Volume VI, Number 15

Green Named Editor-in-Chief

Martin L. Green, Jr., a Business major concentrating in Management, has been selected by the senior members of the Captain's Log and the Dean of Student Affairs to succeed Stuart Smith as Editor-in-Chief of the Captain's Log. Green, who prefers to be called Martin, stated that "our out-going editor has made significant improvements in the quality of the paper and in its purpose and with the aid of the staff, I hope to maintain, if not exceed, this standard of excellence."

Martin says that he wants to present more comprehensive coverage of sports events of all types, academic matters of interest, and human interest coverage of campus life and activities. He says that the editorial page will be used to express the opinions of both the student body, and the faculty as well. He also feels that more extensive coverage of club functions are warranted if they

"Realizing that the staff of the Captain's Log can not possibly cover all the activities on campus," says Martin, "I hope that the student body and faculty will submit articles of interest for publication: news coverage, play reviews, and some photos. Together we can publish the type of paper you want—alone, we can only publish what we think everyone wants."

First December Graduation Scheduled

Christopher Newport College will hold its first mid-session graduation on December 22 at 2:30 pm. Approximately 90 students will be eligible to participate.

Pete Brooks and Andrea Smallidge are the prime motivators of this event. After petitioning eligible seniors, they presented the proposal to Dr. James Windsor, President of the College. Further approval was obtained by Dr. Windsor from the Graduation Committee and from the Board of Visitors.

About half of the graduating seniors have indicated that they will participate. Since this is a first for the College, there is a great deal of attention focused on the event. The faculty and administration support the occasion strongly and they are quite willing to give up vacation time to put in the extra effort that will make the exercises a success.

A growth in the number of December graduates has made the mid-year graduation possible, according to Brenda C. Blount, registrar. This December class is larger than the August 1974 class. With a continued growth in the December graduates, the semester may be moved up or back a week to allow more vacation time before Christmas.

Future December graduations will depend on the response of the December graduates this year. If enough graduating seniors take part in the exercises, others may have the same opportunity in the future.

Retroactive Pay Raises Approved for Veterans

by Martin L. Green, Jr.

Campus veterans and other veterans in colleges around the nation will be getting an early Christmas present this year in the form of a retroactive pay increase under the GI education program.

Retroactive payments will range from around $200 for a single veteran to around $150 for a veteran with two dependents. Veterans with only one dependent will pick up around $250 for the four month period.

"I think it's great," was the comment from Jim Eyre when asked what he thought of the pay raise. He said, "The veterans are way behind in comparison to what others earn. You just couldn't live on what the veteran was earning, this pay increase will help some."

CNC Choir Impressive in Christmas Concert, Melodies Create Joy, Warmth

by Faith Ann Gibson

The CNC Choir was impressive with the quality of music it presented at its annual Christmas concert on Sunday December 8. The audience consisted of about 125 people, mostly parents and friends. Only a few CNC students attended.

The first two sections of the concert made me rather apprehensive as the choir seemed nervous. This was a normal stage nervousness but a feeling due to an unavoidable circumstance that had occurred earlier in the day.

There had been a delay in obtaining the piano due to a misplaced piano key. However this event did not affect the joyous music heard throughout the auditorium.

The joy of Christmas seemed to enter into the hearts of the audience during the final portion of the program when everyone was invited to sing along with the choir. The atmosphere became very warm and relaxed. The most well received joy during the entire program was when the choir director, Mary Thompson, received a bouquet of red roses from her students.

Peninsula Civic Opera Holds 40th Anniversary Gala Celebration

by Douglas P. Ferris

Opera, distinct in its performance and image, was performed at times at its best when the Peninsula Civic Opera held its 40th Anniversary Gala at the Sheraton Coliseum Inn on November 30.

Starting with the title of the event, Gala or 'Champagne Night' proved to be the first disappointment. For an art that prides itself on articulation, a more ill adept Mistress of Ceremonies could not be found. Stumbling over words, reading constantly and almost completely burying the English language, Lorraine Morewitz, despite her good intentions, should have left the job to someone else.

