Board of Visitors appoints new President President to assume office Jan. 1, 1980

The Board of Visitors of Christopher Newport College unanimously appointed the next president of the college in an open meeting on August 8.

After presenting the members of the Board, Harrol A. Brauer, rector of the board, announced that beginning January 1, 1980, Dr. John E. Anderson of Columbus, Georgia, will fill the presidency for Dr. James C. Windsor, who is currently president.

Dr. Windsor's resignation was scheduled to become effective this month, but he chose to remain active for four additional months to assist in the budget requests for the upcoming biennium.

Dr. Windsor is also extending his stay because Anderson cannot report as early as planned due to his current post as acting president of Columbus College. Dr. Windsor plans to take a leave of absence during the spring semester and return in the fall as a full-time psychology professor.

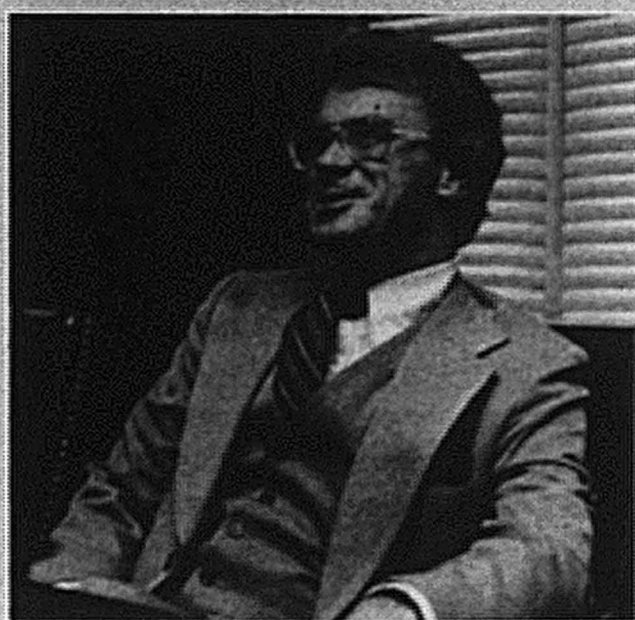

Anderson's appointment as president by the Board of Visitors followed weeks of intensive work by the college's presidential search committee, which was composed of representatives from the board of visitors, administration, faculty, and student body.

Representing the board of visitors in the search were Mrs. Mary Passage, who served as chairman of the committee; Mr. Stephen D. Halliday, Mr. Harry H. Watson, Dr. Stephen J. Wright, and the board's rector, Mr. Harrol A. Brauer, Jr. Mr. Keith F. McLoughland, dean of admissions; Dr. Elizabeth-Anne Daly, professor and chairman in the department of education; and Mr. William Humphreys, Student Association president, represented the administration, faculty, and students, respectively. Dr. Nancy J. Melton, assistant to the president, served the committee as liaison.

Since the committee was organized in March of this year, its members reviewed close to 200 applications from across the country, ultimately deciding upon six finalists. Each of the six was invited to the college for a day which included an overview and tour of the campus, meetings with representatives of the faculty and administration, an open session with members of the college community, and a formal interview with the search committee.

Anderson, 47, received a bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Akron in 1953 and, in 1957, received a Ph.D. in psychology from the Ohio State University. In 1972, Harvard University named him an IEM Fellow. Within the last twelve years, he has received three research grants to study faculty development.

tion since 1975, entail the budgeting for and administration of all academic departmental functions including graduate and undergraduate instruction, media center and library operations, and the continuing education program. At Columbus, Anderson also administers academic personnel procedures, coordinates curricula programs, and represents the college as acting president.

Before pursuing a career in college administration, Anderson was a member of the faculties of four institutions. From 1953-57, he was a teaching and research assistant in the department of psychology at Ohio State University and, in the summer of 1957, taught psychology for Muskingham College in New Concord, Ohio. The following year, he belonged to the general education faculty at the Rochester Institute of Technology. From 1958-1963, he was a member of the graduate faculty in the department of psychology at Florida State University, Tallahas-

Money available for CNC students

The Financial Aid Office is still accepting applications and will continue to assist eligible students with campus based programs as long as funds permit. As covered in the Captain's Log previously, passage of the Middle Income Student Assistance Act last November has expanded opportunities for students during the 1979-80 academic year. This legislation not only increases the average Basic Grant award for some recipients, but expands eligibility to some students who were not previously eligible.

This legislation also removes the $25,000 income eligibility ceiling on the Guaranteed Student Loan Program, thereby providing for the interest on such loans to be paid by the federal government while the student is enrolled at least half-time in post-secondary education.

Any student who thinks that (s)he may need assistance, who has not already done so, is encouraged to contact the Financial Aid Office in the Library, Room 121, for application materials and information.

see, where he served as a graduate school representative for both masters and doctoral level committees.

In an interview earlier, Anderson remarked that he was attracted to CNC because of its "vitality, youth, atmosphere and the enthusiasm of the people in the college community." "I look forward to building upon the fine work done by President Windsor and to being involved in the future of the college," said Anderson.

At the conclusion of the search process, Rector Brauer expressed appreciation for the members of the committee for their "long hours of hard work dedicated to the very crucial and important task of choosing a new president for Christopher Newport and to the college community for their conscientious participation in the process." Brauer also praised Mrs. Mary Passage "for her superb leadership as committee chairman and for the excellent fashion in which she organized the committee, thus effecting an efficient, but thorough, selection method."

Dr. Anderson visits CNC campus

Dr. John E. Anderson, CNC's newly appointed president, paid a visit to the campus on August 24.

After an 8:00 a.m. breakfast with Dr. James Windsor, Anderson spent most of the morning in a meeting with Dr. Robert Edwards, Vice President of Academic Affairs.

