Spring Break, Time to Fish, Study, Get Away

Spring Break is but four days away, and once again, the doors of colleges across the country will close for a week, or so, while student body and faculty takes a breather from strictly academic pursuits.

Last spring, the craze was streaking, and, not to be out done, a group of CNC students staged a daylight spin in the buff, around Wingfield Hall. Things appear to be quieter this year, there has been no rumors of "panty raids," "packing phone booths," "streaking," or anything else for that matter.

However, it doesn't appear that the week will be a total loss, a large percentage of the student body plans to put the time to good use—"working!" Others are planning a trip to the wide open spaces. David Lyon, Captain's Log's Chief photographer said he planned to go hiking in the mountains where, hopefully, he'll get some interesting photographs.

Bill Lang said he would use the week to "work on his van." Emily McGuire said she would, "do some studying and try to make it to the Natural Bridge in western Virginia and to Luray Caverns." I want to "sit at the Coliseum and watch the tennis balls fly," Sue Stannard said.

And, there were those who really wanted to get away from it all. Rick DeRousse, Ron Polling, and Tom Evans are planning a trip to Cocoa Beach, Florida where they hope to "catch some lobsters and a Barracuda."

Then, there are the academic minded. Jack Simms said he would use the week to "get going on my term paper and start the rest of the homework I never found time for this semester." Staff reporter, Lisa Halachis said she would, "recuperate from round-one and get my term papers done because when spring starts warming the air, you won't find me in the library."

Students are not the only ones looking forward to Spring Break, faculty members are also planning to "get away."

EHO's to Play WGH Jocks for Sunday Film Series

The WGH Jocks basketball team will meet the EHO's, a CNC intramural basketball team which, for this event, will be co-ed. Tip-off will be at 8:30 pm, March 5, in Ratcliffe Gym.

Admission is only 50¢ and all proceeds will go to the Campus Center Film Fund. As you may have read in an earlier article, the Film Fund is in desperate need of funds. So if you want to keep the Sunday film series going this is a chance to support it as you enjoy a Jock of a basketball game.

Outlook Bleak for May Graduates, Jobs Scarce

The current economic situation and resulting increased unemployment will make it difficult for many of Virginia's 1975 college graduates to find jobs, according to Ron Montgomery, placement representative for the Virginia Employment Commission.

In an attempt to help as many young Virginians as possible, the VEC will once more conduct its College Profiles program, Montgomery said.

"We can't promise to get these young people jobs, but we can get their names before prospective Virginia employers," Montgomery stated.

Under College Profiles, a list published by the VEC of recent college graduates who are seeking work is distributed to many Virginia employers. This year about 70,000 employers will be informed by direct mail of the availability of the listing.

To be issued in April, May and June, the list will carry the student's name, home address, college attended and major and minor courses of study. Employers who are interested in a certain student either contact him directly or arrange an interview through a local VEC office.

Seniors or recent graduates who want to be included on the list should see their college placement officer or visit their local VEC office. Forms available at either of these places must be completed and signed by the individual.

No charge is made to employer or job applicant for any VEC service.

"The Undertow" to Hold Book, Record Sale

CNC's Literary Magazine, "The Undertow," will hold its Super-Duper semi-annual book and record sale in the Campus Center Lobby, Wednesday through Friday, March 5-7.

Books of all types, except texts, will be sold between the hours of 9 am and 5 pm. The event is sponsored every semester by the magazine staff. Money raised by the sale serves as prize money for the next edition of "The Undertow."

Students who have books or records which they wish to sell may bring them to the sale, with a list of titles and prices for each item. The seller must set the price. Seventy percent of the selling price of books and sixty percent of the price of records will be returned to the sellers.

Books which have been donated to the magazine for this sale will be priced from 10 cents and up.

Students and faculty who plan to sell books or records should bring them to the sale on Wednesday so that they will have maximum exposure.

SAVE PARKING TICKETS REGISTER VEHICLES,

All motorized vehicles parked on campus by faculty, administrators, students and staff (day or evening) must be registered with the office of the Dean of Student Affairs. Failure to do so is a violation of the parking regulations.

