Campus Close-Up

AKPsi Food Drive

The brothers of Alpha Kappa Psi are sponsoring an Easter Food Drive now through Friday, April 10. The food donated will be given to several needy families in the Newport News-Hampton area. Alpha Kappa Psi is asking all clubs and organizations on campus to contribute to this cause. Students are asked to bring canned goods and other non-perishable items which they may place in designated boxes that are located in the Campus Center, Newport Hall, and the library. On Friday, April 10, the canned goods and non-perishable items will be collected and baskets will be made to be delivered to the needy families.

'Currents' Meeting

Currents, the college's fine arts magazine, will hold a meeting in CC-209 on Tuesday, April 7, at 2:30 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend. This meeting will deal with important business matters, and all members are requested to attend or to contact the editor-in-chief.

Studio A Art Show

Studio A will hold a two-day art show on April 30 and May 1 in and around the Campus Center from 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. as part of Spring Fest.

The show is open to members and non-members of Studio A who have watercolors, oil, acrylics, ceramics, sculpture, pen and ink, line drawings, or other art items for display and/or sale.

It is expected that a Horticulture Club sale on the same days will encourage buyers to look at ceramic items in which flowers may be planted or kept.

Items for participation should be turned in to representatives of the Art Department or Studio A in Gosnold Hall, Room 143, no earlier than April 22 and no later than April 29.

VSEA Meeting

The Virginia Student Education Association will meet on April 6 at 12:00 in N-121. Next year's officers will be elected at this time.

OTHG Mug Party

On Friday, April 3, the Over-the-Hill Gang is having a Mug Party in the Campus Center cafeteria from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. All students, faculty, and staff are cordially invited. There is a $1 admission fee for all you can drink. There is no admission fee for card-carrying members. You must bring your own mug; there will be no cups provided.

Softball Captains meet

A captains' meeting is being held for intramural softball on Wednesday, April 8. It will be upstairs in the Campus Center lobby at 12:00. Completed rosters will be turned in at this time.

Landscape display

A display of the final, overall landscape plan was placed in the library lobby on April 1 and will remain on display throughout April.

Large-scale pictures by Dr. Paul Killam will show the final arrangement of the campus, including the ships sculptures and the outdoor stage.

Also a historical illustration of the campus as it was originally will accompany the new plans.

Students are urged to view the display and handouts will be available.

Pig Roast

On May 1, from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. behind the theatre, Delta Psi Fraternity will roast three pigs. Come on down and enjoy the pigs, plus cole slaw, rolls, and your favorite refreshment. Entertainment will be provided.

Intramural tennis tourney a success

The first annual Intramural Tennis Tournament took place this past weekend with beautiful weather conditions. It was a definite success with students, faculty, and members of the administration participating in a "competitive, yet enjoyable atmosphere."

The men's singles were comprised of a talented 18-man field; however, it was no surprise that the multi-talented Chris Ford was an 8-2 victor over a spunky Mike Grounds. In Women's Singles, it came down to a "battle of friends." Laura Haas outlasted Joyce Stafford, 8-5, to capture the championship. Mixed doubles were no surprise either with the top-seeded team taking home the trophy. George (Over-the-Hill) Koutris and Laura Haas combined their talents in the last few games to edge by Jeffrey Thomas and Joyce Stafford in an exciting 8-6 finish.

senate minutes

by Wes Witten

The speaker for the May 1981 graduation will be Vice Admiral G.E. Kinnard of the North Atlantic Fleet.

The school has rented voting booths for the Student Association elections.

The Baseball Club has been given $200 from the contingency fund to pay for their travels during the rest of the season.

Prizes are still needed for the raffle ticket sales. Please contact Iggy Novo.

Clifford Foster was voted in by the Senate as the representative for the Black Student Association. They passed the amendment resolution that will purge Executive Council members after they have missed two consecutive meetings.

Executive Council Notes

At the March 26 Executive Council meeting, the following motions were made.

The Senate passed the new poster guidelines as outlined by the Executive Council Poster Committee.

The appointment of the new student auditor was voted on and passed.

Posters for the Fund Drive will be made next week.

A motion was made to approve the constitutions for the Captain's Log and Sigma Pi. There were four abstentions in the voting for the Captain's Log, two for Sigma Pi.

Four people opposed the Constitutional Amendment to make the election of the Senate President coincide with the other SA elections.

The Election Committee decided to rent two voting booths for two days for $250.00. The motion was carried.

The VASA met on Sunday, March 29. The report will be made at the next meeting.

The Cafeteria Committee has decided to wait until after elections.

President John Anderson has asked Vice Admiral G.E.R. Kinnear to speak at graduation.

Robert Corbett from the Baseball Club requested that $200.00 be allotted to the club from the contingency fund. The recommendation was passed.