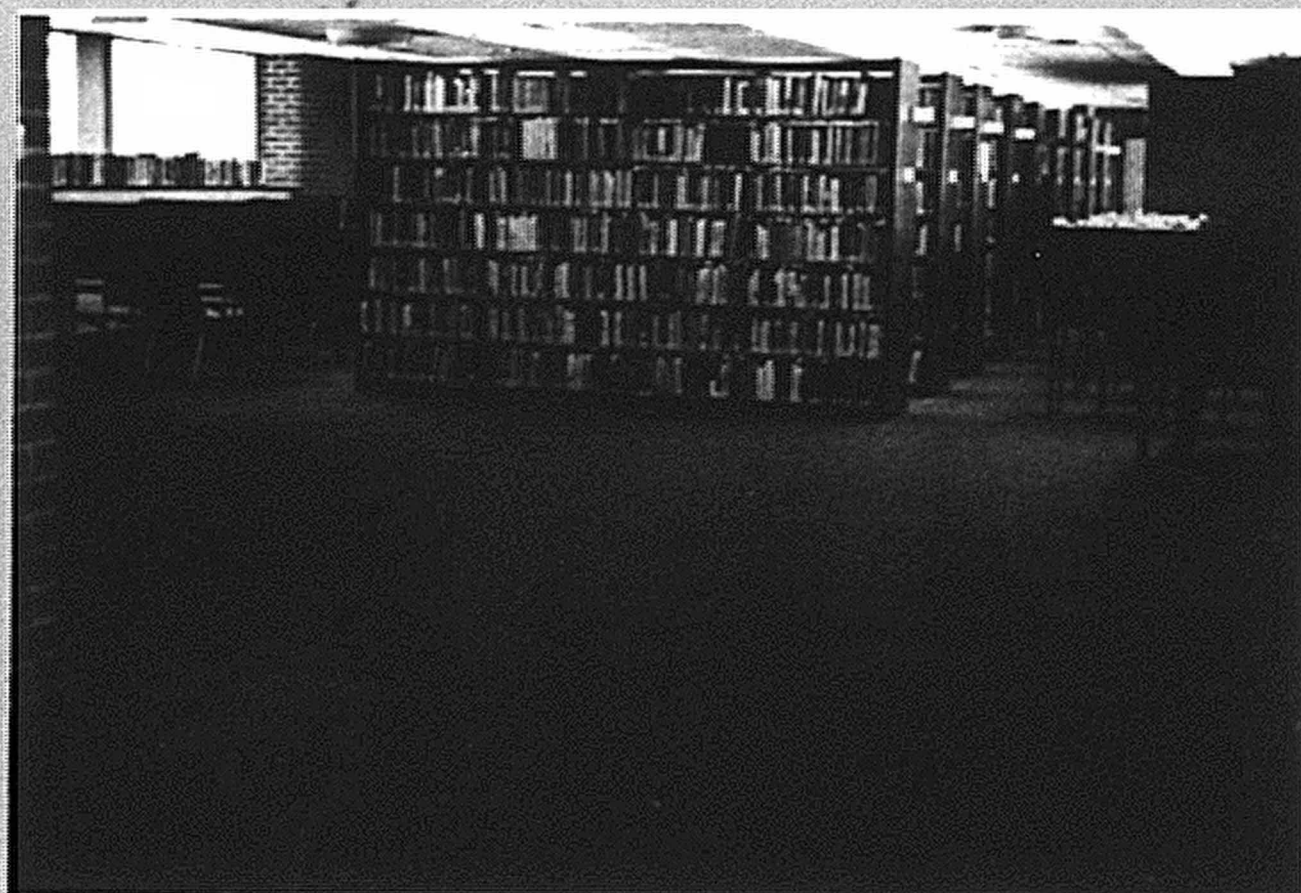

Dr. Anderson held a press conference at 11:00 a.m. and expressed his views and answered questions in a comfortable manner and with subtle humor.

Anderson said he doesn't have any plans for CNC yet. He said that he is trying to assess the strengths and weaknesses of the college right now.

Dr. Anderson admitted that he had never heard of CNC and had to research information on the college after he discovered that a former employee, now in Annandale, submitted his name as a candidate for the presidency.

He said the data on the college was most favorable and showed that the college was

Library addition awaits arrival of new furniture

After all the construction, confusion and mess, the addition to CNC's Captain John Smith Library will be open for use this week. Some provisions will have to be made, however, due to problems encountered with the furnishing of the new space.

It is predicted that the rest of the shelving will be up by the end of September. A truck strike delayed the delivery of the steel necessary for constructing the shelves.

Around the first part of November, the furniture for the front lounge, the upstairs smoking area and other small lounge areas located throughout the library will arrive. Delivery of the carrel desks will take longer, approximately four to six months.

Library Director Bette Mosteller, who has been with the library for 17 years, stated that the furniture problem is due to CNC's having to justify purchasing the furniture from a commercial industry instead of the prison industry. A small legal battle was fought and won by CNC.

Ms. Mosteller is very pleased with the design of the new furniture. It will be upholstered and made of walnut grain wood.

"I think that, with the beautiful furniture, the students will take pride in it and take care of it," Ms. Mosteller stated.

She also commented that other visiting librarians from the area were impressed with the beauty and functional nature of CNC's new library addition.

The next project planned after completion of this addition will be the development of the library collection to support the curriculum. Budget increases planned should help in achieving this goal, and unless a large financial setback occurs, it should become a reality.

CNC professors go "back to school"

Christopher Newport College professors have gone "back to school" to learn how to be better teachers. They participated in a teaching effectiveness seminar on campus, where they concentrated on improving lesson planning, teaching small groups, structuring lectures, and other techniques necessary to successful teaching. The seminar sessions met Monday through Thursday, June 25-28, as well as July 2, 3, 9 and 10, from 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m., in Newport Hall 122.

Conducting the teaching seminar was Professor Michael Bloor, who holds a graduate degree in psychology and a teaching qualification certificate from the University of London. An associate member of the British Psychological Association, Bloor is a member of the faculty at Garnett College in London, a college which specializes in training teachers for the college level.

A former exchange professor of psychology at CNC, Bloor was invited to the campus this summer specifically to facilitate the teaching seminar.

Professor Michael Bloor

"This should be an arena for sharing skills that participants have brought to the seminar," said Bloor. "I hope to provide a framework whereby we can integrate these skills into the sessions." Whether or not he was successful, we'll find out in the classrooms this fall!

CNC offers Career Alternatives

Christopher Newport College will present a seminar on Career Alternatives for Educators the weekend of October 19 at the Sheraton Coliseum Inn in Hampton. Scheduled for Friday, October 19, from 7-10 p.m., and Saturday, October 20, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., the seminar is designed to teach educators how to transfer their skills into other fields of employment by setting new objectives, making valuable contacts, dressing for success on a budget, and a number of other effective techniques.

Career management consultants and seminar leaders are Karen Kay Belding, a former sales and marketing professor and currently a sales representative with the Equitable Life Assurance Society in Newport News; Dr. Howard T. Taylor, a licensed professional career counselor and professor of career planning and placement at Thomas Nelson Community College; Toni Hodge, a former clothing buyer for a specialty store chain and currently an image consultant and wardrobe manager; and Dr. Forrest McKay, director of cooperative education and placement at Piedmont Virginia Community College in Charlottesville.

The seminar fee, which includes lunch, coffee breaks, and all materials, is $35.00. The deadline for pre-registration is October 16, and interested persons should call CNC's Office of Continuing Studies at 599-7153. VISA and Mastercharge are acceptable.

Dogs discouraged on CNC campus

Dogs, cats and other animals, except those animals authorized for laboratory or research purposes, are prohibited in all College buildings, offices and classrooms and are subject to removal from the campus and impoundment by the City of Newport News.

