Poetry Press solicits poets

Attention, all you budding bards at CNC. The National Poetry Press is soliciting student poetry for the College Poetry Review. Any student may submit verse; there are no limitations as to form or theme. Shorter works are preferred because of space limitations.

Each entry must be typed or printed on a separate sheet, and must bear the name and home address of the student, as well as his college address. The closing date for the submission of material is November 5, 1978. Material should be sent to: National Poetry Press, Box 218, Agoura, California 91301.

History Club holds retreat

The History Club is sponsoring a historical retreat on October 13, 14, and 15 in Middlesex County.

Many activities have been scheduled, including discourses by guest speakers, a World War II propaganda film, Triumph of the Will, and a discussion concerning freedom of speech. Other activities include a Saturday cook-out, volleyball, and relaxation on the Piankatank River.

The historical retreat is open to all History Club members in good standing. Remember, the History Club welcomes new members as well as non-history majors.

For more information, the History Club will hold a meeting on October 6 at 12:30 p.m. in Room 233 of the Campus Center.

Log seeks Sports writers

The Captain's Log is looking for an individual interested enough in CNC sports to be the Sports Editor for this student publication. Duties for this paid position include attendance at important sporting events, writing various sports articles, and helping with the sports page layout. Persons seeking this position should contact Kim Brady in CC228 or telephone 599-7196.

"Informance" to be given

On Friday, September 29, the CNC Concert Music Club will present Sandra Walker in an informal hour of music and discussion. Ms. Walker, who will appear in the Campus Center Theatre at noon, is an affiliate artist with the Virginia Opera Association. She will be singing the title role in Bizet's Carmen which will be produced Oct. 27, 29, and Nov. 1, 3, and 5. Any interested students are invited to attend our "informance" this Friday, Sept. 29, at noon in the Campus Center Theatre.

Bill Humphreys elected to office

by Kenneth Gillespie

Bill Humphreys was the big winner in the recent Student Association elections. He defeated Sharon Lantz and Dale Warden for the office of Student Association vice-president. The office has been vacant since Denise O'Connell resigned.