With the program now in my hands, I felt at ease for there before me was the name of Richard Berlin. Berlin was to give the first performance of the night, a baritone solo by Handel, which could not have pleased me more (or witz). Unfortunately, Berlin's performance was less than stirring or even slightly moving.

Through the next five performances, things steadily ran down hill.

Redemption was soon at hand for the PCO at the hands, or rather voices, of Cheryl Brown and Anton Disselkoen. Performing a Puccinni duet, Ms. Brown and Mr. Disselkoen filled the stale room with a vibrance that all the others had missed.

Robert Crutchfield opened with a tenor solo from "Faust" by Gounod for the final portion of the show. The performance given by Mr. Crutchfield was what one comes to expect of good opera. Later performances by Sonya Bloch and Elena de Alba were also notable

Before Misses Breeze and Rowe gave their solos, the gathering was treated to a May-December duet by Ann Czarnecki and Robert Bauman. She, timid and withdrawn, and he daring and perisitent, comically portrayed the characters from Mozart's "Don Giovanni." Since age and experience are an asset in opera, the older Bauman's polish showed more than the younger Czarnecki's. But no mistake could be made about this duet; he, self-assured and well-voiced, complemented his younger partner, who, while not as mature in voice, was well schooled in the art of opera.

The highpoint of the evening was the appearance of both former masters of the art, Frances Breeze and Ann Rowe. Ms. Breeze's selection by Menotti, "To This We've Come" from THE CONSUL, tells the story of a woman trapped by the bureaucracy which demands only more paperwork when she asks for information. The story, like most opera, is filled with emotion, not only in voice, but in movement and facial expression. This and much more are handled with the touch of the master which is embodied in the strength and presence of Ms. Breeze.

Ann Rowe's portrayal of a young woman forced to leave

Semi-formal Dance Will Feature 'Slapwater Jack'

The annual winter semi-formal dance will be held this year on Friday, December 20, from 9 p.m.- 1 a.m. in the women's gym.

The local group "Slapwater Jack" will supply music for the dance. Admission is $3.00 and tickets may be purchased at the door (no advance sales). The dance, sponsored by the freshman class, is BYOB but mixers and snacks will be provided.

CNC STUDENTS ARE INVITED TO TNCC DANCE

The Executive Branch of the SGA and the President of Phi Beta Lambda of Thomas Nelson Community College invite CNC students to attend the first annual Christmas Dance to be held in the new Student Union Building at 8:00 pm Friday, December 13.

Advance tickets are $1.00 at the TNCC SGA office, or

$1.50 at the door. HUNGER will provide music for the dance. Sherry Akers, SGA Vice-President at Thomas Nelson, said that this is the first in a series of efforts to promote cooperation between the two colleges in entertainment.

CNC had previously opened the Sunday Film Series to the students of Thomas Nelson.

The cooperative effort is a direct outgrowth of the December 2nd meeting of the Campus Center Committees, including CNC, Thomas Nelson and Hampton Institute.

HOLIDAY HOURS ANNOUNCED

The Campus Center and cafeteria will maintain their regular hours of operation thru December 20.

From December 21 thru January 19, the Campus Center will be closed on all Saturdays and Sundays. It will be closed while the college is closed: December 25 thru January 1. On the remaining weekdays from December 23 thru January 17, the Campus Center will be open from 8:00 am to 4:00 pm. The Campus Center will be open for the Sunday Movies only on January 5, 12, and 19 at 2:00 pm and at 7:30 pm.

The cafeteria will be closed from December 21 thru January 12. Beginning Monday January 13, the cafeteria is open 8:00 am to 4:00 pm.

The Campus Center and the cafeteria will resume their regular schedule on January 20, 1975.

