Memorial Bench honors Dean William Polis

by Cheryl Seymore

Thursday, September 27, marked the placement of the Dean Polis Memorial Bench, sponsored by the Alumni Association.

Dean Polis is remembered by CNC as a long-term Dean of Student Affairs until his death in 1978.

David Lyons, a member of the Alumni Board of Directors, reported "approximately $1000 in donations were given for this memorial bench by current students, alumni and various garden clubs in the area."

The bench is located to the right as one approaches the side door of the Campus Center, facing Newport Hall. According to Lyons, however, the Alumni Association plans to relocate the bench to a larger space where they will plant shrubbery purchased with additional funds left from the donations for the bench.

Lyons added, "We hope students will take a few minutes and sit on it."

Kappa Nu opens CNC's first frat house

by Cheryl Seymore

Marking a first for CNC, Kappa Nu Fraternity has secured a fraternity house, located on Forrest Drive in Newport News.

According to Ronnie Slone, Vice President of Kappa Nu, "There really wasn't too much of a procedure in order to obtain the house. We discussed the idea with the administration and we explained the situation with the neighbors on Forrest Drive. Everyone seemed to be in favor of us having the fraternity house."

Fraternity members have been working on the landscape as well as providing furniture for the inside. According to Slone, "Money hasn't been much of a problem as most of it comes from membership dues."

Kappa Nu holds every function at the house, except for formal meetings. Phi Kappa Sigma, the sister sorority, also holds several of their social functions at the house.

At present, Kappa Nu consists of 20 members. "This week, however," according to Slone, "we are pledging new members. Membership is based on academic standing at CNC, as well as a willingness to work for the fraternity."

In the past Kappa Nu has sponsored various picnics, as well as a Casino Night, which they plan to hold again. Slone also added that the fraternity "helped with the construction of various wheelchair ramps on campus as well as the purchase of the soccer scoreboard."

Ralph recovers

We would like to express our appreciation to all of you who expressed concern over Ralph's deteriorating health last week.

Emergency life-saving procedures were administered on Thursday, after the Log had gone to press, and Ralph managed to hold his own until a qualified technician arrived yesterday to undertake a thorough evaluation.

To those of you who complained about all the errors in last week's issue . . . well, we did all we could, but some things are not humanly possible. It takes a machine

Colloquia features Virginia Woolf, critic and Oscar winner

The Dean William Parks Memorial Colloquia Committee has announced its first program of the academic year. Running from Oct. 9 through Oct. 12, the film classic program will feature two evening showings of Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf and daytime appearances by Professor David Thomson of Dartmouth and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor Warner, one of the four stars of the film.

Virginia Woolf, directed by Mike Nichols and adapted from the play by Edward Albee, stars Richard Burton, George Segal, Sandy Dennis, and Mrs. Warner. It has been highly acclaimed for its dramatic qualities since its release by Warner Bros. in 1966. The compelling story of two middle-aged couples in crises, the film received numerous awards, including an Academy Award for Mrs. Warner as Best Actress of the Year. It is in constant demand by college audiences across the nation.

Professor Thomson, a noted expert on film and a practicing film critic, is the author of seven books, including four on movie-making. He is presently Assistant Professor of Film at Dartmouth College, having previously taught at New England College in Vermont.

Mrs. Warner, who also won an Academy Award as Best Actress for her performance in Butterfield Eight in 1960, has been a Hollywood star since childhood appearances in Lassie Come Home and National Velvet. She has starred in such memorable films as A Place in the Sun (1952), Giant (1956), Raintree County (1957), Cat on a Hot Tin Roof (1958), Suddenly Last Summer (1959), Cleopatra (1963), and The Taming of the Shrew (1967). Mrs. Warner will discuss Virginia Woolf from a performer's vantage point.

The evening showings of Virginia Woolf will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 9 and 10, in the Campus Center Theatre at 7:00 p.m.

Professor Thomson will address the faculty and student body at 12:15 on Thursday, Oct. 11, in the Campus Center Theatre.

Because Mrs. Warner is visiting the CNC campus as an artist and will speak specifically to the making of Virginia Woolf, only those members of the college community who have attended one of the scheduled showings of the film in the theatre will be admitted to her talk on Friday noon. Numbered tickets to a total of 380 (the capacity of the theatre) will be distributed at the conclusion of each showing until they are gone. These tickets will be required for attendance at Mrs. Warner's talk. There will be no exceptions to this arrangement, according to Dr. James Morris, chairman of the Dean's Colloquia Committee. Mrs. Warner has requested that the audience be limited to the capacity of the theatre to enable her to address the students and answer their questions with facility, and the Committee will honor her request. The showings of the film and attendance at Mrs. Warner's talk will not be open to the general public to assure that members of the CNC community will be given priority during her appearance on campus.

The Dean's Colloquia Committee has also set up a number of outstanding programs for the year and will announce them in the near future.

Peninsula Nature & Science Center offers three workshops next month

The Peninsula Nature and Science Center will be sponsoring a special safari and two workshops during the month of November.

"Star Safari," an evening study of the fall season's stars and constellations will be offered on November 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Center. Guided observation through our 14" Celestron telescope will follow the planetarium program for a limited sized group. Members are admitted free, while there is a $3.00 fee for non-members. Rain-date is Saturday, November 17.

"Fingermath Workshop" will introduce the new and simple Finger Calculation Method of Acquiring Mathematics, called Chisanbop, in a special workshop for 5-7 year-olds at the Peninsula Nature and Science Center on November 12, 13, and 14 from 3:30-4:30 p.m. The same program for 8-10 year-olds will be held November 19, 20, and 21 from 3:30-4:30 p.m. Cost is $6.00 for members and $10.00 for non-members.

A how-to workshop on setting up a saltwater aquarium will be held on Wed., November 28 from 7:00-9:00 p.m. This workshop will provide all the information you need to know to set up and maintain your very own saltwater aquarium. The minimum age for attending is 11 years old. Cost for members is $3.00 and $5.00 for non-members.

Registration is necessary for all programs at the Center. For more information, please contact Barbara Barnes at 595-1900.

Faculty forum resumes

Christopher Newport College and WGH-FM have resumed broadcasts of their radio discussion program Faculty Forum. As before, Faculty Forum will feature faculty members from all the colleges in the Tidewater area. Professor James M. Morris of CNC's history department will again be host and moderator of the show. Vianne Webb of WGH-FM will continue as producer.