Requests for volunteers to run a booth for the Mental Health and Mental Retardation at Newmarket North were made.

Scholarship Bank offers jobs, assistance

by Patricia Nuckols

The scholarship bank now has applications available for thousands of summer job openings for college students interested in their career fields, as well as applications for fall scholarships.

Many of these scholarships require action by April or May. Director of this nation-wide college scholarship search service, Steve Danz, urges students to get busy finding their best scholarship or work opportunities and apply now. Between choosing a low-paying job, like busing dishes, or working as a professional aid in your field, Danz says, "... jump in now and get the position that will give you experience and help your resume."

This service offers students an opportunity to learn about private, off-campus aid sources for which they are eligible. According to the director, each student receives up to 50 different sources. These sources can be based on need, merit, and other factors such as geographical desires.

Students interested in using this service should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: The Scholarship Bank, 10100 Santa Monica Blvd., Suite 750, Los Angeles, CA, 90067.

Honor Society has spring initiation

Six Christopher Newport College students were inducted recently into Alpha Kappa Delta, the national sociology honor society. Students receiving honors were Estelle V. Blizzard, Joseph R.B. LaPerle, Marcia Miller, and Joan A. Wildblood, all from Newport News; Angel F. Santiago, Jr., Langley AFB; and Beverly V. Sutton, Ft. Eustis.

The ceremony was initiated by Sociology Professor Chung-Wu Chang, advisor for AKD.

Planning and Placement

For the first time, the New York Botanical Gardens will send a representative to participate in the Career Program at Christopher Newport College on Wednesday, April 8, from 11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Campus Center lobby. Dr. Arnold Gussin, Director of Education, will represent the horticulture organization.

"Since 1932 the New York Botanical Garden School of Horticulture has been offering a vocational education program that is like few others in the world. Students gain a thorough practical and academic training in all phases of horticulture and in many aspects of botany and landscape design. A multitude of elective courses allows the student to pursue areas of individual interest. While participating in the School of Horticulture program, there are opportunities to avail oneself of additional special training programs in horticultural therapy, horticultural interior design, and commercial flower arranging and floriculture.

"As it is one of the leading institutions in the world, the New York Botanical Garden provides a marvelous training ground for personalized instruction in a diverse, expanding and lucrative profession."

Other participants in the Career Program will be Eastern Virginia Medical School, Newport News Department of Recreation and Parks, James R. Reed and Associates, Inc.; Peninsula YMCA, Riverside Hospital School of Professional Nursing, Tidewater Nurseries, Inc.; Virginia Air Pollution Control Board, Robert T. Pierce, M.D., and VPI & SU Extension Division.

Kelly Services will be interviewing all interested students for part-time and full-time temporary positions on Tuesday, April 7. Students should sign up for appointments in the Office of Career Planning and Placement, CC-208.

Attention, Seniors: Please sign up in the Office of Career Planning and Placement to see the following recruiters:

4/10, IBM--Computer science and math majors for scientific programming positions.

4/29, Eggleston & Smith--Accounting majors for public accountants.

5/22, Gloucester County Public Schools--All majors for teachers.

5/26, Williamsburg-James City County Schools--All majors for teachers.

NEWS

Dr. Mary D. Leakey will speak Monday, April 13, at 8:00 p.m. at the Hampton Coliseum. Her lecture, "From Fossils to Footprints, Evidence of Man's Evolution in East Africa," is a part of the series Our Future in the Cosmos. For free tickets, call William and Mary's Office of Special Programs, 877-9231.

CNC Budget Director to discuss military retirement

A successful career in the military can lead to many honors and satisfactions, but it also leads to retirement. What then?

Inflation, reduced pay, and the civilian world can be "hush duty" for the unprepared. Christopher Newport College, offering continuing learning experiences for the adult, capsules the problems for retiring military and will present information for effective individual solution on Saturday, April 4.

Jim Eagle (Lt. Col., USAF, Ret.), currently Budget Director at CNC, is a man who has been there. He knows the myths and he has learned the realities.

The majority of the problems of military retirement have an underlying financial thread. As Eagle discusses each different aspect of retirement, he will point out the economic implication involved.

He will first address the decision to stay in the military for 20 or 30 years.

"I believe people often make this decision based on the wrong criteria. There are many external factors besides the consideration of promotion," he said. In looking at this aspect, Eagle will also discuss employment in civilian life and the decisions involved in the employment market outside the military.

Eagle will then examine the options open to individuals in many areas of industry, government or business for oneself.

"Within a broad scope of career opportunities lie many vital considerations," Eagle said. "Can you live on half pay? If you return to government as a civilian, is your position in any way protected? Can you afford to wait out the growth period of going into business for yourself? Do you realize you must start at the bottom of a job position in the civilian world?"