There is no charge for parking stickers; they may be picked up Monday through Friday from 9 am to 9 pm either in the office of the Dean of Student Affairs or at the Information Desk in the campus center.

Homecoming Need More Extensive Planning

Although many people worked hard to produce an exciting Homecoming week, for several reasons it was not a success. 'Many' people will not take the place of the cooperation of the student body. A few hard workers can not accept the responsibility and take the interest of a few hundred. But let's not blame the students either.

Perhaps planning began too late, for it was only on the day pictures and names were tacked on the bulletin board that voting began for homecoming court. Students were asking themselves, "Hey man, what's going on?" No one had time to think about it, and consequently, only about 450 votes were cast, less than one sixth of the total student enrollment.

Another problem, someone thought about later, was the fact that not everyone passes thru the campus center as day classes go on. Estimates show that under one half of the students come into the campus center in a day. And let's not forget the night students. Should they not be aware of what's going on? Voting was over before most of them attended classes.

In most colleges, homecoming events are planned far in advance and the candidates are permitted to campaign. They are introduced to the students in an assembly or other event. Everyone familiarizes themselves with the faces and personalities involved. One picture tells us nothing.

The spaghetti dinner scheduled during homecoming week really bombed. Thirty people turned out, and even they became disappointed. An additional charge was added for the dinner essentials, bread and beverages. Problems with the dinner included a mix-up on the time and date. (Do we hear an echo, "Hey man, what is going on?")

Now let's describe homecoming itself. There was a prize awarded to the best decorated VW to appear at halftime in a VW parade. What happened to the parade? Cancellation is an old phrase around CNC.

The homecoming court was supposed to be presented during half-time, but whoever was heading the event waited until the last five minutes of the break. The opposing team had patiently waited on the sidelines and kept the floor cleared. But nothing happened. So, the last few minutes, they decided to take a few minutes to warm-up, and we decided to crown our king and queen. And that's all there was. No big ceremony. As a matter of fact, it was difficult to get it over with in the midst of the interference.

The dance planned for after the game may or may not have been successful depending on how you looked at it. At 11 pm 100 people had signed the roster at the door. We like to think about 250 actually came, but with a student enrollment of about 2900, is that good?

Most college homecomings include festivities for the alumni. It's important to invite them back to their alma mater. After all, that is what 'homecoming' is all about. But because the student body didn't find out about homecoming until the last minute, it is doubtful that alumni ever found out about it.

Let's face it...a tribute should go to the hard workers, but to the rest of the students, homecoming was a let down.

CHILDREN IN THE CLASSROOM!!!!

Editor: The Captain's Log

I would like to know if there is any rule concerning teachers bringing their kids to class with them in this college?

One of my teachers brings his/her little boy to class with him every day and it is very hard to concentrate on the subject with him playing in the background.

I do not think it is fair to the students who are trying to learn to have to put up with this. I believe the college has a day care center for students who have to leave their children in order to go to school. I think it is only fair to have the teachers follow this policy also because it is very disturbing to have a child who plays with trucks, blocks and other toys while the students are trying to take an exam.

These teachers who brought their children (all three of them) to class with them on the day of the exam last semester disturbed everyone in the class.

Now they bring at least one of the children to class every day. The children disrupt the class and I think someone should do something about this. Is there some way the students of this class can solve this problem?

Thank you
Concerned Student

* * * * *

Dear Concerned Student:

You're right, the faculty should not take their children to class nor should the students.

President Windsor, when he heard of this situation, said that "We have not formulated such a rule in our formal policy, however, neither the students nor the faculty may bring small children to the classroom."

Dr. Windsor has said that he will take action to insure that the word is disseminated.

Dance Plagued with Property Destruction, Litter, Misconduct

Residue from the dance sponsored by the Modern Language Club indicates that the dance was well attended, and no doubt, a huge success.

On the other hand, it has been rumored that the CNC security guard had to call for the support of the Newport News Police Department to clear the Campus Center because of rowdy conduct.

