of the time. Original period costumes, music and dialect add to the production so the audience never slips back to the Twentieth Century.

The participants were too numerous to list in such a short space, but I would like to touch upon the main characters and one other.

Miss Baran and Miss Stephenson have developed the roles of these two monarchs so well that it seems a waste that the show should only run for five days.

Nothing! Nothing that PCT has ever done has been as real as "Vivat!" - To the monarchs; and so it is for once they established themselves on stage the image is never lost, not even at curtain, the crown of approval may only sit well placed on their reputations as actresses of the first degree.

As for Richard Berlin, the man has no limits to his talents. First, I saw him as Herr Schultz in PCT's "Cabaret," he was a good character then. Next, I saw him in PCO's Champagne Gala, again a superb talent. And, on this matinee performance, Mr. Berlin again impressed me with his multiplicity of talent.

On "Vivat!" he was director, lighting and sound designer, and now, due to an illness, an actor again. His portrayal of John Knox imbues the passion and spirit within you as if you were to go forth, touch him and you would be healed. (If there were more priests and ministers of this sort, I, for one, would probably return to church.)

It would seem, now that "Vivat!" is over, that the gauntlet has been thrown. Pick it up, if you dare, and see if you can do better.

New Cafeteria Manager Promises Better Food, Atmosphere

A new plan, designed to provide night students with improved, faster service will be implemented Feb. 11 by Szabo-Crotty, the Campus Center Food Service contractor.

C.B. Beech, cafeteria manager, announced this week that the night student will no longer be subjected to the usual stale leftovers, a dirty cafeteria, and slow service. The new plan calls for the main cafeteria to close at 7 pm, after the beginning of evening classes. Food will then be served in the Captain's Wheelhouse, and in the private dining room.

This plan will provide evening students a place to go during breaks for coffee, munchies, or beer while the main cafeteria receives its much needed daily cleaning.

Since the cafeteria staff will not be spread so thin, the student can expect more personalized service.

The Campus Center is continuously striving to provide better service at the lowest possible cost. Your suggestions are needed to help in attaining this goal. So feel free to air your opinions to the people who can do something about them.

February 14, reported Freshman Class President, Vee Martin. She added that the cost and final arrangements have not yet been established, but that the cafeteria has agreed to the dinner.

Donna Walkup stated that the Alumni have been contacted through Vivian Johnson, Publicity Chairman for the Alumni Association. Ms. Johnson has agreed to include an announcement of Homecoming Week in the monthly Alumni newsletter. Ms. Walkup also noted that Coach Vaughan has not yet been asked about permitting Alumni to receive free admission to the Homecoming game.

Captains' Soccer Team Defeats Apprentice School 5-0

By Faith Ann Gibson

In Sunday's soccer match against the Newport News Apprentice School, the Captains came out on top with a score of 5-0.

Michael Guida scored the first goal within a minute of the start of the first half. The second goal was scored by Alex Vazquez, (a student at Walsingham Academy and a prospective player for the CNC Soccer Team next fall).

When only three minutes into the second half, Roland Reeves scored the third point for the Captains. Good ole Harry made goal number four after sixteen minutes of play.

Of course, Alex Granger had to show his power by scoring the fifth and final goal with only one minute left in the game.

All in all, the Captains played a fine game. Next Sunday, February 16, the Captains will meet William and Mary at 11:30 am here on the home field.

The last home game will be played on Sunday, February 23, at 2:30, against First Colonial. Don't forget, come out and support your team.

Ms. Walkup said that a post-game dance is scheduled from 9:30 pm to 1 am. The local band "Yazoo" has been contracted to play for $250. Ms. Walkup replied to SGA Vice-President Deborah Jones that she (Walkup) had never heard the band and did not know what kind of music the band played. Admission is $1.50 stag, $2.50 per couple.

SGA President Tom Johnson asked all members of the executive council to sit on Hotseat one day during Homecoming Week, February 11-14, so the students could more readily meet student leaders. The other members agreed and set up the schedule listed in the front page story of this issue.

Voting and discussion of proposed amendments to the SGA By-Laws occupied much of the remainder of the meeting. Four proposed amendments, all tabled from the January 22 meeting, were voted on.

Article XI, concerned with impeachment of SGA officers, was tabled after heated discussion of section two which delineates the reasons for impeachment and the required signatures for an impeachment petition. That section states that 10% of a class, or of the entire student body for those elected by the entire student body, must sign the petition. Edd Brower moved that uncontested offices should require only the "same number as voted for an uncontested office."

It was pointed out by SGA Treasurer Barbara Anderson that if that were passed, conceivably only one signature would be required on the petition.

Brower retracted his motion, and that amendment was tabled with one abstention.

Tom Johnson appointed a committee to formulate realistic, feasible requirements for impeachment. The committee consisting of Edd Brower, Eric Bankit, and Skip Fisher, will report at the next executive council meeting.

Articles IV, VIII, and XIV were all approved. Article IV, added specific jobs for the SGA secretary and the SGA treasurer. Article VIII deletes "Honor Council" and adds "Committee on elections." Article XIV inserts "written" between "All....contracts."

Other items discussed included: the legal problems with outsiders coming to CNC dances; upcoming conventions such as the National Student Lobby convention April 11-15 in Washington, D. C., which would cost $40.00 per person; approval by the Student Assembly of Deborah Jones to the position of SGA Vice-President and of Eric Bankit to SGA Attorney General; and memoranda to CNC President James Windsor requesting action (1) by the faculty on last fall's student referendum revision of the grading system, awarding of academic honors at graduation, and class scheduling, and (2) on classes meeting in the student meeting room, CC-233.

The January 29 memorandum concerning the student meeting room was sent from SGA President Johnson to CNC President Windsor with copies also to the Dean of Faculty, the Registrar, the Dean of Student Affairs, the Campus Center Director, and the SGA Assembly.