From this point Eagle will explain how to research a company and write a resume that will get the specific job.

He will discuss salary ranges within Tidewater and what each individual should be looking at and what each can reasonably expect.

The fourth segment of the workshop will be geared toward the individual and his relationship with his family.

"Retirement is a tremendous psychological adjustment for the entire family, not just the individual," Eagle explained. The military person must be willing to close the door on his former life which occupied so much of his time, turn and face the new experience ahead of him."

Eagle holds a B.A. degree in English from Duke University and an M.S.A. in administration from George Washington University. The total course will run from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The price of the course, including lunch, is $35.00. For more information and registration, phone 599-7058.

Sigma Pi gains charter April 4

by Ana Kimball

After nearly a year of preparation, the Christopher Newport Colony of Sigma Pi Fraternity will be chartered this Saturday, April 4. The Chesapeake Bay Alumni Association will also be chartered that day. These events mark the first time a national social fraternity has been chartered at CNC and the first time a colony and alumni association have been chartered together. Each member will be a founding father.

The weekend begins Thursday, April 2, with a slide presentation in the Pub. Given by Andy Morris, National Executive Secretary, and Ken Kobis, Chapter Consultant for the East Coast, the show explains what Sigma Pi is all-about and is open to everyone.

Friday, April 3, the National Pledge Test will be given by the National Installation Team. The test consists of 200 questions and includes questions concerning the Greek alphabet, the creed, and the founding fathers. Each brother must score at least 80 percent to pass. That evening the fraternity, along with invited guests, will participate in a private party celebrating the weekend.

The actual installation will take place on April 4 at 2:00 p.m. "It's a secret, Greek ritual," remarked Ronnie Slone, President of Sigma Pi. The entire installation takes approximately two and one-half hours and is performed by a ten-man installation team comprised of Grand Officers, Distinguished Alumni, and brothers from other chapters. It is at this time that the brothers will learn the National Ritual of Installation and become actual members of Sigma Pi Fraternity.

The Chartering Banquet will be held that evening at the Cascades in Williamsburg. Invited guests include President John Anderson and Vice President for Student Affairs, Dr. Charles Behymer, as well as national representatives. Dr. H. Marshall Booker will be the guest speaker. Fraternity pins will be presented along with the "David Lowry Sinclair Award" for outstanding brother and the "Steven Scott Dore Award" for outstanding pledge. Approximately 150 guests are expected.

The Christopher Newport Colony will become the 135th chapter of Sigma Pi. In becoming a chapter, the fraternity had to petition the Grand Chapter and all other chapters across the nation. They also had to include a history of the fraternity, information sheets on each brother, their constitution, and a history of the school. A unanimous vote by the Grand Council brought about the events of this weekend.

Future plans for Sigma Pi include looking for a house with the assistance of Nationals. On a more personal level, they hope to establish tradition and "... become familiar with the National System," commented Slone.

A considerable amount of work and dedication has gone into reaching this (Continued on page 12)

Green ribbons given out in sympathy

by Ana Kimball

In memory of the 21 children who have died in Atlanta during the past several months, the Black Student Association and the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority pledges will be distributing green ribbons Thursday and Friday, April 2 and 3.

"We would just like to show our sympathy. We will also be taking donations that will be sent to the families," commented Michelle Whitlow. The wearing of the green ribbon has become a nationwide reminder of the tragedy taking place in Atlanta. "We just want to be a part of a nation showing these families they are not alone. They need all the moral support they can get," remarked Whitlow. "We just want this tragedy to stop."

The BSA and AKA hope to have every faculty and staff member and student on campus wearing a ribbon. Ribbons will be available at the cafeteria check-out, the information desk in the Campus Center, the library circulation desk, and the bookstore Thursday and Friday. A table will also be set up from noon until 1:00 p.m. to answer questions anyone may have.

Vote in CNC SA election April 6 & 7 in Campus Center

These articles were submitted by Professor Jane Chambers as an assignment in her English 101 classes. Each student was required to write an article for a grade. These were then judged by the classes, twice. From the unbiased judging, eight were selected for submission to the Captain's Log. Of these eight, the two below were selected by the Captain's Log to be published.

Get what you can from Uncle Sam

by Allen Hall

Veterans, are you aware of the fact that the service schools you attended while on active duty may be worth college credits? Most service schools are worth credits in accordance with the American Council on Education's guide. The A.C.E. guide lists all service schools that have recommendations for equivalent college credits.