The following programs have been scheduled for the remainder of October:

Oct. 10, Dr. William D. Wolf, CNC, "English Playwrights Discovered"; Oct. 17, Dr. Raymond J. Jirran, TNCC, "Black Identity: A Continuing Process"; Oct. 24, Dr. Darwin Bostick, ODU, "What Makes the British So British?"; Oct. 31, Dr. H.

Marshall Booker, CNC, "The Energy Problem Can Be Solved."

Faculty Forum is aired each Wednesday evening at 10:00 p.m. For additional information about this program, call 599-7121.

Brockett presents paper

Dr. James Hines and Dr. Clyde W. Brockett of the Department of Fine and Performing Arts will attend the fall meeting of the American Musicological Society-Southeast Chapter at Duke University Oct. 6.

Dr. Brockett will present a paper on Renaissance music entitled "A 'Third Rhetoric': Declamation in the Chanson between 1500 and 1535" at this meeting.

Career Planning & Placement

The Office of Career Planning and Placement provides an invaluable service to the students at CNC who are in the process of job-hunting.

Peggy Burdine, past president of the Alpha Kappa Psi National Business Fraternity, had this to say:

"The Career Planning and Placement Office serves as a valuable tool for the students of CNC and the businesses in the Tidewater area. This office provides the necessary link between these two factors. There can be no greater or more important position to have on this campus than to notify the students and graduates of the employment opportunities which await them. After all, the purpose of education is not only to widen our horizons esthetically, but also practically."

The Placement Office is more than just a connection between business and the students. Bill Hart, a student at CNC, commented: "The Office of Career Planning and Placement provided me with all the information I could have possibly needed in my desired field of employment, which is federal law enforcement."

"In just ten minutes, I received brochures and other reading materials that would have taken weeks to gather on my own."

Pete Smith, a CNC graduate, sums everything up in two sentences:

"Your Placement Office offers a wealth of information to aid you in your search [for jobs]. This is one area where we can't afford to be apathetic!"

The Office of Career Planning and Placement would like to call your attention to the various services offered to students:

- (1) Telephone directories from 130 cities of the United States.
- (2) Periodicals such as the Wall Street Journal and Business Week
- (3) Some of the books available in the Placement library: Vocational Biographies --detailed description of over 600 careers;

What Color is Your Parachute?--a practical manual for job hunters and career changers; Professional Resume/Job Search Guide--prepared by Management Counselors, Inc., this guide is based on the solid experience of working with many hundreds of men and women in professional resume preparation, position search activities, job counsel and placement; Occupational Outlook Handbook--answers such questions as what does a person actually do on the job; what abilities and interests does the job call for; what kind of schooling and other training is required for the job; what are the working conditions like; and most importantly, what will be the job opportunities in coming years?

(4) Literature from over 100 different companies

(5) Assistance provided in preparing resumes

(6) Continuous effort made to obtain jobs from businesses, educational institutions and government agencies

(7) Assist alumni in gaining employment

The Office of Career Planning and Placement's newsletter will be discontinued until further notice due to budgetary cuts. All information concerning full-time and part-time jobs, recruiting schedules, and announcements such as the PACE exam will be featured in the Captain's Log. It is with regret that this action has to take place at this time.

We have received word from the U.S. Office of Personnel Management that the PACE program will not reopen until after January 1, 1980.

The recruiting schedule is as follows:

10/15/79, Keebler Company, accepting all majors for sales-merchandising positions; 10/16/79, Goodman & Company, CPA's, accepting all majors for entry-level staff accounting positions; 10/24 & 25/79, U.S. Marine Corps, accepting all majors; 10/25/79, Xerox Corporation, accepting all majors for sales positions.

Family Education Rights and Privacy Act Explained

The September 13 issue of the Captain's Log included an announcement submitted by Operation Self-Help concerning the organization of a carpooling program for students. This program was to include the names and addresses of students for the purpose of allowing persons interested in carpooling an information source as to the students living in their area.

Since this announcement was run, several people have voiced complaints that this would violate the Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. The announcement stated that those persons wishing not to have names included to contact the Operation Self-Help Office.

Listed below is the Notification Concerning the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, submitted by John McCaughey, Director of the Registrar's Office.

The College is to inform enrolled students annually of their rights under the terms of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. The Act does not apply to students admitted to the College who have not officially enrolled.

It is hereby reaffirmed that the College's policies and procedures are in full compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, whereby each student's right to the privacy of his or her official College records and access to the same is assured.

Enrolled students have the following rights under the law:

1. The right of access to his or her official College records. Under terms of the Act the College is not required to make available to students the following materials:

- a. Confidential letters of recommendation placed in the student's files before January 1, 1975, and those letters for which student has signed a waiver of his or her right of access.

- b. Parents' confidential financial statements.

- c. Medical, psychiatric, or similar records "which are created, maintained, or used only in connection with the provision of treatment to the student and are not available to anyone other than persons providing such treatment; provided, however, that such records can be personally reviewed by a physician or other appropriate professional of the student's choice."

- d. Personal files and records of members of faculty or administrative personnel, "which are in the sole possession of the maker thereof and which are not accessible or revealed to any person except a substitute."

- e. Records of the Admissions Office concerning students admitted but not yet enrolled at the College. Letters of recommendation are removed from the Admissions files before the files are forwarded to the Registrar's Office.

2. The right to inspect and review his or her official College records.

3. The right to a response from the College to reasonable requests for explanations and interpretations of his or her official records.

4. The right to an opportunity for a hearing to challenge the accuracy or appropriateness of his or her official records. The hearing procedures are available through the Office of Student Affairs.

5. Christopher Newport College accords all rights under the law to students who are declared independent. No one outside the institution shall have access to nor will the institution disclose any information from students' education records without the written consent of the students except to personnel within the institution, to officials of other institutions in which students seek to enroll, to persons or organizations providing students financial aid, to accrediting agencies carrying out their accreditation function, to persons in compliance with judicial order, and to persons in an emergency in order to protect the health or safety of students or other persons. All these exceptions are permitted under the Act.

