SPECIAL EVENTS:

Christopher Newport College's Writers Series 1989 resumes on Thursday, April 13, when six CNC students read their own fiction and poetry, and the 1989 issue of Currents, the campus literary magazine, debuts.

The program, beginning at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the Campus Center Board Room (CC214).

Students reading their poetry include Bob Fentress, Clarence Hill, Phil Lyliston, and Gail McQuigg.

Betsy Creamer and Jane Hoppen will read short stories.

At the end of the program, Currents editor Eric Mathews will award the annual prizes for art, poetry, and prose.

Everyone is welcome.

Have some information you'd like to share with the CNC community? Please submit your information in memo form to Webber Casey before noon on Wednesday. Need information? Call 594-7051.

Writers Series 1989 is sponsored by the English Department.

-- Jay Paul, Professor of English, 594-7072/7021

The CNC Women's Faculty Caucus will meet on Friday, April 14, at 2 PM in the Campus Center Board Room (#214).

The National Endowment for the Humanities Program Officer for College Teachers and Independent Scholars will give a seminar Friday, April 28 at The College of William and Mary. The morning session will include (1) an overview of NEH's current fellowship and grant programs and (2) suggestions on developing effective grant proposals. Individual or small-group meetings with the Program Officer may be scheduled for the afternoon. If you are interested in attending, please contact Julie Norman by April 14 for reservations.

Julie M. Norman, Department of Grants Admin.

Mary Bicouvaris, Teacher of the year, will speak at the Student Virginia Education Association meeting Monday, April 10, 1989, at 4:15 in the Terrace.

-- Dr. Sandy Bryan

The dance students of Christopher Newport College will present their Spring Dance Concert on Friday April 28, 1989 in John W. Gaines Theatre. This performance is open to the public as well as to the students and faculty of CNC. General admission is $2.00, senior citizens and students $1.00 and children are admitted free.

The program includes choreography created to an original composition by Mr. Terry Vosbein. Mr. Vosbein is founder and director of CNC Big Band and also musical arranger for T.A.C. Band at Langley Air Force Base. He has been a member of the Glenn Miller Orchestra. Mr. Vosbein's music for High School Band and Orchestra is currently being published by Hal Leonard Publishers.

He composed "Ballet for Gumshoe" originally for dance and even though it was performed by the Eastman School of Music's school band in Rochester N.Y. it has not been choreographed until now.

The performance starts at 8:00 PM.

-- Mara Smith, Dance Instructor

There will be a prayer service for Theolia Lewis on Monday, April 17 at noon in A-105. All members of the College community are invited to participate.

Special Olympics - On Friday, March 31, 1989, the Campus Police Department distributed flyers requesting donations for the Southeast Virginia Law Enforcement Torch Run for Special Olympics. Officers from the department will be participating in the run and are coordinating fund-raising activities for the college community to sponsor this international event.

If you did not receive the flyer and would like to make a contribution, please call the Campus Police Office, 4-7053, and request a copy.

We appreciate your support!

-- Joseph C. McGlone, Coordinator

Reminder - All proposals and nominations for the 1989-90 Dean's Colloquia Series must be submitted to the chairman by Friday, April 14, at the latest and must be in writing (see the Chronicle of March 10 or 24).

-- George Webb, Chair, Dean's Colloquia Committee

Please note that the phone number given for theatre reservations in last week's Chronicle was in error. The correct number is 594-7089, not 594-7489.

Please correct the following listings appearing in the "Quick Telephone Reference Sheet."

Access Services Librarian	4-7134
Acquisitions	4-7137

Mail Slips - An increasing amount of mail is being received in the mailroom for meter posting with no mail slips attached for instructions or identification of originating departments. This puts an added responsibility on the mailroom staff to identify the source for billing purposes. It also delays the normal process.

In the future the mailroom will return to the departments all mail received with no mail slips attached if the originating department is known. If there is no return address the mail will be held in the mailroom until claimed. The slips are readily available.

Bulk Mail - Departments are also reminded to advise the mailroom at least three days in advance of any bulk mailings scheduled to be posted. This gives time to assure adequate staffing, and that money will be available either through the meter or deposited with the permit to be used.

Jon Petruchyk has a solo exhibition in the Ferguson Gallery at the Peninsula Fine Arts Center. Betty Anglin is represented in the Group Exhibition "Out of the Garden" in the East Gallery at the Center. She will have a painting in the 10th Annual Virginia Watercolor Exhibition to be held in Richmond in May.

Rita Hubbard presented a paper entitled "Male Parent Images in Advertising" at the joint convention of the Popular Culture Association and the American Culture Association in St. Louis on April 5.

Jon Petruchyk and Betty Anglin, art faculty, both have shows at the Peninsula Fine Arts Center from April 1 to April 23.

Modern Romance includes Petruchyk's art from four series of paintings. The solo exhibition covers works from 1986 to 1989.

Out of the Garden features works that incorporate a floral theme. It includes paintings by Anglin, Dorothy Fagan and Gladys Huyghe. Flower arrangements will be rotated every five days, giving the exhibition the aspect of growth and change that is the spring garden's appealing metaphor.
