Orientation Sept. 15 Marks Start Of New School Year

The opening of Christopher Newport College took place Tuesday, September 15, with the advent of "Orientation '64" which began in the third floor auditorium of the downtown campus of CNC.

The highlight of the program came with the introduction of Mr. H. Wescott Cunningham, Director of CNC, by Scottie Fitzgerald, President of the Student Government Association, in a speech stressing the importance of Christopher Newport College to the community. Dean Cunningham reminded the students that they were the representatives and measures whereby the community would pass judgment on the college and its activities.

Preceding Dean Cunningham's address was a speech by Mr. James C. Windsor, Student Personnel

SGA Hayride Set For 8 P.M. Halloween Night

The Student Government Association officers will sponsor a hayride for Christopher Newport College students on Halloween night, October 31.

Three trucks, with a limited capacity of 96 persons, will leave Shoe Lane at 8:00 p.m. and drive to Yorktown. The trucks will return to the college by 11:00 p.m., where cider and donuts will be served to the students.

Students desiring to go on the hayride must purchase tickets in advance in room 203. The price of the tickets is $2.00 per couple for those having activities cards. Without an activities card, the price is $3.00 per couple. Only those with tickets may go on the hayride.

The officers remind the students of the following regulations that are expected to be observed. (1) Fires are prohibited on the beach at Yorktown. Park rangers may be present to enforce this rule if it is not kept. (2) Drinking is not allowed at any school function; any violator of this rule will be subjected to dismissal from college.

Two chaperones will ride in each truck. They will be there for the protection of the students in the event of unpleasant situations. Students are asked to cooperate with them.

Miss CNC Elections Will Be Held Soon

The preliminary elections for Miss Christopher Newport and her Christmas Court will be held Friday, November 6, in the Student Lounge. The final elections will be Friday, November 13.

The procedure for the preliminary elections will be as follows: Each freshman will submit the name of one sophomore girl for the title of Miss CNC and also the names of two freshmen girls for the freshmen court. The sophomore voters will do likewise, submit two sophomore girls' names.

Any girl, who is a fulltime day student may run, including the student nurses (for freshmen court), except those who are members of the newspaper staff. Students are reminded when voting that Miss CNC will be the College's entrant in the Miss Hampton Roads contest. So it is well advised to nominate and elect someone with talent as well as Officer, who pointed out the need for students to practice "self-discipline" if they expect to succeed at CNC.

Introduction of Honor Council Members, Assemblymen, and Class Officers by Scottie follow Dean Cunningham's speech. The downtown portion of the program ended with a tour of the laboratory facilities of CNC.