ARONSOHN FAMILY THANKS FRIENDS OF DAUGHTER

The Aronsohn family wishes to thank the faculty, students and friends of Lee Aronsohn, a political science major at CNC interested in going into law who was killed in a motorcycle accident in October, for their kindness.

The Aronsohn family, with deep appreciation, "Thanks you for your many cards, letters and expressions of sympathy. CNC was a bright spot in Lee's life."

Wheelhouse Considered Success, New Morning String Band Will End Semester

To say that the Wheelhouse is a success would be an understatement. Manager Terry Shannon, when asked if he would call it an unqualified success, replied that he would go beyond that and declared that he had been here five years and had never seen anything like it.

One problem does exist, however, which comes from a few people who cannot follow a few simple rules. It must be remembered that no alcoholic beverages may be brought into the cafeteria area. Due to the nature of the beer license, the Wheelhouse could be put out of business by the ABC Board.

Wednesday night, as part of an end of the semester celebration, the New Morning String Band will perform from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. in the Wheelhouse. There will be a $1.00 cover charge.

by Pat Roof

If some time you happen to be chatting in the corridor and note a quick little man in a blue suit dashing and dodging between you en route to class, it is probably Mr. Mazzarella.

Mazzarella is a new face at CNC if your face is new, too. Although he has taught here for four years, he has been on a leave of absence for the past two years doing research and writing on his doctorate dissertation at American University in Washington, DC.

Anyone who knows him or is fortunate enough to take any of his history courses, can readily admit to Mazzarella's enthusiasm for history which he says is "definitely genuine." His abundant energy and vitality both in the classroom and in his outside involvements characterize his Italian heritage and are a delightful compliment to the classroom.

He acknowledges the fact that teaching history is his major interest. "The whole purpose of an education is to get people to examine guidelines by which they live...to live a full life," he noted.

Mazzarella is a native of North Providence, Rhode Island. He received his BA degree in 1962 from Providence College with a major in education, and a minor in social studies. His desire at that time was to teach at the high school level. He received his MA in European History from the University of Rhode Island in 1965, and immediately joined the United States Army. The army sent him to Asia for a little over a year from which Mazzarella recounts many memorable experiences.

His time spent in Korea and Japan raised an interest in Oriental art, and he now claims to have collected several notable pieces. However Mazzarella also has a special interest in all other arts, especially nineteenth century, Renaissance and Baroque music, and he tries to comprehend most modern art, including Picasso.

After his discharge from the Army in 1966, Mazzarella began his residence study at American University for his PhD in Modern European History. In 1969, he noted an advertisement for a teaching position at CNC and in response came to Newport News to fill the position.

Mazzarella readily admits that he enjoys teaching here and is happy in the area. He hopes to receive his PhD in about two years, and he will continue to teach in a classroom situation.

He succinctly expresses his desire in the statement "My goal is to keep minds alive intellectually and history is a valuable study for his purpose. History is a reflection in the nature of man."

Mazzarella has surely contributed a great deal to the history department at this school and it is hoped he will continue in his effort.

Captains Win Over Hornets 75-72 in Overtime Play

by Doug Ferris

Taking the first half big with a score of 37-24, CNC's Captains kept the lead until the last two minutes of the game with the buzzer bucket coming from Greensboro's star Clarence Caldwell to tie up the score 66-66.

The scoring started with David Holley stealing the ball and ramming it in for a score. From then on it was all Captains. The pace of the game was kept in time by Vaughn's men as they kept the bucket hot and the defense hotter.

The key to any game that the Captain's play is controlled defense balanced with a patient offense that is always looking for the percentage shot. For the first half the Greensboro Hornets couldn't break the pace and they had difficulty preventing the Captains from running away with it before the first buzzer.

Caldwell, who went on to score 34 points in regular and overtime play, was kept to only four in the first half. The Hornets found it so rough in the early going that for every two points scored by their team they also had one foul.

Near tragedy almost upset the Captains when forward Tom Kilpatrick hit the floor and busted open a cut over his left eye. After a trip to the hospital and a few stitches Tommy was back for the second half action.