There are two methods of applying for possible credits. The first, a seldom used method, is to submit a DD295 form (Request for evaluation of military credits) to the admissions office. The form will then be evaluated and the appropriate credits awarded. The DD295 form is available at all base education offices and the Tidewater Consortium Office located in the base educational services buildings at Ft. Eustis and Langley AFB. The second, more widely used method is to present photocopies of all certificates and/or diplomas received from service schools to the admissions office. Your certificates and/or diplomas will be cross-referenced to the A.C.E. guide, evaluated, and appropriate credits awarded.

The credits received may be applied as elective courses, but not toward specific major related courses, except in computer programming courses, where credits may be applied toward related major courses.

If you have any questions, you may contact Bob LaVerriere in the CNC Admissions Office, phone 599-7015.

Students apathetic on Wednesdays

by Bryan Price

Student apathy towards Wednesday night entertainment remains in true form this semester. Quality bands, such as Robbin Thompson, States, the All-Stars, and the Bill Blue Band, play varieties of music types; jazz, rhythm and blues, soul, rock, and punk rock appeal to equal varieties of personalities and preferences. The entertainment is carefully chosen weeks in advance. Judging from the quality of the bands and differences in styles, it is evident that each selection is undertaken with careful scrutiny. The entertainment is scheduled on Wednesday to help ease the burden of mid-week pressures. Why then are sparse crowds continually drawn to the cafeteria on Wednesday night?

According to the Registration News, Spring 1981, 242 classes meet on Wednesday, compared to 163 class meetings on Friday (not counting TBA's and course changes). On Wednesday, 65 percent of the classes meet before 2:00 and 35 percent meet after that time. Friday, however, has 94 percent of the class meetings (Continued on page 12)

Counseling Center offers Career Exploration

Glen Vought of the Counseling Center is offering several "Career Exploration Groups" for CNC students. Some common questions and answers concerning the groups are outlined below:

Q. What is a Career Exploration Group?

A. A group of four or five people who are uncertain about their career objectives meet with a counselor who is trained to provide experience in helping people learn to make personally relevant decisions—Voilà! A Career Exploration Group!

Q. So what will the group do?

A. The counselor calls for each group member to respond to a career-related task which teaches something useful about making career decisions. The learning possibilities are multiplied by comments, questions and observations of group members.

Q. How long will the group last?

A. The entire program is completed in three hours. The program will be offered in a variety of time patterns to accommodate the needs of as many students as possible.

Q. Who will benefit most from participating in a Career Exploration Group?

A. Anyone who wants to relate his/her interests, values, abilities and experiences to the issue of career choices will benefit; people who want a context in which they can try out ideas, speculate on possibilities, and receive objective information will also benefit. Students who have already decided on a career field and who would merely like confirmation of their choice may receive support—or they may be in for a surprise!

Q. O.K. I'm ready to join up! When? Where? With whom?

A. The following Career Exploration Groups will be offered:

* May 4, 6, 8 (M, W, F), 12-1 p.m., CC-207

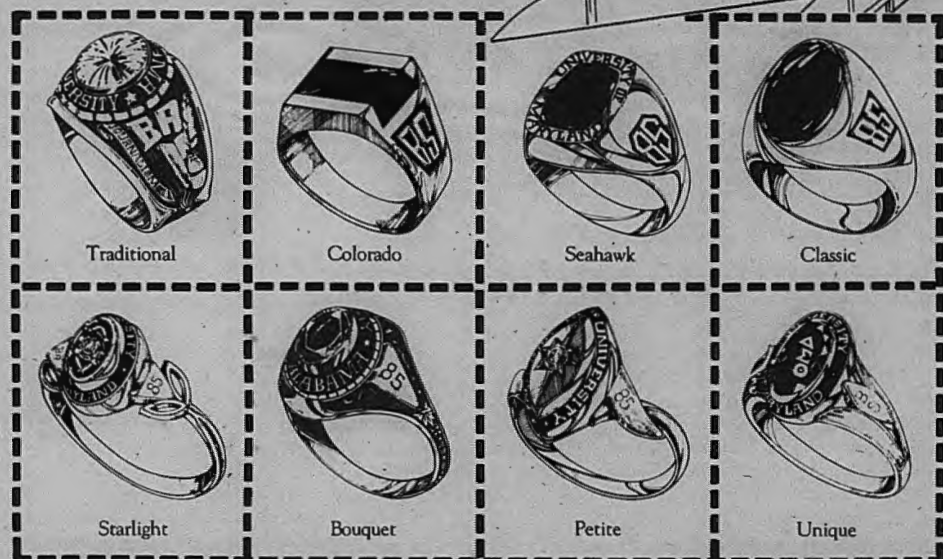

* May 5 (T), 4-7 p.m., CC-207

* May 6 (W), 4-7 p.m., CC-207

* May 9 (S), 9-12 p.m., CC-207

For further information or to sign up for a group, call the Counseling Center, 599-7046. Or stop by our office, Room 205, the Campus Center.