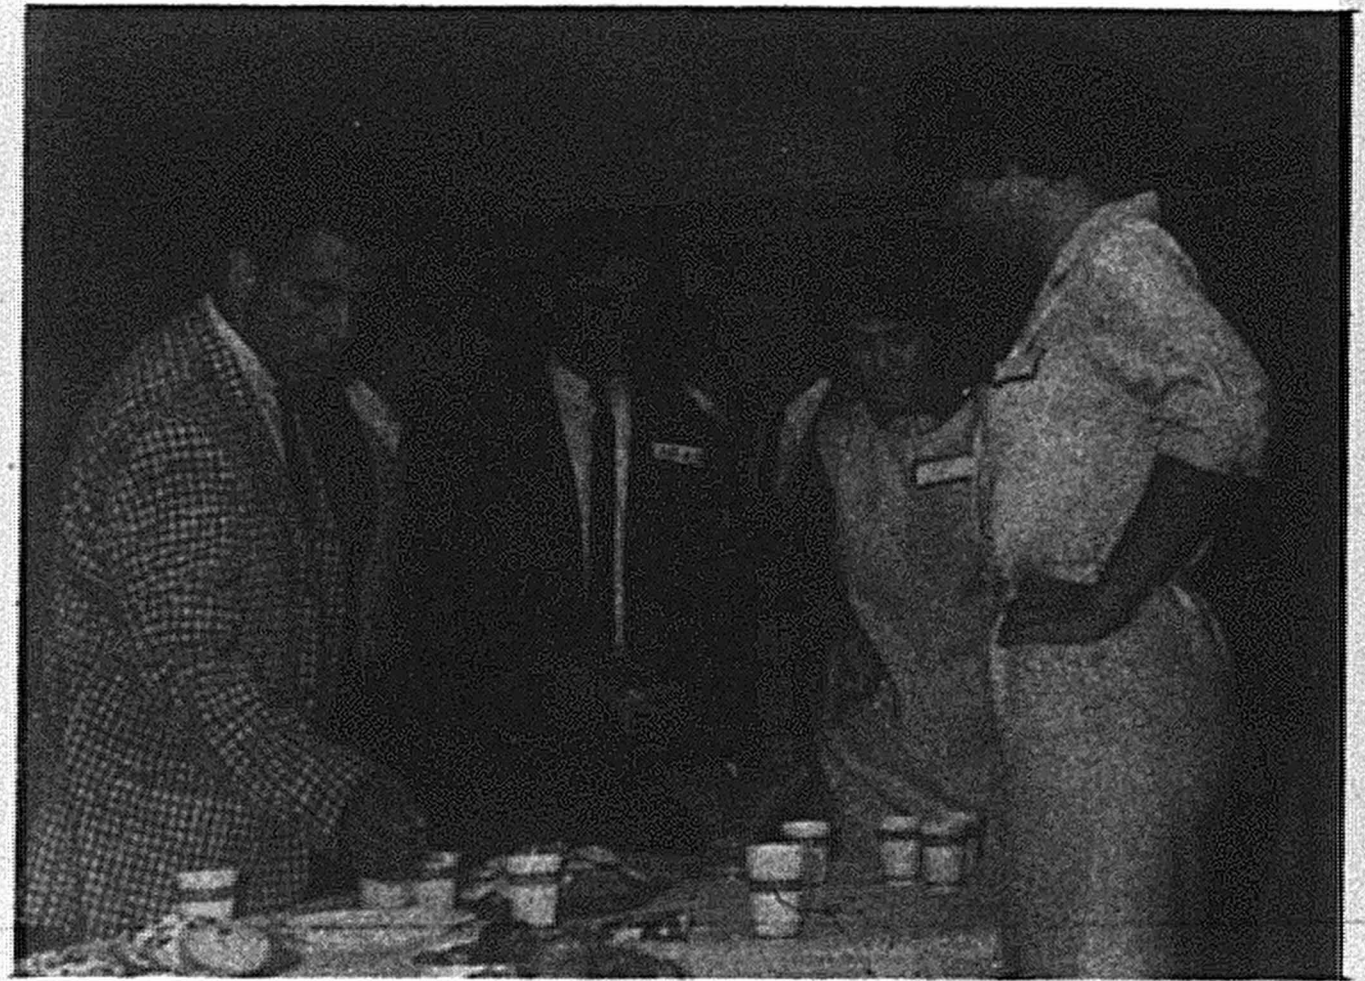

Students then re-grouped in small groups for meeting with their faculty advisors and upperclassmen guides at the Shoe Lane Campus. Those who acted as guides are: Betty Carle, Irene Christofi, Roy Davis, Vicki Dowler, Scottie Fitzgerald, Judy Fuller, Pat Henry, Tom Hochheimer, Vicki Keeter, Frank Klein, Tommy Lockard, Pat Moore, Jim Paxton, Ray Pepe, Curtiss Pittman, Tom Redman, John Richardson, and Bud Wrenn. The guides and advisors told the new students what would be expected from them and what to expect from CNC. They were then dismissed.

A reception held in the student Center at 7:30 p.m. by the Student Government Association concluded "Orientation '64".