Within the Christopher Newport College community, only those members, individually or collectively, acting in the students' educational interest are allowed access to student education records. These members include personnel in the office of Vice President for Student Affairs, counselors, Offices of the Registrar, Business Affairs, Financial Aid, Admissions, and academic personnel with the limitations of their need to know.

The College has designated the following information as "Directory Information" which may be released to the public:

1. Student's name, address, telephone number (permanent and local).
2. Student's birthdate.
3. Dates of Attendance at the College, field of concentration, current classification, degrees awarded.
4. Previous schools attended and degrees awarded.
5. Honors or special recognition.
6. Height and weight of members of athletic teams.

A student who does not want the above information made public must file notice in writing of this request to the Vice President for Student Affairs, 50 Shoe Lane, Newport News, Virginia, no later than the 4th week of classes. This request must be made annually. (It must be pointed out that if the student requests this information to be confidential it will remain so no matter what the circumstances, i.e., death in the family, fire, or any emergency.)

A student wishing to review his or her College records must consult the directory of official student records in the Vice President for Student Affairs' office. The directory lists the offices where official student records are maintained and the name of the official responsible for the maintenance and release of each type of record, and to whom requests for access should be made.

The Family Education Rights and Privacy Act is a complex law and new guidelines and interpretations are still forthcoming.

If any of the rights guaranteed are violated, a complaint may be submitted in writing to: FERPA Office, 330 Independence Ave. S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201 explaining the alleged violations.

Senate takes security into own hands

by Debbie Burnside

On Tuesday, September 25, the Student Senate took action on the lack of security policemen on campus during daytime hours. At the meeting, the Senate unanimously passed the following resolution:

"The Senate finds that the elimination of a security policeman during daytime hours is a serious potential hazard to students, faculty, administration, their possessions, and the buildings and grounds of CNC. The Senate therefore resolves to establish a committee to investigate and recommend possible actions to be taken to alleviate this situation."

The Security Committee is composed of Chairman Mary Turner, Robert Limpus, Douglas Long, Wilnette Edwards and Elicia Lewis. This committee is soliciting student comments and suggestions, which can be written and deposited at the Information Desk in the Campus Center, or given to Mary Turner by calling 599-5497.

Other Senate business included the election of Wilnette Edwards as Parliamentarian and the appointment of Pat O'Brien and Frank Wislon to the Student Wage Committee.

Raymond Johnson, Della Melton, Mark Clark, Beresford Jones, and Katie Lewis are the top brass in the BSA.

BSA elects new executive officers

The Black Student Association (BSA) of CNC recently sponsored and hosted a Brown Bag Lunch for its returning members and other interested persons in the Admiralty Room of the Campus Center. The Executive Officers felt that such an informal activity would provide new freshman and transfer students with an opportunity to meet returning CNC students, while exploring the goals and purposes of the organization for themselves. The activity was indeed a success and set the stage for an upcoming year of social and cultural activities to be enjoyed by all.

The BSA functions to enhance the academic experience of black students by providing, through sponsorship, an array of activities unique to the black cultural milieu. The BSA official slate is headed by Raymond Johnson, President; Della Melton, Secretary; Mark Clark, Treasurer; and Beresford Jones, Parliamentarian. The office of Vice President is to be filled in the near future. Ms. Katie Lewis of the CNC Counseling Center is the group's advisor and works closely with the executive officers and general body to provide information and assistance wherever needed.

Students interested in acquiring membership in the BSA should contact one of the officers or Ms. Lewis.

Virginia Orchestra Group debuts next Sunday at Warwick High School

The Virginia Orchestra Group, a new enterprise serenading music lovers of the Peninsula Tidewater region, makes its formal debut with a season-opening concert by the Virginia Classical Orchestra on Sunday, October 7, at 7:30 p.m. at Warwick High School Auditorium, Newport News.

Cary McMurrin, founder-director of the Peninsula Symphony, recent ancestor of the Virginia Classical Orchestra, will conduct the newly-named ensemble, which is a cornerstone of the V.O.G. This musical grouping, in its pilot season, will also treat the Warwick subscription audience to concerts by the Virginia Philharmonic and the Virginia Pops Symphony under their respective conductors, Russell Stanger and Walter Noona.

The goals of this new orchestra alignment are to provide more and varied and higher level concert events to entertain the musical audiences of this region.

The Virginia Classical Orchestra will perform two masterpieces of the classical-romantic literature: the "surprise" Symphony of Haydn and the Brahms Violin Concerto.

The soloist in the Brahms concerto will be Elnore Andersen, a well-known artist on the Virginia Peninsula. She is the violin soloist and first violinist of Colonial Williamsburg's Governor's Palace Ensemble. She also directs and performs with the Williamsburg String Trio and the Williamsburg Chamber Players.

Series subscriptions are still available for the Warwick season by contacting the V.O.G. Subscription Hotline, 380-0040; southside, 623-2310.

Golden Girl exists primarily as a vehicle to display the assets of Susan Anton, and secondarily to exploit the appeal of the upcoming 1980 Olympic Games in Moscow.

Miss Anton portrays Goldine Serafin, the "golden girl" of the title. She has been raised by her father, Dr. Serafin (Curt Jergens), to be an Olympic runner and as proof that people are getting taller, since Goldine stands six feet, two inches tall. Through behavior modification she has been conditioned to "run for gold," for her goal is three gold medals in the 1980 games.

Because of the certainty that she will win, she also has been conditioned to handle press conferences well. Since her backers see her in terms of profit, they engage an agent, Jack Dryden (James Cagney), to represent her after she wins. He eventually falls in love with her.

Later it is discovered that in order to prove his theory, Dr. Serafin injected her with hormones as a child. As a result of this she develops diabetes and turns against her father.

The film presents some rather interesting ideas about such topics as the commercialization of sports, but they are never developed. There seems to be no consensus as to the point of the film, so none is made.

Susan Anton is perfectly tailored for the title role, including her statuesque physique and her rather vacuous beauty. Her acting is credible, as is her singing of the theme song.

In fact, while all the acting is consistent, no one stands out. The film is entertaining, sometimes intriguing, but rarely absorbing. Like Anton, there is a bland likability to it all.

Golden Girl is rated PG and is playing at the Newmarket IV Theater.

The battle of the sexes will never be won by either side--too much fraternizing with the enemy.