Dogs, cats and other animals, although discouraged from being brought on campus, are permitted on the campus grounds as long as they are accompanied by and under the immediate control of an attendant. Animals found unattended, including those found tied or lashed to trees, poles or other objects on the campus, will be subject to removal and impoundment.

The Campus Police shall be responsible for the enforcement of this policy.

The owner of an animal processed under this policy will be responsible for all civil litigation, fines, fees and/or quarantine associated with said animal.

Evening office hours set

The evening school at Christopher Newport College announces a new schedule of administrative services for students. Effective immediately, the registrar's, admissions, business, counseling, and veterans' affairs offices will be open 8:00 a.m.-7:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday. They will maintain their usual schedule of 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. on Fridays.

CNC ROTC Cadet receives medal

by Sheba Przygocki

The ROTC Medal of Heroism will be presented to Cadet Joe B. Eley III for his valorous actions which saved the life of a trapped motorist in Hampton last April 28. As reported in the May 1 issue of the Captain's Log, Eley and a friend, James M. Dowless, had been celebrating the birth of Dowless's second son when a pickup truck lost control on I-64 and plunged 60 feet into the Hampton River. Eley and Dowless waded through waist-deep water to the overturned truck and forced open the door to pull the driver safely. They administered first aid until help arrived.

The Medal of Heroism is presented to ROTC cadets who have distinguished themselves by acts of heroism on or off campus. The act must be outstanding and clearly set the individual apart from his fellow students or from others in similar circumstances. While accomplishing the act of bravery, the individual must have accepted danger or extraordinary responsibility, exemplifying praiseworthy fortitude and courage.

The medal is a silver pendant with a ribbon bar which is worn on the uniform.

Sailing Association secures facilities

Through a cooperative arrangement, the newly formed Christopher Newport Sailing Association has made possible the use of the Warwick Yacht Club's launching facilities for Association members: students, faculty and staff of the College.

CNC's four Ghost 13's and the Warwick Yacht Club's Skipjacks will be available to qualified members, Monday through Saturday during September and October, April and May. Exact hours have yet to be arranged, and depend upon the presence of a student assistant who will check out the boats.

To be able to use the boats, students must become club members of the Sailing Association. Faculty and staff must become Community Members of the Sailing Association. Both groups will have a joint meeting Monday, Sept. 10, in Room 233 of the Campus Center. Everyone who is interested is invited to attend.

If you cannot attend the meeting, but are interested in sailing, please call Jane or George Webb at 599-7082 for membership forms for the Association, or for further information.

growing. Individuals to whom he spoke talked favorably of the college and Anderson said he considered the community support that CNC has to be a prerequisite for a successful college.

Anderson stated that he is student oriented and expressed a desire to continue building CNC's bonds with the community because he likes people. He felt that this was his strongest characteristic.

He also smiled and stated that he felt the search committee "did a fine job."

CNC Bookstore employee wins management diploma

Mrs. Beth Greenwald, an employee in the Christopher Newport College bookstore, recently received a management seminar diploma from the National Association of College Stores.

Conducted at Oberlin College in Ohio, the course consisted of two weeks of concentrated study in several phases of management. Mr. Calvin E. Hones, vice president of financial affairs for CNC, presented Mrs. Greenwald with her diploma.

Mrs. Greenwald is a returns department supervisor in the CNC bookstore, where she has worked for five years.

Mrs. Beth Greenwald receives diploma from Mr. Calvin Hones.

Student and faculty member honored by Alumni Assoc.

At award ceremonies in June, the Christopher Newport College Alumni Association named John J. Bennett outstanding student of the year and Dr. H. Marshall Booker outstanding faculty member of the year. These awards are presented annually by the CNC Alumni Association.

Bennett, a senior majoring in English at CNC, received a scholarship for $100.00 from the Alumni Association. During his two years at CNC, he has been active on the College newspaper and literary magazine. To qualify for the student of the year, a student must have a grade point average of 3.25 or better and have made unusual contributions to the College.

Dr. Booker, who was named faculty member of the year, is professor of economics at the College. The recipient of this award must have taught at least two years full-time at CNC, have made outstanding contributions to the College and provided special service to students, and have exhibited a high degree of teaching effectiveness. Booker has been a member of the CNC faculty for ten years.

CNC graduate runs for Delegates seat

J.W. Johnson of Surry County will run as an independent for a seat in the Virginia House of Delegates in the general election November 6. Johnson seeks a seat from the 45th District, which includes the City of Emporia and the counties of Surry, Greensville, Sussex, Charles City, and New Kent.

Johnson, 32, is a graduate in philosophy from Christopher Newport College and of the Oklahoma School of Religion at Langston University. A Master Mason and a heavily-decorated Vietnam War veteran, he is president of the Surry County Branch of the NAACP and a member of the Surry County Democratic Committee.

Johnson has established, as his priorities, addressing the problems of inflation, improvement of education and housing, and increasing employment opportunities.

"It is important for the elected representative of our district to reflect our diversity in the state legislature," says Johnson. "Now is the time to elect an energetic leader who is able and willing to give priority to the urgent and special needs of the entire populace in the district, and who is not tied in otherwise with the status quo."

Dr. Algin B. King

Who's Who names CNC professor

Dr. Algin B. King, professor of marketing and management and acting dean of the business school at Christopher Newport College, has been named to Who's Who in America.

King received a bachelor of arts degree in retailing and political science from the University of South Carolina in 1947; an M.S. from New York University in 1953; and a Ph.D. from Ohio State University in 1966.

Before joining the business faculty at CNC in 1977, King served on the faculties at a number of institutions including the University of South Carolina, the College of William and Mary, Central Connecticut State College, James Madison University, and Western Carolina University.

Formerly an executive trainee for Sears Roebuck and Company, and financial resource consultant for the Connecticut Council of Higher Education, King holds memberships in several professional organizations including the International Council of Small Businesses, American Marketing Association, and the Atlantic Economic Society. For nine years, he was a partner and manager for Fine Virginia Foods in Williamsburg.

King is a contributing author of several publications including Hampton Waterfront Economic Study and The Source Book of Economics.

His wife, Joyce, is chairman of the department of marketing in the school of business at Old Dominion University.

Counseling Center adds to staff

Two new counselors have joined the staff at CNC this fall. Katie J. Lewis comes to CNC from Oklahoma State University and specializes in the area of minority counseling. Dr. Carole R. Siemon, from Southern Illinois University, has a Ph.D. in Guidance and Counseling and is eager to start her work with women of all ages.

Ms. Katie J. Lewis (photo by Bruce Laubach)

Both counselors were chosen after weeks of reviewing resumes by designated search committees. Each woman was considered to be one of the best choices.

Ms. Lewis said she is coming from the same position she held at Oklahoma State, and she is very enthusiastic about carrying on with the existing programs for minority students at CNC as well as developing new programs with the help of some input from CNC students to better serve the needs of minority students.