Student Association

Candidates' Platforms

Mike Hogge

Student Association President

"The objectives that I would stress are increased student input with regards to decision making. The Student Association is designed to serve the students and should focus its attention at better serving the interests of the average student."

Lisa Cipriano

Student Association President

"Lisa would like to see a Day Care Center established on campus for working parents, all auxiliary service (Bookstore, Administration activities, Campus Center) operating to the fullest extent to the benefit of all (day and night) students and the establishment of a strong student voice on campus."

Greg Jackson

Student Association President

One reason for running is "... to continue assisting clubs/organizations on campus, as done so expertly while CAC Director, in such a way that they may co-operatively work together in order to reach their goals."

Charlie Bell

Natural and Quantitative Sciences Division President

Peter Foster

Student Association President

"The University Party reflects the growing awareness of students that meaningful and productive student government is not found strictly within the self interests of candidates or a few interests groups on campus but through a unified approach the student consensus will benefit. I have decided to work within the structure of a unified approach."

Ronnie Slone

Student Association Vice-President

I have a deep concern for student problems in general. My major concerns are in seeing that students are able to secure space for functions and student rights. I would like to continue to serve the students as long as I remain on campus."

Ignacio Novo

Student Association Vice-President

"I am running for Vice-President of the Student Association because I feel that I can do a good job. Currently, I am President of OTHG. Within the Gang, I have tried to orient our activities for the students and reorganize the club so that it will not be dependent on any one person. I am also Vice-President of the Student Senate."

Keith Rathbone

Office of Attorney-General

One of three qualifications for the office is "... a complete dedication without outside commitments which could interfere with the performance of this office. Even though the hours are meant to be part-time it is a full time commitment which I can give my undivided attention to."

Joel E. Quass

Office of Attorney-General

"I want to be accountable to the Student Body. I plan to work for the collective good of all students in dealings with the faculty and administration. We will seek more night student input."

reginald Fox

Arts and Letters Division President

"I've also been in touch, and I'm very knowledgeable of the activities in my division. As a division spokesman, my first charge is to my fellow students; to be your voice' within the student association."

Billy Eugene Barnhardt

Arts and Letters Division President

Goals: "... to bring all the sections of the Fine Arts Division into unity; to promote new organizations and lobby groups of concerned students to express the feelings of the student body."

David Cronk

Social and Behavioral Sciences Division President

"I plan on representing all the students in these majors and presenting their views in the Executive Council. Having been a Political Science major all my three years here, I feel I have heard the views of many students in this and other Social Science majors."

Jeffrey Prentice Thomas

Business and Economics Division President

Reason for running: "... to better express the problems and ideas of students in the department to the faculty by creating a more active and closer working relationship between the Division President and the department chairman."

SPORTS

H-E-H #2, Delta Psi prepare to meet in basketball finals

by Matt Vannice

Unofficial predictions by this writer were 50 percent right this week coming out of the semifinal games. I had picked H-E-H #1 and Delta Psi to be in the finals, but H-E-H #2 pulled out another one for the upset special of the week.

The first game Sunday was a rematch of the game of the week before. Remember Chris Ford's miracle shot? Well, Delta Psi and the Cosmos both came out red-hot, especially Ford with his telescopic eyeguards. He scored 20 of his team's 29 first half points as his team fell behind, 32-29. He ended up carrying the full load to a disappointing 64-52 loss. Ford led the losers with 26 points, Frank Hayslip had 11, and Randy Walden contributed ten. But the Cosmos were no match for the Delta Psi team as their well-balanced team emerged victorious. Joe Conway scored 23 points, Alfred Johnson, 16; and Bill Hassenger, 11, for the finalists.

In the upset game, Coach Dave Pard finally had all his players there as H-E-H #2 held off H-E-H #1, 51-47. The key to that game was a Sampson-like defense that shut off Dave Hutcheson. John Ireland led a balanced H-E-H #2 with 16 points while Glen Corey had 11 and Dave Pard and Dennis Casey had ten each. Doug Baggett led the losers with 22 points, and "Hutch" had 14.

The championship game will be played at 6:00 p.m. at Ratcliffe Gymnasium on April 4 between Delta Psi and H-E-H #2.

Now for the sportswriter's predictions: Delta Psi's front line of Joe Conway and Robby Duncan could prove too much for Glen Corey and Glen Ireland, but Ireland's and Corey's mobility may offset that. The

CNC spring sports schedules spring forth

by David Bean

It's springtime again, and spring marks the arrival of the spring CNC sports season. For the spring season, the CNC Athletic Department can offer up a healthy competitive selection of track, golf and tennis for the CNC sports connoisseur.