8 New Staff Members Fill Seven Departments

This fall Christopher Newport's instructional staff welcomes eight new members into seven different departments. The teachers and their departments are: J.R. Ambrose, government; P. Bush, chemistry; W.W. Kitchen, English and speech; O. E. Luttrell, philosophy; D.D. Reppen, language; B. F. Tabor, graphic arts; R.L. Weinstein, mathematics; and E.S. Wise, biology.

A variety of interesting statistics were compiled concerning these instructors. Mr. Kitchen, was drafted by more committees than any other new teacher, being a member of the Academic Status, Degrees, and Disciplines committees as well as faculty advisor to the newspaper. Except for Mr. Ambrose, who is a member of the Library Committee, and Mr. Luttrell, faculty advisor to the Baptist Students Union, the rest seemed to escape such activities.

Degrees came from all parts of the United States including colleges as far west as the University of California (Mrs. Reppen); as far south as Louisiana State University (Mr. Tabor); and as close to home as William and Mary (Mr. Kitchen).

Mr. Luttrell, is the only new instructor teaching a new course, philosophy. An ordained Baptist minister, he commutes between Norfolk and Newport News twice each week, for his class.

Student Enrollment Up 29% In Evening College

The evening figure for the Christopher Newport Evening college has soared to an alltime high this Fall. There are 354 students, indicating a 29% increase over the Spring semester, which previously had the largest enrollment yet for the Evening College.

Figures show that the 354 students are registered in 418 courses; 64 taking two courses and the remaining students taking one.

The amazing increase in enrollment is partly due to an expanded program. Several of the 20 courses that are being offered are new; such as, Government, Graphic Arts, Humanities, and Physics.

The most popular courses seem to be English 101, enrolling 80 students, and Math 101, with 62 students. Both courses had to add additional sections because of their large enrollment numbers.

The evening College enlists 19 faculty members, 9 of whom are part time instructors. The details concerning a few members of the new faculty might be mentioned.

Dr. John Selby, whose subject is American History, teaches both at Christopher Newport and at William and Mary. He is also assistant Director of Research for Colonial Williamsburg.

Dr. Robert Canestrari teaches

Psychology, and is a research psychologist with the Veteran's Administration.

Mr. Emeric Fischer is on the Law School Faculty at William and Mary Law School. His subject is Economics 207.

Athletic Association Started To Promote Intramural Football

The Christopher Newport Athletic Association is a permanent organization chartered by the school, dedicated to the promotion of sports activities here at CNC.

The association is headed this year by a temporary board of officers who are: John Bane, Roy Davis, Dave Dwyer, Jim Paxton, and Tom Redman. They will remain such until the permanent ones are elected in the spring.

Sports are presently intramural football with soccer and softball to follow in season.

A preliminary fee of one dollar per semester will be excised for use of the field. Only members of the association will be on the teams.

Annual Circle K Convention Held Aug. 31 Through Sept. 3

The annual International Circle K Convention was held August 31 through September 3 in Chicago at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. The delegates attending from Christopher Newport's Circle K

Club were Jay Dunn, District Lieutenant Governor; Bud Wrenn, President; and Tommy Lockard, Secretary.

Arriving in Chicago Monday morning, August 31, the delegates checked in and took a tour of the hotel and vicinity, lasting into the afternoon. A district caucus meeting was held that evening.

Meetings monopolized Tuesday; and Wednesday the serious business of nominating a new international president was taken to hand. That night a banquet was held at which Miss U.S.A. was the guest of honor.

Thursday, September 3, the officers were elected including: Thomas Eubank, President; two vice-presidents; secretary; treasurer; and twelve international trustees. At a farewell luncheon that afternoon the results of the morning elections were announced, and special awards were given out.

The Convention hosted 650 delegates from the United States and Canada.

CNC delegates left Chicago Thursday afternoon and arrived in Newport News Friday afternoon, September 4, reporting a "most rewarding trip."

