

The Captain's Log

CHRISTOPHER NEWPORT COLLEGE — OUR 25TH YEAR

JANUARY 29, 1987

VOLUME 18, NUMBER 15

NEWPORT NEWS, VIRGINIA

DOSL: Quality entertainment - yes, dry campus - No

by David Becker
Staff Writer

There was a new face around the CNC Campus Center last week as Tisa Johnson officially took over the reins as the new director of Student Life.

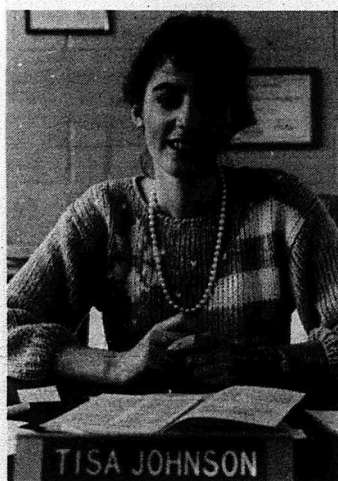

Formerly the assistant dean of students at Hanover College, in Indiana, Ms. Johnson holds her Master of Science degree in Educational Psychology and Guidance/Personnel Work in Higher Education from Eastern Illinois University in May of 1984.

"She is very experienced considering her age," said Dick Ryther, Campus Center director. "What she has accomplished in 25 or 26 years is amazing."

Ms. Johnson sees her role as DOSL as three-fold:

- 1) The duty of providing quality entertainment to all students.
- 2) The responsibility of recruiting students, along with the educator's role of teaching them leadership and organizational skills that will help them in the "real world."
- 3) The sponsoring of educational programs.

"I feel that it is important to develop the whole person," explained Ms. Johnson. "It is necessary to develop recreationally and spiritually to supplement the academics."

Ms. Johnson is very outspoken about the stringent alcohol policies that are forced upon our society. "It is sad that (the legislators) raised the drinking age to 21. This doesn't address the issue; it simply drives it underground."

CNC is lucky in that "many institutions are instituting dry campus policies. This can be a mistake when dealing with impressionable young adults," said Ms. Johnson. "College stereotypically stresses alcohol abuse as a rite of passage, and colleges must learn to deal with the issues and teach students to drink responsibly, preparing them for a society that stresses alcohol."

Despite her impressive resume, Ms. Johnson has been under fire from several students who feel she was not the best candidate for the job and possibly chosen because the college felt the need to fill the position with a woman.

"Tisa was chosen simply because she was the best qualified for the job," supported Ryther. "Her youth and her enthusiasm are what swayed me."

"I consider myself a work-a-holic," said Ms. Johnson, "some may denote that negatively, but I do not base my whole life on this job. I see it as a lifestyle, a lifestyle I've chosen and love."

Stressing the importance of the co-curricular experience, Ms. Johnson "thrives on student life. I see a lot of potential in the people I work with and for the organizations I advise."

"Athletes spend a lot of time working out to be the best that they can possibly be, and I see myself in the same light."

Campus USA

BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY (CPS)—Officials at BYU, where facial hair for students is strictly prohibited, introduced a new portrait of bearded BYU founder Karl T. Maeser without a beard.

Officials explained the posthumous shave would help trim student resentment of their modern beard policy.

WINTHROP COLLEGE (CPS)—President Marth Kime Piper ordered her public safety department not to execute its usual holiday-season shooting pigeons on the campus, directing officials to find another way to thin out the pigeon population.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA (CPS)—A Superior Court rules Jan. 5 that the university can make students pay fees to private sports associations. Four students had sued, claiming the school was unconstitutionally forcing them to pay fees to the private Georgia Athletic Association, which runs the campus intercollegiate programs.

Judge William Grant ruled the fees were legal because all students and the state itself benefits from UGA's athletics programs.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA (CPS)—Campus Police tightened library security during recent finals, where, for over three weeks, a mystery man snuck up on at least six women and, as they studied or slept, snipped off locks of their hair with a pair of scissors.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY (CPS)—Jonathan Ash, 28, resigned as editor of the Sunflower, the campus paper, to end a staff strike in which reporters claimed he had no clear editorial policy and that he refused to print criticism of the WSU student government.