Sound Solution

by Rick Dunn

This week I'll talk briefly about two radically different performers, one old and one new. The old-timer is Bob Dylan and the newcomer is Ellen Foley.

Bob Dylan was the spokesman for the Sixties. A true poet of the people, his music was a reflection of social and political change. As the Sixties ended, so seemingly did Dylan's prominence as a performer.

Dylan got screwed by the Seventies. This lackluster decade left him without a great cause to get behind, nothing that would rally the nation's youth. This, coupled with Dylan's general inability to handle electric music, resulted in some so-so albums. A few great moments could not make up for their lack of direction.

Slow Train Coming is a welcome change for Dylan. The work focuses on his recent conversion to Christianity. There is no real need to go into detail about the lyrics, except to say they all carry religious overtones.

"Gotta Serve Somebody" is the best cut of the LP. Musically, it's the finest thing Dylan has done in a long time. "Man Gave Names to All the Animals" is a nice change of pace, being an amusing number that comes across as sort of reggae.

The reason this album struck me as being so much better than any of Dylan's recent efforts is his back-up band. Drummer Pick Withers and guitarist Mark Knopfler were borrowed from Dire Straits and they give a punch to Dylan's music that was sorely needed. Barry Beckett's keyboard work is also outstanding.

The religious overtones add a focal point and sense of unity to the album, presenting it as a total work, not just a bunch of songs. I was ready to write Dylan off, but Slow Train Coming proves he's not ready to retire yet.

Ellen Foley recently made her solo debut with an album called Night Out. She is the singer who did the female vocals on Meat Loaf's Bat Out of Hell. Her new LP is one of the best to come out in the past few months.

Foley is a rocker with a tremendous voice. She covers a wide range of material with an ease that you rarely see in a newcomer.

One minute she's singing the 50's sounding "What's a Matter Baby" and the next she's going New Wave, throwing herself into Graham Parker's "Thunder and Rain."

Foley is helped considerably by the contributions of Ian Hunter and Mick Ronson, who play on every song on the album. Ronson's guitar work propels Foley's rendition of the Rolling Stones "Stupid Girl" at a frantic pace.

On the title track, Foley slows up a bit and shows off her vocal talents, delivering a ballad that puts her in the ranks of such superstars as Linda Ronstadt.

Ellen Foley is the best female rocker around today. Now all she has to do is put together a touring band and take her music to the people. This chick's gonna' raise hell.

Razzmatazz rocks Campus Center

The CNC Pub crowd saw a good rock'n'roll show featuring Razzmatazz last Wednesday, September 26.

The music was hard, driving rock and roll featuring songs by Van Halen, the Nack and others.

The light show pulsed with the music, and the band's name in neon lights insured that no mistake was made as to who they were.

The sound system was loud but appropriate for the music the band played. The only complaint was that the speakers blocked the visibility of half the stage.

Peninsula Choral Society opens season with Handel

One of the Peninsula's oldest continuously performing choral groups is sponsoring a subscription drive as a prelude to its 49th season. The special $10.00 student rate entitles subscribers to enjoy four concerts this year, beginning with a "Mostly Handel" concert on October 14. The season's opener will include two masterpieces by George Frederic Handel.

"Mostly Mirth and Merriment" characterizes the Society's Christmas concert. All are invited to sing along with familiar carols, and choruses from the Messiah, and to delight in international carols sung by the Society. A Wassail bowl of cheer will be featured after the concert.

In February, the Society will present the first area performance of Mozart's Mass in C Major for chorus and orchestra, a joyous affirmation of Life.

The Easter season is a time of "Mostly Joy," as the Chorale, a select group of thirty singers from the Society, perform music from the 17th through 20th centuries.

For more information, write the Society at Box 1131, Warwick Station, Newport News, Va. 23601.

Counseling Center offers programs for black students at CNC

Here we are again . . . the CNC Counseling Center.

As a follow-up to last week's article in the Captain's Log about the Counseling Center and what we're about, we'd like to share with you the part of our program that is designed specifically for black students.

Within the area of student affairs in most colleges is the responsibility of providing services to minority students. At CNC this responsibility is one of the functions of the Counseling Center. Within the lists of services offered this semester by the Center are the following programs specifically for black students:

Decision-Making/Career Choices
Academic Contract Groups
College Survival
Effective Study Skills/Test Taking

Programs are developed and implemented with constant awareness of the varying degrees and levels of student interest and needs. While special emphasis is placed on first time freshmen and transfer students, it is our aim through this semester's list of mini-workshops to provide "something for everybody."

For Undecided Students . . .

Because of the wide range of career options available nowadays, making the decision regarding a major can be a prime concern for students. Choices vs. Decisions is a series of three one-hour mini-workshops designed to help individuals explore their interests, skills, abilities and needs as they relate to a possible career choice or major. This workshop will acquaint participants with the decision-making process and its application for narrowing these re-occurring choices throughout life into viable, comfortable decisions.

Particulars: Tuesdays, 3-4 p.m., beginning October 23, 1979.

For students who need an academic "boost" . . .

Contract Groups are available this semester for persons who require and need an "extra" incentive to help them reach their academic goals. More specifically, the Contract Groups are designed to give participants the encouragement and positive reinforcement we all need from time to time in order to "get the job done." This is how the group works:

Each participant completes a weekly schedule of activities, including study time for each class; recreation time; work time (if applicable); and any other times for meetings and/or other activities during a specific week.

Groups meet on a weekly basis. Each participant reports on his/her "contract"—example: I contracted to study Math 1311 from 8 to 11 on Monday—"I did or didn't fulfill my contract." For participants who did fulfill their agreement, group members give lots of positive strokes.

Those members who fail, for whatever reason, to fulfill their contract, are strongly urged by the group to take on the responsibilities they have contracted to do.

For students needing study skills assistance . . .

The Study Skills and Test Taking series is for students at all levels who recognize that seemingly they are "missing something" in class because they have poor study skills and test-taking abilities. Taking tests is an art and like any art one must become skillful at its execution while incorporating an individualized approach to the process. Students interested in improving their overall abilities along these lines should sign up for either individual or group sessions.

For students who want to be heard . . .

College Survival could be of particular interest to freshmen and transfer students (interested upper class persons are encouraged to attend). This activity is designed to give participants an opportunity to share individual views, conceptions—expectations of college and what these individuals "expect" to accomplish personally, socially and economically by having a degree.