Student Participation Is A Must In College

Relative to other institutions, Christopher Newport College is in the formative stage. The expansion of our college, its' new campus, and its' eventual enlargement, places heavy demands on its student government. Because of these demands, student government is in a state of flux and development. It is on the brink of an unlimited future.

Our reaction to our government will have great bearing on the college's future. What is done now will be amplified when it grows to greater size in the years to come. Thus, it is important that we be extremely careful in our basic value judgements and decisions when we embark upon ventures in this field. Just as Captain Newport had the foresight in guiding settlers to the new world, we must also show the way for progress in the future.

The ex-president of Harvard, Dr. Conant, once said the first building that he would construct for a college would be a dormitory. He felt that the interaction of college students from varied backgrounds was a most important aspect of a proper education. In this case the dormitory was the vehicle which he found would readily serve this purpose. Dormitories are not to be found at Christopher Newport College. Participation in student government is one good answer to this need. By taking part in student activities such as serving on committees or supporting functions you get to know other students' views and become familiar with their backgrounds. Consequently, in this capacity, the student can express his views and desires on practically any subject and find oppositons, clarifications, and revisions to these views. Thereby, he can improve or broaden his own attitudes from the contact he has with his fellow student.

Most of us would agree that man is a social animal. The drive to socialize is shown in how we congregate in groups when in the lounge or in our actions any Saturday night of the year. It seems a striking paradox that our student organizations or governments, which are social in nature, are seats of apathy and neglect. We are not, as college students, completely obvious to common affairs and problems. For we are the first to riot or chastize in extreme situations. We are too anxious to override established means of authority when some burning question arises. But in ordinary times, organizations such as S.G.A., which are established means of order and community progress, find no support. Some feel that these actions are signs of rebellion from the dominion of our parents. Apathy in ordinary times is a big problem in our country as a whole. We find that few eligible prospective voters ever reach the polls.

In Europe people are fired for not voting. Surely we do not want this type of system. If you do not take part in your government, someone will use it to their own liking. Thus, it is either a case of living and participating in the government or being ruled by it. The question is: "Are these the students you want trying you in an honor sase or leading programs you participate in?" Thus, the slogan heard commonly today applies to us also. "Vote for the candidate you want and it is your government. Don't vote and it is theirs. Participate in the government and it's yours, do not, participate and it's theirs."

Students' Actions Prove Important To New College

A student's actions in all phases of college life are especially important to a new college. The student of Christopher Newport has an added responsibility, since his actions now will help to pave the road to the school's success.

Colleges that date back a hundred years or more have traditions that have been carried on since the college first started. These traditions are an accepted part of the school and something all the students and faculty are proud of. We at Christopher Newport are in the process of establishing what will soon be tradition at this school.

Many students may feel this does not apply to them, but they are mistaken. Anything involving a student or students can reflect upon the whole student body itself. Any action that is frowned upon by someone could give the school a bad name. It is much easier to live up to a good reputation than to live down a bad one.

The activities that are planned for our student body are planned for their enjoyment. Participation in these activities can make this a successful year for each and every student. Nothing is a success unless there is spirit and interest, and this can only come from you, the students.

Successful social activities are not the main goal of a college though. The academic standard far exceeds any other phase of college life. Colleges are established to provide a higher degree of

Scottie Explains Student Dues For S G A Support

As I collected dues on Registration Day, Many students asked me, "What is this money for" or "What are you going to do with it?"

I would like to answer these questions now for all of you that may have thought about them but did not ask. And I will present an outline of student activities planned by your Student Government.

At the end of last semester the SGA officers of the 63-64 and 64-65 years met to plan the fiscal program for the year. It was decided that the three dollar student dues would be collected by the SGA and distributed between three student government bodies, the Sophomore Class, Freshman Class, and SGA, on equal basis. These dues are to be used for financing of student activities.