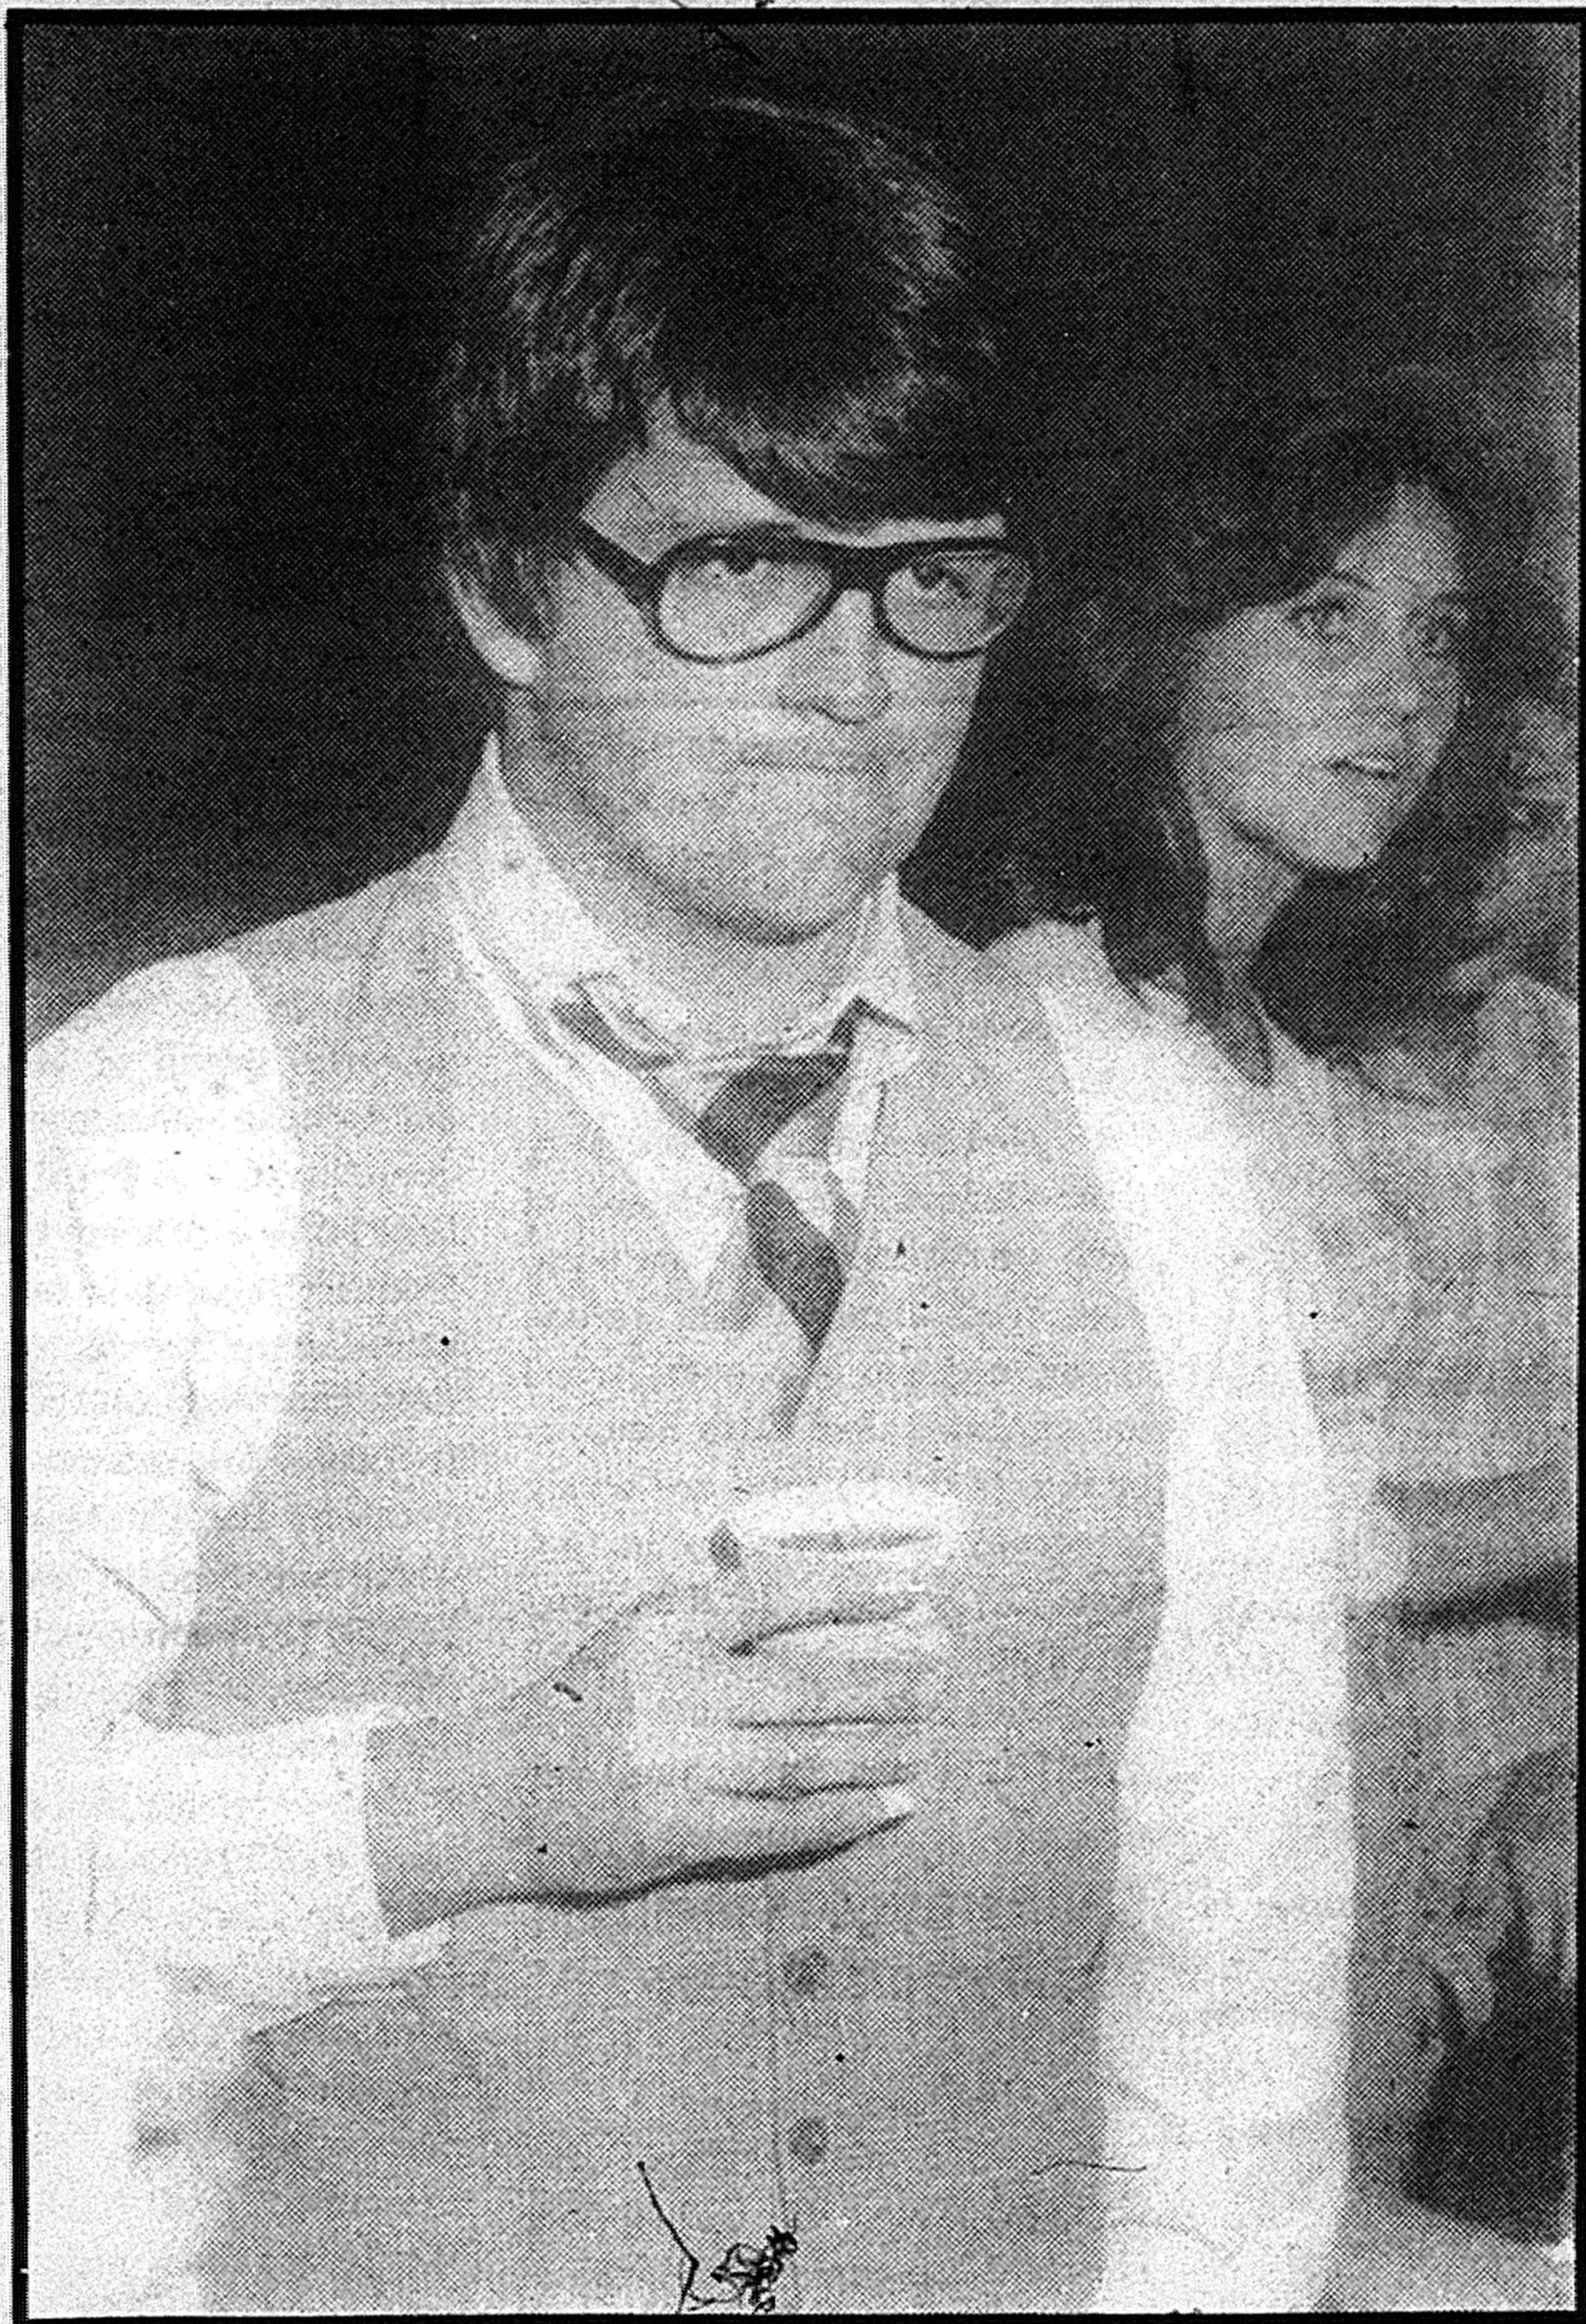

The actual voting figures were Humphreys, 311; Lantz, 192; and Warden, 119. The student turnout was heavier than in past elections with 635 students voting.

The other elections went as follows: senators elected are James Johnson, Fine Arts; William Henley, Business & Economics; Amy Hosevold, Natural & Quantitative Sciences; Joe Elry, Social & Behavioral Sciences; and William Crosby, Education & Communications. The vice-president of Education & Communications is Sterling Brightman.

Legislation has been introduced in the Executive Council of the Student Association to abolish the Student Senate. When asked about the legislation, Humphreys said that he is getting student opinion about the Senate and that he wants to see the attendance at the Senate meeting Wednesday before he makes up his mind on the subject.

