FACULTY/STAFF ACTIVITIES

Elyn Akers has been promoted to Computer Network Support Technician Sr. at the Computer Center.

Robert Atkinson, assistant professor of biology and wetlands ecologist, delivered the keynote address for the wetland mitigation working portion of a symposium held Oct. 30-31 at the College of William and Mary. Dr. Atkinson is chair of the South Atlantic chapter of the Society of Wetland Scientists.

Clyde Brockett, professor of music, recently released the second article in the conference proceedings of The Second International Symposium: Teaching Musics of the World, Basel, 1993, "The Implementation of 'The World's Music'." The article details ethnic and popular themes on five continents and their integration into classical music.

Please send all information for The Chronicle to the Office of University Relations. Attention: Michelle Carpenter by the first and third week of every month.

Dr. Doug Gallaer, director, Office of Career & Counseling Services, has been named a member of the board of the Peninsula Counselors association. Additionally, Dr. Gallaer has been selected as a presenter for the Virginia Counselors Association's state convention later this month in Norfolk. His talk is entitled, "Congruence and Incongruence of Client and Employee Expectations: The Future Isn't What It Used To Be."

Dr. Douglas Gordon, professor of English, recently delivered a paper at the Popular Culture Association in the South Annual Conference in Richmond. His paper was entitled, "Cultural Repositories of Trust and Apprehension; the Dog Story Anthology, 1943-1993."

Dr. Gordon's review of "Wasn't That A Time: Firsthand Accounts of The Folk Music Revival." appeared in the September 1995 issue of Choice, published by the American Library Association.

Dr. David Hibler, associate professor of physics and computer science, received a grant for $900 from the USAF to teach a software engineering course at Langley Air Force Base.

Ms. Cheryl Matthews, director of social work, recently attended the 13th Annual Baccalaureate Social Work Program Director's Conference in Nashville, Tennessee, where she renewed her credentials as a site visitor and team chair for the Accreditation Commission of the Council on Social Work Education.