Dr. Carole R. Siemon (photo by Bruce Laubach)

Dr. Siemon announced that she is pleased to be here and looks forward to working with women of all ages, but particularly with older adult women. She will concentrate on setting up workshops for women and invites anyone to the Counseling Center to talk with her.

CNC students, especially minority students and women, will profit from these two newest additions to the Counseling Center.

Governor appoints new board member

CNC's Board of Visitors welcomes a new member this fall. Mrs. DeRonda Hudgins, attorney-at-law with Short, Short, Telstad and Kerr and a CNC alumna, will serve a four-year term which started in July of this year.

Mrs. Hudgins was appointed to the Board by Gov. Dalton as a replacement for Mr. Harvey Wason.

A graduate of CNC and Marshall Wythe School of Law at William and Mary, Mrs. Hudgins is a member of the Virginia State Bar, the Association of Trial Lawyers of America, the American Bar Association and the Newport News Bar Association.

In 1972 and 1976 she was a delegate and an alternate, respectively, to the Republican National Convention. She is a member of the Executive Board of the Peninsula Ballet, Inc., and involves herself with the Women's Guild of the Peninsula Symphony. Other honors include being listed in Who's Who in Politics in the South and Who's Who in American Politics. She was also named in Personalities of America this year.

Mrs. Hudgins expressed her feelings upon her appointment to CNC's Board of Visitors by stating, "It is my honor and privilege to serve my alma mater. I have been appointed by the Rector to the Development of College Relations Committee and would welcome any student or faculty suggestions or comments at any time."

She went on to say, "I plan to be active and involved in the life of the college and hope to meet many of the students and faculty at college functions. My door is always open and my telephone free. I look forward to four years of service to Christopher Newport College."

Film series offers insights on war and the individual

The Dean William Parks Colloquia Committee and the Office of Continuing Studies at Christopher Newport College are sponsoring a film series organized around the theme of war and the individual in the twentieth century. Entitled "The Borders of War," the series began Tuesday, September 4, and will feature a film every other Tuesday evening at 8:00 through November 13 in the Campus Center Theatre.

Organized chronologically from World War I through World War II, the series explores not only the direct impact of war on individuals but its psychological, social and other indirect effects as well. The first film, All Quiet on the Western Front (U.S.), provides the visual impact of war on a group of young recruits sent to France from 1916 to 1918. Its emphasis on totalitarianism continues in the second film in the series, Triumph of the Will (German), to be shown September 18. This 1934 production reveals the potential power of well-designed propaganda over masses and individuals. The glorification of Hitler and Nazism within the film was instrumental in aiding Hitler to obtain dictatorial power over the German people after 1934.

World War II provides the background for three of the remaining four movies in the series: Seven Samurai (Japanese), Closely Watched Trains (Czech), and Hiroshima mon Amour (French). Seven Samurai, the story of how a sixteenth-century Japanese peasant village comes to rely on seven samurai to protect them from bandits during harvest time, is the kind of film the Japanese used to build unity for the war effort. Closely Watched Trains focuses on the maturation of a youth in occupied Czechoslovakia and the impact of Nazi terrorism and a totalitarian regime on his development. Hiroshima mon Amour explores intimate relationships between an actress and her Japanese lover in the aftermath and anguish of Hiroshima.

The movie Z (French), set in a fictional country, is an account of the murder of a dissenter from the country's ruling elite and the terror used to suppress that murder.

The dates for these six films are: All Quiet on the Western Front, September 4; Triumph of the Will, September 18; Seven Samurai, October 2; Closely Watched Trains, October 16; Z, October 30; and Hiroshima mon Amour, November 13.

Joshua keeps CNC fans waiting

Wednesday night, Aug. 29, opened the entertainment season for CNC in the Campus Center Cafeteria with a pop. Or better yet, a flop.

The band Joshua appeared in the CAC-sponsored event, and even though they began setting up at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday afternoon, they didn't finish until after 10:00 p.m.

With all the time spent setting up, one would have expected a great sound, but after a blown speaker and a trip to Den-high to pick up a replacement (which took an hour), they played for half an hour and then decided to rearrange their equipment. For this feat, they had all the lights turned up and proceeded to move their mixing board around for an hour and a half until they had moved it back to the same position they had started out with.

Joshua played off their monitors for what was left of the night instead of the main speakers.

Enough of these negative comments though. The evening did have a good aspect to it. The beer and conversation were as good as ever.

Ed. note: Joshua will be back Sept. 12 to entertain CNC students and their guests.

Basketball, soccer teams recruit many new players

Christopher Newport's basketball team seems to be on the verge of what appears to be a very exciting season this year. Coach Bev Vaughan's efforts in recruiting have reaped an excellent harvest.

One of these exciting new recruits is Doug Tillman, a fine basketball player out of Martin Luther King High School in Philadelphia.

Tillman, a 215-lb., 6-foot-8 player, comes to the Captains' campus at the recommendation of another Philadelphia-bred incoming freshman, guard Alfred Johnson.

Coach Vaughan comments that Tillman "appears to have excellent jumping ability. He's a pure pivot, but I'm sure he'll help us extensively." Not all of the recruits will make the varsity, obviously, but this in itself pleases the veteran coach, who unabashedly calls the group "our best recruits ever."

Other recruits this year are Barry Cooke, 6'2", New Kent; Wade Hatfield, 6', Kecoughtan; Mike Hathaway, 5'9", Kecoughtan; Richard Jennes, 6'2", Lafayette of Williamsburg; Alfred Johnson, 5'9", Germantown Friends, Philadelphia; Eddie King, 6'1", Smithfield and St. Paul's transfer; Brian Lyon, 6'0", Ringgold, Donora, Pa.; Michael McNutty, 6'1 1/2", Menchville and Apprentice School; David Page, 6'3", Phoebus High; Mark Paquette, 6'4", Bethel High; Scott Sisk, 6'1", Falls Church, Va.; Rod Terry, 6'2", Kecoughtan; Keith Thomas, 6'4", Poquoson; Mike Wacławski, 6'3", York High, Yorktown; Otis White, 6'7", Garfield High and Smithdeal-Massey College, Richmond; and Chris Williams, 6'2", Norfolk Catholic.

The Captains will start their practice in mid-October and will be preparing to meet Hampton-Sidney College on November 24 at 8:00 p.m. on CNC's home court.

Golf team tees up

The Golf Team is presently beginning a series of practices and matches to determine which six players will represent CNC in our fall tournaments.

Returning from last year's spring team are Junior Rich Burns, Captain, and sophomores Mike Hott, Ken King, Rick Smith and Mark Swiley. Those who are attempting to land a spot in the top six as well are David Falin, Mark Paquette, John Steiger, Tom Perrotta, Jeff Stern, Leslie Letchworth and Jim Baxter.

Team play and practices will be held at Ft. Eustis for 1979-80.