Humphreys, a sophomore, thinks that part-time students should get more involved in activities at CNC. He says that participation in activities helps to round out an education. Humphreys is in favor of on-campus dormitories and more student activities.

Humphreys plans to get more input from the students on what they need or want done. To get this input, he wants to establish a town meeting sort of program, during the day and night, where the students can speak out.

Bill Humphreys looks tense after his trying victory for SA vice-president.

SA and Grounds Committee clash

by Mark C.S. Funk

In response to student complaints stemming from inadequate parking, Student Association president Bill Bell has brought the problem to the attention of Skip Skillman, the director of buildings and grounds.

Bell charges that work which was performed on the lots near the Campus Center was done poorly and not according to the specified design.

In particular, Bell claims that preexisting white lines were not either properly removed or covered; the new white lines are wavy and inaccurate; parts of an island which was to be removed still exist; and a dead end still remains. In the second row of the parking lot near the island, directly opposite the gym's front doors, there was supposed to be a through fare. In fact, parking spaces now exist there.

"I realize that existing parking is not sufficient and that additional temporary parking is being added," says Bell. "My question is, will the errors which are causing numerous problems and confusion be corrected in the near future. If so, when?" he asks.

Skillman answers that "due to circumstances beyond my control, the summer work to the parking lots did not get started until very late..." However, he says, old white lines will be obliterated as soon as possible; the island will be removed as soon as time permits and personnel can be scheduled; and the dead end by the gym will be corrected soon.

The wavy lines, Skillman contends, "are due mostly to having to paint after the cars were in place." He repudiates Bell's

Darth Vader? No, only Al-Salam

by Kenneth Gillespie

Five, Four, Three, Two, One, Blast off! Sounds like another moonshot, right? Wrong! However, the Campus Center on Monday Morning did resemble a Cape Kennedy lift off.

But it was only Professor Al-Salam of the Physics Department conducting an experiment. The purpose of the experiment was to demonstrate the principle of conservation of momentum. To find out what the experiment is, let's go back to the launching pad. There is a sudden hissing sound and the crowd nervously moves back as a bright red object speeds down the hallway toward the cafeteria, where it is brought to an abrupt halt by the strong arms of several brawny students.

A yellow-helmeted figure climbs out of the mysterious object, now identified as a homemade rocket car. Is the figure Darth Vader come to CNC? No, it is Professor Al-Salam who has just piloted her craft through the treacherous hallway.

According to Professor Al-Salam, the rocket car was made of a trolley, borrowed from ODU, and a bottle of carbon dioxide. Judging from the favorable reaction of the crowd, the experiment was a complete success.

SOUND SOLUTION

by Ricky Dunn
1978 will probably go down in recording history as the year of the gimmick record. Colored vinyl pressings and picture-discs have hit the market in numbers unheard of before. The term "limited edition" is thrown around so much that it's losing the magical aura it once endowed to a record. Picture-discs are certainly the most revolutionary of the new novelties. They've been around for years, but only as promotional items for people within the music industry. This is the first time that they've ever been marketed for public consumption. Quite simply, a picture-disc is a reproduction of the album cover that is laminated between two layers of vinyl--a kind of record sandwich. Pressing of one of the LP's is a slow process that must be done by hand. All of this translates into a very expensive record. The most readily available picture-discs are Heart's Magazine and the Beatles' Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band.

Both list for around $15.98. Mushroom is pressing 100,000 copies of Magazine and Capitol is putting 150,000 copies of Sgt. Pepper on the market. A picture-disc is made more for visual rather than aural enjoyment. The sound quality is inferior to the original black vinyl editions. Capitol even warns the consumer of this in fine print at the bottom of the back cover of Sgt. Pepper. Because the records are limited editions, no re-

Newman Club Revives Today

Last Wednesday, a group of students met who are interested in forming a new campus organization, the Newman Christian Fellowship. Suggestions for club activities were presented and discussed; these included social activities, service projects, share groups, and church services geared to college people. However, no specific guidelines have been set down. This club will be whatever interested students make of it. So if you are interested in joining--actually forming--a group that reflects your wants and needs, come to our next meeting on Wed., Sept. 27, in CC227 at 12 noon. Your presence and your ideas will be warmly welcomed.

Interview: Seminar Comes

Mr. Roman Schenkkan will demonstrate "How to Go for a Job Interview" on Wednesday, September 27, in the Campus Center Theatre from noon to 1 p.m. Mr. Schenkkan is an insurance agent for Prudential Insurance Company of America. He is a native of Amsterdam, Holland, and a 1974 graduate of Christopher Newport College. Mr. Schenkkan has been associated with Prudential for four years.

The purpose of this seminar is to afford the students of CNC with an opportunity to hear an explanation of the do's and don'ts of going for a job interview. Role playing will be done by Brenda Davis and Susan Glaheen.

charge of linear inaccuracies, saying, "I question any inaccurate lines as far as measurement goes."

In response to the parking

Letters

Dear Editor,
The end is near. For CNC's Student Body it could be as near as September 27, 1978, at approximately 12:15 p.m. This is the date and time of the next, and possibly last, assembly of the Christopher Newport College Student Senate. This body, whose responsibilities include riding herd on Bill Bell, S.A. President, and the Executive Committee, is in danger of losing its very life from this same Bill Bell and the Executive Committee. No, it's not a rock group. Bill Bell and the Executive Committee is the singularly most powerful group of students on our campus, outside of the Student Senate. If President Bell's time table is running true, he introduced legislation to the Executive Committee September 21st (last Thursday) that is intended, to quote the release from the Student Information Service which appeared in the September 19, 1978 edition of The Captain's Log, to "Liquidate the Student Senate."

There are only two things that can stop President Bell's bold move to power. The Executive Committee can vote him down, which doesn't look too likely, and the Senate itself can vote this piece of legislation totally out of existence. To do this, however, the Senate must meet and must have a majority (50% +1) present.

Who makes up the Senate? Last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday we elected Senators to fill vacancies in the Fine Arts, Business and Economics, Social and Behavioral Science, Natural and Quantitative Science, and Education and Communication Divisions. All together, there are six divisions with four senators and a vice-president from each division. That's 30 votes right there.

Add to these one senator from each Student Activities Committee recognized club or organization on campus, 33 more, and that gives you a grand total of 63 voting members in the Student Senate. Are you a Senator? If so, please attend. Do you know anyone who is a Senator? If so, please bug them until they, too, attend. Has your club elected a Senator? If not please do it and have them at the Senate meeting! We allowed Bill Bell to run unopposed for S.A. President. Can we also allow him the same privilege in closing down the Senate? I say no!