These sessions will cover a variety of related and interesting topics throughout the semester. Starts Thursday, Oct. 9, 1979, 3-4 p.m. in CC-205.

For students "not quite ready" for the job search . . .

The time between entering freshman and graduating seniors passes quickly, and suddenly seniors find themselves faced (ready or not) with the task of finding a job. The Job Search Strategies Series consists of four meetings designed for persons needing assistance in preparing to successfully compete in the job market. It's for persons "never" employed, for persons who have been out of the work force for a period of time, and for anyone who feels as though he/she is not really ready to actively seek a job.

The workshops will specialize in resume and cover letter preparation, interviewing skills, appropriate dress for the interview, follow-up procedures and other job-search related strategies. Enrollment is limited.

Dates: Session I: Oct. 8, 15, 22, 29; Session II: Nov. 1, 8, 15, 29. All are 3-4 p.m.

Students should contact Ms. Katie Lewis in the Counseling Center, W-116, 599-7046, for additional information and enrollment in any of the mini-workshops.

Student does it all--and more

by Debbie Burnside

Do you wish that you could hold a full-time job and do fairly well in school at the same time? Curtis M. Todd is doing that--and more.

Todd has attended CNC since the fall of 1976 and is presently a senior with a respectable 3.82 grade point average. He commutes to CNC because he feels that CNC is better designed for people who work than is ODU. However, next fall he plans to enroll at ODU, where he will begin working towards his masters degree.

When asked how and when he finds time to study, he replied, "When I'm not working or sleeping, I'm studying." Occasionally, Todd takes a week off from work to study, relax, and be with his family. He adds that his wife is very understanding and has always encouraged him. She never pushes him, but he feels that "Without her, it wouldn't be possible."

Todd, who lives in Norfolk, is a sergeant with the Norfolk Police Department, where he has been working for nearly 13 years. In his job, averaging 40 hours of overtime a week is not uncommon. He has been married for 12 years and has an 11-year-old daughter.

Curtis M. Todd

His immediate goal is to get a degree in governmental administration with a law enforcement specialty. His long-range goal is to obtain sufficient education to become a college professor, as long as law enforcement remains in the college curriculum.

Todd observes that "College is definitely not as hard as it's made out to be."

WE'VE BEEN KEEPING IT A SECRET!

But since so many people have been calling to find out . . .

Library is expanding and providing for handicapped students

by Patricia Earls

The Captain John Smith Library is expanding and providing room for all students to grow with it. While the library enables students to expand their book knowledge, it is also allowing them the opportunity to educate themselves by looking at life from another perspective—that of the handicapped.

It is not easy for a physically healthy person to comprehend some of the obstacles encountered by the blind or those in wheelchairs, but the Captain John Smith Library has proceeded to adapt itself to solving those problems faced by the handicapped.

Improvements center around all the needs of the handicapped students. The most noticeable of these are the lowered water fountain and the elevator, which allows access to the second floor for wheelchair students has braille buttons.

Other additions include wider aisles between shelves, lowered sinks and mirrors in the rest rooms, and two special study carrels with extra wide doors.

However, the library hasn't stopped its additions there. Plans are in progress for purchasing a magnifying glass for those with visual handicaps. As the needs arises, more proposals will be made.

Water fountains were added at wheelchair height.

Soccer team stays in slump

by David Bean

"If it wasn't for bad luck, I wouldn't have no luck at all." These words from an old blues tune have a strange, realistic sound when applied to the CNC booters. The team, in the seven games they've played so far, have out-played the opposition in three of them (Elon, Longwood, and Hampden-Sydney) and kept the other teams honest.

On Saturday, September 22, CNC played against Averette College. In the first half the Captains played heads-up ball. Having several good chances to score, they failed to produce any goals. Averette warmed up towards the end of the first half and their ball found a home in the CNC net, giving them the lead. After that score, the wind in the Captains' sails just seemed to disappear.

Going into the second half, Averette controlled the ball and proceeded to slowly wear CNC out. Coach Cummings used as many substitutes as possible, but it appeared futile as Averette turned up the heat and literally burned four more goals in the net to win with a 5-0 lead.

Averette's fans hurled verbal abuse at the Captains, and although Cummings said he was impressed by their team, he had less than praise for their fans' sportsmanship.

He went on to state, "As a team, they're one of the best I've seen. They've got three guys from the Finnish National Junior Team, so I guess that is a helpful factor. They just seem to move the ball so well."

Headhunters, Kappa Nu remain undefeated

by Hobert Corbett

On Sunday, September 30, Ferguson High School's football field was the site of the CNC Mud Bowl. The rain began at 9:00 a.m., a half hour before the first intramurals game was to begin, and, between light showers and heavy rain, did not let up during the day. Needless to say, it was nasty—but fun.

The first game of the day pitted the copreseason favorites against each other. In the past, the EHO's and the Headhunters have played some extremely hard-hitting physical football, and Sunday proved to be no exception. After 48 minutes allowed for the game, the final score was Headhunters, 25; EHO's, 0.

For the second week in a row, quarterback Marty Martin was the catalyst as he passed for all four of the Headhunters' touchdowns. It should be noted that even though the EHO's were shut out, a main contributing factor had to do with the absenteeism of quarterback Randy Lint.

Lint is an exceptional offensive leader and it was evident that he was missed.

In the 11:00 game, Kappa Nu remained undefeated as Art Thatcher led his team to a 26-2 win over the Over-the-Hill Gang #1. Thatcher scored three times, including two interception returns from his defensive back position as well as a 50-yard run from his quarterback position on offense. Bob McElheny rounded out the scoring for Kappa Nu as he wrestled an interception from an OTHG receiver and took it in for the score.

The last game of the day was the "pits" as far as the field conditions were concerned. Nevertheless, quarterback Mike Stewart and team captain Tommy Perotta provided enough spark to squeeze out a victory over the OTHG #2 by a score of 12 to 6.

Stewart ran for one touchdown and passed to Perotta for the other. Greg Brown scored the only touchdown for OTHG #2 on an end run.