If there are any students who would like to participate during the fall season, they should contact Coach Hubbard in R-125 (Ratcliffe Gym) or call 599-7027.

Men's tennis

All students interested in joining the men's varsity tennis team are invited to attend a meeting on September 10 at 4:00 p.m. in Coach Pollard's office, Ratcliffe Gym, Room 106.

Only four players will be returning this year to CNC's soccer team, but the projected outlook is good due to some unforeseen additions.

Coach Bob Cummings will be welcoming back senior Richard Clemence, who sat out last season and was an All-Dixie achiever two years ago. Clemence is expected to be a great help to the team.

Among others expected to boost the Captains' year will be All-Peninsula District midfielder Bill Foster from Menchville High School. Foster was considered to be one of the best high school players in the area last season and his decision to play for CNC creates optimism for the Captains.

David Via, from Warwick High School, has also added to the festivities. Via scored 24 goals last season to top the scholastic season and is expected to be an asset to CNC's team.

Other top players to watch for will be All-State selection Joe Garone, high scorer David Crowley, goalie David Giunti and defender Perry Hunt.

Among the newcomers to watch will be Albert Abraham from Denbigh, the Canady brothers—David and Scott—and Lee Blassingame from Hampton; Shahrias Moosavizadeh, Billy Fisher and Mark Bridges from Warwick; and John Ward from Kecoughtan. Each freshman is expected to contribute to a successful season for the Captains.

The Captains will open the season with the Third Annual Alumni Soccer Tournament on September 17. George Mason will meet Atlantic Christian at 2:00 p.m., and CNC will match with Elon College at 4:00 p.m.

Come on out and see the team that the Peninsula will be watching this season as they start out another season of "kicking grass."

Lady Captains look up

Former highly successful Phoebus High School Coach Phil Lee takes over the Christopher Newport College women's basketball team this year, brimming with optimism.

Although the Lady Captains have never experienced a winning season, Lee feels a nucleus of holdovers from Coach Terry Gooding's era and a cluster of Phoebus standouts accompanying him will be able to break the .500 barrier.

The season starts Nov. 17 at Longwood College.

Cross country team:

Off and running

Coach Doug Dickinson takes his second Christopher Newport College cross country team into action Sept. 22 looking for its second straight Dixie Conference championship.

Dickinson's veteran-rich squad, however, faces a stiff challenge for openers against visiting Virginia Military Institute.

The conference meet is set Nov. 3 at Fayetteville, N.C., with Methodist College the host.

Volleyball open to women

Women's Varsity Volleyball is open to all CNC female students. For more information on how to join, contact Coach Jones at 599-7023.

Wanted: Soccer players and managers. If interested, contact Dr. Cummings in Ratcliffe Gym, R-131.

CNC's Golf Tournament is up to par

Student Senate considers reprise next year

The Student Senate of CNC sponsored the CNC Open Golf Tournament on Saturday, June 16, at the Hampton Golf Course. Thirty-six players participated in the action for the eighteen prizes awarded to the top winner in each of the seven categories.

The tournament consisted of 18 holes of play with the lowest score determining the champion. Open to amateurs only, the categories for play were CNC Faculty/staff, CNC Alumni, CNC Student, Collegiate Student (non-CNC), High School Student, Closest-to-Hole, and Longest Drive.

Eight o'clock found most of the players with a cup of coffee in one hand and a driver in the other. Practice swings and verbal swipes were a large part of the early morning conversation.

Tee-off's ran smoothly with players going out in groups of three or four. A feeling of concentration was in the air as on-lookers quieted as each man teed off. Nice drivers were hit by some, while others began searching for their balls in the weeds of the railroad tracks which border the first hole on the left side.

As the day wore on, smiles disappeared, and as the sun rose higher, so did most of the scores.

Of the 36 players, there were some well-known faces in the crowd. Mayor Joseph Ritchie of Newport News and the Hon. Alan Diamondstein, member of the Virginia House of Delegates, Sam Jacobs, member of CNC's Board of Visitors, and Dr. Charles Behymer, Vice President of Student Affairs at CNC, participated to show their school spirit.

Dr. James Windsor, President of CNC, was on hand to present the trophies and gift certificates to the winners.

Results were as follows: Overall winners were Jeff Sheumann, first place (74), $75.00 gift certificate; Rodney Rodman, 2nd place (75), $50.00 gift certificate; and Alan Parsons, 3rd place (75), $25.00 gift certificate. Rodman and Parsons had to play a sudden death hole because of the tie in their scores.