David Crosby

Dear Editor,
During my first two years at CNC, it never occurred to me to wonder how many students on the campus shared my first name . . . ROSEMARY. Then, a couple of weeks ago I received a phone call from a friend who said: That was some letter you wrote to the paper," or words to that effect. My response was: "What letter?" The next day, as soon as I arrived on campus, I picked up a copy of the Captain's Log, and found what appeared to be a letter to the editor, signed: Rosemary. There was no last name, just Rosemary. Not only that, but I was appalled by the malicious, sarcastic tone of the piece, obviously intended to be, oh, so clever. Before the end of the day I discovered that there were other people, notably some of my friends in the Fine Arts Department, who thought I wrote it. I thought of writing in and setting the record straight immediately, but I was very busy, and besides,

From the Hip

by Bill Seals

Already Sunday evening's announcement by President Carter of the Camp David Peace Agreement is lost in a clamor of condemnations from both the Israeli and Arab sides of the Middle East. In protest against Prime Minister Begin's announcement of slow withdrawal from the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, a group of pseudo-Israeli nationalists called Gush Emunim or Bloc of the Faithful are trying to occupy new territory in that area. As a result, Israelis must threaten other Israelis with army action if they do not leave. In Damascus, Syria, the Syri-

Shutterbugs Planning Photograph Display

by Ken Gillespie

Attention, shutterbugs. The Camera Club of Christopher Newport is planning a showing of the members' expertise in the field of photography. The show is set for the week of October 9 and will last through the thirteenth. Each member of the club will have on display a print or prints that he or she took. The prints will be hanging throughout the Campus Center. The show is also open to any interested members of the student body. The print that you submit should be at least eight by ten and mounted. For more details on the show contact Bruce Laubach.

The purpose of the Camera Club, according to its president, Bruce Laubach, is to promote photography as an art form. The club has several projects lined up for the future. These include workshops to improve photographic skills, a photo contest, and the taking of senior photographs. The Camera Club meets every Wednesday in Room 223 in the Campus Center at noon. Anyone interested in joining should either show up at a Wednesday meeting or contact Bruce Laubach.

Activities Money

(SIS) As students at CNC, we pay for student activities and athletics through the comprehensive fee. But these activities aren't normally geared for night and part-time students. It's about time we get our money's worth!!

There will be a short meeting on October 4 from 6:00 to 7:00 in CC233 to formulate ideas, suggestions, etc. to present to the Student Activities Committee.

Stop by and give us a hand so that we can be a part of this college. Night and part-time students have rights, too!!!

Christian Fellowship

Joe Struthers of North Riverside Baptist Church will be the guest speaker at CNC Christian Fellowship on Monday, October 2.

Make special note of this: the meeting will take place in Room 214 instead of Room 233 of the Campus Center.

Bring your lunch and bring a friend.

Baptist Students

The Baptist Student Union is an interdenominational student group dedicated to celebrating the life we have, the God who gave it, and others that experience life and God as well. Come be with us on Thursdays at 12:30, Room 229 in the Campus Center.

Delinquent Clubs

(SIS) Any member of the following organizations must contact the SAC Director, Joy Cipriano, or the Student Auditor, Champ Morgan, by October 12, 1978.

If no contact is made by this date, any funds either SAC or revenue, will be converted to the SAC contingency fund.

Please get in touch with us as soon as possible!!

Fencing Club, Civitan Club, French Club, German Club, Organization for Women's Equality, Sailing Club, Soccer Club, Va. Zeta Chapter of Alpha Chi, Veterans Association, DECA, Sociology Club, and Newman Club.

History Club

The History Club will sponsor a discussion concerning the Graduate Record Exam on Thursday, October 5, at 12:15 p.m. in Room N-212 of the Campus Center. Dr. Lee Doerries and Dr. Robert Saunders will be the featured speakers. As most graduate schools require this test, the meeting could prove to be both enlightening and valuable. Open to all majors.

Brown Baggers

The regular Brown Bagging lunches for mature women students resume Wednesday at noon in CC233 with Dr. Lora Friedman of the education department demonstrating techniques of self-defense. She has taught classes on the subject several times and makes a witty, fast-moving presentation. All interested women are invited to pack or buy a luncheon and join this group. For more information please contact the Counseling Center, W116, phone 599-7046.

Collegiate Success

Beginning in late September for a period of six weeks, Ms. Malinda Davis, Counselor, will be coordinating a series of meetings to help students develop skills necessary for success in the collegiate environment. Group sessions will incorporate effective study techniques, research paper techniques, and time management. This group will meet every Monday from noon to 1 p.m. All interested persons should call or stop by the Counseling Center, Wingfield Hall 116, phone 599-7022. Deadline for registration is September 29.

Science Center Goes to Dismal Swamp

The Peninsula Nature and Science Center is sponsoring a trip to the Great Dismal Swamp on Saturday, September 30. An expert guide from Old Dominion University will discuss the natural and social history of the Swamp while guiding the group through many different areas. Departure will be at 8 a.m. from the Center, returning by 4 p.m. Reservations are required. For further information call 595-1900.

Lost Your Mate?

The Counseling Center is sponsoring an organization for widows and widowers in coping with their own needs. The next meeting will be Friday, September 29, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 205 of the Campus Center. The public as well as eligible members of the CNC community are invited to attend. For more information, please contact Bonnie Hansen at the Counseling Center, W116, phone 599-7046.

College Republicans

There will be a meeting of College Republicans on Friday, September 29, in Room CC109. Election of officers will be held.

Camera Club

The Camera Club will be holding a show the week of October 9 through October 13. All entries should be 8 x 10 or larger mounted and be turned in by Friday, Oct. 5. For more information contact any Camera Club member or come to the Graphics Room, CC223.

There will also be a workshop on Saturday, October 7, on "The Lens as a Tool." More information to come.

Sex Ed Week

As a kickoff to National Sex Education Week, several members of the CNC faculty have agreed to address the student body on the contributions of their specific disciplines to the knowledge and enjoyment of sex. Perennial campus favorites from previous raft debates, Ross Brackney, English; Dick Guthrie, Modern Languages; and St. Elmo Nauman, Philosophy, will discuss what their disciplines have contributed to knowledge and experience in human sexuality. They will be joined by new faculty member M.G. Shultis, Physical Education. The event is billed as totally nonserious, noneducational and nonquotable. It will be held in the Campus Center Theater from 12 to 1 p.m. on Wednesday, October 4.

BSA "Disco"

The Black Student Association will be sponsoring a "Back-to-School Disco" Saturday, September 30, from 9 p.m. to 1 p.m. in the CNC Campus Center.

The music will be provided by "The Soul Ranger" from Radio Station WRAP. Cost is $2.00 in advance, $2.50 the night of the affair.

We cordially invite everyone to come out and "disco" with the B.S.A.

THE GREAT DRAGON GIVEAWAY!