Currently, the standings for the intramural teams are as follows:

		GB
Headhunters	2-0
Kappa Nu	2-0
EHO's	1-1	1
TASS	1-1	1
OTHG #1	0-2	2
OTHG #2	0-2	2

Tennis team has new coach

The CNC Women's Tennis team has recently acquired a new coach, Ms. Cec Nieminen. She succeeds Keri O'Donnell, who has accepted a position at the Hampton Roads Racquet Club and is pursuing her graduate studies at William and Mary.

Ms. Nieminen, who didn't play tennis until eight years ago, is a member of the United States Professional Tennis Association. She has been teaching and coaching since 1975. Her accomplishments include guiding the Peninsula Catholic girls to an 8-2 record last spring.

A former schoolteacher, she has been assistant tennis pro at Richland County (Ga.) Tennis Center and worked at the Shaw Air Force Base recreation center and in Guam at Anderson AFB. She currently works for the York County Department of Leisure Services.

Cross Country grabs 2nd

by David Bean

On Tuesday, September 23, the CNC Cross Country team ran its second meet of the season against Salisbury State, Virginia State College, Hampton Institute, and Norfolk State.

The meet, scheduled to start at 4:00 p.m., was delayed until 5:15 because of Salisbury State's late arrival. (The construction workers on Shoe Lane had taken down the sign that directs people to CNC.)

Unlike their first match against VMI which was held in a monsoon, in this meet the runners encountered cold, drizzling rain. The course ran 10,000 meters long (roughly six miles) and with the rain, footing was tricky.

The final results were: VSC-21; SSC-43; CNC-88; and HI-93. Norfolk State did not show up for the meet.

Winners with the top five times were Guy (SSC), 34:03; Smith (VSC), 34:06; Parker (VSC), 34:16; Burnes (VSC), 34:57; and Calicut (VSC), 35:18. CNC's best time was Roberts with a time of 36:13 for 12th place.

Coach Doug Dickinson was not especially pleased with the team's performance, and the weather was not considered to be a factor in the loss.

Volleyball team takes 2nd

by David Bean

Tuesday, September 25, found the Lady Captains chalking up a loss to Mary Washington College. Mary Washington took off with a quick lead of 5-0, but CNC fought back with a good defense, using an effective double block and good digs.

CNC was unable to hold their defense up for the rest of the game and lost with a score of 15-8.

In the second game of the match, the main problem for CNC was their inability to get the ball over the net on the serve and to keep it in bounds. Once behind, the Lady Captains could not recover and were buried, 15-4.

After Mary Washington defeated Hampton Institute by scores of 15-4 and 15-10, HI woke up during the second game to tie MWC at 10-10.

CNC then met Hampton Institute to decide who would receive second place. CNC played a better game this time and coordinated their defense and offense. The women organized themselves and took off with a 7-5 lead, only to have HI pull ahead with a 10-7 score. The Lady Captains rallied one more time to take both the lead and the game at 15-10.

The second game didn't go so well for the women as HI came out smoking and ran up an 8-3 lead over the Lady Captains. There was no stopping them and the height and consistency that HI showed paid off as they won 15-6.

In the third game, CNC started off on the short end of the stick, falling behind 8-5, but the Lady Captains grouped together and went all out for a win of 15-9 over Hampton Institute.

Coach Bert Jones was pleased with the second place showing and commented, "It's really hard to do anything with the seven players, some of whom have never played organized volleyball before." He does have hopes for a .500 season despite the shortcomings of the team.

The Lady Captains stand at a 2-2 record for the season in regular play and 1-1 in conference play.

"20 Worst" college football teams named by Penthouse

Just in time to inject a note of reality into alumni hopes for a winning football season, Penthouse magazine's October issue identifies what sports writer Lawrence Linderman calls "The Penthouse 20 Worst Football Teams of 1979-80."

These teams are not obscure teachers colleges; they are, or have been, potential rivals of the best. But all have fallen on hard times in recent years, and Linderman sees little hope for the football season soon upon us.

1. Northwestern. Its 0-10-1 record set last year "figures to be even worse in 1979." Says the magazine: "Northwestern's major problems are offense and defense, in both of which they are deficient."

2. Wake Forest. Last season's 1-10 record may turn out to be better than 1979's likely outcome. "Wake Forest may well lose every time out in 1979, including its curtain raiser against unheralded Appalachian State."

3. University of Texas, El Paso. UTEP has won only one game per season since 1975, "and they won't do any better this time around. UTEP's gridiron specialty is the equal-opportunity defense, which allows opponents to score five touchdowns a game without regard to race, creed, color, or talent."

4. Vanderbilt. Finishing 2-9 last year, "this fall Vanderbilt will again be atrocious and nothing new that head coach George MacIntyre can say or do will help the Commodores escape what seems to be paramount possession of last place in the Southeastern Conference."

5. Idaho. Last year's 2-9 record isn't likely to be much better this year, but Penthouse concedes that the team might be able to give us less than the 36 points per game it yielded in 1978.

6. Texas Christian University. "Defense will again be the Froggies' short suit, but the same can be said of their offense." Look for another 2-9 season this year.

7. Virginia. After 1979's 2-9 record, Linderman says: "I look for the Cavaliers to beat James Madison this year.... And that's about it."

8. Columbia. "The doormat of the Ivy League" in 1979 after last year's 3-5-1 season. Graduations have made the outlook look dimmer.

9. Oregon State. This school had a winning season -- in 1970. Last year's record was 3-6-1 and 1979 looks like the ninth consecutive losing season.

10. West Virginia. Another losing season after 1978's 2-9 record, but there is hope: the state legislature has approved a $20 million new stadium, and "high school athletes always have an edifice complex. The Mountaineers will begin getting their share of blue-chip players quite soon and should show marked improvement within the next couple of years."

11. Rice. Rice's record for the last three seasons is 3-29. This year, says the magazine, "the Rice defense will again give up twice as many points as the offense can score, which is why the Owls can be expected to check in with a record that will approximate last season's 2-9 performance."

12. Army. The once-mighty football school hasn't been able to attract top high school players, many of whom don't find four years in the Army after graduation an enticing prospect. The loss of eight starting seniors from the '78 season won't help Army either. (Navy, incidentally, is not on the Worst 20 list.)

13. Illinois. Last year's 1-9-2 record foreshadows this year's results. Failure to take to the air with the forward pass was to blame last year, and likely will be again in '79.