The second half began well for the Captains, who again outscored their opponents in the opening minutes, but later, with six minutes gone, the Captains lead was in danger. The lead ballooned at one point to thirteen, then is started to dwindle.

Caldwell started to work his magic to make up for his first half shutout. Shooting under the basket, in the corner from the free throw line, Caldwell was almost perfect. It looked as if the Hornets had come to play ball after all, and all they had to do was to feed it to number 33. Hitting about 89% of his shots from the line and almost all of his shots from the field, he nearly spelled doom for the Captains. Combine Caldwell's talents with those of number 25, Rick Ballard, and the threat was even worse.

The Hornets were to be denied, though, as Vaughn's practice of patience robbed the Hornets of their last attempt at a shot with the ball going to the Captains for a score with less than twelve seconds on the clock. Score was then 66-64, Captains, and Greensboro in possession of the ball. Caldwell got the ball in the corner with two seconds left, shot, and it was overtime for the Captains.

The Hornets scored first in overtime while the Captains failed to sink the bucket to tie the match. Then the Hornets tried to freeze, but that failed. Fouling and missing shots, the Hornets lost the ball and the lead to the Captains. It was David Holley and Sherwin Green who sank the final buckets that the Hornets couldn't answer even with the help of Caldwell. A final turnover gave the ball back to the our Captains with seven seconds in the overtime...and then it was all over. Final score, 75-72.

From the statistics it can be seen that the Captains' philosophy of balanced scoring proved itself again. Almost everyone scored with the high mark going to Bob West. West shot for 16, while Green dumped in 15. Hutcheson had 10, Doug Baggett tallied 9 and David Holley 8.

Last week, in the season opener against Hampton Institute, Bob West saw his first workout with the Captains. I made mention that Bob lacked confidence and control; well if miracles only take a week to happen then I hope we have more weeks like this one for the team as a whole. Under the boards, on defense and in the scoring column, Bob put it all together that night. He found his legs and no longer looked like the new foal who is just learning to walk. But it wasn't all Bob or Sherwin or Tommy, Dave, Kyle, David, Doug, Phil, Stephen, or even Mike. It was the whole that won with the help of many.

Captains Sink Spartans 77-58, Green

High-scorer with 22

By Robby Duncan

Last Friday night, December 6, the Christopher Newport basketball team did everything but escort UNC-G to their bus after the game with a 77-58 win over the Spartans.

Leading the way in perhaps the best executed game of the early season was all-conference star Sherwin Green who scored 22 points and pulled in 14 rebounds. Defensive wizard Tommy Kilpatrick added a career high of 14 and Doug Baggett poured in 12.

Transfer center from Ferrum Junior College, Bob West, scored ten points in what he felt was a strong team effort.

"We played good defense and we forced them out of their game plan and had them playing ours," West noted. "They were a good team which was evident as they were hitting from 18 feet in the last ten minutes of play, but we just were in control," West explained.

Coach Vaughan had emptied the bench by the end of the first half, with all players except one hitting the scoring column.

Vaughan said, "This is our best overall game, and I am very proud of the fine job our men did tonight in containing a tough UNC-G team."

open its season this Thursday, December 12, at Norfolk State.

Hoping to carry the load along with returning cagers Susan Wilkes, Myra Smith, Cathy Garrison and Susan Henry is the Captainettes leading scorer, Diane Slye. Selected as a conference all-star, Diane was the team's leading scorer last year with a better than 18 point average per game.

"We are looking forward to a winning season this year," noted Coach Mary Lu Royall. "All of the girls seem to have a good attitude and are ready to play, however, we could use some more depth on the team," she added.

The Captainettes seem to be stronger with Karen Gleaton filling the center position. Gleaton is the tallest player ever to play on the team. Karen looks to be a starter because of her determination and consistency in play," stated Miss Royall.

