Mazzarella, executive assistant to the president and professor of history, impersonated and gave a lecture on Adolf Hitler to three history classes at Ferguson High School. Note of Thanks -- Dr. Dick Guthrie, chairman of the Department of Modern and Classical Languages and Literature would like to "thank each and every one of you for your calls, cards, candy and flowers after the surgery for a ruptured disk in my lower back on June 16. Note of Thanks -- "Now that I have returned to campus full-time (with a clean bill of health from my doctor), I want to thank the many members of the CNU faculty and staff who wrote to me during my convalescence. I received almost 500 cards, notes and letters during the past eight months and it became impossible for me to respond to each personally (the spirit was willing, etc.). At any rate, I wish you all to know how grateful I am for the good wishes you sent me. It's good to be back!" Keith McLoughland.

Excerpts from former Governor Baliles Address to the Virginia Commission on the Future of Higher Education, June 27, 1994 --

"The areas in which higher education needs to change are:

1. Changing the balance between teaching and research. We reject ... the false choice between research and teaching. We want balance. We are not for downgrading important research.

2. Redesigning what colleges teach ... reconsider the curriculum, not only to prune it but to examine its purposes and its relevance.

3. To find different ways to deliver education. To maintain and increase the quality of the service they offer, they [the colleges] frankly must become less labor intensive.

Another change ... respond more directly to job market challenges ... each college ... needs to come to grips with its role in job readiness or job creation ... colleges must redouble their efforts to help students prepare for and change their careers.

Does it make sense that Virginia [is] 43rd in the nation in per-student funding ... that almost half of the educational program of Virginia higher education is funded by tuition and fees -- up from about one-third only five years ago?

There are two themes: higher education needs adequate support and higher education needs to change."