Building a better Mousetrap:

Board hopes legislators receive plan enthusiastically

by Patrick Rockey
Associate Editor

Late last semester, the CNC Board of Visitors was presented with a new proposal for residential housing at the college. Although the Board has investigated dormitories before, this plan was met with renewed optimism because it is a definite departure from previous plans, and some feel it is just what the State Council of Higher Education is looking for. The plan, as it stands now, combines student and faculty housing with a large lecture hall, meeting rooms and housing for distinguished visitors.

But CNC has a rocky history with the state in trying to obtain student housing and has looked into a series of proposals. Some call for the dormitories to be built on campus with state monies. However, the State Council of Higher Education has made clear that it wants to preserve CNC's charter, which restricts the school to non-residential students.

Another proposal called for private developers to build dormitory facilities on property bordering the campus. In exchange for access to college roads, the developer would promise to restrict housing to CNC students.

One such proposal was presented to the Board in 1976 by Hampton developer J. Edward Epstein. However, this plan for private-owned facilities never reached fruition.

THE NEW PROPOSAL

After the state made it clear that it would not allow Christopher Newport to build on-campus housing of the traditional sort, CNC had to come up with some kind of unique residential structure that would

Continued on Page 3

THE CAPTAIN'S LOG OPINIONS

DATELINE SHOE LANE

Mall adventure Part 2

I had survived the parking lot. Half the battle was won. I entered the mall through one of the large department stores you find on each end.

The crowds were unbelievable. People everywhere. Obviously ten or twelve had packed into each car. But as I made my way through each department towards the inner mall, it became apparent that over half of the people in the crowd were salespeople. (Sales associates, I think is what they prefer.)

"Hi, may I help you?" "How are we today?" "Can I get you something?" "Are you looking for anything in particular?" "You would look smashing in leather!"

My head was beginning to spin when I spotted a blue shirt that my brother might like. I went to the shirt and decided that he would, but would need a larger size. I looked around for a sales associate, but there wasn't one to be found. Not anywhere.

"Hello?!" I called out.

"H-e-l-l-o! H-e-l-l-o! H-e-l-l-o!" echoed back. Not a soul was around.

"Can someone help me?!" I tried.

"N-O!" it echoed back suspiciously.

"Commission!" I cried out desperately.

Needless to say, several sales associates responded. One tried to sell me accessories to go with my brother's button-down. "No," I responded politely. I can't see my brother wearing an ascot to junior high.

Another decided that I needed blue button-downs for the entire family, while a third thought I should just find someone else on my list that that particular shirt fit.

Two hours and forty dollars later, I made my way out into the mall where I wanted to hit my automatic teller machine up for a little cash.

I was immediately swept up in the crowd current. It began moving faster and faster. Stores were a blur flying by. I couldn't take it anymore. I was going to dive into a passing store. But my feet couldn't move. I looked down and was shocked to discover that my feet weren't touching the floor!

Becoming increasingly claustrophobic, I began to claw and scratch to make my way out of the human river. Finally, it spit me out into a smaller, more subdued looking crowd. They were all standing facing a stage when this horrid noise began. It sounded like a cross between a neighborhood cat fight and a bad rendition of "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem."

"What is that god-awful noise?!" I cried. Suddenly, 300 proud parents turned to me and began to scream.

"...musical genius... masterpiece... another Mozart... how dare you!" I finally picked up that this was some school production and was going to apologize when I was hit in the head with a flying toddler tennis shoe.

Recovering from the blow, I found 300 parents foaming at the mouth. RUN was my first instinct. So I did and all 300 gave chase. Up and down two escalators, they followed me like the angry townspeople of Transylvania ready to run Dracula out of town. Some were even carrying torches I think.

Finally losing them around "Doktors," I decided that I was hungry. "Chick-fil-a" was the only place around, and I didn't want to venture too much further.

Surprisingly the lines were short and I made my way to the counter quickly. Just as the girl behind the counter, whom I graduated high school with, was ready to take my order, I heard a rumbling noise. First it was far away. Then it got increasingly louder.

"What's that noise?," I asked the counter girl.

Sweat was pouring down her brow. She answered: "The matinee just let out!" With that she let out a blood curdling scream and passed out on the floor. Two managers appeared from the back and dragged her limp body out.

Finally, the rumbling became a deafening roar. A tidal wave of human beings crested and finally broke right outside "Chick-fil-a."

I never went to a "Who" concert and now I remember why. They just kept pushing. I was being crushed against a straw dispenser and a garbage can that said "Thank you" on the little swinging door. I was not going to die this way, so I

Continued on Page 6

Did you ever notice...

