Club Budgets Due April 4, 'On Campus' Revived

By Mary Dvorak

Both bodies of the Student Government were busy last week. In the Assembly Maureen Walker was elected as its new secretary. The space had been left open with the resignation of Linda Walkup.

Also during the March 24 meeting of the Assembly, a proposal for a housing referral service was passed. This service will employ one or two people, at $2.10 an hour, who will aid students in finding a place to live. The executive Council passed this proposal during its March 26 meeting.

Other action taken by the Executive Council included the approval of the revival of the SGA Information Newsletter, the "On Campus," which was discontinued last semester.

Announcements from the SGA are: (1) A referendum on the classification of students along Divisional lines will be held April 3 and 4; (2) Club budgets are due April 4; (3) Open House will be April 10.

Hours for Open House will be 10 am-2 pm and 7 pm-9 pm. Anyone interested in helping with this should sign up at the Information Desk in the Campus Center; and (4) Elections for SGA officers will be April 15 and 16. Petitions must be turned in no later than 4 pm, April 9. Offices include SGA President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, and Attorney General and class officers (President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurers) for Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes.

During the March 26 meeting, the Executive Council was also seen condemning the performance of C.B. Beach and Crotty-Szabo. This came about when the employees of the cafeteria failed to serve the Executive Council lunch during its noon meeting. Arrangements had been made with Mr. Beach to have lunch served to the council. These arrangements had been confirmed only a couple of hours prior to the meeting, but the Executive Council was left hungry. "And that's the way it was," March 26, 1975.

Referendum, April 3

The SGA will hold a referendum concerning the shift to divisional organization of the student body. The question has been raised as to whether divisional organization would be preferable to the traditional class organization.

There will be three possible choices: (1). Retention of class organization, (2) Substitution of divisional organization for class organization, and (3) An interim period of one year with both class and divisional organization with power divided between them.

The referendum will be held 9:00 am to 3:00 pm, and 6:30 pm to 7:30 pm, on April 3. The results of the referendum will be available at 5:00 pm April 4.

Since implementation of any change in the SGA bylaws requires approval of both the executive council and the SGA assembly, the SGA will hold elections for SGA president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and attorney general and the class officers as required in the bylaws.

If the bylaws are amended on the basis of the referendum a special election will be held in the fall.

Fourteen Christopher Newport College students have won honors in all competitive events at the annual meeting of the Virginia Association of College Distributive Education Clubs of America.

Two of the students were also elected to state offices in the association. Kim Clingenpeel of Williamsburg was elected vice-president and Miss Julie Whitaker of Hampton was elected secretary-treasurer.

The students, all sophomores and freshman, according to association rules, are

Elections Scheduled for April 15-16

The SGA will hold elections for the offices of President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, Attorney General and class officers on April 15th and 16th as required by the SGA bylaws.

Petitions will be available at the Campus Center information desk, Dean of Student Affairs Office, and room 232. Petitions must be filed with the Dean of Student Affairs by 4:00 pm April 9, 1975. Each candidate will receive an election handbook at this time and he or she will be responsible for the regulations contained therein.

Voting hours will be from 8:30 am to 2:30 pm and 6:30 pm to 9:00 pm, April 15th and 16th.

The results will be posted by 12:00 April 17th. All candidates must be full time students and have at least a 2.0 grade point average. The SGA encourages your participation. Get Involved Now!!

SGA Sponsor Open House on April 10

By Mary Dvorak

The S.G.A. is sponsoring an Open House on April 10. This year's program has been divided into two sessions, a day session and a night session.

The day session will be geared directly to high school students and will include a welcome by President Windsor, a movie which was filmed by Jim Rollings, and a presentation by the Counseling Center.

In the afternoon, the chorus will give a performance and the CNC Players will present a one-act play.

Also, during the day, activities will be going on in the gym, and classrooms will be open for students to sit in on. Tours of the campus will also be made available to the visitors. Clubs will have exhibitions set up and the Counseling Center will sponsor a "Lucy Booth," something everyone must see. For those who like plants, the Greenhouse will be open, plants will also be on sale that day.

Students who are interested in helping out may sign up at the Information Desk in the Campus Center. The date of Open House is April 10, and the times are from 10:00 am to 2:00 pm, and 7 to 9 pm.

BSA Honors Ten at First 'Honors Banquet' Last Saturday Evening

On the evening of March 29, more than fifty guests saw the beginning of what may well become a permanent part of the tradition of Christopher Newport College.

The event was the first Black Students Association's 'Honors Banquet.' The purpose of the banquet was to identify, through balloting, and to honor those members of the faculty, staff, and administration who have proven their value and worth to the students and to the college through their past performances.

The banquet, which may well become an annual event, was M. C'd by the President of the Black Students Association, David Holley. Welcoming remarks were delivered by Dr. James C. Windsor, President of Christopher Newport College, and presentations were made by Ms. WTAR's Talk Show Hostess, Ms. Becky Livas.

During the ceremonies, Tom Johnson, President of the Student Government Association, and Ms. Livas were made Honorary members of the BSA.

Of the nominees for the various awards, the following winners were named: Most Effective Counselor, Dr. Robert Wildblood; Most Congenial, Kenneth Kirby; Most Inspirational, Ms. Charlotte Fitzgerald; Most Competent, Dr. Jean Pugh; Staff Member of the Year, Mr. Johnny Capehart; Secretary of the Year, Mr. Mary Stump; Teacher of the Year, Dr. Marshall Booker; Administrator of the Year, Dean William Polis; and Best All Around, Mr. Kenneth Kirby.

Ms. Livas, during the evening, mentioned that the awards should be

Editorial Kill Inertia

During the past few weeks of this semester, various writers, both on and off of our staff have written articles directed towards apathy and complacency on our campus.

Most often, we have received verbal rebuttals to the "accusations," few have taken the time to write their views and thus have others of the same view know who they were. It seems to be the old case where you get lots of lip rhythm, but little action.

However, for the uninformed, the test of your views about this school, and how it is being run on the student level, is about to be put to the test. Most of the top offices in the SGA needs new officers for the fall semester, are you interested enough to become a candidate?

I hope that this does not turn out to be another of those situations where everyone has something to complain about, but few, if any, will take the time to become involved.

The SGA is exactly what it is called, the Student Government Association. It is made up of students, and only students.

With you taking an active interest in its operations, you will be taking the first step towards an effective and viable goal which will ultimately prove invaluable to the functionings of this college, and for the students herein.

Are you ready to become involved? If you can answer 'yes' to this question, then take the next step and become a candidate for an office in Student Government Association.

