The Employment Manual published by the Virginia Department of Personnel and Training, June 1979, contains mandates for employer selection, employee selection procedures, and a statement about affirmative action. Appendices include equal opportunity mandates, lists of minority and other newspapers, sample public service announcements and sources for recruiting minorities, women, and handicapped people.

A manual has been placed in the offices of the Agency Personnel Supervisor Mrs. Welch (T8A), the Vice-President for Academic Affairs, Dr. Edwards (A127), the Assistant Deans Moore (A166) and King (G228), the Chairman of the Affirmative Action Committee, Dr. Herrmann (W108), the Affirmative Action Coordinator, Dr. Friedman (W224), and the Library.

Also available are copies of the Age Discrimination Act as amended 1978, the 1978 Amendments to the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and the 1979 Virginia Plan Annual Narrative Assessment (Employment).

PLEASE BE ADVISED that under the Virginia Plan each application for an unsuccessful candidate must have a notation that gives the reason for rejection. These records must be kept by each Department.

NEWS & GENERAL INFORMATION

Philosophy News

Christopher Newport College is proud to be hosting the 1979 annual meetings of the Virginia Philosophical Association and the Virginia Society for Process Studies. The meetings will take place on Thursday, October 11 and Friday, October 12. There will be a number of papers that will greatly interest those of the CNC community who are doing work in the special areas treated, as well as those with general philosophical and intellectual interests. Here is a brief description of the events, times, and places.

Events of Thursday, October '11

- 2:30 P.M. President James C. Windsor:
CC Theatre "Welcome to the Virginia Philosophical Association and the Virginia Society for Process Studies"
- 2:40 P.M. Emmett L. Holman, George Mason University:
CC Theatre "Is the Physical World Colorless?"
(holds that modern physics commits us to the view that the physical world is colorless, and takes issue with Kripke, Armstrong, and others who hold the opposite view; of special interest for philosophy of science and theory of knowledge)
- 4:00 P.M. A. Richard Konrad, VCU:
CC Theatre "Corporations and the Concept of Responsibility"
(studies individual vs. collective responsibility; the corporation as it cannot be held morally responsible for actions as a person can; for such responsibility to be effective in the corporation it must be assigned to specific persons; of special interest for ethics, business ethics, management)
- 8:30 P.M. Thomas C. Brickhouse, Lynchburg College, and Nicholas D. Smith,
CC Dining VPI&SU:
Hall "Socrates' Proposed Penalty in Plato's Apology"
(Socrates is generally held to have arrogantly invited the death penalty by intentionally offering to pay too small a fine - one mina - for the jury to accept; these investigators present evidence that the proposed fine was a substantial amount and attempt to show why Socrates offered it and why the jury rejected it; of wide general interest since virtually everyone is familiar with Plato's Apology)

Events of Friday, October 12

- 9:30 A.M. H. Lamar Crosby, Hollins College:
CC Theatre "Reflections on the Score of Justice"
(examines the question how far and to what type of entities our moral obligations extend; maintains with other investigators that humans have moral obligations to all living things; goes beyond others in urging that we are morally obliged to appreciate, honor, and respect all things, inanimate as well as animate)
- 11:45 A.M. Lewis S. Ford, ODU:
CC Theatre "Whitehead's Philosophical Growth During the Composition of Process and Reality"

(uses textual evidence such as carefulness of revision to establish a sequence of composition which then yields clues about Whitehead's stand at a given time; for example, Whitehead came upon his notion of subjective aim only after he was about half-way through)

There will be ample time for questions from the audience in every case, and those attending are urged to participate in the discussions.

Philosophy Club

At the request of several members, who due to classes or other commitments could not attend the September 26 meeting, the election of officers for the 1979-1980 year has been postponed till the next meeting. The next meeting will take place immediately following the final paper mentioned above on Friday, October 12 at 1:00 P.M. in a room to be announced.