14. Boston College. "Hollywood producers could do worse than to study Boston College's 1978 football season for possible adaptation as a movie comedy," Penthouse says. Head coach Ed Chlebek was fired last year--but rehired after his players pleaded that he be given a second chance. After last year's 0-11 record, Boston College "will improve, although not dramatically."

15. Kansas. "The Jayhawks are a decent enough college team, but unfortunately they're playing in a murderously tough conference." Last year's 1-10 record may be a taste of the current season as well.

16. Syracuse. Once the symbol of Eastern football power, the school of Jim Brown, Ernie Davis, Floyd Little and Larry Csonka, the Orangemen have fallen on hard times. This year, "the Orange will be mostly black and blue."

17. San Diego State. Used to winning seasons, this school found introduction to the Western Athletic Conference last year a sobering experience. For '79, "the team has been so depleted by graduations that its chances of finishing near .500 seem very remote."

18. Tulane. The Green Wave's last winning season was in 1973, and the next isn't likely to be this year. "One reason for Tulane's protracted decline is its somewhat steady offense," the magazine says. On the other hand, "the defense won't be able to stop a sneeze."

19. Washington State. Despite the services of the nation's "finest collegiate quarterback," WSU last year had a 3-6-1 record. "Since Washington State was the PAC Ten's easiest team to push around last season, look for their conference foes to really stick it to the Cougars this season."

20. Memphis State. Last year the Tigers were 4-7, their first losing season since coach Richard Williamson took over in 1975, "and this fall will seem like a replay of 1978. It's easy to diagnose what ails the Tigers: their defense has as much muscle as Bianca Jagger."

Golf team shows improvement

The CNC Golf team demonstrated team improvement in tournament play this past week when they participated in the two-day Methodist Invitational held at Cypress Lakes in Fayetteville, N.C.

The best individual score over the 7300-yard championship course was by sophomore Mike Hott, who had scores of 82-79 for a total of 161. Senior David Falin showed consistency in carding an 84-83 for a total of 167. Team captain Rich Burns, a junior, had an 85-93 for a total of 178. Rounding out the team scoring was Mark Paquette who had 90-90 for a total of 180.

Coach Hubbard feels that this year's team has shown an ability to maintain a second-day score near or better than the prior day's score. The only exception in this tournament was Rich Burns.

On Monday and Tuesday, October 1 and 2, the team participated in the Old Dominion Invitational held at the Newport News City Park. Results were not available at press time. October 4 and 5, the team travels to Greensboro to compete in the DIAC Fall Championship.

Values are declining

With the declining value of the dollar in recent years, people are quite careful to weigh the value of everything they purchase against their hard-earned money. College students seem to fit into this pattern of buyer behavior more than anyone due to their tight budget requirements. But in the area of our educational spending, we take for granted that our money is spent wisely. Maybe it's because we are willing to pay anything within reason to graduate or that we really are unconcerned. We should look at our spending habits within this school and ask ourselves, "Are we getting our money's worth?"

We are not referring to the $18.00 of the $26.00 per credit that goes towards professors' salaries and other administrative costs. Our main concern is what is happening to the $8.00 that is considered the comprehensive fee. Part of this money we can see—or will see—in the library additions, new track facilities, and having the tennis courts paid off a few years earlier. But where is the rest of it?

This question brings us to our point. The Student Association and other clubs and organizations on this campus are full of budget money that comes from the students, but we are not seeing the results of our hard-earned money in some of these areas.

The Over-the-Hill Gang, Black Student Organization, and other student clubs are alive with projects that involve students and are enjoyable to us, but the governmental body has yet to justify their means for existence and prove that they are giving us our "money's worth."

Recently, the Student Association appeared in the hallways of CNC to introduce themselves to the evening students. A questionnaire was distributed asking whether these students knew who their divisional representatives were. This questionnaire was answered with an overwhelming number of "no's." What might have been more interesting would have been to ask, "What do you think the SA has accomplished for you?" We feel the response would have been just as empty.

Few people know that the positions of President, Vice President and Attorney-General are paid positions. Money out of our pockets. But where is our money and what is being done with it?

Perhaps if we are lucky we can catch one of these elected officers in their office sometime and ask them. (The timing must be perfect in order to find them during their one hour breaks when they say they are in their offices. Most of the time it's like chasing a hat in a strong wind.) We will have to ask because we certainly can't see any accomplishments.

This could possibly be due to their lack of concerning themselves with the role of public relations. We think not.

We feel that although they hold their meetings every Thursday these are more of a social gathering. Issues brought before the Executive Council are continually delayed until a "committee" can look into them or until everyone on the Council gets responsible enough to read the proposal ahead of time.

This is what we consider a waste of time and money. We feel that if we are financing the SA, we should see some results. Hopefully, the year will prove us wrong as it continues. All we ask is for results—and our money's worth.

Captain's Log deadline set

All copy for the Captain's Log, including advertisements, must be received by 4 p.m. on the Monday preceding the issue in which the information is to appear. For example, all copy for next week's issue (October 11) must be in our office (CC-228) no later than 4 p.m. Monday, October 8.

Captain's Commentary

by Judith Hrul

Several weeks ago, Operation Self-Help announced it would be publishing a car-pool directory, a listing of CNC students by neighborhood, to allow people to get in touch with each other for the purpose of sharing rides to and from the campus. At the same time students who did not wish to be included in the directory were asked to contact Operation Self-Help.

One student not only did not want to be in the directory, she did not want the directory to be printed at all. Under federal law, names, addresses and telephone numbers of students registered at state institutions are directory information. But this student found that since CNC did not advise students at the time they registered that their name, address, and phone number were directory information, the directory could not be printed.

We hope this individual has derived some sort of sense of self-satisfaction about her "victory" in regard to whatever principle she feels she was defending. All we know is that many students are disappointed that the directory will not be printed and some of us are sad about what such attitudes say about the state of our society.

You may or may not believe there is an energy crisis. But there are some facts and problems that cannot be denied: our energy resources are not unlimited; environmental pollution caused by automobiles is a problem; traffic congestion on the roads around CNC is horrendous; the parking lots at CNC are overflowing at many times of the day; gas is expensive; as a rule CNC students do not have a lot of money.