The Men's Tennis team has a very competitive schedule this spring. At one point they will play 13 different teams in 15 days. Half of those dates are on the road and a good distance to travel. They will be playing teams such as UNC-Greensboro, Lynchburg, Virginia Wesleyan College, North Carolina Wesleyan College, and Virginia Commonwealth University.

Coach Bill Pollard will have only three players returning from last year's championship squad, which will require the players to assume a greater responsibility in terms of leadership. On the other side of the net, we have the women's tennis team. The ladies, too, will have a very tough schedule for the spring season. They will be meeting VCU, Mary Washington, William & Mary, and others. An interesting note is that both the men and the women will play their last matches after they play in the state tournament. The men have theirs on April 24, while the women have their April 10-13.

Coach Jim Hubbard has two returnees from last year's golf team, which had a 5-1 record. He will be depending upon senior Rich Burns and junior Mike Hott to lead the experience-lacking team through the rigorous ten-match schedule. They will be meeting opponents such as Randolph-Macon, Virginia Wesleyan, and N.C. Wesleyan and will be competing in five different invitationals and championships.

The Captains' track and field team is expected to be very tough this season, and with good reason. They will be seeking their fourth straight Dixie Conference championship. Coach Vince Brown's 23-man crew appears to be all set to accomplish that feat, and this year they will be better prepared to do it. When they won it last season, they did so without the services of a pole vaulter and with some weak long distance positions. The long distance problems have changed for Brown as several members of the Captains' Dixie Conference champions cross-country team have joined to fill up the weak spots.

This will be Brown's first year as head coach of the track team. Last season he was aided by Jerry Clark and won the Coach of the Year award in the conference. The team's six-meet schedule pits them against tough competition and concludes with the Dixie Conference meet, which will be at St. Andrews.

How to become an outstanding student

by Sue Wykle

The first and most important factor in becoming an Outstanding Student (O.S.) is motivation. You must find the quantity and quality of motivation to become obsessed and preoccupied with being an O.S. After all, all of your successes in life depend on this kind of obsession. You must become the end-justifies-the-means type of person; and, to quote a much-used expression, "... give it all you have got!"

Next step: study, study, study (your fool head off)! When a teacher assigns Chapter 1 and the even problems, read Chapters 1, 2, and 3 and do all the problems, odd and even, in each chapter. Next, throw away all your alcohol; give it up. The same goes for your pot, the Valium, qualudes, the Night-All, etc. This is a must. After all, there are only 24 hours in a day, and you must study 18 of them to become an O.S.

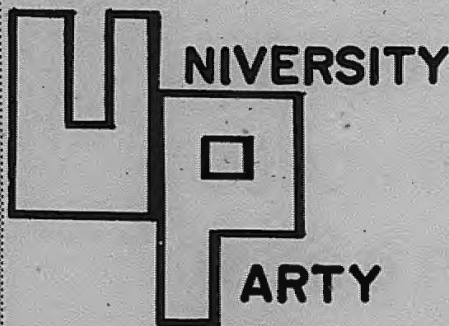

Another way to have more time to study is to completely ignore your grooming. Of course, in doing this, you will have to ignore being an O.S. socially (to be discussed later). Do not bother wasting time with a daily bath; you will soon become oblivious to your odor. You will also become used to dirty, greasy hair; just avoid mirrors.

Next step: talk to yourself constantly. Buy yourself a small cassette tape recorder and carry it and a note pad wherever you go. Use the tape recorder all the time you are not reading, writing, or calculating. The recorder is a most useful tool for memorizing. Besides, as you will find, it will become your best audience anyway.

To be the ultimate O.S., you must also include some socializing (to do this you must sacrifice a bit of the grooming time-saver). However, socialize only with teachers and those students who can give free tutoring and/or hints about quizzes and tests.

The last step is to make yourself a reservation at Eastern State Hospital. For if you have complied with all the preceding steps on how to become an O.S., you will be ready for a room there.

If a diplomat says yes, he means maybe, if he says maybe he means no, and if he says no, he's no diplomat. If a lady says no, she means maybe, if she says maybe, she means yes, and if she says yes, she's no lady.

H.D.A. Band plays a "Waiting Game"

by Ana Kimball

Last Wednesday night saw the premiere of the Harvey Dalton Arnold Band at CNC. The band provided the good sounds of rock-n-roll.

Originally from Tampa, Florida, the band members include Harvey Dalton Arnold, bass guitar, vocals; Chris Anderson, lead guitar, vocals; Sam Stafford, lead guitar; and Don Leonard, drums, vocals. The band performs all original tunes and is "... playing a waiting game and trying to remain patient," remarked Arnold with regards to a recording contract and national tour.