Playing women's basketball, especially in college, takes a great deal of dedication. Many of the players work and some even have families to look after. Factors such as these make it difficult for the team to organize a convenient time for all of the players to practice in the gym. When they do get together, everything is taken seriously and basketball is played the way it is supposed to be played.

All of the games this season are free and open to the public. "We have had great support from the athletic department, and now all we need is some school support," said Miss Royall.

'The Great American Hero' to Play December 16

A special student night has been scheduled for the musical revue, "The Great American Hero," December 16 at 8:30 pm with area students to receive reduced admission at $1.00 each.

Tickets will be available at the box office and reservations may be obtained by calling the theatre.

A stet period will follow the performance for those of the audience who have questions about putting together an original musical revue.

Regular performances will be held December 13-15, sponsored by the Hampton Roads Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol. The show will be presented at the Campus Center Theatre at CNC.

"The Great American Hero" deals with the greats of the past, ranging from Tarzan and Superman to Casanova and Tex Dylan, the man who won the Golden West. Heroes of today will be represented by musical superstars David Glitter and David Decadence.

Starring as the 18 heroes is Car Cole, repeating his widely-acclaimed performance in the August premiere of the new show. Also playing major roles are Mamie Ruth Hitchens, Barbara Ann Powell, Mary Lang-Lipp, Theresa Trigg, Tim Norman, Debbie Powell, and Kathi Fox.

VIBES

by Dan Kooi

Since this is my last review as well as the end of the year, I consider this an opportune time to go over some of the best albums I've discovered over the past year or so. Since I've covered diverse areas of music, I have decided it would be best to recommend a selection or two in each of these areas so no taste within my range of musical familiarity is slighted.

Rock: Two albums that really stand out here are "Dragon Fly" by Jefferson Starship (Grunt Records BFLI-0717) and Lynyrd Skynyrd's "Second Helping" (MCA Records MCA 413). The former is an almost perfect collection from open to close of heavy rock with some of the smoothest guitar and violin leads that can be heard today. Grace Slick's vocals supply everything else you could desire.

Lynyrd Skynyrd on the other hand is not a smooth sound but rather a highly active one, the kind that brings you back for several concerts. Theirs is possibly the finest new southern rock sound around with more excitement than any other two groups. Both records should be played loud.

Jazz: When I think of jazz, Billy Cobham and his album "Spectrum" (Atlantic SD 7268) always pop into my head. The former Mahavishnu drummer has put out what I consider to be the culmination of jazz-rock music to date. If electronic jazz interests you at all, I say this one is the one to own.

In a more standard jazz frame, the Crusaders have really come into their own this year. You can either lay back and enjoy or really get into their "Scratch" album (Blue Thumb BTS 6010). Once you own this don't hesitate to check out their brand new release, "Southern Comfort" (Blue Thumb BTS 9002-2). Some really mellow horns and fine keyboards are all over these albums.

Easy Listening: If you occasionally go for a fine wine with a candlelight dinner, then you will certainly want Roberta Flack's "Killing Me Softly" album complimenting the atmosphere (Atlantic SD 7271). With her rich voice, easy instrumentals, you suddenly get the benefits of a quiet nightclub without the drawback of the presence of other people!

Blues: There are two nice ways to go with blues, that "oooh so good'n blues" sound of Taj Mahal (Columbia KC 326 00) or the other way. Taj Mahal plays the basics, the roots of blues, without electronics and with an upright bass strummin' in the background. This is "Buck Dancers Choice" and Willie Dixon or Mississippi John Hurt music with the difference of a fine new recording.

The other way to go in blues has to be with Roy Buchanan on his "Second Album" (Polydor PD 5046). This is blues guitar at its best, the kind that "talks and sings, cries and even prays" as once said in Rolling Stone. Roy's blues gets so down it can bring you up, 'cause you know you're not that sad. This is not only excellent blues, Roy is one of the finest guitarists alive today, an evident fact on this album.