The coming year promises to be fruitful in the field of activities. On October 10 there was a Hootenanny staged in the Lecture Room. Your student dues went to work here admitting you half price admission with your activities card. Halloween will bring a hayride with your activities card. Halloween will bring a hayride with cider and donuts afterward, Thanksgiving holiday a Book Sale, December 9th, a fashion show, Spring, an Artorama and Fair for the Student Government Scholarship, a series of Art Films shown free of charge, and finially, the Spring Formal. All these activities will bring a reduced rate to those of you who have paid your dues.

These dues were a starting point for us, capital to invest to make more money for more activities. I am sure you will "get more than your money's worth."

If you have further questions or an idea for an activity please come to see me or another officer.

Scottie Fitzgerald

Dean H. W. Cunningham Greet's New Students

It is a pleasure for me to extend a sincere welcome to the new members of the faculty and to the new students who have just entered Christopher Newport College. I am happy also to welcome our returning faculty members and students. Two of the College's faculty members have been granted leaves of absence this year to complete their Ph.D. degrees, and these are under contract to return to the college. You may well be proud of an energetic, welltrained and dedicated faculty.

By the close of the current session our library will contain nearly fifteen thousand carefully selected and catalogued volumes and a like number of periodicals. I hope that you will make continuous use of this fine collection. In our function as a community college we encourage the use of our library by your family and friends as well.

Christopher Newport Hall, a unique and extremely functional building provides an excellent physical nucleus for the College's future growth pattern. Planning for the science building is ahead of schedule and this second building should be ready for full use by September 1965. Shortly we shall request appropriations for physical educational and permanent library facilities as well as additional classroom space.

The growth pattern of the College has established itself rather poignantly. Session enrollments for the first three years of the College's life in chronological order have included 209 students, 625 students and 1200 students. This year we expect a session enrollment of 1600 students.

It is our hope that you will make extensive use of the counseling services available to you through your own individual faculty advisers and through the College's counseling office. You will find also that members of the faculty have posted their office hours, and you are encouraged to visit your instructors during these designed hours.

I would like to convey to each of you my best wishes for a stimulating, enjoyable and productive session at Christopher Newport. Remember, if you will, that you yourselves are now our ambassadors to the community. Everything you accomplish or fail to accomplish, every impression you make or fail to make will reflect directly not only on yourselves, but also on your College. All of our wishes go with you in complete sincerity.

Dean H. Wescott Cunningham

Choice Belongs To You On Election Day Nov. 3

As we approach the time when Americans must decide who shall represent them in today's world, which is threatened with destruction by the "Red Bear", the decision grows clearer as to who should guide America in these critical moments.

Most of us have either read about, heard, or seen both candidates for President. One of them has not, at this time, identified his political maneuvers, which are as obscure to us as the darkness in which he hides them.

Though ambiguous foreign policies and promises, he has lead America into a situation, among the other nations, in which it is no longer respected and admired, but looked upon as a coward in retreat. From a position of Victors, we have moved toward a position of defeat. We have retreated from all the positions we paid for at so great a cost.

This man has misrepresented America before our very eyes and the eyes of all the other free countries of the world. This administration has led us in a retreat that started in Berlin and has stopped only ninety miles off our mainland.

During the past years, instead of assisting our friends by combating Communism in an efficient manner, this administration has caused us

Trident For 1965 Will Possess A New Cover

The name "Trident" is the only holdover from last year's yearbook. The 1965 yearbooks will feature an original cover and theme, designed by the staff. There will also be a substantial increase in the size with many color pictures and a more extensive coverage of the student nurses. Night school will also be included this year. Social functions, year's events, and sports will be highlighted throughout the yearbook. Activities such as clubs will have explanations as well as an array of pictures.

Jim Paxton, Editor of the "Trident", urges everyone to have their pictures taken for the yearbooks immediately. Appointments should be made at Farabee's Studio on West Avenue as soon as possible. Freshmen girls will wear white, open-necked blouses and no jewelry. Freshmen boys must wear a dark suit, white shirt, and dark tie.