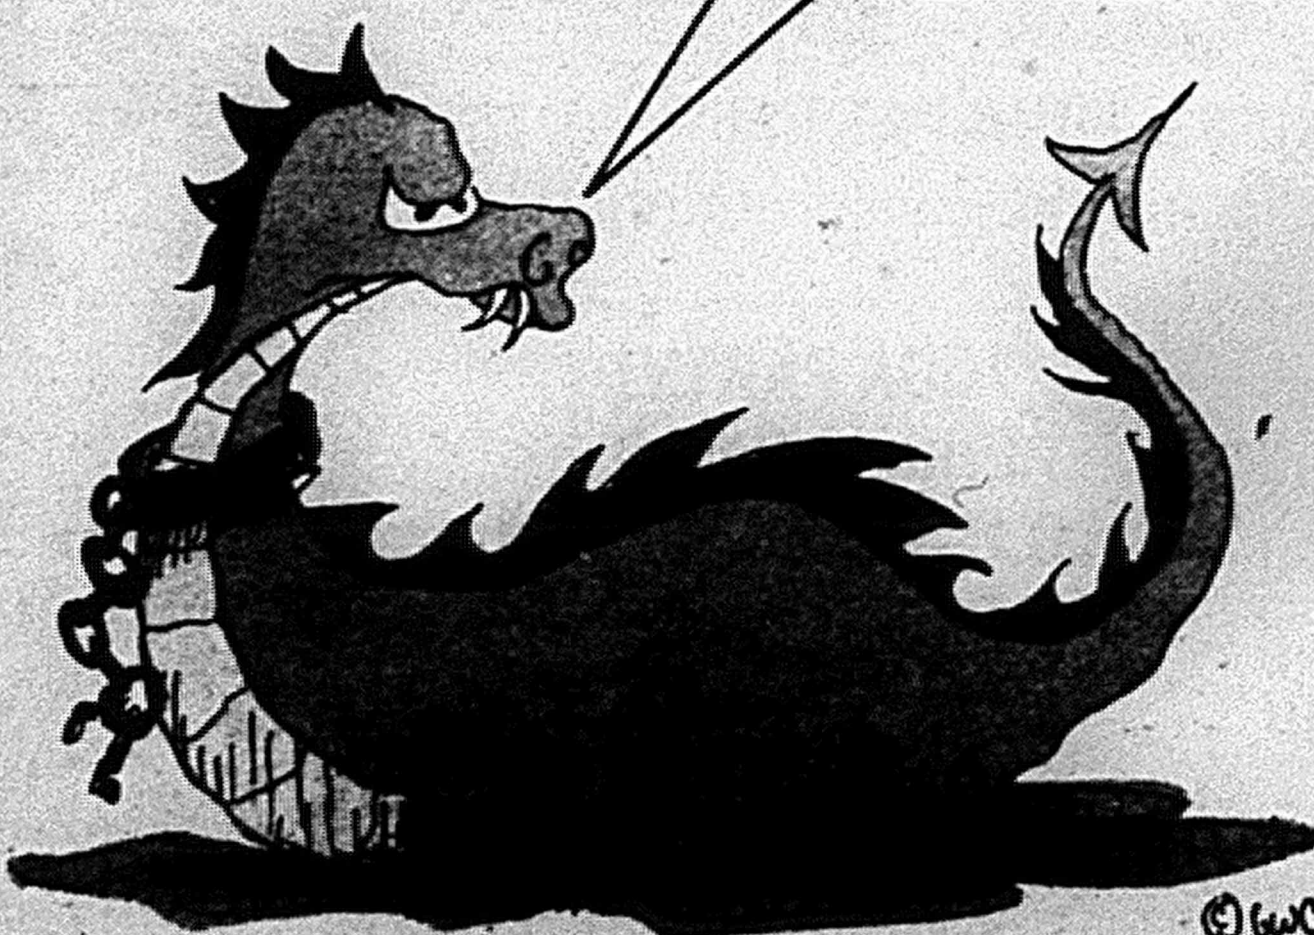

I hear the Captain's Log is giving away dragons, of all things!

That's right, stupid. Dragons hand-painted on polished stone . . . one would look great on my desk.

I wonder if I could get one?

If you're a CNC student, you can. Just fill out the coupon at the bottom and put it in the ballot box in the PUB. A drawing for the dragons will be held in the PUB later this month. The winners will get their names and pictures in the Captain's Log, too.

. . . those jerks forgot to tell you you could enter as often as you like!