Letters to the Editor: Instructor Assumes Responsibility

To the Editor,

If I may, I would like to use "The Captain's Log" as a vehicle for extending my apology to all members of the Biology Seminar whose program was interrupted when my students and I entered a classroom for a regularly scheduled class on March 6. A letter of apology has also been sent to Mr. A. G. Price, the guest speaker.

I assume full responsibility for the interruption and am attempting publicly to make amends. However, I would like to make a request...that another room be scheduled for my class when a Tuesday and Thursday 45-minute lunch hour program may run overtime. On March 6, I had five speakers scheduled for the regular class period, students who had been preparing for several weeks to address their class. My concern for these nervous and grade-conscious students caused me to violate thoughtlessly the rules of etiquette.

I would like to state further that I hold the Biology Department in esteem and will make every effort in the future to provide its members with quiet space for any extended programs, and I ask only that I be notified in advance of their plans so that my class can meet in another room.

In closing, I repeat my sincere apology for the interruption of the Biology Seminar.

Excellent Offerings at CNC

To the Editor,

I noticed your article about the course in "Personal Career Planning" offered by William and Mary this spring. I would like to endorse this excellent program for anyone who has the $100 to pay for it.

For students, staff and alumni connected with CNC there are equally excellent offerings at our Counseling Center and they are free.

We administer tests and work with clients individually and in small groups, just as do Drs. Adair and Geoffrey. We have a well trained and experienced staff. This service is available year round with the exception of a few weeks at registration times when we are especially busy with student advising.

For further information or an appointment, please call the Counseling Center at extension 291, Christopher Newport College.

Classrooms for Classes First, Lectures Second,' says Student

To the Editor,

This is a reply to the two letters to the editor in the March 24th issue of The Captain's Log.

I am a student in Mrs. Hubbard's class that was waiting to get into the room. To Jackie and Vicky I would say that since you express so much concern over your fellow students, why not offer this same consideration to the students who were waiting to get into the room past the second bell. We had numerous speeches to present, and needed pre-class time to set up our audio-visual material, but we didn't get that time.

In the first place classrooms are for classed of students primarily, and for visiting lectures "when they are not needed." The Campus Center Theatre was built primarily for this purpose. Whoever schedules these lectures should consider this.

To Mr. Bragg I would say that I share your opinion of the Biology Department, and regard it highly, but to bring this department in and say Mrs. Hubbard and our class injured the department, I say that you are all wet.

If the lectures, regardless of department, are at the Campus Center Theatre where they belong, then you could have your lecture indefinitely. Remember that the students in scheduled classes are paying $21 per semester hour each for this class. Were you doing the same for your lecture?

Patrick Henry Forum Closes

Dear Concerned,

It is now my regret that the "Patrick Henry Forum" cannot continue in a responsible fashion. Running what has become a one man show is difficult enough without the added burden of not having reliable office space on campus. I have discovered that such office space, as well as reliable information, simply may not be available.

The final straw, for the "Forum", seems to have been the obscure disappearance of an ethnic studies survey from the Counseling Department. As the Forum Chairman, I must take the blame for depending on space over which I obviously didn't have sufficient control. So goes the Ethnic Studies Survey and so goes the Patrick Henry Forum, under my chairmanship.

Since September '74, the Forum has sponsored the CNC Art Guild, as well as three Fall programs. Programs included the "Philosophy and Psychology Debate," "Behavior Modification and Corrections at St. Brides," and "The Weapons of Gordon Parks."

My first Forum program, "Meet the Candidates," was presented as the Newport News city council candidates debate (Spring '74). The Patrick Henry Forum has lately been envisaged as an organization to promote inter-club activity and rapport with community institutions along cultural lines for social progress. I am regretful if I have failed, since you are reading my letter of resignation as chairman of the Patrick Henry Forum.

Professor Exhibits Art

Dr. Stuart C. Van Orden, Associate Professor of Art, Will exhibit a collection of watercolors and drawings in the Campus Center Gallery of Christopher Newport College, from March 31 through April 12.

This exhibition introduces one aspect of Professor Van Orden's work since most of his research has been in oils and acrylics. He has exhibited widely in the past twenty years in both one-man and juried shows which included the National Gallery of Art, the Corcoran, Rochester Memorial Art Gallery, Columbia University, Butler Art Institute, Cincinnati, Peale Museum in Baltimore, Ohio University, the Carnegie International, Cornell University, Penn State University, with the Audubon Artists, the Dallas Museum, Isaac Delgado in New Orleans, Birmingham Museum, Know-Albright, etc. His work is owned by several museums and a number of private collectors. Several times he has exhibited with his wife, Marie, who is a sculpturess.

Professor Van Orden studied at Syracuse University, the Cleveland Institute of Art, Cooper Union, the Art Students League, with Ralph M. Pearson and received a B.A. in art from Southwestern University. He has an M.F.A. from Cornell University and a Ph.D. in Humanities from Syracuse University. He was selected last year to teach at Christopher Newport in order to lecture in art history and initiate a program in study of art.

The paintings and drawings in this exhibition include some of the valentines that he does each year for his wife, some of experiments and watercolors similar in vein to those that were purchased for the international collection of Vincent Price. Some are personal recordings of places and things that have had a special interest for the artist.

Honor Society,
Wine and Cheese
Party, April 5

The CNC Honor Society is having a wine and cheese party on April 5th at 8:00 Pm in the Campus Center Board Room (CC 214).

The Party is being held to honor last semester's Dean's List students. Reservation cards will be required for admittance to the party.

Invitations are being extended to the President, faculty members, administrative staff, members of the Honor Society, and students who made Dean's List for the Fall '74 semester.

Reservation cards may be obtained by contacting Tom Johnson, ext. 270; Lou Diggs, 247-7102 days or 868-6385 evenings; or through the Dean of Students' Office, ext 266. The cost will be $1.25 per person or $2.00 per couple.

Campus Faces Istanbul Native, Member of Student Body

By Bill Hart

"Going to college to become a teacher" probably ranks in the top ten reasons for people going to college. The thought of graduating and going back to one's old school to teach and follow in the footsteps of some influential instructor is encouraging to more and more students.

The thought of graduating and going back to one's old school to follow in the footsteps of an influential teacher is among the top ten reasons for a large number of students being in college.

There are some who would say, "Bah! Teach in Newport News! No Way!"

To quote the saying of an unknown philosopher, "It's not what you do, it's where you do it." So it is with Lalegul Ergun, an 18 year old biology major in her freshman year at CNC, who hopes to become a teacher.

The distinct difference between Miss Ergun wanting to teach in her old home area and the uniqueness of this story is the fact that she plans to teach in her old hometown which just happens to be located in the country of Turkey.