Sophomores will dress as last year. Drapes for the girls will be provided. Boys wear white shirts. Coats and ties will be provided.

Any freshman interested in joining the 64-65 Staff must make application by the beginning of November. The 65 Staff will meet in February to choose the Staff for the 65-66 yearbook.

To date, 5% of the students have not paid their student dues. It would be appreciated if these students would pay. If you do not pay, you may not receive a student activities card which allows you to get a reduced rate on all school sponsored activities.

Circle K Distinguished Club; Want to Clear Misconceptions

Among the organizations within Christopher Newport College is a most distinguished club known as Circle K. Those not familiar with it would very likely label it a fraternity, or indeed a clique; but Circle K is neither of these and its principles and standards strive to dispell these misconceptions.

"The Circle K Club is not a social fraternity; it is a service organization for college men operating on the campus and is similar to Kiwanis and other service clubs. It is a leadership and characterbuilding group which serves the campus and community. It provides a means for the development of initiative and leadership among students not to be found in the regular curriculum. It helps to develop future leads and citizens whose philosophy is founded on freedom, initiative, the American heritage, and unselfish service to others. As in Kiwanis, the Circle K motto is "We Build"—building for justice, liberty, democracy, and a better world in which to live." This is what Circle K really is; and these are its high ideals.

To help more firmly establish and uphold its ideals, Circle K performs many activities and services for its college and community, for it is first and last a service club". Among the services are: Assistance to the administration and student government in freshman orientation, registration, and campus tours; provision of the Dyke Rhodes Scholarship of $100 given annually to a Peninsula boy graduating from a local high school and entering Christopher Newport; help in the promotion of fund raising drives, national, local, or within the school; giving tours of the college to members of the local high schools and answering questions concerning the school which may arise; and last but certainly not least is the provision of entertainment and recreation for the student body in the form of dances, picnics, hayrides, and parties. Money for the form of dances, and various forms of entertainment is raised throughout the school year by a number of candy sales, the sale of book covers and car decals.

But is by no means all work for the men in Circle K. Their reward comes in the early spring at the annual district convention. Last year Richmond and the John Marshall Hotel played host to the Convention; and our delegates reported a most successful and worthwhile week-end. Attributing to the success is the fact that one of our members, Jay Dunn, was elected Lt. Governor of the fourth district. This truly endows our club with added honor. In addition to the district convention, late summer brings forth the annual International Conventional. Held this past September in Chicago, Circle K representatives from all over the United States were able to attend including three delegates from Christopher Newport.

Along with the two conventions every year are two banquets—one in the fall honoring new members; and one in the spring officially installing the newly elected officers.

Membership is open to any male student officially enrolled as a full-time student in Christopher Newport College. Those who wish to apply for membership may obtain an application from any Circle K member then must attend all the meetings within a month period.

Circle K is composed of an executive board including a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer; eight directors including the executive board and four elected representatives; and three standing committees: Social, Projects, and Programs. Those presently holding office are: Bud Wrenn, President; Roy Davis, Vice-president; Tom Lockard, Secretary; and Curtiss Pittman, Treasurer. The committee heads are: Curtiss Pittman, Social; Tom Lockard, Projects; and Mike Gordon, Programs. Mr. Donald B. Riley is the clubs faculty advisor.

Nursing Career Appeals To Sixty-two Freshmen

The challenge of a nursing career has proven appealing to sixty-two members of the 1964 Freshman Class of Christopher Newport College. These are the student nurses of the Riverside School of Nursing. Although part of their schedules will follow general freshman courses, time must also be allowed for special science classes. Included are anatomy, micro-biology, chemistry, psychology, sociology, and English. By Christmas of their first year, they will be gaining experience in general hospital care. Towards Spring, their responsibilities will include morning care, and by Summer, daily hospital work will be assumed with additional hospital classes.