Ability and talent is evident as the Harvey Dalton Arnold Band is comprised of members from numerous other bands including Outlaws, Grinderswitch, Tripletree, and Jim Fish and the Fugitives. The music is good solid rock. "The songs are all strong, which is everything these days," commented Arnold. "This band has the desire and determination that it takes to make it."

Gary Burgess, Ken Trump, Kathy Martin and Chris Paradise rehearse for the CNC production A Thousand Clowns to be presented May 1, 2, 8 and 9 at 8:00 p.m.

"4 Out of 5 Doctors"

by Wes Witten

We now have a new local band hitting the air waves. 4 Out of 5 Doctors (whose home city is Washington, D.C.) have come out with their first album. Someone on the staff felt that they sounded like the Cars. However, I know they have a new sound of their own.

The band consists of Jeff Severson, vocals, guitars, and keyboards; Cal Everett, lead vocals, bass; George Piliaway, vocals, guitar; Tom Ballew, vocals and drums. These musicians prove to be a tight band with exceptional vocals. Most of their songs do have a message to go along with a very intricate and well put-together music. They seem to know what they are doing.

Side one opens with "Modern Man," a good song about the plight of what man has to put up with today. The next two songs, "Jeff, Jeff" and "Waiting for a Change," add a new twist to roco music. "Elizabeth" and "Opus 10," also on Side A, are also good songs. There seem to be some jazz sounds on this side except for "Modern Man" and "I Want Her."

Side B seems to be devoted to a New Wave sound. "New Wave Girl" opens up

EDITORIAL

A mighty fortress?

What's a fortress without its guards? How can the inhabitants feel protected if the uniformed guards aren't stealthily stalking the halls to keep potential enemies out? The people inside feel vulnerable, unprotected, unsafe.

That's how we feel in the Campus Center these days. Since the Campus Police Office has moved into the old Administration office, this whole building seems to be unprotected.

It's not that we are paranoid. We do not fear the attack of renegade squirrels on our two campus-side windows. Last semester, our wallet was stolen from the Captain's Log office. We have spent many long, late nights in the Captain's Log office. If it weren't for the campus police patrolling the building and the knowledge that the office was right downstairs, we would have been frightened beyond our control. (Those windows have no curtains. In front of a lighted window, the view of one person in one office is impossible to miss.)

Yes, the campus police are entitled to their own space, and a nice working place. They should be allowed their own complex of offices. But why can't they maintain a satellite in the Campus Center? This is an area with a high concentration of people. The Pub is here; the theatre is here; the game room is here. This building attracts a segment of people not always and necessarily with immediate goals or places to be. In other buildings, people stay only long enough to do their business. They go to class, go home. They buy their purchases at the Bookstore and leave. They use the library and leave. In the Campus Center, people stay for hours. We need police over here.

Of course, the campus police do patrol the grounds with their car. Of course they maintain regular beats in all buildings, but it feels much safer to have an office right downstairs when you're here alone, late at night. How many fire stations have you known that burn down?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

After reading your editorial in the March 19 edition of the Captain's Log on the so-called "Zombies" of CNC, we felt we had to respond to make known our feelings on your snide remarks. Opting to you a network other than the "prescribed" Channel 15 by no means classifies one as a mindless zombie.

First of all, some of us find watching TV a means of tension release after a mentally exhausting lecture. What mental relaxation can be found while watching "Nova" or other such "Channel 15 goodies"?

Not all of us "Zombies" watch garbage as you suggested. News is a form of education, n'est-ce pas? Current and controversial events are more than adequately dealt with on such shows as the local news, "Donahue", and "Good Morning America." These informative and interesting programs are found to be viewed daily on the Campus Center television.

Regarding your complaint on the noise, whatever became of the old maxim "Practice what you preach?" If consideration was shown to the TV viewers by the office-dwellers and passers-by, the same might be returned. When office business is carried on in the hallway and outbursts of laughter and loud conversation bombard the TV vicinity from all directions, hearing can be made extremely difficult. Straining to hear can be quite annoying.

As we sit here now in the room adjoining the TV room we hear two distracting noises—the sound of "Happy Days" and loud conversation and laughter from a nearby office. Personally, we feel that "Happy Days" is the least irritating.

Surprisingly enough, we do agree with one point that you made: "... if intelligent college students want to watch television, that's their business." Hopefully, a happy medium can be obtained between the vocal and electrical noises.

R.L. & M.R.

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank all of the CNC students, clubs, fraternities, sororities, faculty, and staff for their support during the basketball season this year. It is very exciting to see the attendance at the game continue to increase from year to year, and this year was no exception. Support is an important part of athletics and is greatly appreciated.