Her home town, Istanbul, while located in Europe, is a part of the Middle East. The city, one of the dominant strong holds of many empires, stands guard at the narrowest point of the Bosphorus where the Marmara and Black Seas meet to form the Dardanelles.

Istanbul, a picturesque city whose history dates back to the Roman empire, is ideally situated to afford itself the best of its two cultures, European and Middle Eastern.

Lalegul explains that her desire to teach biology was influenced by her high school instructor, whose job she plans to take over after the instructor's retirement.

Miss Ergun, is the guest of Professor Hilliard and his wife, who are responsible for bringing Lalegul to America.

The quiet young Freshman said during the interview that she enjoys this country very much and the people she knows in particular.

Dana Sample wins Award

A sophomore majoring in French at CNC, Dana Sample, has won the annual scholarship sponsored by the Peninsula Chapter of the Alliance Francaise. On the basis of a competitive examination, open also to students from William and Mary and Hampton Institute, Dana was awarded the $400.00 travel grant which she intends to apply toward a month's study in Paris this May.

On April 12, the Alliance will hold an awards ceremony at which Dana will be presented her scholarship by M. Schmidt, the French Consul from Norfolk.

Library Open Around the Clock

If you're one of the many students dissatisfied with the limited hours most campus libraries are open, you might be interested in a new policy at the University of Wisconsin campus.

The campus library is now open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The Library Director said that students should be able to use their library to study, read a magazine, or listen to records "any time at all."

Many students work and have widely varying schedules, especially on an urban community campus. An additional feature of the 24-hour library is the round-the-clock availability of a computer which students may use upon completion of a training program.

A feature such as this here at CNC would certainly make studying easier for a lot of our students, especially those who work part or full-time and take evening courses.

.....in your ear

By Chuck Edwards

Spring is here, but it is very likely that your professor is not. At least you may not find that particular professor in the same office as last semester. Striking being passe, the administration has come up with a new springtime game called the faculty shuffle.

In case you have missed it, the Department of Business and Economics has been moved, lock, stock, and secretary, into Gosnold Hall. This was to be a temporary move, at least until the new administrative building was constructed. It appears that the state budget cannot afford the building as the move is more than temporary. So now, instead of the Business Department being in the business building, it is now in the science building. It sounds perfectly logical.

Wingfield Hall was originally designated as the business building. Due to the lack of space on campus, Wingfield also had to be used for the Psychology Department and the Education Department. This seemed to be a workable situation, until now.

Now it would appear that the Psychology and Education departments have grown to the point of moving Business out. Admittedly these two departments combined do have more professors than the Business department. The interesting point lies in the statistics of the whole thing. The Psychology Department with only 5% of the students has almost as many professors as the Business department which accounts for about 20% of the student body. Interestingly enough the Business Department has more students than the next three largest departments combined. The Education Department is comprised of about 9% of the student body.

It was, however, the business department which was moved. It is an astonishing phenomenon in today's society where the minority is protected to the point where the majority is injured. This axiom has spread so far as to include our small campus.

Justifications can be made, and in time, and with money the wrongs will be righted. In the meantime the majority will just have to be happy with the short end of the stick.

CNC Host to Virginia Council of Higher Education

Christopher Newport College will serve as host to the Council of Higher Education Tuesday (April 1), according to Dr. James C. Windsor, President of the College.

The meeting will take place in the Board Room of the Campus Center and will begin at 10:00 am.

Dr. Windsor states, "This is the first time the Council has met on our campus and we are delighted to have this opportunity for the members of the Council to see the College. I will make a presentation of the history and progress of the College to the Council."

Modern Comedy, 'Butley,' to Play CNC

The Norfolk Theatre Center's acclaimed production of Simon Gray's modern comedy "Butley" will be seen for two performances this week in the Campus Center Theatre at Christopher Newport College. The production, starring Dean Burgess in the title role will be seen Friday and Saturday evenings, April 4 and 5 at 8 pm.

"Butley" is directed by Stan Fedyszyn, assistant professor of theatre at CNC and artistic director of the Norfolk Theatre Center. Settings are by Jan Staniszkis and costumes by Sue Griffin.

Featured along with Burgess in the production are Greg Bernet and Marty McGaw. Both were seen on the CNC state this fall in the Educatre production of Brecht on Brecht also mounted by the Norfolk Theatre Center. Billie Fedyszyn, wife of the director will appear as Edna Schaft, the neurotic female member of the English faculty, while Peter Dixon and Gary Brown round out the cast.

"Butley" is set in the English Department of Oxford University in English. Ben Butley and his office mate, Joey, are about to end a relationship that transcends the professional when Butley's whole life caves in around him. Throughout the play, there is reason to doubt whether Butley is actually aware of the fact that his bitter wit and pungent sense of humor are the actual instruments of his downfall.

The play is adult entertainment and no one under 16 year of age will be admitted. Reservations for either performance can be made at the Information Desk at the Campus Center. Regular tickets, $2.50; Students tickets, $2.00 with I.D.

Critic's Review

IN MY OPINION

By Doug Ferris

Hopefully, I have been able to overcome my insobriety long enough, at best temporarily, to attempt another review; but then again, three hours of mediocre bluegrass would drive anyone to drink.

This is the second non-musical show I have seen by PCT this season and, while it doesn't have the magneticism or impact of "Vivat," "Angel Street," has to be counted as one of their better productions.

Patrick Hamilton's psycho-mystery drama takes shape under the skillful hands of Phyllis Kyle Stephenson, director, Elizabeth in "Vivat," and Dave Jennis, Producer. Despite a name change, "Street," was originally billed as "Gaslight," in England, and some incontinuity on the part of this cast, the show remains a thriller.

The plot of "Street" centers on the heiress to murder, Mrs. Manningham, who is slowly and systematically being driven out of her mind by her opportunist husband. The part demands almost instant personality changes from the sane to the insane and back again. Many first rate actresses have a problem in this area but it didn't seem to bother Connie Seats. From the very start the audience is able to see the split in Mrs. Manningham's personality as Miss Seats' performance becomes more graphic with every line.

The systematic destruction of Mrs. Manningham's mental state falls to David Hartman, as Mr. Manningham. It is here that the show has one of its weaker links. Mr. Hartman's inability to maintain the insensitive, aloof character of Manningham makes viewing a little tedious at times but is not sufficient to destroy the character or the show.

In every mystery there should be a Bill Walton to portray a detective Rough, a Sherlock Holmes or Kojak. In Victorian drag, Walton is superb. If Peter Falk were to leave his "Columbo" series today, NBC would have no problems filling the spot if Mr. Walton was available. His wit, vitality, timing and lines such as, "Oh thank God in heaven that I am such a wonderful man!" make him indispensable in PCT's "Street."