Since all this hard work must be complemented by a little relaxation, the Nurse's School requires one of the following activities: chorus, drama, newspaper work, basketball, or cheer leading. In addition, one social is given each month. These are held in the recreation room of the modern nurse's home, which contains ping-pong, televisions, and other equipment.

In the second year, all classes are given in the hospital education building adjacent to the dormitory. It is required during this year that the students spend two hours of actual hospital work for each hour of class time. During the third year, many of the nurses study in Washington on affiliation and then return for a fourth year at Fishersville where they help with public health services.

At present, positions on the Student Council for the nurses are held by Brenda Ueagy, President; and Charlotte Anderson, Vice-president. Early this year elections for Secretary, Treasurer, and Chaplan will be held. The Council, under the supervision of Mrs. Whitehead, Director of Nurses, is doing a great job in student government for the nurses.

CNC Goes Ivy League

By Robert Hampton

The first day of school came and went much like any other. Yet that one day did as much to convince us that college is the place to be as did all the previous years of frantic preparation.

The school buildings are new and the school itself is only three years old. Christopher Newport can hardly be called an Ivy League college, for it has hardly had time to establish venerable and distinctive traditions, but such is the challenge of a new school. Its prestige may not be very great at first, but it is our turn now to make traditions and plant ivy on the walls. As time passes the students will become the power shaping the school and responsible for its prestige.

As the first day of school progressed, the students received impressions of the teachers and the teachers took stock of the student body. It's still too early to tell yet which evaluation is going to be correct. Toward the end of the day an air of tranquility seemed to prevail. A reception was held in the student lounge which again gave the new students a chance to find out about each instructor, as well as to meet other students. As the day closed, each new student went home to dream in anxious anticipation of the advantages of college life. Classes had not yet started.

Freshmen Election Monday October 30 Be Sure To Vote

Freshman class elections will dominate the last week of October. The Honor Council and Assemblymen elections will be held Monday, October 26, while the Class Officers' elections will be held Friday, October 30.

Also on October 30, the SGA Treasurer will be elected. This must be a sophomore student. Judge Fuller is presently acting as temporary treasurer until a new one is elected.

It is hoped that each student eligible to vote will do so, thus fulfilling his responsibility to his class and school. Freshmen will be able to vote each election; sophomores in the SGA Treasurer election only.

The queen and her Court will be announced at a dance scheduled for the latter part of December sponsored by the "Captain's Log". Still in the planning stages, further details on it will be announced at a later date.

Actions, Cont'd from page 2 education for those people interested in proving their minds. Learning can be enjoyable to anyone if time and effort is applied. Christopher Newport has a well qualified faculty, but it takes attentive students to set a high standard of learning. The "spoon feeding" method used in high school will no longer be applied.

The grades received will show the interest produced by each person. Our school's attendance is expected to grow considerably in the coming years, and it is our duty now to set a high standard of learning. We have a high goal to set now so that each following student will have a high challenge to meet. College is a challenge and when this challenge is met and conquered, only then can complete satisfaction be felt. It is each student's responsibility to strive to meet this challenge enthusiastically, and to overcome it.

This year at Christopher Newport can be a successful and enjoyable one for the whole student body and faculty if an interest in the school is shown. Put your best foot forward and give our school a name we can all be proud of. Let's meet the challenge and overcome.

Trish Williams

DeYong Decides Career Of Teaching Satisfying

Probably the first girl ever to admit she is satisfied with the color of her hair, is sophomore Leslie Ann Deyoung. She has long red hair and "wouldn't have it any other color!"

Leslie moved to Newport News from Pittsburg, California, when she was one. Her father, who came to the States alone from England at sixteen, owns the "De-Young Shoe Repair and Leather-goods Shop" at Newmarket. "He has a fascinating life story," declares Leslie proudly.

Upon graduating from Warwick High School, Leslie became interested in the field of pharmacy and worked at the Riverside Hospital Pharmacy. But... as girls do, she changed her mind. Dental Hygiene seemed to be just the thing for her. That lasted about a month, being quickly forgotten after assisting a dentist for four days.