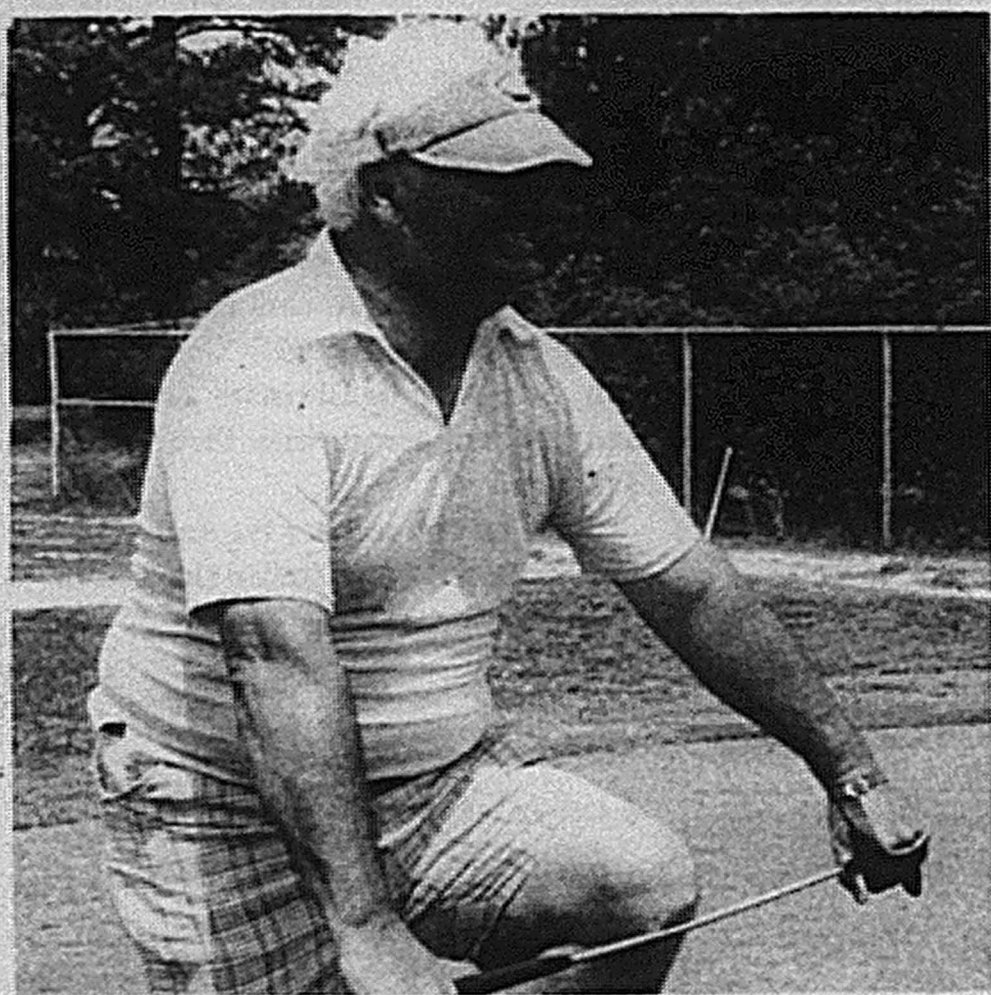

Tom White, an instructor in the Accounting and Finance Department, won in the CNC Faculty/Staff Division and came in fourth in the overall tournament. Coach Hubbard came in a respectable second in that division.

Other winners were Will Smith (79) in the CNC Alumni Division; Ronald Olsen

(87), CNC Student Division; Bud Jennings (83), Collegiate Student (non-CNC); and Jeff Scheurmann (74), High School Division.

Closest-to-the-Hole winner Jerome Daniel won with a drive landing 137" from the hole. The Longest Drive Award went to Will Smith with a 271-yard drive.

The Student Senate has commented that there is a possibility that they will sponsor this tournament as an annual event, and that if it is held next year, they would like to see more participants, especially women. It's a good way to contribute to the Student Fund Drive and have fun too!

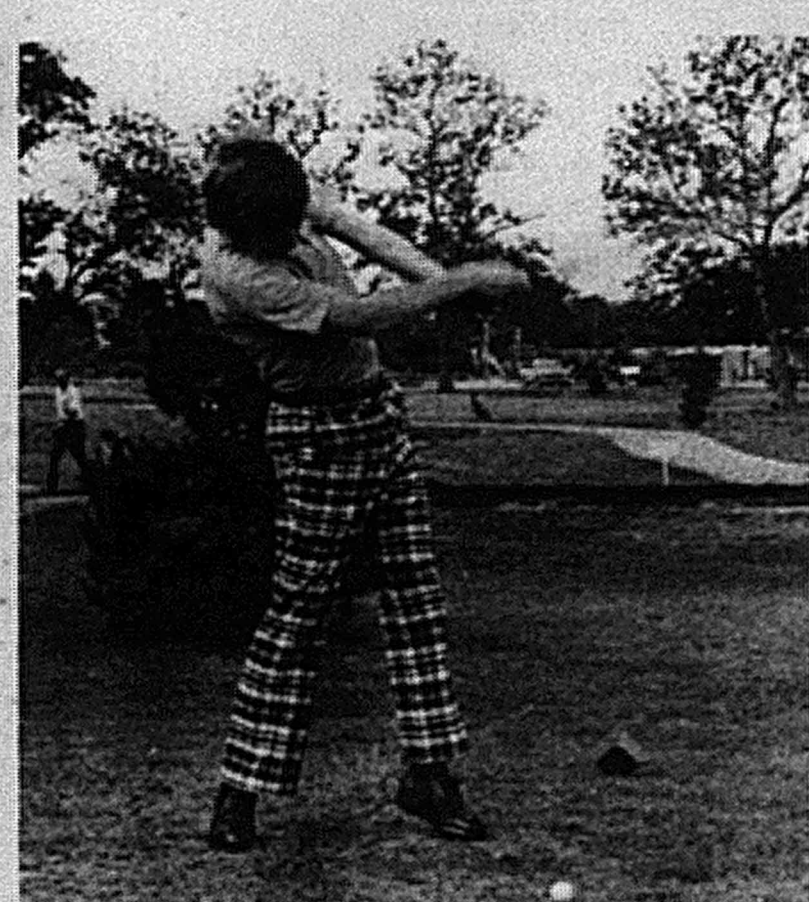

John Sullivan, Campus Center Director, found better things to do with his clubs than hit the ball.

Jerome Daniel, winner in the Closest-to-the-Hole Division, watches as Dave Muraca records the measurement.

Sam Jacobs, of CNC's Board of Visitors, tees off a long shot. It's obvious why he didn't win the Longest Drive Award.

Dr. Windsor smiles as he presents Tom White, from the Accounting Department, with his trophy.

Dr. Behymer shows good form, but he missed the putt anyway.

Car registration in progress now

All students, faculty and staff members of the College who operate or park one or more vehicles or motorcycles on the campus grounds must register each vehicle at the time of initial student registration or initial employment, or if the vehicle is acquired at a later date, it must be registered within 48 hours after acquisition. ## Inquiries about Danforth Graduate Fellowship are invited this month

Inquiries about the Danforth Graduate Fellowships, to be awarded by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, in April 1980, are invited, according to the CNC campus representative, Dr. Jay S. Paul, Assistant Professor of English, Room 206, Newport Hall.

The fellowships are open to all qualified persons who have serious interest in careers of teaching in colleges and universities, and who plan to study, in a graduate school in the United States, for a Ph.D. in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum.

Approximately 55-60 fellowships will be awarded to college seniors who are nominated by Baccalaureate Liaison Officers. Another 35-40 awards will be made to Ph.D. students, nominated by Postbaccalaureate Officers.

Applicants for the baccalaureate awards must be college seniors or recent graduates and may not have begun graduate level programs of study. The deadline to seek information about the campus nomination process is Friday, Sept. 28.

The Foundation is currently making a special effort to bring qualified persons from racial and ethnic minorities into the profession of teaching. Approximately 25 percent of awards are expected to go to Blacks, Mexican-Americans, Native Americans and Puerto Ricans.

The Danforth Graduate Fellowship is a one-year award but is normally renewable until completion of the advanced degree or for a maximum of four years of graduate study. Fellowship stipends are based on individual need, but they will not exceed $2,500 for single Fellows, and for married Fellows with no children. Fellows who are married, or are "head of household," with one child, can receive up to $3,500. There are dependency allowances for additional children. The Fellowship also covers tuition and fees up to $4,000 annually.

The Danforth Foundation, established in 1927, is a national, educational, philanthropic organization, dedicated to enhancing the humane dimensions of life. Activities of the Foundation traditionally have emphasized the theme of improving the quality of teaching and learning.

Currently, the Danforth Foundation serves the following areas: higher education primarily through sponsorships of programs administered by the Staff; pre-collegiate education through grant-making and program activities; and urban education in metropolitan St. Louis through grant-making and program activities.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth, who established the Foundation, along with their daughter and son, Dorothy Danforth Compton and Donald Danforth, maintained active leadership roles in the affairs of the Foundation throughout their lifetimes. Family members continue to be involved in Foundation activities through participation on the Board of Trustees.