Lesser characters are to a play as is military music is to justice, or something like that, and can make it fall or lift it up. In Winnie Bowen, as Elizabeth the later is true; with Svana Thompson as Anna, the former applies. Miss Thompson has the proper amount of saucyness necessary for the part of the scheming maid but suffers from the same lack of definition as does her master, Manningham.

The set for "Street" had as much to do with the success of this performance as did the actors and their ability to act. L.W. Kliewer and crew should be applauded for their work. Besides, what is a Victorian drama without a Victorian set? Whatever it is, it is not Victorian.

PCT's next show is, "The Boy Friend," on May 13-17. It will be directed by Mrs. Dorothy Crane, probably the most capable director in this area. I'm sure you won't want to miss it.

One show that you might want to miss is Carl Cole's next outing, "All the Girls Came Out to Play." If this is as bad as the last show that Mr. Cole had the misfortune of being in, ("The Great American Hero") stay at home, pop popcorn and enjoy the Saturday evening reruns.

Linda Marley appears as Miss Heasman in the Norfolk Theatre Center's production of 'Butley' by Simon Grey.

Performances are this Friday and Saturday evenings at 8, at the Campus Center Theatre.

"Spring Wind" to Appear in Wheelhouse

On Wednesday, April 2, the Captain's Wheelhouse will feature "Springwind" from 9 to 12 pm.

Springwind, from the Virginia Beach area consists of Mark Routen, a CNC student, on guitar, recorder, and vocals, and Bob LaPage, an ODU student, on guitar, mandolin and vocals. They feature acoustic folk-rock music in the style of groups such as America, Seals and Crofts, and Loggins and Messina, as well as original material.

There will be a .50 cover charge and as always, plenty of beer and a good time!

Police Detective Speaks on Rape and Assault

Detective Peter Lucas

The Charismatic, Peter Lucas Speaks at CNC

By Mary Dvorak

Mr. Peter Lucas, a Newport News Police Detective, an authority on self-defense and a holder of a black belt in judo spoke to CNC students on March 20 on "Assault and Rape Prevention."

Mr. Lucas proved himself to be one of those few people who possesses the rare quality of charisma. From the moment he began he held the audience's attention and never lost it during the entire lecture, which lasted for an hour and forty-five minutes.

The talk was scheduled to last an hour and fifteen minutes, but when Mr. Lucas asked if anyone would mind if he took an extra half-hour everyone agreed, in fact many enjoyed the extra time he took.

As people walked out of the lecture hall, they found it hard to believe how rapidly the time had gone by and some were even heard to remark that they could listen to him all day.

All in all it was a great joy, almost a privilege to sit and listen to such a fine speaker. His animation always added to and never distracted from his talk which he accentuated with humor appropriate to his topic.

But, while his talk was good it was also very informative and every female on this campus should have been there to hear it. Mr. Lucas is the type of speaker everyone should hear, if not to learn something from his talk, then just to be exposed to such an exceptional speaker.

If anyone missed hearing Mr. Lucas on campus and has a chance to hear him somewhere else, take advantage of the opportunity, it will be well worth your time.

By Lisa Halachis

On March 20, Officer Peter Lucas of the Newport News Police Department spoke on self defense and rape to a crowd of nearly one hundred persons in Gosnold Hall.

"I'm here to teach the young ladies how to protect themselves from people like you," Peter Lucas informs the males. He explains that while assault and rape happens through chance, "you can prevent things that are going to happen to you through logic. People become victimized only because they put themselves in the position to be victimized."

Lucas feels the criminal will strike whenever he wants. "A criminal is better at this job than you, a student, or I am, an officer. He is well practiced."

The officer went on to give statistics proving the seriousness of assaults and rape. In 1973, 19,510 murders were committed in the United States, 44% of this total were from southern states. "Easy access of hand guns in the south" is the reason for the high rate of such crimes, Lucas states.

In 1973, there were 416,270 aggravated assaults (a crime in conjunction with another crime; i.e. rape and murder). There were 51,000 cases of forceable rapes in 1973, an increase from 1972.

The average age of males arrested for rape is 16-24 years old, "so ladies, if you know anyone between the age of 16 and 24, you better watch them!" Lucas laughed.

He went on to give some pointers and advice on what not to do and what to do. Don't walk alone at night, you are always endangered when you are alone. Don't walk on the sidewalk—the best place is the street; "you get running time."

Be cautious, constantly look around and "put your mind where it should be." Always be alive to tell the story. Carry hatpins or other sharp objects while walking. A sharp instrument is vital and should be clenched in your hand. Stick the attacker "as many times as he wants to stay around and discuss it," Lucas pointed. "He's a human being just like you are, he is not Superman. If he thinks he might lose a piece of skin, he won't commit anything."

Criminals don't like attention, so give him plenty. "No one is going to rape a crazy lady, so scream loud, kick around, and act like a real psycho," suggests the authority.

Answers to other problems were cited simply and effectively by Peter Lucas. Obscene phone calls—how do you know that it's an obscene phone call if there is no one listening? "Just hang up as soon as he starts his thing. Don't put on a big panic show, he thrive on that."

Peeping Toms—there are no Peeping Toms if there is nothing to look at; keep blinds and curtains closed.

Prowlers—the last thing you want to do is keep quiet. Throw things, scream, as if there is someone in the room with you, "raise hell, then quietly call the police."

Protection is necessary in survival. "If the public is well-informed and puts their knowledge into practice, most of these assault, rape and other such crimes can be reduced greatly" confesses Officer Lucas. "The most important thing is surviving this thing, and self defense is necessary. Self defense is a way of life; if you think self defense 24 hours a day, your life will be much safer and happier."

CNC Golfers Have Ups and Downs on Rainy Course

CNC's golf team journeyed to North Carolina during spring break for a week of competition against some of the best college golf teams in the South.

The scheduled 36 hole Elon Invitational Tournament was shortened to 18 holes when two inches of snow in Burlington caused the cancellations of the first days competition. CNC used this day as a practice day by driving an hour south to Quail Ridgy, one of the Southern Pine golf courses, and practiced in cold, rainy weather.

The Elon Tournament featured such teams as University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N.C. State, Penn State, Richmond, and Wofford. The tournament was won by UNC at Chapel Hill as Mark Hope shot a 71 for medalist honors at the Piedmont-Crescent Country Club.

Campbell College finished second by a one stroke margin. CNC was at the bottom of the heap with William and Mary narrowly escaping the cellar.