The parking area adjacent to the Campus Center appeared to be an annex to the Newport News Sanitation Fill. Beer bottles, wine bottles, and other assorted debris was scattered as far as the eye could see.

The cafeteria can best be described as "looking like a disaster area." Beer bottles and cans, empty cups and other debris was found, even in the lobby, the rest rooms, and on the second floor.

Posters were ripped from the walls and left on the floors.

Damage inside the Campus Center was centered in the second floor Men's Rest Room where the water spout and handles on one sink were broken and bent out of shape.

Information received at

Graduation Scheduled

In a recent memorandum, Dr. James C. Windsor, President of Christopher Newport College, announced that spring graduation exercises would be held on Sunday, May 18, at 8:00 pm.

Earlier, exercises had been scheduled for May 19 because the Coliseum had not been available on Sunday. Dr. Windsor said, "I believe this (Sunday) will be a more convenient time for all concerned."

press time indicates that some action will be taken regarding conduct and destruction of this type.

Needless to say, it will probably be some form of restriction on having dances and other activities in the Campus Center.

It is regrettable that all must suffer for the conduct of a few. On the other hand, what else can be done?

"Dual of Angels"

Cancelled

The CNC Players' production of "Dual of Angels" has been cancelled.

The Players extends their regrets, and their thanks to all who took time to work on the production.

Further, it is hoped that the student body will not be discouraged from working on future productions.

W-M Offer Course in 'Personal Career Planning'

William and Mary is now accepting registrations for its course in Personal Career Planning meeting from 9 am to noon beginning Saturday, March 22.

This course is designed primarily for adults considering a second career or for students exploring an occupation for the first time. Since most people move from job to job with little plan to their actions, the process of planning one's career in a systematic way will be the purpose of this course.

Persons who participate will be individually counseled and tested with the most current methods available to determine personality and interest patterns. There will be an opening group session on March 22. Thereafter individual and group sessions will be scheduled for testing, interpretation and counseling for the purpose of identifying educational or career goals and assisting the client to obtain these objectives.

The instructors, Dr. Adair and Dr. Geoffroy of the William and Mary School of Education are well known in the field of career planning. Dr. Adair has served as Director, Career Planning, Testing & Placement, and as a counseling psychologist and Director of Testing. Dr. Geoffroy has recently served as President of the Peninsula Personnel and Guidance Association and as Editor-in-Chief of the Virginia Personnel & Guidance Journal. Those completing the course will be awarded 1.5 CEU's.

The course will be held at William and Mary's Virginia Associated Research Campus on Jefferson Ave., Newport News. Those desiring additional information or registration may telephone the College's Office of Special Programs at 877-9231 ext. 200.

VETERANS' HOT LINE: Questions and Answers on Education Benefits and Problems

Q: How is eligibility determined for VA educational assistance?

A: In order to be eligible for educational benefits, a veteran must have at least 181 days' continuous active duty service, any part which occurred after Jan. 31, 1955. A veteran with less than 181 days service may be eligible if he or she was released because of a service-connected disability.

* * * * *

Q: How long do I have to use my educational benefits?

A: Eligibility ceases at the end of 10 years from the date of the veteran's release from active duty, except that veterans released between Jan. 31, 1955 - June 1, 1966, have until May 31, 1976 to use benefits.

Dr. Nauman, 'Evil is interesting to Everyone'

A large number of students and faculty gathered in the Captain's Wheelhouse to hear Dr. Nauman speak on his book, "Exorcism Through the Ages" (Photo by Lyon)

By Mary Dvorak

On Thursday, February 27, at noon the Pub was overflowing with people who had come to hear the illustrious Dr. St. Elmo Nauman. Dr. Nauman, professor of Philosophy here at CNC, edited a book entitled Exorcism Through the Ages, which has just recently been released.

In opening his talk to a Pub full of people, Dr. Nauman said he was "glad so many people were interested in evil," because evil is interesting in them. And it was from that moment on that he had the audience in the palm of his hand.

While he held the audience, Dr. Nauman discussed excerpts from his book. One story he related was of a seventeen year old girl who was recovering from an attack of typhus.