By Patrick Rockey
associate editor

...that the "hot side" never is?

...that the "cool side" isn't either?

...that after testing eight or ten colognes while Christmas shopping, they all start to smell like cucumbers?

...that every semester you start out with renewed resolve to study more often? Fortunately, you take an aspirin and the feeling passes.

...that that person who didn't want popcorn going into the movie, suddenly exhibits a fondness for yours 15 minutes into the show?

...that you're the only one at the health club who needs to be there?

...that if you were stranded on a desert island, you probably wouldn't have a preference among Tylenol, Extra Strength Tylenol, Advil or Bayer? A search party might be nice, though.

...that in all these male/female sexual tension plots on T.V., (Cheers, Scarecrow and Mrs. King, Remington Steele) all the couples are suddenly running to get married?

...that in all fairness, a newspaper shouldn't be called a newspaper since it is over 60 percent ads?

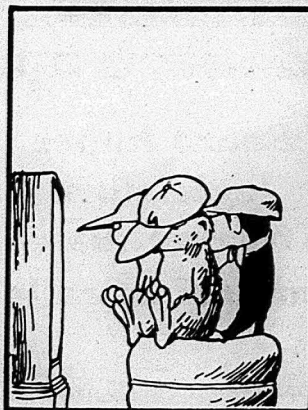

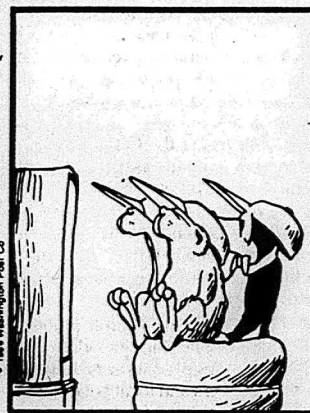

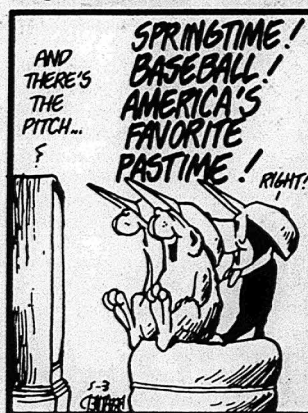

...that you have two closets full of clothes and still nothing to wear?

...that you only break drinking glasses when you're using the good set? The Smurf set you got at Hardees and the Care Bears from Pizza Hut, however, will last forever?

...that if you dreamed up the sleaziest, most disgusting thing you could think of, Donahue has done a show on it?

...that singer Sade was hailed as some rising superstar less than a year ago? Haven't heard from her lately, have you?

BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed

In addition, the report states that "CNC's student body consists of precisely the kind of student who would benefit most from the intellectual stimulation that only residential living can provide."

THE CAPTAIN'S LOG CENTERFOLD

Movie The Captain's Log

AN AMERICAN TAIL (G)

Steven Spielberg's foray into animation with this tale of traveling mice.

ASSASSINATION (PG-13)

Charles Bronson is hired to protect a stubborn president's wife from assassins.

THE BEDROOM WINDOW (R)

Steve Guttenberg and Elizabeth McGovern in a Jagged Edge-like thriller.

THE COLOR PURPLE (PG-13) A++

Whoopie Goldberg and Oprah Winfrey steal the show in a re-release of the film adaptation of Alice Walker's critically acclaimed novel.

CRIMES OF THE HEART (PG-13) B

Diane Keaton, Sissy Spacek and Jessica Lange star as sisters in the film adaptation of Beth Henley's play.

CRITICAL CONDITION (R)

Richard Pryor plays doctor.

CROCODILE DUNDEE (PG-13) B+

Paul Hogan as an outback Aussie brought to the Big Apple.

DEATH BEFORE DISHONOR (R)

Former football star Fred Dryer stars as a sergeant who takes on terrorists.

THE GOLDEN CHILD (PG-13) B-

Eddie Murphy is the only one (of course) who can save a kidnapped child saviour.

HEARTBREAK RIDGE (R)

Clint Eastwood plays a marine who makes his own rules.

THE KINDRED (R)

An experiment goes awry creating evil creatures to escape creating sci-fi mayhem.

LADY AND THE TRAMP (G) A

Disney's re-release of a canine classic.

LITTLE SHOP OF HORRORS (PG-13) A-

Rick Moranis stars as a nerd who saves the world from the clutches of an evil, man-eating plant from outer space.