Folk Rock: There is only one group to know about in this area since late 1973---Loggins and Messina. Both the "Full Sail" album (Columbia PC 33175) have been so superior to other groups in this style it's not even a competitive category. "Mother Lode," as I stated in a recent review, is possibly the best album out this year of the types I've reviewed. It is certainly one of those I would take to an island with me if I could only keep five.

Speaking of five albums, I would have a hard time selecting from just the ten I've mentioned, but certainly some Crusaders, some Loggins and Messina, and a bit of Roy Buchanan would be in order. As I close this last review I hope I've helped your Christmas shopping or your heads or both. As for heads, this new Crusaders album I've got on is sure helping mine.

VETERANS' HOT LINE: Questions And Answers On Education Benefits And Problems

QUESTION: I am currently enrolled full time but starting with the Spring Term I will change to half time. When will my rate of payment change?

ANSWER: If you remain enrolled at the same school, the rate of pay will change effective the first day of the Spring Semester. The half time rate will start Jan. 20.

QUESTION: A previous question indicated that a serviceman is paid at a different rate. Is there any difference in the way entitlement is charged?

ANSWER: There is no basic difference between a veteran and a serviceman in charging entitlement. A serviceman is charged entitlement for the number of semester hours for which he is enrolled. For example: 12 or more hours, full time; 9-11 hours 3/4 time, 6-8 1/2 time; 3-5 1/4 time.

* * *

QUESTION: During August I received an advance check to cover the months of September and October in the fall term. Will I receive an advance check for the months of January and February in the Spring term?

ANSWER: No. Your enrollment has been certified straight thru the school year. Therefore, you will receive a check the first of every month.

* * *

QUESTION: There is one course that I want but it isn't being offered here. It is being offered, though, at another nearby school and I will be able to fit it into a workable schedule. Will the VA pay for this course?

ANSWER: If you are currently enrolled full time at CNC, the answer is no. But if you are enrolled for less than full time, it may be possible provided you receive permission from CNC and a statement that you will be granted full credit for the course at the other school. Check with Mrs. Harrison in the Admissions Office before making any arrangements.

Downing Joins Effort to Return POW/MIA's

First District Congressman Thomas Downing has recently joined the VIVA National Honorary Advisory Committee. Downing joined with over a hundred other Senators and Congressmen on the Committee.

Mr. Sidney Adair, Chairperson of VIVA, welcomed the Congressmen to the Committee by saying, "It is most important that our elected officials give the Prisoners of War and Missing in Action their No. 1 priority. By becoming a part of the Advisory Board, Congressman Downing is showing his sense of responsibility and concern for the men listed as Prisoners of War and Missing in Action."

Adair went on to say only a united effort on the part of all Americans will cause the North Vietnamese with their allies to return any possibly remaining Prisoners of War and account for those Missing in Action. This includes journalists, and other civilians as well as military men.

Congressman Downing was presented with a Certificate of Recognition and Appreciation by VIVA (Voices in Vital America). It read "..... for your significant efforts on behalf of the Americans in Southeast Asia who are held captive or missing."

VIVA is a National, non-profit, non-political organization dedicated to resolving the POW/MIA question. It has, over the years, distributed the POW/MIA bracelets, bumper stickers, brochures, buttons and monthly publication "The Voice."

Congressman Downing has joined with VIVA in trying to resolve this problem that is succinctly stated by POW returnee Commander Brian Woods, "It is my personal hope that America does not forget the MIA's. I am not naive enough to believe that they are all alive, but I am intelligent enough to know some are."

OF YOUR TIME
COULD SAVE A FRIEND'S LIFE.

In the time it takes to drive your friend home, you could save his life.

If your friend's been drinking too much, he shouldn't be driving.

The automobile crash is the number one cause of death of people your age. And the ironic thing is that the drunk drivers responsible for killing young people are most often other young people.

Take ten minutes. Or twenty. Or an hour. Drive your friend home. That's all. If you can't do that, call a cab. Or let him sleep on your couch.

We're not asking you to be a doctor or a cop. Just a friend.