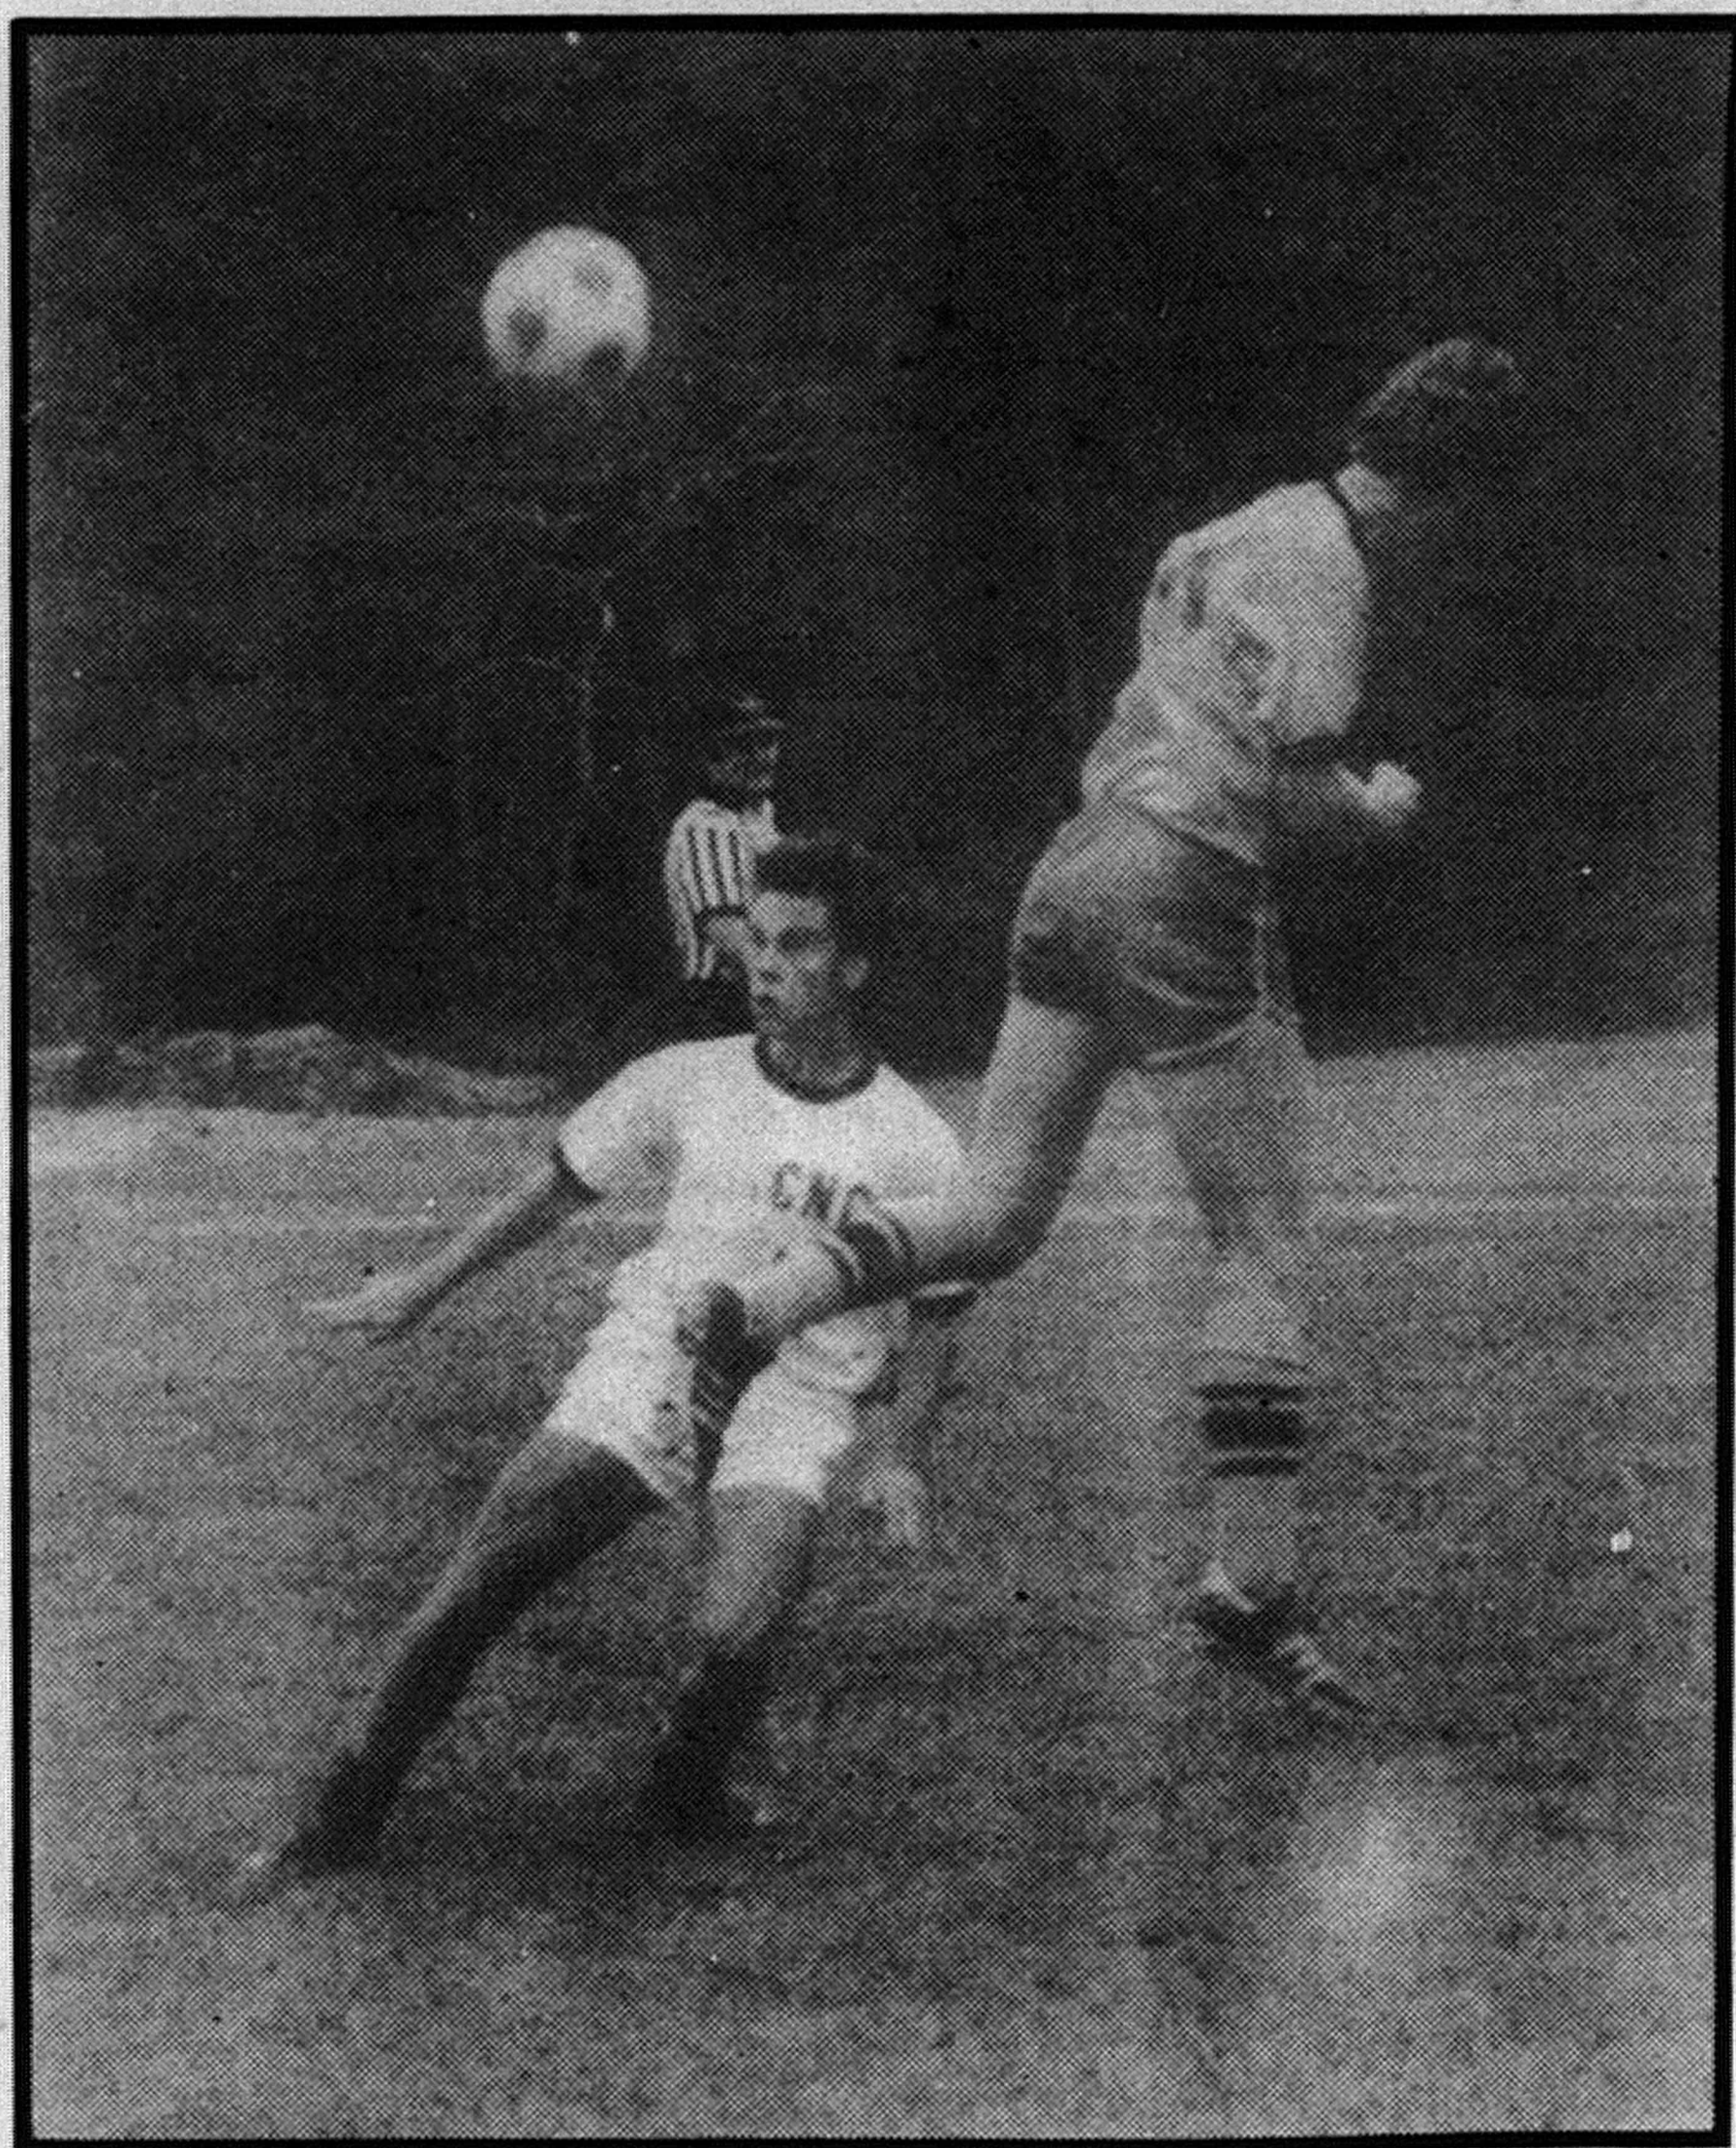

Complete this coupon and drop it in the PUB ballot box. Rocks are on display in the PUB.