As individuals acting alone, we can do little to solve these problems. But as friends and neighbors acting together, we could work to alleviate some of the problems.

As individuals we can no longer enjoy the luxury of ignoring these problems and hoping they will go away.

When a student operation comes up with an idea which would contribute to the alleviation of many of these problems, it takes a very individualistic attitude to torpedo it.

There are almost 4000 CNC students who live all over Tidewater—in Hampton, Poquoson, York County, Williamsburg, Virginia Beach, Chesapeake and elsewhere. It is entirely possible for students to live within blocks of each other, be on campus at the same time and be completely unaware of each other. A car-pool directory would help put students in touch with each other. It might even help promote a concept which seems to have gone out of style. It's called being neighborly.

Fortunately, the car pool directory idea is still alive and well. The administration is working with Operation Self-Help to meet the requirements of the law. The directory will be delayed until next year, but it will appear. We want to take this opportunity to thank Operation Self-Help in the name of the majority of the student body for their work and concern.

Commencement Speaker

The President of the College will be pleased to receive the suggestions of the college community regarding the speakers for Commencement Exercises.

Suggestions should be forwarded, in writing, to the office of the President on or before November 1, 1979.

Minority students offered grad school locator service

How can minority college students planning for graduate school find the right opportunities for advanced study?

One way is with the Minority Graduate Student Locator Service, developed by Educational Testing Service (ETS) and offered by the Graduate Record Examinations Board.

Through this free service, college juniors, seniors and graduates who are members of racial and ethnic minorities in the United States can make their intentions known to graduate schools seeking such applicants.

Last year, for example, more than 20,000 students made use of the Locator Service, and student information was provided to more than 150 graduate schools around the country. And it's easy for students to participate.

Students sign up by completing the registration form contained in the GRE/MGSLs Information Bulletin. It is the same form used to register for the Graduate Record Examinations, comprehensive aptitude and advanced tests used in the admissions process by many of the nation's graduate schools. But students do not have to take the GRE to use the Locator Service.

To take part, students describe themselves by answering questions that ask for ethnic background, undergraduate major, intended graduate major and other information about educational experience and objectives. This information is placed in the Locator Service file and made available to participating graduate schools upon request. GRE scores are not included in the Locator Service file.

Each graduate school established its own criteria to select students from the Locator Service file based on ethnic background, intended major field of study, degree objective and state of residence. The names of students who use the Locator Service and meet the criteria set by a particular school will automatically be sent to that school.

Students who want to make information available to graduate schools three times during the school year must have their registration forms in by Sept. 28. A student who misses that deadline but has the form in by Nov. 12 will be able to participate twice.

Graduate schools will contact the students in whom they are interested to inform them of application procedures.

Because of the interest among graduate schools throughout the nation in attracting qualified minority students, a student's name often will be sent to several institutions. Because a graduate school may not wish to contact all students whose names it receives, students are not informed of the identity of those institutions to which their names have been forwarded.

The Locator Service is not an application to graduate school or for financial assistance and does not constitute a guarantee of admission or financial aid. It is designed only to supplement a student's own efforts to locate and seek admission to a suitable graduate program and to find resources for financial assistance.

Information students supply for the Locator Service file is treated confidentially and is released only to participating graduate schools and scholarship programs.

The Information Bulletin explains all student must know to participate in the service. Copies of the bulletin may be obtained at most colleges or by writing to MGSLs, Box 2615, Princeton, N.J. 08541.

The GRE and MGSLs are administered by ETS under policies determined the GRE Board, an independent board affiliated with the Association of Graduate Schools and the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States.

New policies upset students

reprinted from Collegiate Hedlines
PITTSBURGH, Pa. (CH)—It's not just the students who are unhappy about a new mandatory class attendance policy at Duquesne University.

The new policy, adopted by many Duquesne departments, gives a failing grade to any student who has more excused absences than twice the number of credits in a course. The policy is designed to cut down lagging attendance in some lower level classes.

Predictably, the students don't like it. But neither do some faculty and administrators. "Undergraduates pay for their education; they should be allowed to decide if there's anything useful in the course," said one English professor.

Another instructor said the new policy "defines education as a matter of putting your body in a chair three times a week."

The Captain's Log challenges the student body to guess what this is a picture of and where on the college campus this is located. Guesses may be turned into the Editor-in-Chief during the month of October. The first correct guess submitted will be the winner of a cash prize. (members of the Captain's Log staff are not eligible to participate.)

Former cadet charges USAF with "massive deception"

The U.S. Air Force is engaged in a massive deception aimed at recruiting high school students, a former cadet charges in the October issue of Penthouse magazine.

To the surprise of most cadets--and to many civilians--Academy cadets do not routinely learn to fly planes despite Air Force Academy claims that "the mission of the Air Force is to fly . . . Since the total mission is based on flying, the aviation training you receive as a cadet is a significant part of your career preparation."

So disappointing is the reality of the Academy--in contrast to pre-enrollment promises--that 40 percent of the Class of 1980 has dropped out, says E.M. Porrazzo, who was midway through his senior year when he dropped out.

"It costs $100,000 of the taxpayers' money to put each cadet through the Academy," he says. "Can we afford to allow the Air Force to continue with its present false advertising campaign?"

Porrazzo says that "Academy cadets don't learn to fly any aircraft in the Air Force inventory. In fact, the Academy will not even let a cadet pull the stop clocks on any flying machine--from a Curtis Jenny to a hang glider." Advertised "aviation training" consists solely of demonstration flights aboard Cessna aircraft.

A cadet who wishes to learn to fly must pay $1,000 to $3,000 of his own money to obtain a pilot's license from a private school.

Promises of free time off the Academy grounds--or to roam the 18,000-acre grounds of the Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo.--are routinely broken. In fact, cadets are routinely restricted to the 1,000-acre Academy campus area. Overnight absences from the Academy are severely limited.

Moreover, the post-graduation commitment to the Air Force has been increased twice in the past few years. Cadets who entered believing they would have to serve five years (as pilots) after graduation are now committed to serving seven years.

The result of false advertising and recruitment claims, writes Porrazzo, is an enormous drop-out rate at taxpayer expense.

"Remember that it costs $100,000 of your money to send each and every cadet through the United States Air Force Academy," he writes. "Are you really getting your money's worth?"