Crow's Nest

by David Byrn

The attempted assassination of President Ronald Reagan on Monday is a more serious crime than attempted murder. Whether or not he intended to, Reagan's would-be assassin took shots and more than just wounded a man, he endangered the political and democratic resolve of the citizens of the United States. What Reagan's assailant has committed is not only a wrong unto a few men, but also criminal interference with the operation and safety of the United States government and millions of its citizens.

During upheavals in the power structure of government is the time when a nation is most vulnerable. Potential adversaries could seize upon the moment of confusion to undermine the security of the United States or any other nation when coordinated countermeasures are chancy at best. With the several unstable political situations in the world, the anticipation by those left in charge of national security while Reagan was disabled was one of pending disaster as concerns were raised over the possibility of the Soviet Union smashing Poland while our President was incapacitated. The potential threat of Soviet aggression against the United States itself was acute at a period when our commander-in-chief was unable to perform his duties. I have heard comments that the line of succession to the Presidency is pre-determined and that at no time was government operation hindered. This contention is simply untrue, because the presidential power was never relinquished to anyone while Reagan was incapacitated, and by legal definition the U.S. was minus one Chief Executive. This murky confusion is reason enough for our government to clearly define the transfer of executive power while the president is just temporarily incapacitated.

Not to be forgotten are the men who were in close proximity to the President and seriously wounded. Reagan's Press Secretary, James Brady, Secret Service Agent Timothy McCarthy, and Washington, D.C. Policeman Thomas Delahany. Brady is in critical condition with a serious head wound while Delahany is doing well but the bullet lodged into his neck has not been removed. The heroic actions of Secret Service Agent Timothy McCarthy caused him to receive a bullet wound in the chest while he was shielding the President from the Assailant's bullets. McCarthy is recovering and his prognosis is excellent.

My condolences and sympathy to the families of the victims, and I wish them all a speedy recovery. At times I feel pity for Reagan's alleged assailant, but his crime was an affront and compromise upon my own safety and that of all other U.S. citizens. For this reason, my pity turns to anger and I cannot conceive of lenient treatment.

Apathy on Wednesdays occurring before 2:00 and six percent meet after that time. Human nature dictates that a person is more likely to leave school, travel home and relax, and then return later to school, than to leave school, travel home, and return immediately. On Fridays, an exceeding number of students have that all-important rest, while Wednesday's supply the "jet-age" lifestyle of long, hard days and nights. The alternative to proceeding home and completing necessary mid-week homework is enjoying an entertaining night of music until one in the morning, and then waking that same morning for early classes. This is difficult at best!

Relaxation and entertainment are necessary for a sane existence. However, the purpose for attending college is the seeking of a quality education, which includes necessary completion of assignments. A weekend consists of three days to complete assignments, while only 24 hours exist between Wednesday and Thursday for completion of assignments. A proposal that would be more convenient for the majority of students would logically be to move the entertainment from Wednesdays to Fridays.

goal. There have been numerous changes with which each brother has had to deal. "But it was all worth it. Aside from the 'practical' benefits of being a national fraternity, we have a broader sense of brotherhood because the fraternity doesn't stop at Shoe Lane," remarked Slone. "It extends all the way to the West Coast."

CNC golfers pull third in region

CNC's golf team recently took part in the two-day NCAA Regional Invitation held in Sandford, N.C., in winds up to 40 m.p.h. and scores soared. In last Wednesday's match Virginia Wesleyan College won with a score of 320. CNC was six strokes behind Randolph Macon and four strokes behind North Carolina Wesleyan. CNC was without the services of Mike Hott due to a hand injury; however, team balance was encouraging. Tommy Highsmith had a 78 and John Robertson, in his first competitive match, shot a 79.

CNC's next match is in Ashland against Randolph-Macon College and Bluefield State.

Intramurals

real advantage will be in the backyard where Alfred Johnson and Stan Hamm have too much quickness and ability for Mike King, George Koutris, and Dave Pard.

Sorry, Mr. Pard, but Delta Psi 62, H-E-H #2 56.

The following week will be a match between CNC and Thomas Nelson intramural all-stars. The time has not yet been confirmed.

Campus Center entertainment is obviously provided for student enjoyment and relaxation. What advantage is this entertainment to the greater majority, who are home studying on Wednesday night?

Doctors

with a catchy sound. "Danger Man" is a song that could have come off of a B-52 album. "Mushroom Boy," though, does give you the feeling of a Cars melody.

The best aspect of the 4 Out of 5 Doctors group is their vocal harmonies. They are the best group to come out since the Beach Boys concerning the vocal part. In many ways they surpass every other group.

Their music, at first, might take a little getting used to. However, the time spent with your stereo will be worthwhile. This 'doctor' is one of four out of five to recommend this album.