THE MORNING AFTER (R) C+

Jane Fonda as an alcoholic actress who wakes up in bed with a dead man. A very live Jeff Bridges co-stars.

THE MOSQUITO COAST (PG)

A family trying to get away from it all find themselves fighting for their lives. Harrison Ford stars.

PEGGY SUE GOT MARRIED (PG-13) B-

Kathleen Turner goes back in time to stop her own marriage. (Kathleen Turner, not Michael J. Fox.)

PLATOON (R) A+

Tom Berenger and Charles Sheen star in the film portrayal of director Oliver Stone's Vietnam experiences. An early Oscar contender.

STAR TREK IV (PG) B+

The crew of the Enterprise return to 20th Century Earth to "Save the Whales."

WISDOM (R)

Our heroes rob from the rich and give to the poor—themselves. Emilio Estevez and Demi Moore star.

Club plans busy semester

by Wanda Ferguson

From microbiology to oceanography, nutrition to horticulture, the biology department of CNC offers diverse courses to the students of this college. In an effort to channel some of this information to portions of the student body and faculty not able to take these courses, the newly reformed Biology Club has scheduled several events and is busily planning more for the coming semester.

A fossil exhibit will be put on display in the library for several weeks beginning Jan. 24th. This exhibit will be prepared by Pam Owens and will feature marine and terrestrial specimens from the college's collection.

On Tuesday, Feb. 9, in NS-111 at 4:00 P.M., Dr. Jerry Johnson, a geologist from W&M is coming to give a brief lecture on this topic. All are invited.

As spring approaches, the club plans to sponsor a Guided Wildflower Walk and a trip to the Virginia Marine Science Museum in Virginia Beach. More information will be provided on these events as the semester progresses.

As with all other students in this school, biology majors are continuously required to write reports and papers. This task is made much faster and neater by the use of computers, but only if the student knows how to use them. On Friday, Jan. 30th at 12:00 in NS 213, Dr. Edward Weiss will give a workshop on "Word Processing on the Apple IIe." Students are urged to take advantage of this free opportunity to learn how to use this valuable tool.

Each year, senior biology majors are required to write a seminar paper on any subject in biology that interests them. These papers require extensive research, either library or laboratory, and the students become the "resident experts" on their topic. This year's seminar papers include a variety of topics on everything from "Yellow Fever" to "Prey Detection in Snakes."

On Feb. 6, Michelle Updegraff will talk on "Hemophilus influenza Infections in Children." The following Friday, Christopher Stokes will present his paper on "Bird Migration."

The Biology Club is always in search of new members. You need not be a biology major to join. Don't forget the computer workshop on Jan. 30 and keep your eyes open for further information.

SHOW TIME.

SPRING 1987 FILM SCHEDULE

February

Body and Soul
A Soldier's Story

Coming soon...
12th

March

Spring Break
Bonnie & Clyde and Dirty Harry

12th
27th

April

Night Shift
Vacation

9th
30th

ADVANCED YEARBOOK

• S • A • L • E • S •

$15.00 The Captain

$15.00

VIDEO YEARBOOK
or package deal:

$25.00 BOTH

Office of Student Life

BUY A YEARBOOK: CATCH A WAVE!

THE CAPTAIN'S LOG CENTERFOLD

1986 Best & Worst

By Patrick Rockey
associate editor

BEST LATE-NIGHT TELEVISION SHOW:

Late-night with David Letterman.
Let's hope when Carson finally retires, NBC moves Letterman to 11:30 p.m. so we can all get a little more sleep.

WORST LATE-NIGHT TELEVISION SHOW:

H-E-R-E-'S-J-O-H-N-N-Y! Sorry Carson, you're stale. Retire, already.

BEST TELEVISION GAME SHOW:

Answer: Jeopardy
Question: What is the best television game show?

WORST TELEVISION GAME SHOW:

Take the fabulous and exciting merchandise, the idiotic audiences that "ooh" and "ahh" on cue, the dimwitted contestants that buy stupid vowels even when they know the puzzle, and the equally dimwitted Pat and Vanna and I still wouldn't give you my free spin card for the whole Wheel of Fortune lot. However, I would probably be more willing to take the cool $1 billion that creator Merv Griffin has netted from the show. Of course, I want the $1 billion on a Tiffany gift certificate! OOH!