Summer Orientation passes the test

Students who participated in the Summer Orientation Program directed by the Counseling Center at CNC appeared to have had a full day and a taste of what college life is like.

Over 316 students arrived throughout the five sessions scheduled from June through the beginning of August.

Dr. Charles Behymer, Vice President of Student Affairs, started the day off with an 8:30 a.m. welcome to the new students. Bill Humphreys, Student Association President, then spoke about what the college has to offer and gave information about becoming involved in school activities.

Students took a multiple of tests which evaluated their skills in reading, writing and math. The tests were scheduled throughout the day with breaks in between each session.

Two slide presentations were presented to show the incoming students what CNC was all about. Also, a Survival Skills exercise was conducted, which consisted of students locating the correct office to answer designated questions given to them. The team who located the offices the fastest won a CNC T-shirt from the Bookstore.

Lunch followed a rap session in which all the students were encouraged to ask any questions that were on their minds and receive hints on parking, grades, buying books, and time management from the volunteer students and administration who participated.

Students then received the opportunity to sign up for advisors and to pre-register.

The orientation program was recently developed and ran smoothly due to the efforts of the Counseling Center and all who participated.

All persons who play chess and would be interested in forming a chess club, call 877-0480 after 5 p.m. Ask for David.

What Do You Want From College?

A Sense Of Purpose? Add It To Your Schedule.

Thousands of Army ROTC graduates, from hundreds of college campuses, have become leaders in our country's volunteer Army.

Some enrolled in ROTC for financial aid to complete college (nearly $2500 during their junior and senior years). Others for the management training and experience offered by Army ROTC courses. Still others for the positions of immediate leadership responsibility following graduation, as officers in the active Army, Reserves, and Army National Guard.

But most enrolled also to serve their country. Men and women from the north, the east, the south, the west... from small rural communities and large urban areas.

They've shown that you don't have to be from Tennessee to be a volunteer, or from Texas to stand tall for your country.

Brenda Hanrahan, who is presently an advanced student at the Peninsula Ballet Academy, will also make an appearance.

Tickets for the performance which will be held at Phi Beta Kappa Hall in Williamsburg are available at the Peninsula Ballet Academy, Newport News, and at the Peninsula Ballet Thrift Shop in Williamsburg.

The Frederick Theatre of Tidewater Community College will have auditions for its fall production, The Runner Stumbles, a drama by Martin Stitt, on September 26 and 27 at 8:00 p.m. in its theatre on the Frederick Campus.

The drama tells the story of a priest who is accused of the murder of a nun. His story unfolds in flashbacks. The play has five roles for men and four roles for women.

For more information call 484-2121, ext. 340 or 246.

Trips, Workshops Set

The Peninsula Nature and Science Center has several field trips and workshops planned for this fall during the months of September and October. Listed below are the names, dates, and times:

Field Trips: (1) two evening nature walks in Newport News, led by a Center naturalist, September 14 and 28 from 7:30-10:00 p.m., $2.00 per person; (2) a Center guided trip on the beach at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science on September 22 from 2:00-5:00 p.m., $3.00 per person; (3) a chartered bus trip to Washington, D.C., to visit your choice of the Smithsonian Museums or National Zoo on October 20 from 7:00 a.m.-9:00 p.m., $16 per person (after arrival in Washington, participants are free to explore on their own).

Workshops: (1) workshop on construction of a 12-foot hot air balloon entitled "Up, Up and Away" on four consecutive Saturdays beginning October 6 from 10:00 a.m.-12 noon, $19 per person; (2) Red Cross certification course on CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation), $2.03 per person.

Registration is necessary for all programs. Further information can be obtained by calling 595-1900.

Natural Philosophy Explained

A mixed media program which focuses on 18th-century "natural philosophy" as a humanistic approach to science--and which examines the question of whether there is a place for "natural philosophy" in American higher education today--will be presented at 2:00 p.m. at the Peninsula Nature and Science Center on Sept. 29.

Drs. I. Taylor Sanders II and H. Thomas Williams, both of Washington and Lee University in Lexington, will lead the discussion. Sanders is associate professor of history and is W&L's official historian. Williams is assistant professor of physics.

The program includes a slide-lecture on Newtonian "experimental philosophy" at early American colleges, demonstrations with an early electrical machine, and a dialogue with the audience on the topic of the practical usefulness of natural philosophy today. The program is presented through grant support from the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy.

The presentation will stress the influences that shaped the development of natural philosophy and the principles on which it was based. Using an early electro-static generator, Williams will re-create experiments which awakened curiosity in 18th-century students and made many of them enthusiastic supporters of "useful knowledge" and its application to everyday life.

For more information contact Barbara Barnes, Program Director, at 595-1900.

Computer Expo Programmed

The Peninsula Nature and Science Center is co-sponsoring Computer Expo weekend on September 22-23, from 1-5 p.m., with members of DIGIT, the Computer Club of the Peninsula. A variety of computers will be demonstrated that are used in businesses and in homes for personal use.

The club, which meets every second and fourth Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Center, will have members at the Expo to discuss these machines. These computers are not the mysterious, noisy, futuristic, electronic equipment that fills entire rooms, but desk top, realistic computers of all sizes and shapes.

"McDonald's Cares"

The Peninsula Nature and Science Center and McDonald's have teamed up to help fund exciting new science exhibits at the Center as part of the Center's expansion program. Purchasers of "McDonald's Cares" coupons, available for one dollar each, may redeem the coupon for McDonald's products at participating McDonald's outlets in Hampton and Newport News. For each coupon sold, the Nature and Science Center will receive $.40.

The coupons are redeemable now through September 30 and are available at the Gift Shop at the Center or from any member of the Center's Guild, its volunteer organization.

Funds raised from the campaign will be used by the Center to defray a portion of the design and construction costs of unique visitor-operated exhibits illustrating many principles of physical science. Bulk purchases of McDonald's Cares coupons are also available for birthdays, meetings, or any good excuse. Call the Center at 595-1900 for further information.

Concert Scheduled for October

On Saturday, October 21, the Alleluia Company (formerly God Unlimited) will perform in a special "Concert of Praise" at Ferguson High School at 8:00 p.m.

From Augusta, Georgia, this musical group has appeared on the nationally-syndicated "700 Club" television program, performed at the Conference on Charismatic Renewal in the Christian Churches in Kansas City last year, and has many record albums to its credit.

This special performance will be held in the Ferguson High School auditorium, 11 Shoe Lane in Newport News. Admission is free.

MV Program Scheduled

Col. D.M. Lane, Superintendent of State Police, whose department administers the Inspection Program, has announced.

This is an annual program and it is compulsory that all certified mechanics attend at least one session, Col. Lane said. He added that anyone interested in motor vehicle repair and maintenance is invited to attend. All meetings open at 8 p.m. and run from one to two hours.