The next SGA Executive Council meeting will be at noon February 18 in CC-233. The meeting is open to all students and faculty.

Va. Wesleyan hands Captains 75-71 defeat

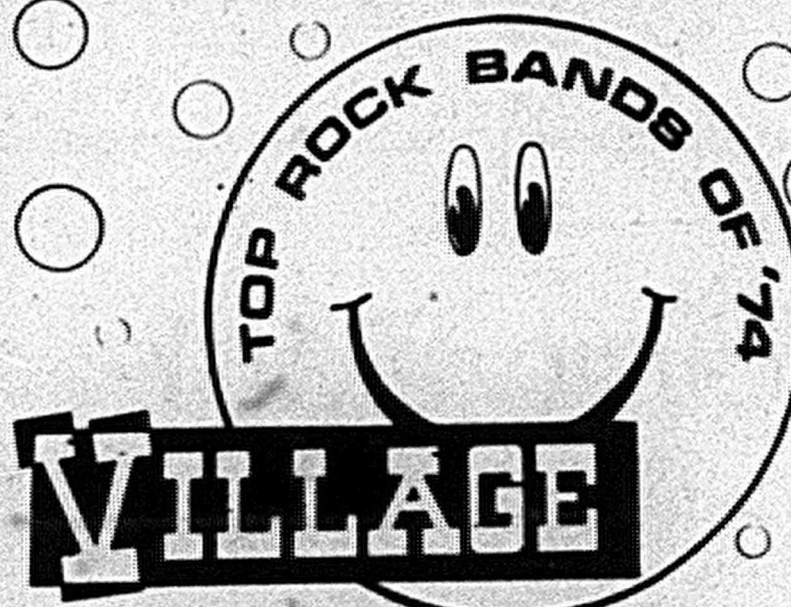

By Bobby Duncan

Last Tuesday night, the Captains lost crucial ground in the race for the Dixie Conference title as they lost to the Marlins of Virginia Wesleyan, 75-71. The February 4 loss was their second in a row and dropped them into fourth place.

The Captains were led by

All-Conference star, Sherwin Green, with 17 points. Doug Baggett, the senior dead-eye, chipped in 16 points, while Mike Tallon and Dave Hutcheson added 12 points a piece.

This did not seem to hinder the Marlins' scoring attack, as E.J. Faust was spectacular with 11 for 11 from the floor, scoring 22 points. Pete Withers, the senior play maker, was good for 14 points.

Illness Causes Dean to Cancel College Tours

By Bill Hart

John Dean, a former White House counsel, spoke to an attentive, and most curious, crowd at the College of William and Mary on the evening of February 4.

An audience of 5,600, mostly students, watched as a well tanned, impeccably dressed, middle age man took to the stage of William and Mary Hall.

Dean immediately spoke of the lecture fee he was to have received. A William and Mary student asked how he could accept the $3,500 fee after, "woefully and cynically betraying the public trust."

Mr. Dean replied, "I spent sixteen months doing the best I could to right the wrongs," referring to his testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee.

Mr. Dean, who alleged that former President Nixon possessed knowledge of the cover-up of the scandal since September 1973, told of the "seductive trappings of the White House and the 'country club' aspect that White House personnel were exposed to. Dean attributed his and the other conspirator's illegal actions to being 'overly ambitious.'"

On the topic of the Executive Office, Dean said that men at the White House first learned to use power, and then to misuse it.

Dean advised the students on hand, "to go into state government where they are needed."

Of former President Nixon, Dean said, "Nixon is a prisoner of his own conscience and will be until he speaks the truth about Watergate."

Dean pleaded guilty to one count of obstruction of justice and served 140 days of a one to four year prison sentence before Judge John J. Sirica had him released.

Dean said that he believed that it was unfair that a kid should go to jail for one to ten years for possessing an ounce of marijuana and he only serve four months for the obstruction of justice. This comment brought applause from the majority of the younger audience.

Mr. Dean refused to tell, to the disappointment of many, who "Deep Throat" was. He also said that he did not know what was on the silent eighteen minute gap in the June 20, 1972 tape, nor who or how it was erased.

Mr. Dean spoke against the use of government agencies to investigate opponents of the Nixon Administration or any other private illegal use. He specifically pointed out Bob Bennett's Central Intelligence Agency and the IRA.

Dean told the audience that he keeps a prepared text in case he decides to cancel his lecture tour. He also said that he has turned down the "$100 a word" magazine offers and is in the process of returning all money received by mail.

Mr. Dean closed saying that he was cancelling the remainder of his college lecture tour because of illness.

ACM MEETING PLANNED

The CNC Student Chapter of ACM will hold their first meeting of the Spring Semester February 12 at Noon in N-117.

Students from all academic disciplines are cordially invited to attend.

The CNC Honor Society is a newly chartered organization whose purpose is to promote academic achievement among students, gain recognition for academic excellence, maintain high academic standards, and research new methods in higher education.

Membership to the Honor Society is open to any student who, upon completion of 30 hours of college work, has attained at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average or who has made The Dean's Academic Honor List. In the case of students who have made Dean's List, but whose overall GPA is less than 3.0, membership eligibility is secured by continuing to make Dean's List each semester.

One of the Honor Society's major projects at this time is looking into the feasibility of becoming affiliated with a national honor society. Any student who meets the membership criteria is invited to leave his or her name with the Dean of Student Affairs.

Country Craft Returns

Country Crafts returns to the halls of the Campus Center with a display geared for Valentine's Day, and priced with already squeezed students in mind.

Don't forget to view this fascinating display of hand-crafting in the Campus Center, Wednesday, February 12, from 10 am to 2 pm.