BEST LOCAL RADIO STATION:

There isn't one.

WORST RADIO STATION:

Z-104. They only have two records and one of them is full of commercials. (The Station recently began playing ten in a row every hour after 9 a.m., however.)

BEST NEW TELEVISION COMEDY:

If you can ever find it when it isn't on a different night or being pulled from the schedule, Designing Women is a riot. This wonderful comedy about four chatty southern women should succeed in spite of the programming idiots at CBS. If CBS cancels this series, each and every person responsible should be forced to watch every single episode of the Love Boat back to back. And the ones with Charo twice! (After this was written CBS announced the show would be given a prime spot following the highly rated Murder, She Wrote. Unfortunately, it is coupled with a real dog called Together We Stand.)

WORST NEW TELEVISION COMEDY:

In fact, we'll make the CBS executives watch ABC's Life with Lucy, too.

I have a hunch: With all the colorizing of old films going on, I think some IBM went crazy and zapped Lucy's hair. It could blind you. But I digress. Life With Lucy made the Dukes of Hazzard look like Shakespeare.

Next Week in the Best and Worst of 1986: Space Shuttle jokes, schnapps, Donahue and Dan Rather, Jimmy "The Greek" and Janet Jackson.

On Campus Job Opportunities

The Intramural Department has an opening for assistant director of this semester. The position must be filled by a full-time student. Some qualifications are knowledge of several team and individual sports, such as volleyball, basketball, golf, tennis, softball, weightlifting, and racquetball.

Experience in refereeing and setting up tournaments and leagues is desired.

The assistants work as a team in organizing and supervising sports with guidance from the director. Running a sport consists of writing articles for the school newspaper and printing posters to inform students of intramural events, collecting rosters, scheduling games, selecting and training officials, and providing an opportunity for everyone to realize the fun and enjoyment of participation in intramural recreational sports.

Preference will be given to freshmen and sophomores to help preserve the organization and effectiveness of the department.

Applications may be picked up at the Student Life Office in the Campus Center or the Intramural Office. Application deadline is Friday Feb. 6th by 4 p.m. For more information contact Shelly Pidgeon at 599-7054 or 599-7129.

Volleyball and basketball officials are also needed for the spring semester. You must be a CNC student, have general knowledge of the sport, and attendance at all officials training meetings. The pay scale ranges from $4.00-5.00. Games will be played on Sundays. Volleyball from 12-4 p.m. and basketball 4-9 p.m. Applications will be accepted until Tues. Feb. 3rd by 4 p.m. at the Intramural office.

Financial Aid Workshops

There will be a Financial Aid Workshop for 1987-88 financial aid applicants on Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 12:00 noon and again at 7:30 p.m. in A-105 (Anderson Auditorium). All students who think they may need financial assistance in 1987-88 are encouraged to attend one of these sessions. Parents are also encouraged to attend.

1986-87 financial aid recipients will be mailed application materials and are requested to bring these to the workshop. Application materials will be available to others in the Financial Aid Office and at the sessions. Students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with the forms and instructions and to ask questions.

Students interested in applying for the Pell Grant or Guaranteed Student Loan for the Spring 1987 semester should contact the Financial Aid Office in A-239.

Classifieds

Students! Use the CNC computer from your home. Rent a computer terminal and modem. Call 898-5932 after 5 p.m.

A CPB PRESENTATION The COMEDY LAFF-OFF

The show features 3 live comedians straight from New York's famous comedy clubs. They will be competing for your laughter! Tickets are $1.00 in advance and $2.00 at the door, on sale Friday, Jan. 30th. See any CPB or SGA officer or stop by the Student Life Office. If this is inconvenient, tickets will also be available at the Information Desk.

Seasonal Employment

YOU CAN EARN $3.60 per hour AND A PAY BONUS AT BUSCH GARDENS PLUS

- *Discounts on food and merchandise
- *Free admission to the Park for employees
- *$.25-.35 per hour bonus for every hour worked
- *Discount season's passes for your family
- *Complimentary & Discount tickets to the Park
- *PLUS parties, sports activities and more

PART-TIME HOURS ARE AVAILABLE

WE WILL BE RECRUITING ON YOUR CAMPUS:

Christopher Newport College
February 5, 1987 - 9:00am-4:00pm
Student Center

BUSCH GARDENS
THE OLD COUNTRY
WILLIAMSBURG, VA
An Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer
M/F/H

THE CAPTAIN'S LOG INSIDE NEWS

CNC not among nation's top party schools

(CPS)—Cal State-Chico, Miami (Fla.), San Diego State, Vermont and Slippery Rock are the biggest party schools in the U.S., a Playboy Magazine list of the nation's Top 40 Party Colleges claims.