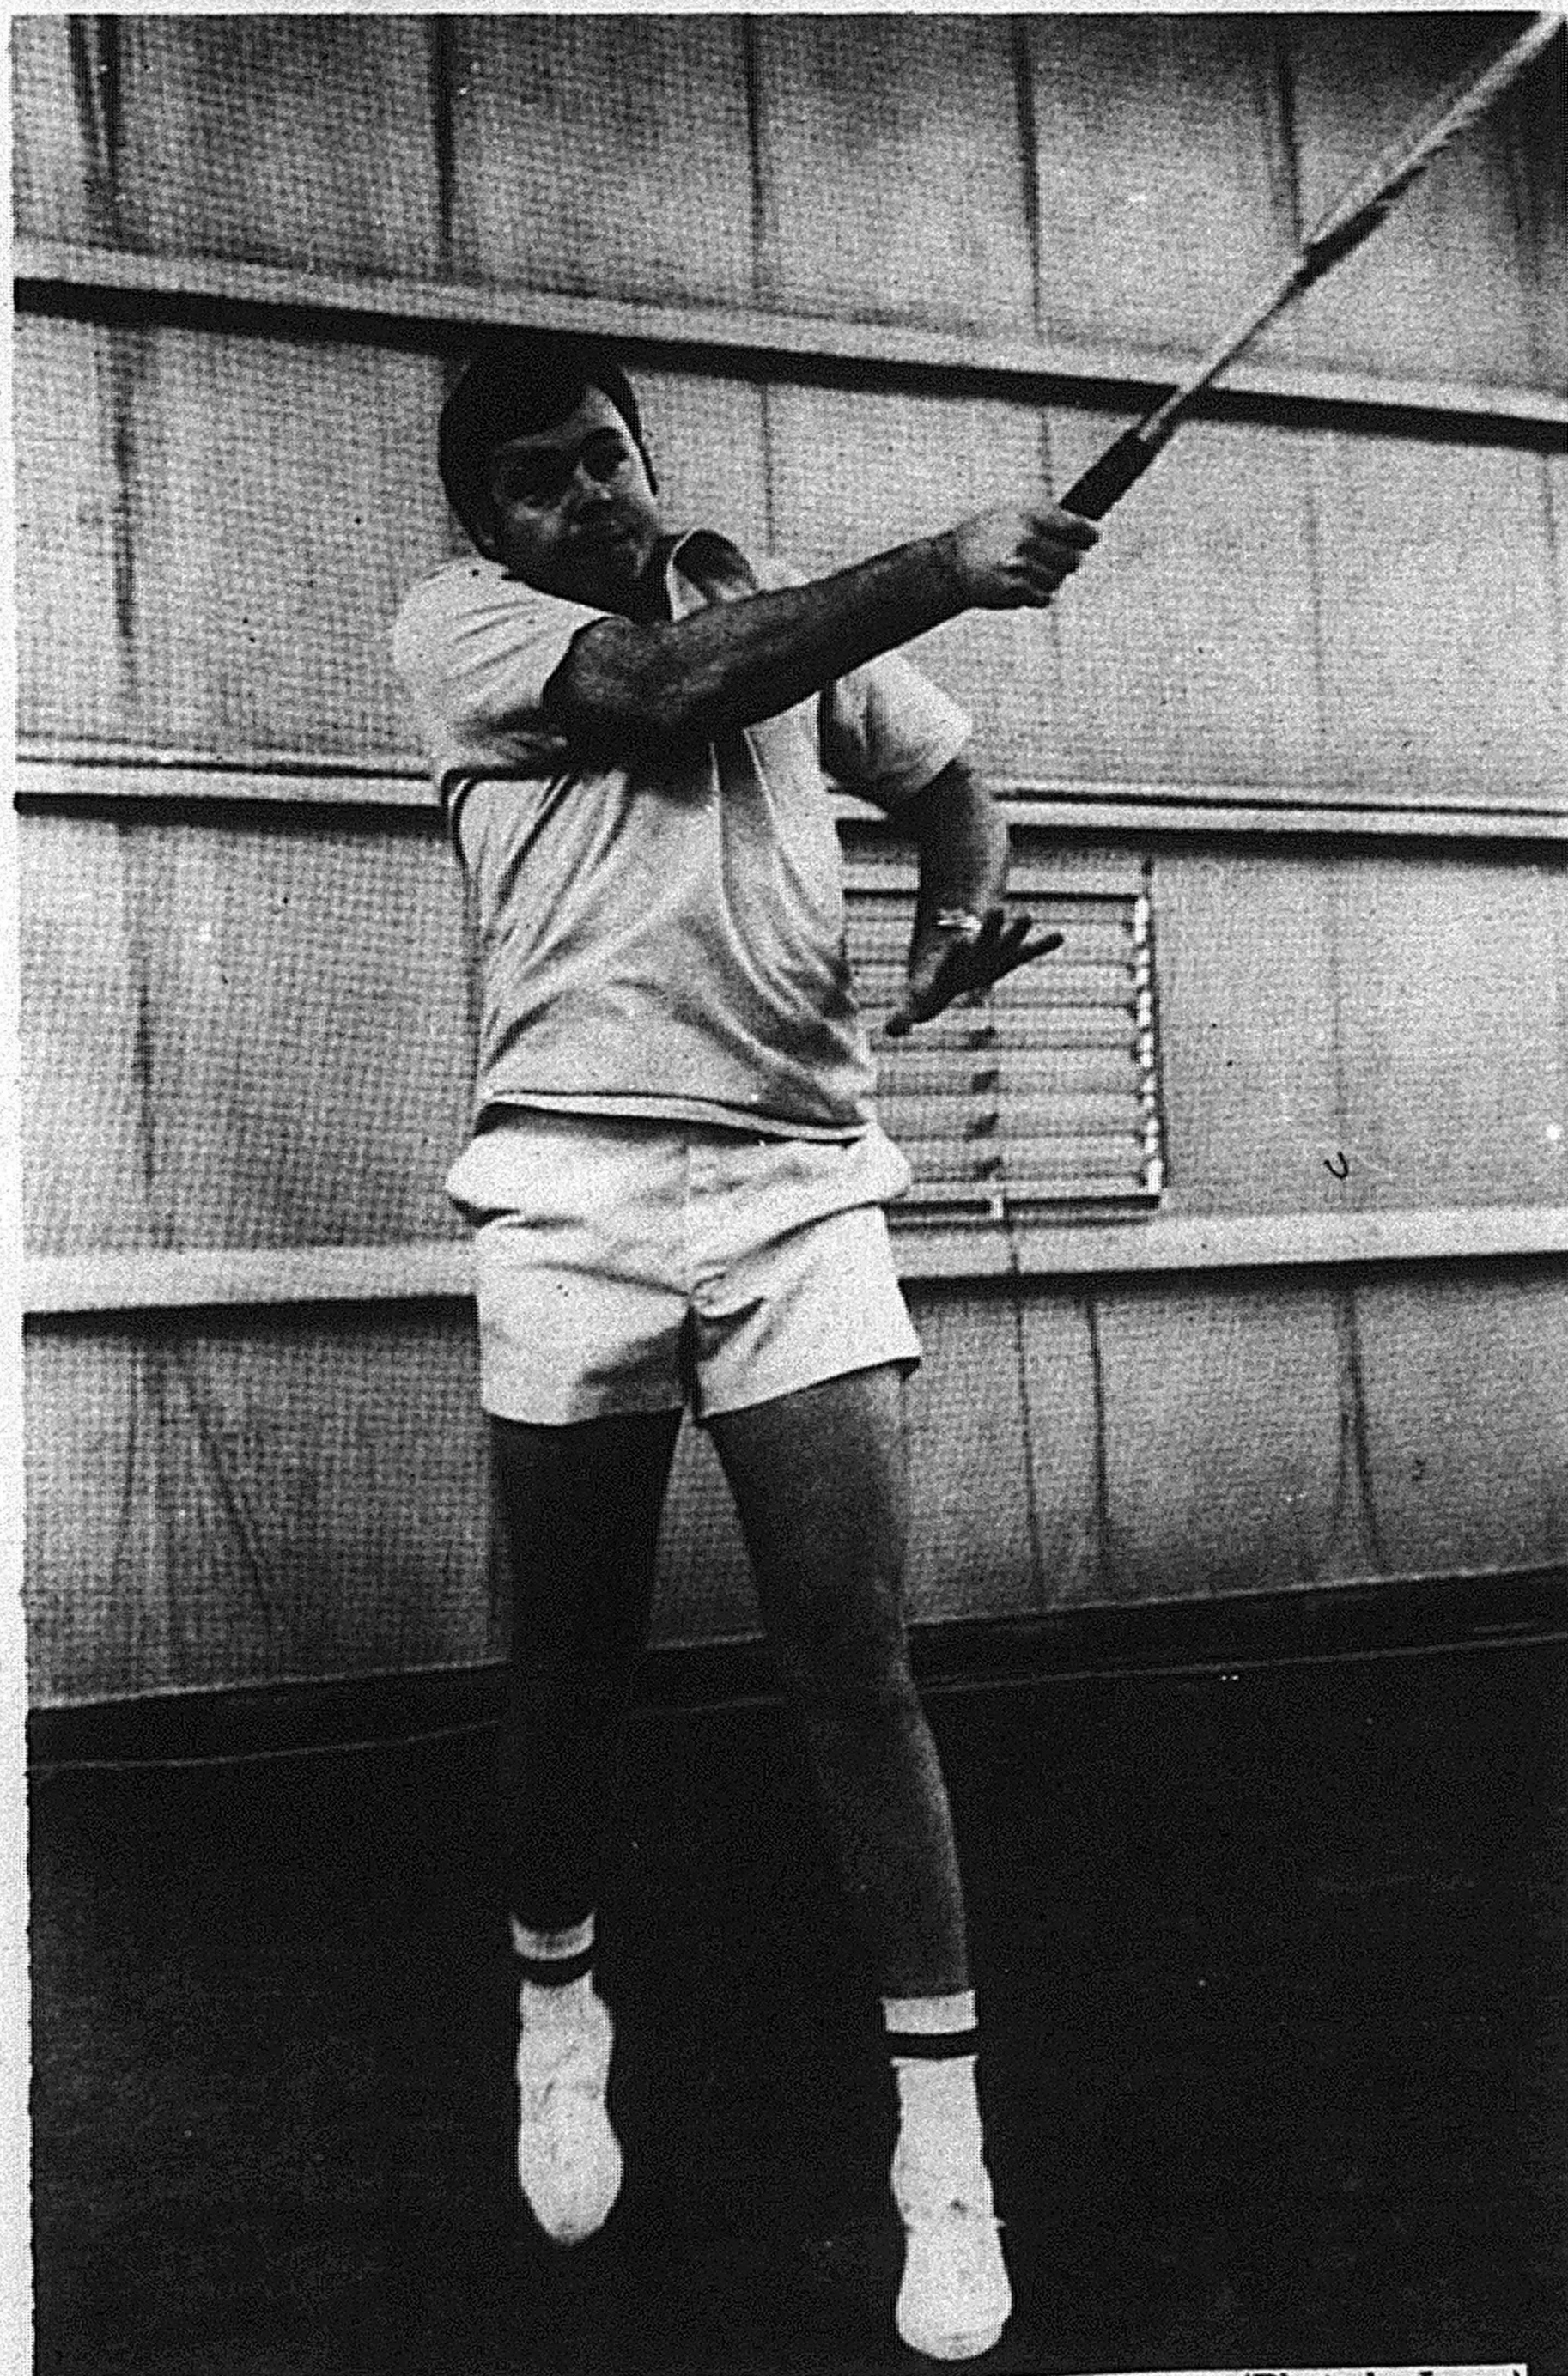

The next stop was Fayetteville's Cypress Lakes Golf Course where CNC's performance improved by tying St. Andrews College. Jim Trask and Steve Gale shot identical 80's to pace the Captains. Francis Marion College won this quadrangular match with Lynchburg College finishing second.

The next match was played at Scotfield Country Club in Rocky Mount. CNC fell to Campbell College and North Carolina Wesleyan. Campbell's Jim Wheeler was medalist with a 71 on the rain drenched course. Jim Trask paced CNC with an 84, with Steve Gale and Phil Whitley shooting 82 and 86 respectively.

Continued rain cancelled the final day's match scheduled with Virginia Wesleyan, Washington and Lee, and Lynchburg. Representing CNC for the spring week were Jim Trask, Phil Whitley, Steve Gale, Randy Heath, Mike Hannon, Teri Slonecker, and Joe Hoare.

CNC's golf team lost a triangular match to the Apprentice School and Virginia Wesleyan College at Sleepy Hole Country Club in Portsmouth. Scores for the match were very high with only Mike Ancel of Apprentice breaking 80 in extremely windy conditions.

Intramural Basketball Season Closes, AKPsi Edged Out by No-Names, 59-49

By Tom Kilpatrick

The Intramural Basketball League ended its regular season schedule March 23rd with the No-Names edging by AKPsi Fraternity 59-47. Both teams carried 7-1 records into the contest with the winner to meet the Independents, who had finished the season at 8 wins and 1 loss, in a single game playoff for the championship.

David Wade paced the winners with 21 points and was a dominant factor on the boards. Mike Carper and Tommy Parke added 18 and 12 points respectively. Doug Briggs led the Frat attack with 16 points while Steve Jackson and Henry Jones each collected 10. The score was tied 24-24 at the half and remained close until the final few minutes.