Winners will be drawn at random on Oct. 2, and announced in the Oct. 3 issue of the Captain's Log!

Soccer records Homecoming triumph

CNC soccer team captured a 2-0 win for Saturday's Homecoming game against Averett.

An "accident" and a goal by Joe Garone helped Christopher Newport record its second victory of the season last Saturday.

The Captains of Coach Bob Cummings edged Averett for a 2-0 Homecoming triumph that included a score when the losers accidentally kicked the ball through the host's goal.

Earlier in the week, CNC suffered a heart-breaking 1-0 loss to Hampden-Sydney for its fifth setback of the campaign.

The contest's only goal was registered in the second half on a penalty shot by fullback Jim Babashak.

The much-improved Captains controlled the game's tempo, creating many scoring opportunities that proved fruitless.

Goalie Kenny Gagliardi and sweeper back Damian Decell paced a defense that has jelled tremendously since yielding 22 goals in its first four outings.

The freshman-dominated Captains' next home action is Sunday, Oct. 8 at 2 p.m. against the University of North Carolina-Greensboro.

Last CNC player decides outcome

The final outcome wasn't decided until the last CNC player on the course finished his round at the Sleepy Hole Golf Course in Portsmouth, Virginia.

William & Mary had already posted a score of 408; ODU, a 409; and the Apprentice School, a 435.

Mike Hott, a freshman from Bethel High School playing as the 5th man on the team, came in with an 80, and since each team was playing with eight players and counting the top five scores, this enabled CNC to drop a score of 93 from its total. Instead of being 12 strokes behind, CNC won by one stroke.

Others whose scores counted were Will Smith, 87; Ken King, 87; Jim Baldasare, 87; and Bernard Smith, 93.

CNC's next match is the Methodist Invitational, which is a two-day tournament in Fayetteville, North Carolina.

Conditioning Club meets success

turns are accepted, no matter what the defect might be.

There are other picture-discs available for other albums, but they're harder to get because such limited numbers are pressed. One disc, The Rocky Horror Picture Show Soundtrack, features a young lady from the movie on the record and is an eye catcher if for no other reason than the strategically placed spindle hole.

On the other side of the novelty coin we have the colored vinyl pressings. They've been commercially available before, but they seem to be enjoying a resurgence of popularity.

The most prominent of the new offerings is probably the Beatles' trilogy--the "White Album" on white vinyl, The Beatles 1962-1966 on red and The Beatles 1967-1970 in translucent blue. Each album is a limited pressing of 150,000 copies, and they retail for around fifteen bucks. That isn't too bad since they're all double albums.

As far as sound quality on these records goes, there is some disagreement. Some say these are inferior to black vinyl; others say they are superior. I can't tell any difference. I do have a little trouble locating tracks on the White Album because the bands are practically invisible.

Colored vinyl albums are easier to find than picture-discs. The first copies of the Rolling Stones' "Miss You" disco-45 were in pink. Butterfly Records, a disco label, has released most of their catalog on colored vinyl.

And that brings us to a question. How much is too much? At the rate things are going, black vinyl could be the rarity. Some of the labels are calling a pressing a "limited" edition without saying how limited. I mean, nobody is gonna' press an LP forever, so just about everything is "limited." Pretty soon the public will get fed up and the record companies will search for a new gimmick. How about a record that shows cartoons between songs?

Intramural highlights

In the opening intramural football game this week at Ferguson High School, the EHO's held back a tough S.O.B. team (14 to 6).

Mike Thaxton scored by running back an interception thrown by the S.O.B. quarterback.

Randy Lint added 6 more to the EHO's score when he danced in from about the 25-yard line.

Sherman Dodson had the only score for the S.O.B.'s, catching a 10-yard pass for a touchdown.

The second game was very one-sided. The Head Hunters scored first, last, and in between. The final score was Head Hunters, 38; Riley's Bounty Hunters, 0.

The third and final game of the day pitted the strong O.T.H.G. against the newly-formed Bone Crushers. The Bone Crushers started off poorly, but came back later in the game. However, the comeback was not enough to dominate the O.T.H.G., who won 18-6.

Remember: Bowling sign-ups are still going on, so get your name or a team turned in soon. Turn all requests in to the Dean of Student Affairs Office or the Intramural Office in the gym.

Conditioning Club

Concerning activities, the club plans to sponsor a lecture series covering such topics as nutrition, dieting (for gaining and losing weight), weightlifting, bodybuilding, and beauty and skin care.

The club meetings are usually on Mondays at 12:30 p.m. in Room 106, Ratcliffe Gym; however, there will not be a meeting on October 2 because the club will be having a "health food" bake sale from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in the Campus Center hall. All students, faculty, and staff members are welcome to attend staff meetings.

I thought it was just a one-shot letter to the editor.

"This, too, will pass," I decided, and went on to other things.

It was only when the next issue of C.L. came out that it dawned on me: Rosemary is the pen name(?) of the writer of a column called The Eighteen Minute Gap.

Rosemary Who?

I can see that there is supposed to be deep philosophical meaning in all this. However, I would like to suggest that if the writer prefers not to use her full name she pick something like Raro or Eusebius, neither of whom is likely to have a twin on campus.

It so happens that this Rosemary is a writer too, but her specialty is not shooting poison darts at the CNC administration.

Rosemary Gainer

Dear Editor,

Underclassmen (Oops--underclasspersons!!!) often are so serious that they refuse to permit humor to in any way touch the institutions and/or disciplines they respect. While this may be a distinctive characteristic of some, maturity generally establishes others to realize that without humor even the most sacred institutions become "sacred cows."

An exercise of imagination, in this case humor, is an invaluable tool for survival. It can release tension by helping the realization that even as a carpet needs warf and woof (say each of those words ten times), college experience needs humor to produce humanly competent beings.

As one who qualifies as a member of the "Over the Hill Gang" may I suggest that if Rosemary's column assisted some students to overcome fears of the seriousness of college study she has gained a degree of maturity that can only be acquired by spending time as a rational, risable human being.

I look forward to Rosemary's review of Professor Humpertinck's annual dialogue with the students. If she survives that, nothing else life has to offer will faze her!!!

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter to express my disappointment and surprise at the administrative procedures utilized in the present student elections held at CNC.