Playboy says it compiled the list by interviewing student leaders at "more than 250 colleges nationwide."

But while students at the named schools generally seemed amused by the list, administrators—some locked in mortal battle to get more funding by convincing legislators their campuses are beacons of academic excellence—have reacted with outrage.

Officials at West Virginia, Mississippi, Cal State-Chico, Vermont, Miami and other schools on the list protested their inclusion in the list, sometimes calling press conferences to make the point.

But Playboy staffers reply the list was done "obviously as a fun thing, not to put down academic qualities."

"I have a feeling administrators are saying, 'Harumph, harumph, we don't think we should be on this list," admits Playboy spokesman Bill Paige.

In one of the milder responses, Mississippi Chancellor Gerald Turner said, "I'd rather not be on their list."

University of Tennessee Vice Chancellor Phil Scheurer called it a "blessing" to be left off the list.

"The Number Two ranking puzzles me," says Miami Student Affairs official Bill Mullowney. "We have ample social life here, but I'd be interested in knowing the criteria of the study, who they talked to, what they observed."

"If we're Number Two in the country as a party school, we do even better academically," Mullowney maintains.

"I don't think they (Playboy staffers) were ever on this campus," complained a Cal Stat-Chico spokeswoman. "I don't think it was very accurate reporting."

Chico students agree, claiming they don't party any more than students on any other campus.

"It's a nice label to tag on the school, but the survey must not have been very extensive," says student government President Greg Hill. "Students here enjoy a party atmosphere, but they're here to study. They know their purpose."

Paige says Playboy asked students to rank their own schools and others in their states. On each campus, seven-to-10 students were questioned about the number of parties held on campus, other entertainment opportunities and who attended such social gatherings.

"Obviously, we didn't call the campus librarian on a Tuesday night," Paige says.

At Miami, Playboy might not have been able to reach many students on Tuesday night either. Almost 60 percent of the students are commuters, a demographic that minimizes partying, some students say.

"The Miami area is very big, very interesting and there's lots to do," explains UM senior Juan Diaz. "A large percentage of students leave campus to party."

"In fact, you just don't see much partying. When I was a freshman or sophomore, I wanted to go to a different school where I could have more fun."

But some students agree with Playboy's assessment of their schools' social atmosphere.

"There's a reputation here in Southern California that everyone is pretty laid back," says Lisa Estrella, a student at San Diego State University, Playboy's third-ranked party school.

"SDSU is a good school academically, one of the best in the state university system, but overall it is a party school. Fraternities and sororities are popular here and they do party a lot."

And, while administrators at Georgia's Mercer University, a Southern Baptist College, call the school's 9th place survey ranking unearned and undeserved, students are overjoyed.

"Everybody is talking about it," says one fraternity member. "They can't wait to tell their friends at other schools that didn't make the list."

Part 2 (cont.)

started pushing back away from the country.

I was halfway out the door when I was beamed in the back of the head. I turned around to find the manager throwing "Chick-fil-a" nuggets to people like he would throw raw meat to wolves.

I won't tell you all the gruesome details of how I finally escaped, but suffice to say that there are a few hungry grandmothers out there that won't get in my way ever again.

I made my way in the general direction of the teller machine, when I noticed a long line that led in the general direction of the theater. Probably the new Clint Eastwood movie, I thought.

But as I turned the corner, I saw that the line went right past the theater and continued for another quarter mile. Guess what? That was the line for the money machine.

Trudging back towards the end, I met a couple who had been camping there since the night before.

The line was slow moving and after another two hours I made it to the machine. I gave it my card, punched in the amount I wanted and it said 'NO.' It was out of money.

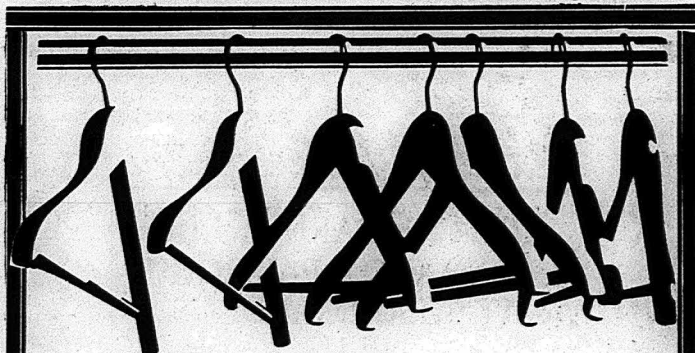

"Fine," I said pushing the buttons. "Then give me my card back!"