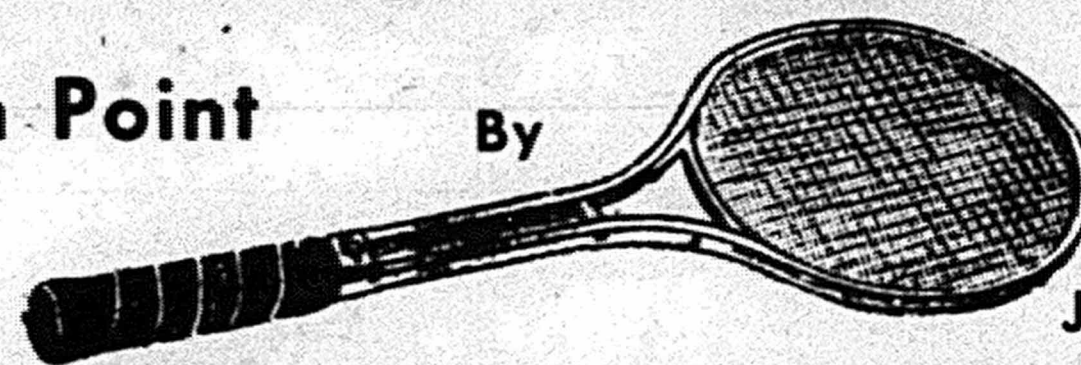

Two games have been scheduled with

Richard Bland College of Petersburg, Va. for early April. One game will pit the league champions of CNC against their counterparts at RBC. The other contest will have the All-Star teams of each league competing. Captains of the nine teams from CNC should contact the Intramural Office for procedures concerning selection of the All-Star team. One game will be played at each school.

Match Point

By

The CNC Tennis Team is off to a commanding start. On March 21, the Captains defeated Virginia Wesleyan 9-0. After having the first four matches rained out, the anxious CNC team was impressive at every position.

On March 23, the Captains defeated last year's No. 2 conference team, UNC (Greensboro), 6-3. This match was expected to be a stiff test of CNC's young team. With only two seniors back this year, CNC relies heavily on the six new freshmen.

Coach Armistead said, "The team got a big lift from Mike Hash and Jim Eyre Sunday afternoon." Hash and Eyre, playing Nos. 5 and 6 singles for the Captains, won their matches to snap a 2-2 tie and propel the team to its second victory this season. After Hash and Eyre won, CNC needed only one of the three doubles matches to win the Dixie Conference battle. The win was clinched when No.1 doubles teams, Jim Jordan and Johnny Roberts, scored a 6-0, 6-4 and then Hash and Eyre finished the No.3 doubles match with a 6-4, 6-4 score.

CNC Karate-dok to Compete in Championships

By Doug Ferris

The C.N.C. Karate-dok Club, headed by Glenn Gilley and Paul Gerdes will compete in the first national Butokukai Invitational Karate Championship in Blow Gym, College of William and Mary on April 19.

The event will be sponsored by the W-M Karate Club and H. Hamada, 7th degree black belt, and Virginia Butoku-Kai Chairman.

The contest will be divided into two categories. First, Kata, meaning "form" contest. The second, "Kamite," is a freesparing contest.

In brown and black belts sparring, light facial contact will be allowed, with protective equipment. Approximately two hundred contestants are expected for the championships. Eliminations will start at noon, finals will follow immediately after.

Spectators will see a fine demonstration, called "Street Scene" executed by D.C. Kenpo Superstars. Sport karate has grown rapidly in the U.S. and it has some keen competition.

The C.N.C. Karate Club has had some problems previously, but the club will offer the most comprehensive training in karate, now and in the future. Mr. Daniel Bedard, 2-degree, and Mr. H. Hamada, 7-degree, will be at the training to direct the club in their training. The work-outs will be on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 7:15 to 8:30 pm in the Women's Gym starting April 14 and continuing through the Summer and Fall semesters.

Alpha Kappa Psi Initiation

AKPsi Pledges selling used books and cakes while students look on.

The Spring Pledge Class of Iota Pi Chapter, Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity, was initiated into the Fraternity during ceremonies held in the Campus Center last Saturday night.

During their pledge period, the fifteen member class donated material and labor to the Christopher Newport College Day Care Center for the construction of a new sand box and a general clean-up of the play area. Other members joined in to repair and to make book shelves for the Fraternity to use during their used book sale.

their last activity was a bake sale, where it has been rumored, 'they sold some "very good" cakes.'

Pledge class officers and members initiated: Earl Parker, President; Stacy Louis, Vice President; Mike Bingham, Secretary; Earnie Banks, Treasurer; Grady Thompson, Sergeant at Arms; and Martin L. Green, Public Relations.

Other members were: Gerald Banks, Jim Diehl, Rick Fox, David Hudgins, Bob Ingram, Carmon Rochelle, Preston Russ, and Stephan Sharrett.

Case for Economic Freedom

Dr. Benjamin Rogge

The case for economic freedom rests rather on the consistency of the free market with man's essential nature, on the basis morality of its system of rewards

The case for economic freedom does not rest on its productive achievements: on its buildings, its houses, its automobiles, its bathtubs, its medicines, its television sets, its sirloin steaks and green salads with Roquefort dressings. There is little, if any, evidence that man's search for purpose, his longing for fulfillment, is in any significant way furthered by these accomplishments. These accomplishments should not be scorned, nor should they be worshiped. Nor is there to be found in the lives of those who do worship them any evidence that they find ultimate peace and justification in their idols. and punishments, on the protection it gives to the integrity of the individual.

The free market may not produce the perfect world, but it can create an environment in which man may conduct his lifelong search for purpose in his own way; in which each day he may order his life according to his own vision of his destiny, suffering both the agonies of his errors and the sweet pleasure of his successes. This freedom is what it means to be a man.

Economic freedom is that set of economic arrangements which exist in a society in which the government's only function is to prevent men from using force or fraud against each other, to establish and enforce rules for the ordinary and peaceful conduct of civil affairs, and to settle disputes among its citizens.

It is the economic expression of man's freedom itself and the guarantor of all his other freedoms.

CNC Soccer Team wins Two Matches

The CNC soccer team is showing a vast improvement in talent, and the quality of their play as exemplified in their last two matches. They shut out their opponents both games with a score of 4-0.

On March 18, (amid a muddy field and stormy weather) CNC played against the Newport News Apprentice School in their first night game. Excellent ball control and team play was executed by the Captains.

Leading the scoring honors were inside forward Roland Reeves with 3 goals (hat trick). Center forward Alex Granger dented the opponent's net in the opening moments of the game for the first goal.