I have personally participated in only three such elections, so my reference as to past procedures is limited. But even so, this year's elections were the most sloppy, haphazard, ill-thought arrangement I have seen.

I am referring to the "Put the dot on the ID card" method of voting control. How the student government views this as adequate and correct is a mystery to me! To have a mark on the voter's ID card as the control element in an outside election would be unheard of and flatly incorrect in my opinion. This is on par with having your driver's license stamped as proof of voting in a local election.

How simple it would have been to have the Computer Center run off a copy of those students who were eligible to vote at the voting table as the controlling factor.

I feel CNC is in most every respect a 'cut above the norm' when comparing local colleges. But I also think we could have better exemplified this with a little foresight and planning, particularly for something as important as the election of those representatives who will be the voice of the students.

Dear Editor,

This position paper is being developed in response to Bill Bell's suggestion in the Captain's Log's September 19, 1978 edition, that the Student Senate be liquidated.

I had an opportunity last year (1977-78 school year), as a member of the Student Senate, to observe much of what our Student Association President (Bill Bell) alludes to in his article. Like Bill, I too became very disappointed with the manner (or lack of it) in which last year's Student Senate functioned. However, unlike Bill, I did not come to the conclusion that the manner in which one academic school year's Student Senate behaved merited either the justification to continue or discontinue the Senate, per se. To me, to take the position Bill is taking regarding our Student Senate is as absurd as the Speaker of the House in the U.N. Congress proposing the liquidation of the U.S. Senate because it had what appeared to be an unexcusable non-productive year.

When one views the total history of the Student Senate and its contributions to CNC Government, one gets a completely different picture of the significance of the role of the Student Senate on this campus than when one does not. My research into the history of our own Student Senate yields stronger evidence to support its continuation than to demand its immediate liquidation. It is from this perspective that I respectfully request our Student Association President reconsider his present position pertaining to the liquidation of the Student Senate.

If my schoolmates think enough of me to return me to the Rosemary revealing herself.

Come on! You didn't expect me to give my name, did you? I mean, my ole man pulls a lot of time down at the Boat Factory ing a parking lot? There may be some erection going on in the parking lot, but you can't erect a whole parking lot! I mean, they don't have to imitate the National Enquirer and run headlines like "Caroline Kennedy Gets Sex Change Operation," or "Popping Zits Can Be a Killer," but they can do better than "Torch Passed to New SGA Officer."

Consider the cartoons, "Campus Cracks." The National Organization for Women ought to get them for that one. And just think, they even got a lady editor.

Hey, sports fans! Wanna' get the latest scores? Read the Daily Press, read Pravda, they'll cover more than these chumps. Speaking of Pravda, if you wanna' know about the USSR and that sort of thing, to an earthquake. I could go on, but you gotta' suffer through it every Tuesday already.

Things have gotten so bad lately that your ace reporter has even considered hanging it up--turning in my press pass. I mean, I come on like Woodward and Bernstein and what do they give me? Three columns on the next to last page with so many typo's that I don't even know what it says. And look what that photographer did to me--caught me in the act! They didn't have to print that, did they? Everybody's got their secret desires, right?

What about those sick-o's who wanna' "mess up my appearance"? I need more than one lousy security guard they gave me to take care of them. Of course, I can always rest to pay my tuition and I can't tell him I got kicked out for writing silly stories. So, don't believe everything you read, especially if you read it in the Admiral's Stump.

I mean I'm not into biting the hand that feeds me or anything like that, but I ain't exactly enchanted about working for these misers. I mean, I don't mind the typo's, a little jaundiced journalism now and again or those classifieds by all those twirps who gotta' advertise for a roommate, but I expect to collect a few ducats for my labors.

Have you seen that rag lately? With exciting headlines like "Board Approves '78-'79 Budget," and a thrilling picture of the new library addition with the inevitable caption, "The March to Progress," it's no wonder they got to give the thing away. I wouldn't pay a dime for that turkey to put it on the floor for my cat! Take the highlights of a typical edition. Where should I start? How 'bout that swell headline like "New Parking Lot Erected"? I mean, who ever heard of erect-take a look at "From the Dip." Better yet, read all the words under across and down for the crossword puzzle. It'll make about as much sense as these articles.

Attention job seekers--wanna' cut grass for $1.50 an hour or be a babysitter for nine hyperactive morons? Or maybe your thing is food clerk in the cafeteria. Landscapers and dishwashers are in great demand, too! If you want a job, the Admiral's Stump can help you. It'll give you something to put over your face while you're lying down on the bench waiting for the Unemployment Office to open.

Of course, the classifieds are not a total loss. You might even pick up a little spare change doing some "art" modeling for some creep who likes to pay to look at it. If you want someone to tutor you in bowling, this may be your best bet. But if you're depending on the classifieds to sell something, you might as well make up your mind to give it away right now--they couldn't sell tickets safely with the NNPD on the case.

And the letters--they go right to the heart. I am so upset! Here I am calling the shots like I see 'em, and they're screaming "slander"! Doesn't anybody care about the truth anymore?

So, dear readers, unless I get some public support in the form of signed letters real soon, I'm going to seriously consider that offer from Currents to be editor of their porno page.

So, keep them cards and letters comin' in. Write to:

Ed. note: Applications are being taken for Rosemary's replacement.

Senate this year, I will be one Senator who will do all that there is within my power to insure that what was said about last year's Student Senate's performance will not be said in truth about this year's Student Senate performance. I feel confident that my colleagues in this year's Senate will join me in this effort.

Dear Editor,

This is just a brief note to commend your fine newspaper on the "18 Minute Gap" column. It's an especially fine example of good satirical humor. It's true I've heard some complaints about it but I don't think they're justified.

Of course, it's easy for me to speak since I haven't been the target of any of "Rosemary's" barbs, but . . . I have? . . . Where? . . . 5 Sept., Point 9: . . . don't buy any of that song and dance routine about Professor of the year . . . ?? HEY--Wait a minute--what's THAT supposed to mean?!? I mean, just where does that cheap RAG of yours get off printing stuff like that? I'll sue! Satire my foot--that's getting personal, something I NEVER do. And just who is the cheap floozy who's cranking out this dull garbage, anyway? Or is it some male hiding behind a woman's name? Probably is if I know your staff--and I do.

The trouble with you people is, you're ingrates who don't appreciate the long, hard hours we put in slaving away to get ready to try to teach you turkeys something, and . . . Oh, oh, there's the bell. I'll have to close here; I've only got 10 minutes to write a lecture for my next class.

an Foreign Minister tells the world that Secretary of State Vance's trip to Damascus "will make no difference whatever, absolutely none," to the presidents of Algeria, Libya, South Yemen, and the leader of the PLO in their decisions to reverse this "Catastrophe" for all Arab nations.

Just what the decision entails is not clear, but judging from the PLO's past track record we can look forward (?) to renewed violence on the international scene. after all, why should we not? If the Palestinian question is settled, then the thin veil of moral justification for the actions of the PLO will vanish. What cause, then, can they claim for their slaughters on airliners, in airport terminals, kibbutzes with their women and children, the peoples of France, England, West Germany and a host of others?

God bless the peacemakers because they are most certainly going to need it.