'NO,' it replied.

That was the last straw. I gave the stupid machine a quick kick and headed towards the exit. (The next day, I read in the paper that an automatic teller machine at the mall had begun spewing money after a mysterious stranger kicked it. Figures.)

So with my blue button-down shirt and ascot (I can't resist a sob story from a sales associate), I began the long trek to my car. One gift down and only 38 more to get!

Patrick

Sigma Pi International presents

BOXER

-n-

BUTTON DOWN
RUSH DANCE

FEBRUARY 4th

(Wednesday)

9 pm - 1 am in the Terrace

THE CAPTAIN'S LOG CNC SPORTS

Captains move to first place

by Mike "Snoopy" Andres
sports writer

A sight of defeat seemed yet to come as CNC men played host to the Spartans from UNC-Greensboro.

Although Carl Haynes was successful at the jump ball, Troy Wright was unable to sink the ball for the first score.

The Spartans seemed to hold on to the lead for most of the first part of the game with a margin of ten points.

The mood for CNC fans, though, was set as Haynes went for the slam to get CNC on their feet.

Frazier Bryant, UNC-Greensboro's strong point, continued to remain deadly to the Captains, ending up with double figures and the center-point for most of the Spartans points.

Although CNC's freshman Troy Wright ended up as high scorer at half time, with six points, it wasn't until the second half that he came alive.

As the Captains took the floor for second half action, one thing was evident. Something was going to change, and the Captains did just that.

As the final minutes wound down CNC was still trailing, but at 4:01 the score was tied up at 52 all.

As time ran out to 1:04 CNC captured the lead at 59-62. CNC remained in the lead and added yet another click in the win column.

Haynes - 18 points, Walter Moody - 10 points, and Wright leading scorer with 30 points all added to the win over the Spartans. Good teamwork was a major factor in the win.

The Captains defeated Greensboro, 61-57, Sat. and with their two other wins last week, they moved into first place in the Dixie Conference, moving up from seventh.

C. Peck

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

TROY WRIGHT—The freshman from Menchville High School had two of his best performances of the year. He scored 35, including 25 in the second half, as CNC defeated N.C. Wesleyan on the road, and had 30, with 24 in the second half, in a win over 20th-ranked UNC-Greensboro. He also had 14 in a win over Greensboro. For the week he averaged 26.3 points, 7.0 rebounds. He also had eight steals.

LISA DILLARD—The freshman from Tabb High School won two events at the Bud-Light Invitational at Virginia Tech. She won the 55 meters in 6.94 and took the long jump with a leap of 18-6 3/4.

Lady Captains split games

by Mike "Snoopy" Andres
sports writer

As the Lady Captains took the floor Friday night, one thing was clear. The team was ready to play a hard game.

The first quarter proved to be prominent as the Lady Captains struck with a full-court press to add total distraction to the women from Greensboro.

Although the entire CNC team played a hard game, one thing was obvious. In order to win, they had to stop Greensboro's powerhouse Donna Christy.

Despite the fact that Christy scored only nine points, she remained a constant threat to CNC.

None other than CNC's Alisa Fox was determined to keep her under control though. Fox, CNC's senior point guard, ended up with an 11 point total and proved to be CNC's inspiration.

Along with the inspiration came high scores from Kim Cameron (12), Lou Long (10), Rory Peets (11), and Pam Stewart (11).

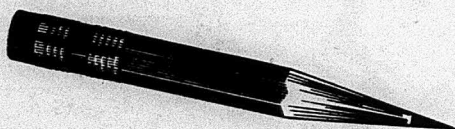

CNC plyed Greensboro twice last year and won both games. This meeting did not seem to end any differently as CNC pulled away with a 59-50 win over the ladies of Greensboro.

In what proved to be a close game Sun. the Lady Captains were defeated by UNC-Greensboro 60-58. The score was even, 1-51 with 3:26 left, but CNC could never edge in front.