Now her mind is definitely made up. Sounding like a typical female, she plans to teach high school. "Science and French are my favorites," she says.

Leslie chose CNC because it was close to home and small. She felt she could adapt herself better at a small school, then transfer to a larger one.

She likes Christopher Newport's friendly atmosphere and the advantage of meeting more people living in this area.

"Its only disadvantage is living at home with my sister and brother who attend Ferguson High School. They just won't keep quiet she explains.

Looking forward to being on her own, Leslie hopes to make William & Mary her stomping grounds for her last two years of college.

As a freshman, Leslie served on the SGA Assembly and was SGA Program Chairman. This year she was recently elected Program Chairman for the Young Democrats' Club. She's a "real LBJ backer!"

Painting and knitting are hobbies she enjoys but finds little time for. She's knitting her first sweater now and hopes it turns out.

Sorry guys, but her very favorite hobby revolves around a certain UVA Senior, who she's pinned to.

For the future...? Well, it's every girls wish to get married, but Leslie plans to teach in this area for awhile first. Guess her UVA man will just have to wait, unless, of course, she changes her mind about that like she did about her future career.

Choice, Cont'd from page 2 to lose friendships and split our allies. Instead of making us stronger, this administration has made us weaker and more vulnerable to any attack of the Communist Forces.

This man, my fellow Americans, and his administration does not have the dignity to direct our country, during this crisis, in a world which needs a strong America to save it from disaster.

But, thank God, we have among us a true, red-blooded American, who is ready and willing to give his life in order to preserve the ideals upon which our country was founded: Freedom and Democracy. This man has shown us the path of light through the darkness into which we have fallen. He is the man who is going to bring victory, rather than defeat. He will unite us and America will be looked upon again in the world as the standard of Freedom, not Defeat. He is the only one capable of stopping the advance of Communism before it buries us.

That is why, my fellow citizens, this year is one of crisis and decision. Will America continue to aid the Communist enemy, to disarm and retreat in the face of danger, and to bow before Communist dictators in every corner of the Earth?

The decision is yours.

Peninsula Arts Assoc. Presents 35 Paintings

Approximately thirty-five paintings and four pieces of sculpture will be on display at Christopher Newport College downtown in the old office space designed for the Arts Associations' showings.

The exhibition will come from the Virginia Museum of True Arts' Loan-Own Art Service in Richmond. The show will run from Oct. 2 through the 31st. The times of the showings will be from 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. weekdays.

The collection is part of the Services' large offering of Contemporary Virginia Art. Both members and non-members of the museum may purchase or rent at modest fees.

This show is sponsored by the Peninsula Arts Association, a chapter of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

Among the artists whose works have been selected for the collection are Nancy Camden, Emily Whaley, Barclay Sheolss, and Mary Etta Sharpe.

Many types of painting styles will be on view. Scenes will include landscapes and city scapes.

All the artists represented have had creations shown at the Virginia Museum in the Peninsula Virginia Artists exhibitions.

Most of the works of art in the exhibition will be available for purchase.

Leaders Compose President's Council; Fitzgerald Heads

Recently formed within Christopher Newport is the President's Council, composed of the leaders of the various chartered organizations in the college. Its purpose is to compile a calendar of events scheduled by each of the individual clubs. In this manner, it is hoped to prevent the planning of two major functions on the same day.

Headed by Scottie Fitzgerald, President of the Student Government Association, its members include, Jim Paxton, Editor of the "Trident"; Bud Wrenn, President of Circle K; Vicki Dowler, Editor of the Captain's Log and representative for the Young Democrats Club; Ted Cuervo, President of the Young Republican Club; Freddy Smallwood, President of the Baptist Students Union; Frank Klein, Vice-president of the Sophomore Class; and the Vice-president of the Freshman Class who has not yet been elected.