In the girl's room was a number of her relations discussing a fox they had spotted near the house, in the dusk. When they mentioned how odd it was to see a fox, the girl's body trembled and she became possessed by the devil.

Rising to the occasion, Dr. Nauman commented that she was a "foxy lady." But, as one would expect of the good doctor, humors of this sort were spread throughout his talk and peaked when he asked if there were any questions.

Doug Ferris tried to put the spotlight on Dr. Lee Doerries by asking what the chances were of a behavioral psychologist being possessed. As snickering from the audience began, Dr. Nauman turned the tables by saying that even Arabs can be possessed. With that remark the audience broke out in laughter and applause. A few minutes later, after answering the more serious questions, he finished up and thanked everyone for coming. But not everyone left, a number of people came up to compliment Dr. Nauman and a few had further questions.

Dr. Nauman's book, published by the Philosophical Library Incorporated, is presently available at Miller and Rhoads. It covers such things as exorcism in relation to the Bible, Catholic Faith, The Greek Orthodox Church and Satanism in medieval Germany.

The book also discusses a "History of the Devil" and the devil in Hebrew literature and thought. He also covers such things as possession and obsession.

Now to you Dr. Nauman—even though all of us will not be able to run out and buy your book, we do wish you much success with it.

Critic's Review

IN MY OPINION

By Doug Ferris

Rather than a play or an opera, this review deals with the recent SGA sponsored Bluegrass and Folk concert.

The bill of fare offered was well chosen and diverse enough to satisfy almost anyone, to a point.

John Cury, bass player for "East Virginia," started the show with some good blues and folk that showed off his abilities with a multitude of instruments. On stage alone, John is at ease, but not quite enough to carry even the half hour set that he did. Helped by his depth and knowledge of music, John makes a good effort, but the audience still seems to be at a loss for some good hearty solos that make you want to get up and dance, clap, or whatever.

Next out were Barbie Anderson and Jay Behm who, like John, possesses a good deal of musical talent, but are still unable to bring the level of the concert much higher than it was from the very beginning.

If one were to close his eyes while listening to Barbie, he could possibly imagine a cross between the high rich tones of Joni Mitchell and the mellow warmth of Judy Collins. To say the least, Barbie's voice is unique, but this evening, unexciting. Song after song, Barbie retained almost the same tempo and tenor with her story songs that, while enjoyable at first, can not be taken as a steady diet.

The true bright spot in the concert came after the intermission with the highly stylized music of Roy Bookbinder and "Fats" Kaplan.

In both their dress and music, "Fats" and Roy displayed their devotion to the era of the thirties. While the silent "Fats" fiddled, the subtle Bookbinder plied his voice and guitar to music that would make a young man want for the age of Al Jolson, Fanny Brice, and prohibition.

Combine their unique style with their clowning antics and you have an interestingly new angle on the variations that this form of music can have.

Keeping the tempo going after these two left the stage is difficult for even the best of bluegrass. With their own brand of fun, though at times corny, and a well balanced attack on the progress of the 'blues,' "East Virginia" had no problems in that department. With mandolin, fiddle, bass, guitar, and banjo at their disposal, you can guess the number of variations possible and they could probably think of a few more.

One thing "Virginia" mentioned, and was appreciated by the audience, was the new CNC sound system. Thanks to the efforts of Jim Rollings, and others, CNC probably has the best system around, providing a pleasant evenings entertainment for both guests and songsters.

With this concert, CNC has now been able to hear a wide range of bluegrass from a long list of capable performers. Behind all the work that goes into such a string of events stands, first, one person, and to her, I say thank you. Without this exposure, a CNC student might leave here thinking that the only type of music that exists is hard, electric, way-out, rock, classical, or some combination of the two.

So, to Barbara Anderson, many thanks for the education, after all, isn't that what we come to college for?

An added note; John Denver, in concert April 11, at Chrysler Hall in Norfolk.

Captainettes Defeat Chowan, 61 - 55 in Last Season Match

The Captainettes, CNC women's basketball team, grabbed a 61-55 victory over Chowan College in their final game of the season in Ratcliffe Gym, February 24.