WANTED TUTORS OF ALL KINDS

EARN EXTRA MONEY IN YOUR SPARE TIME

SUBMIT YOUR NAME AND COURSE
YOU'RE INTERESTED IN TUTORING
TO THE SGA VICE PRESIDENT OF ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

RM 229
SECOND FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER

CAMPUS PROGRAM BOARD

is taking applications for the following committees:

- Concert
- Video Yearbook
- Film
- Special Events
- Travel

All students are eligible and encouraged to get involved with activities at CNC!

Stop by Room 208
in the Campus Center and pick up an application.

THE CAPTAIN'S LOG WEEK AHEAD

30 FRIDAY

Last day to drop a class with 60 percent refund.

Cheerleaders' Spirit Dance. The Terrace. 8 p.m.-1 a.m. DJ Music. I wonder how cheerleader spirits dance?

Youth play auditions today and tomorrow for children between 9 and 19 at the Old Hampton Community Center. Call 723-1776 for more information. Nineteen-year-old children?

31 SATURDAY

Women's Basketball. 5:30 p.m. At Virginia Wesleyan.

Men's Basketball. 7:30 p.m. At Virginia Wesleyan.

NBC's Today show celebrates its 35th Anniversary tonight with a gala prime-time special. Check local listings. Or maybe HBO is re-running "Pervert teens at the Spring Break Beach Club." Gee, now that would be a tough call.

1 SUNDAY

Black History Month starts today. CPB's film committee will present several movies during the month featuring prominent black actors and actresses. Watch the calendar for dates and times.

2 MONDAY

Greek/Club Rush begins today and runs throughout the next two weeks. Don't ask us what the rush is, though.

Men's Basketball. Averett. 7:30 p.m. Ratcliffe Gym. C'mon out!

Riverside Hospital begins "Body Recall" classes for older adults or those with conditions such as arthritis which impair movement abilities. For more information, please call 599-2904.

Catholic Student Association meeting. CC-209. Noon. If you would like to be a part of the group but can't attend see Carolyn Lawrence, Campus Minister, in CC-204 or call 595-7604.

3 TUESDAY

Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity introductory social. 12:15 p.m.-1:00 p.m. Campus Center. Second floor behind elevator.

Remember: "The Captain," CNC's official yearbook, and the video yearbook continue on sale in the Office of Student Life. $15 each or both for $25. Hey, it ain't a blue light special, but that's quite a bargain!

4 WEDNESDAY

Alpha Kappa Psi social continues. ...Same Bat time. Same Bat station.

Sigma Pi's Boxer-Button-Down. Terrace. 9 p.m.-1 a.m. FREE!

5 THURSDAY

Campus Program Board presents the "Laff-Off!" 9 p.m.-1 a.m. The Terrace. Sounds like it's going to be a riot!

Your next issue of the all new, jam packed, vitamin enriched, caffeine free, sugar free Captain's Log hits the news stands! It's guaranteed not to give you warts, gum disease and recent studies have shown that it may even reduce tartar on your teeth. This one is sure to go quickly, so pushing and shoving IS allowed.

AND AHEAD...

"The American Black in Aviation" Feb. 7-March 8. NASA Langley Visitor Center. Intramural Volleyball and Basketball meetings Feb. 6. SGA Meetings Feb. 10 and 17.

JANEL'S BEAUTY SALON

29 Hidenwood Shopping Center
Newport News, Virginia 23606
Phone 595-2259

Come in and check us out. Our new styling team members are being trained by
*GRAHAM WEBB OF LONDON COBELLA OF LONDON
JINGLES INTERNATIONAL OF NEW YORK
SEBASTIAN OF CALIFORNIA

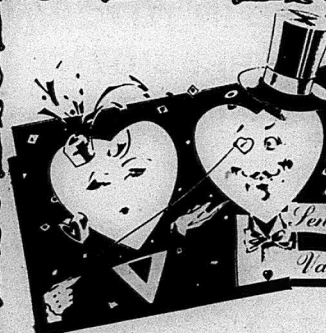

We carry a full line of home hair care products:

SEBASTIAN
JINGLES • PAUL MITCHELL
MATRIX • IMAGE
SCRUPLES • TRESSA
REDKEN • NEXXUS

TONY BURNETTE
Internationally
Trained Stylist
Formerly Of The Williamsburg
Lodge

The Captain's Log
presents

Lovelines '87

Send your Special Someone a
Valentine's Wish through us!

Deadline: Feb. 6

Published: Feb. 12 Issue