The meetings are conducted by uniformed members of the State Police who discuss problems that have arisen as well as explain new regulations and procedure changes. In turn, mechanics and others may ask questions and present their own problems.

The following meetings are scheduled for the Tidewater-Richmond area:

Time to get organized?

As summer comes to a close and the business of settling down into class schedules begins, once again we find that it's time to introduce ourselves to the new students and to reacquaint ourselves with the more seasoned ones.

This semester started out with its usual lines and confusion, although it has been the most organized confusion the college has experienced in the years we've been here.

New faculty and administrators have filtered their way into the college this fall, and the year looks quite promising as preparations get underway for Dr. James Windsor's retirement from the presidency and Dr. John Anderson's assumption of the office.

The search committees formed for the tasks of picking a new president and other positions are now exhausted, having worked most of the summer months to fulfill their assignments.

Now it's all up to the students. The rest of the year is yours.

It is time once again for reading chapters that were covered a week ago, xeroxing copies of notes from friends, and regurgitating figures, dates, and theories that were given in a monotone voice for the past four weeks.

It is also time to take a good look at what we have here at CNC. We are fortunate to be considered more than a face in the crowd. We have access to our professors and deans. We have "Special Student Rates" offered to us on everything from life insurance to pay toilets. We also have a swimming pool in the Campus Center parking lot every time it rains heavily.

We imagine we could leave here and go to a place like the University of Maryland--or Colorado, for that matter--and fight with 15,000 students to get an appointment to ask a question, or have our student number instead of our name called for roll, or swim in a real pool. But that's not for us.

Granted, we may never sit up all night with ten other girls in footed pajamas eating popcorn, or walk hand-in-hand under moonlit statues with someone we are sure we will marry, or even go to the big football game and know all the words to the fight song.

What we will do is enjoy what we have and know that even though it might not be the absolute best, it sure as hell is the next best thing to being there.

Captain's Commentary

by Judith Hrul

It's time for a little flag-waving and cheering, time to come out and say what a great school CNC is. It's time for people to get rid of their CNC inferiority complex.

This inferiority complex manifests itself when people still speak of CNC as a campus of the College of William and Mary. Or worry that the degree they get here won't carry much weight. Or worry that if they transfer to another school to continue their studies, they won't be able to cope because CNC courses are too easy or didn't prepare them adequately for the demands of other schools.

These people seem to equate the size, age and reputation of an educational institution with academic excellence. This is sometimes justified but not always. It does not necessarily follow that a young, relatively unknown school lacks academic excellence. CNC certainly doesn't. We may be small; we may not have as many degree programs as we'd like; but what we have is excellent. Students who have gone from here to graduate and other undergraduate schools can testify to that; so can students from "name" colleges who take summer courses at CNC--they sometimes find out to their dismay that courses at CNC are not a breeze. Our graduates are doing well--they aren't commanding the positions and salaries of Harvard or Yale graduates, but we do have to be realistic.

One of CNC's assets is that it is small and student-oriented. In most classes you are not one of several hundred students, known only by your social security number. Most professors know their students by name and are accessible for help outside the classroom. They are not high and mighty individuals separated from the student body by a lofty sense of self-importance (with a few exceptions, of course). If you look at the faculty credentials, you'll find they're the equal of any good school in the country.

Lest I be accused of viewing CNC through rose-colored glasses, let me say that there's still room for improvement in all areas. But this improvement cannot be attained if we walk around with an unfounded second-rate mentality. As long as we feel CNC is second-rate and send out messages to this effect, we will be considered second-rate by those who don't know any better. We have to gain a sense of pride in CNC and what we are achieving here. We have to impart this attitude to the community and see that CNC receives rightful recognition for its achievements and its students' achievements. We may not be a name school with centuries of tradition or a great football team, but we do have the potential to gain a reputation as an institution known for its academic achievements. It's up to you and me.

Suggestions should be forwarded, in writing, to the office of the President on or before November 1, 1979.

U.S. gas high? Look at this!

While Americans are worried about gasoline at a dollar a gallon, the French are paying $2.50, and the Belgians and Danes are paying about $2.30. The recent average price in Europe was $1.65. Most of Latin America has prices more than a dollar, but oil-rich Venezuela charges 25 cents at the pump. Ecuador, which also has large oil resources, has gas for 22 cents but, unfortunately, most citizens cannot afford cars.

National Teacher Exams set for 1979-80

Students completing teacher preparation programs and advanced degree candidates in specific fields may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of three different test dates in 1979-80. Educational Testing Service, the non-profit, educational organization that administers this testing program, has announced that the tests will be given November 10, 1979; February 16, 1980; and July 19, 1980, at test centers throughout the United States.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are considered by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and are used by several states for the credentialing of teachers or licensing of advanced candidates.

On each full day of testing, registrants may take the Common Examinations, which measure their professional preparation and general educational background, and/or an Area Examination that measures their mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective registrants should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, their colleges, or appropriate educational associations for advice about which examinations to take and when to take them.

The Bulletin of Information contains a list of test centers and general information about the examinations, as well as a registration form. Copies may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08541.

College appoints acting deans

On July 1, the reorganization of the College into two schools was put into effect.

Dr. Algin King was appointed Acting Dean of the School of Business and Economics. This consists of the Departments of Accounting and Finance, Economics, Management and Marketing, and International Culture and Commerce.

Dr. James Moore was appointed Acting Dean of the School of Liberal Arts, Sciences and Education. This school is composed of all departments not listed under the School of Business and Economics.

A national search for these two deanships will be initiated early this month, and interviews will be scheduled for late January or early February, 1980. Qualifications for the positions will be published in the Chronicle, and Dr. Robert J. Edwards, Vice-President of Academic Affairs, encourages all eligible members of the faculty to apply.

ICP scholarship offered

Larry A. Welke, president of ICP--International Computer Programs, Inc.--the oldest and largest publisher for the information processing industry, has announced the second annual ICP Scholarship. The scholarship, to be awarded for the 1980-81 school year, is designed to be an investment in the future of the information processing industry.

To qualify for the ICP Scholarship, applicants must be enrolled in a computer science or computer technology program as either a sophomore or a junior. The scholarship will consist of one year's tuition plus education expenses up to a maximum of $5000.00 at the United States college or university of the winner's choice.

The ICP Scholarship Committee, made up of highly qualified men and women in the information processing industry, will base their selection on: the student's cumulative grade point average in his or her field of study, and overall grade point average; need for financial aid; participation in data processing-related activities; school activities and leadership roles; DP-related and non-DP-related accomplishments and awards. The final test for the ICP Scholarship finalists will be an essay.

The winner of the second ICP Scholarship will be announced at next year's annual Million Dollar Awards Ceremony in New Orleans.