Taking a 6-1 lead in the opening minutes, the Captainettes stretched the lead to 16-5 with 11:15 left in the half. The CNC team had its largest lead of 14 points with 5:51 left in the half, but the Chowan team showed good form (and played fine basketball too) to come back within 4 points when the half ended.

But the Captainettes were determined to pull in another win and in a brilliant display of offense and defense, surged ahead 42-30. Chowan, never regaining its composure, was down 61-51 with 2:09 remaining and made a final effort to pull out the game, but the Captainettes held fast to clinch a win in their final game for a 3-7 season record.

Diane Slye led the scoring for the Captainettes with 22 points, followed by Susan Wilkes with 14 points and Judy Wells with 10 points.

Campus Faces Parisian Brothers Attending Here

By Bill Hart

Edouard Noisin and Philippe Noisin, 19 and 18 years of age and both CNC freshmen at CNC, are two very interesting personalities.

For instance, Edouard has been to almost every major European country in his life. A computer science major, he says of CNC, "The professors are very good," and of the school itself "is not bad." He is an avid sports enthusiast and plays soccer quite well. Edouard's main interest includes a cross-country hitchhiking expedition to see America and possibly return to Paris.

Philippe, not to be outdone, plans to travel to Argentina after this semester and continue his education there.

He is presently a Biology major and has hopes of becoming a doctor. Philippe also plays soccer and wrestles. Of CNC he says, "English was my worst problem and the instructors at CNC helped to correct this."

The reason both brothers and their family have trouble with English is because they are from Paris, France.

Mr. Noisin, a lawyer and professor, taught at Hampton Institute for three years. He is presently teaching Anthropology at the College of William and Mary, lecturing at CNC during the evening.

Edouard and Philippe said, "Our mother is lovely and speaks very little English." She is employed as a secretary at William and Mary. "We also have two sisters, Carole who is married and resides in France and Chantale a Walsingham Academy freshman who has "forgotten how to speak French."

and Dr. Glenn Stillion, Western College University.

Dr. Windsor said, "Faculty and Staff are requested to be on campus Monday and Tuesday, March 17-18, in order to be available to the Committee."

Young Democrats Elect New Officers

New officers of the CNC Chapter of the Young Democrats were recently announced for the coming year. They are Mike Lentz, president; Tom Adams, vice president; and Tom Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

Topics for discussion at the YD meeting of Feb. 26 included the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner to be held March 15 in Richmond. Nine presidential hopefuls and National Chairman Robert Strauss will be attending. Tentative plans also include the State Young Democratic Convention in Charlottesville in April.

Any person wishing to belong to the YD's can contact Mike Lentz at 826-4681. The next meeting will be held on March 18 at 12:15 in CC-205.

Break Starts on March 8 - Week to Rest ??!

Dr. Albert E. Miller, professor of English, said he

AKPsi VOTE GETTINGTACTICS PAY OFF

Homecoming week has one significant success, if nothing else. Over 450 votes were cast in the race for a Homecoming King and Queen.

This large turnout, a record for any issue, can be largely attributed to the efforts of the brothers of Alpha Kappa Psi.

Perhaps their techniques were unorthodox, not letting people pass until they voted, but their results can not be denied.

would, "possibly take a trip to Intercourse, Pennsylvania to visit the antique auction."

While Dr. Joyce K. Sancetta plans to use the week to, "grade seminar papers with great pleasure."

Even the alumni-recently graduated-Stuart Smith, is trying to unwind. Stuart left for the Florida Keys last weekend where he hopes to have a week of suntanning in preparation for the influx of coeds from other colleges a week later.

So, as the winds of March blow in warmer days and nights, so does it bring the fever of spring.

For those of us who are not fortunate enough to get away, there will be the Coliseum Mall International Tennis Tournament, March 11-16; you might just spend the week laying around, or perhaps, you would prefer to sit on the James River and watch the tides ebb and flow.

Whatever your choice may be, have a nice break.