Halfbacks Derek Curran, Mike Knex, and Dave Needles were the key play-makers in setting up the offense and defense. Full backs Tim Hund, Charlie Tudor, and Richard Cilley dominated the midfield with key head balls and long, sure passes to the forward line.

The same style of play was somewhat repeated on March 21 when the Captains blanked Kempsville High School of Virginia Beach. The College team is currently in a Norfolk festival tournament. The tournament involves knock-out competition, so one can only play as long as one wins.

Job Hunters - Need Assistance, Read This!!!

By Mary Dvorak

Looking for a job? Isn't everyone these days? Whether you are looking for a part-time or full-time job, there is someone right here at CNC who will help you in finding that job. Now if you are wondering who? and where?, just be patient as I tell that and a few other services offered to you, the CNC student.

The place to go is the Student Placement Office located in G-209 where Mr.

Psychotherapist - manast To Speak

Professor Jeb Pendergast, noted psychotherapist, will not address the Beedby Society Friday at noon in the Campus Center Theatre on the subject of faculty nudity. Dr. Pendergast joined the CNC faculty after completing post-doctoral studies at Himmelheim University and Princenell University.

In an interview, Dr. Pendergast expressed his opinions on the Apple Valley, California case in which a state appeals panel ruled that Lou Zivkovich could not be fired from his job as a high school Gym teacher because he appeared nude in the Centerfold of Playgirl magazine. "It was a blow for freedom," roared Dr. Pendergast. "Zivkovich received $1,000 plus an expenses-paid weekend in Hawaii for his extracurricular modeling job. Dat is gut. Vat had his high school done for him? De sent him to track meets in Manneheim Ve must not let dis triumph go unnoticed. I am trying to get de Undertow at CNC to feature a faculty centerfold each issue mit a $10.49 fee plus a trip to Bull Island. Vy are ve always behind de times?"

When asked if he thought his drive for freedom would endanger his position at CNC, Dr. Pendergast replied, "Ve must stand up for vat ve believe in! I believe in nudity and fat. Ve vill start our Undertow centerfolds mit de heavyweights and move down to da schkinnies. I would like Dean Polis to be our photographer. Dat man has soul...und, of course, he would not be an early centerfold himself."

The editor of the Undertow could not be reached for comment.

Richard McMurran and his secretary, Mrs. Odell, are waiting to assist you. They will be able to inform you of some of the part-time and full-time jobs available at the time and will arrange appointments for you with the employers.

Mr. McMurran does more than just place students in jobs. After a student has been employed by a company, Mr. McMurran may look into complaints the student has about the company and he may even occasionally step in to help students straighten out problems with their employers.

In order to offer more jobs to the students of CNC, Mr. McMurran has begun a three-year program where he will visit all of the businesses on the Peninsula and some businesses in major cities in the state. He hopes that by doing this, the businesses will call him when they have job openings, so that he might pass these job opportunities on to the students.

The Student Placement Office puts out a weekly newsletter which is placed in all buildings. This newsletter is to let students know about some of the jobs available through the office of Student Placement and to let them know when recruiters from different companies will be on campus.

Mr. McMurran hopes to publish in the near future, in the newsletter, some hints on how to go about getting a job and information one needs to know when going for an interview. He also hopes to have display cases put in all of the buildings on campus where he can put literature from different companies. At present one may get such literature in his office.

Another job the Student Placement

Office has is keeping up with students after they leave CNC. The college likes to know what its students do after they leave and what type of jobs they have. In order to help him with this, Mr. McMurran is asking for the cooperation of the students: if you are a senior he asks that you stop by the office and fill out a personal data sheet. He also asks that any students who know anything about a graduate of CNC to stop by his office and give him the information you have.

Another thing students can do help Mr. McMurran, and fellow students, is to inform him about job openings you know about. Fewer and fewer jobs are becoming available and Mr. McMurran is doing his best to help CNC students find jobs, so he is asking the cooperation of the students.

The responsibilities Mr. McMurran has are many and were probably never meant for one man, especially in a college which has grown as rapidly as CNC. For along with putting out a weekly newsletter, visiting businesses, getting in contact with companies, talking with students, and keeping in touch with graduates, Mr. McMurran also serves the college as its sole Public Relations Officer.

According to Mr. McMurran other colleges have more than one man to be more efficient and likewise more effective. To offset this Mr. McMurran takes an orderly approach to everything and does the best he can.

VETERANS' HOT LINE: Education Benefits and Problems Questions and Answers on

Q: Is there a time limit for applying for Veterans Group Life Insurance?

A: Yes. If you were separate from active duty between April 3, 1970 and August 1, 1974, you must apply before August 2, 1975. If you separated from activity duty after August 1, 1974, you must apply within 120 days of separation. Contact Mr. Aspell in the Counseling Center for application forms.

Q: Can I get tutorial assistance from the VA?

A: Veterans enrolled in a post-secondary program on a half-time or more basis may receive a special allowance for individual tutoring. In order to qualify, it must be shown that the veteran has a deficiency in a particular subject, making tutoring necessary, and that the tutor is considered qualified by the school. Under this program, a veteran may receive up to $60 per month, to a maximum of $720.

Scarce Auto Parts A Problem

Various replacement parts for certain older and foreign cars are not always immediately available and this is inconveniencing owners of these types, Colonel H. W. Burgess, Superintendent of State Police observed today.

Colonel Burgess said these replacement parts generally consist of lenses for all rear lamps and front parking lamps. When a vehicle is rejected by an inspection station for a defective or missing lens, replacements often cannot be obtained during the seven days a rejection sticker is valid.

A rejection sticker, he explained, is given when a car fails to pass inspection and the owner wishes to go elsewhere for repairs or replacements. It is given by the station making the inspection and is good for seven days. However the driver of a car bearing a rejection sticker remains responsible for any adverse results of operating a defective vehicle.

Colonel Burgess urged motorists to check their cars for defective parts which cannot be repaired and not to wait until their cars are rejected by an inspection station to order replacements.

"Scarcities of outlets and industrial cutbacks due to the present economic situation have contributed to shortages," he said.

Chess Club Tournament Won by Faculty Players

The Student-Faculty Chess Tournament results are finally in. At the end of the first round, played on March 8th, the scores were as follows: Mr. McMurren over Rod Russell 2 to 1; Dr. Saunders over Gary Collie 2 to 1; Dr Chaing tied with Paul Turner 1 to 1; and Dr Sacks tied with Mr. Hill 1 to 1.

On March 19, a playoff game was played between Dr. Chaing and Paul Turner resulting in a win for the students. Since a playoff game was not played between Dr. Sacks and Mr. Hill, it remained a tie.

The final results of the tournament were 2 victories for the faculty, 1 for the students, and 1 tie.
