Mosteller modernized library, emphasized quality

by Sue Killam

Christopher Newport College's Captain John Smith Library was left open during the funeral services for Head Librarian Bette Mosteller October 13 because the library staff felt she would have wanted it that way.

"She wanted the library open to students at all times," said one library staff member.

Bette Mosteller died in a car accident October 10. State Police told the Daily Press. Miss Mosteller's family requested that in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to Captain John Smith Library. A memorial service was held in the nautical area of the library Tuesday, October 19.

Miss Mosteller had been with the library since 1962, when the college was housed in what had been the John W. Daniels Elementary School. She supervised the building of the first section of the library now in use, as well as the addition completed in May of 1979.

She not only "made everybody's job a lot easier and organized," but also tried to create a comfortable atmosphere for the students, staff members said.

Miss Mosteller was responsible for bringing computerized cataloging and inter-library loan services to CNC, said one staff member. The number of books coming out of the cataloging department to be put on the shelves for students doubled, the staff member added.

Miss Mosteller initiated the borrows agreement and the courier service, staff said. These enable CNC students to borrow books from other local college libraries without leaving CNC campus.

Miss Mosteller was the Vice Chairman of the Library Director's Committee of the Tidewater Consortium, an organization of 13 local colleges. She was also Chairman of the inter-library loan subcommittee.

Miss Mosteller chose the furniture for the library, and set up the small study areas with tables and lamps where individuals or small groups can work, said staff. She also chose the paint colors and wood stains and was responsible for the addition of potted plants to the decor.

Miss Mosteller felt that atmosphere was especially important in a commuter college like CNC because students cannot always go home between classes and should have a comfortable place to study, staff said.

In the late sixties and early seventies, students wanted closed carrels, staff members said, which Miss Mosteller made sure were included in the addition.

Miss Mosteller also worked with Alexander C. Brown in setting up the nautical collection named for him, staff said.

One staff member said that Miss Mosteller had worked in every area of the library and understood them all. The member cited acquisitions, cataloging, and reference as examples.

Another member said a student once mistook Miss Mosteller for a reference librarian and asked her for assistance. She helped him. Miss Mosteller seemed to miss the close contact she had had with students when the library was small, another staff member said.

Library staff members described Miss Mosteller as "extremely intelligent" and "very creative." One staff member said that she was a perfectionist who "put an emphasis on quality" and "appreciated something well-done." She was someone "you could learn from," the staff member said.

Miss Mosteller was working on several CNC committees this semester: the Buildings and Grounds Committee, the Affirmative Action Committee, and the Faculty Handbook Committee. The Faculty Handbook Committee is responsible for redoing the handbook.

Before coming to CNC, Miss Mosteller was a cataloger for the State library, which awarded her a fellowship.

Miss Mosteller was named in Who's Who of American Women and Who's Who in the South and Southwest. She was a member of the Virginia Library Association and the Library Advisory Committee of the State Council of Higher Education.

Budget cut creates Counseling Center vacancy

by Susan Easler

Katie Lewis, Assistant Director of the Student Counseling Center, left the college in August to move closer to her family. Ms. Lewis had been with the Counseling Center since August of 1979. A former Arizona resident, Ms. Lewis is now employed at Central Arizona College in Coolidge, Arizona, near her home in Phoenix.

Ms. Lewis was not only a counselor but was Coordinator of Minority Affairs at the college. She sponsored the BSA and did many other things as well. However, Ms. Lewis' position has not been filled.

According to the Vice President for Student Affairs, Dr. Charles Behymer, the reason Ms. Lewis has not been replaced is because of the Governor's five percent budget cuts. The Office of Student Affairs takes care of the following offices in its budget: Admissions Office, the Registrar's Office, the Financial Aid Office, the Student Counseling Center, and the Career Planning Office.

The budget cutback for the Student Affairs Office was $25,750.00. The Admissions and Registrar's Offices have certain fixed costs for such items as testing materials, pamphlets, catalogs, forms, and other miscellaneous items. The total operating budget is $100,000.00.

Ms. Lewis' position will not be filled until the Office of Student Affairs determines the budget for next year. If the cuts are less than they were this year, Ms. Lewis' position might be filled by this spring, Dr. Behymer speculated.

This leaves no one, at the moment, in charge of Minority Affairs.

'Plug-in-Peninsula' familiarizes newcomers and residents

by Sue Killam

An introduction to the Peninsula will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, October 23, at Christopher Newport College.

"Plug in Peninsula," co-sponsored by the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and CNC, is planned to familiarize Peninsula residents, especially newcomers, with area organizations and services.

At least 70 organizations are expected to attend, said Nancy Major, who initiated the program.

Museums, city departments, schools, health agencies, libraries, clubs and many other groups are to participate. Most will bring wall displays, video tapes or slides, Major said.

Displays will be spread through three buildings. In N125 groups will be showing movies throughout the day, while, in the back of Newport, health displays will be set up. The other displays will be in the Campus Center and the small gym.

Entertainment, which will be in front of Gosnold, will include twin balladeers from Colonial Williamsburg, a trained monkey from Busch Gardens, and possibly a dramatics group from William and Mary.

There will also be a parachute jump by General Robert Hixon at noon.

The CNC Sailing Club will be selling seafood.

The Peninsula needs a program like "Plug in Peninsula," said Major, who hopes it will become an annual or possibly a biannual event.

Major moved from Germany to the Peninsula in June of 1981. After attending a Langley Orientation for newcomers, which was nothing but tourism, she said, Major decided that a more complete orientation was needed.

She spoke to Agnes Braganza, CNC director of Continuing Education and president of the Peninsula Women's Network, about the need for a better program.

Braganza and Major brought the idea to the Chamber of Commerce, which agreed to co-sponsor the program and provide the advertising.

The Chamber is making a special effort to reach newcomers. Welcome wagons, realty firms, apartment managements, VEPCO and C&P will be advertising the program, and the shipyard is putting fliers in with paychecks, said Braganza.

Major said that although "Plug in Peninsula" is to "let newcomers know what the Peninsula is all about," even a lifetime resident can learn something from it.

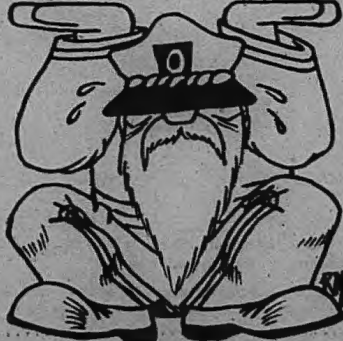

Braganza said that students are special guests, and she encourages them to tell friends and neighbors about the event.

Although CNC is co-sponsoring "Plug in Peninsula," no money has been taken from the college budget for the project.

The program is being run mostly by volunteers, and any money that is needed will be provided by the Peninsula Women's Network.

Leigh Fenigson, Mary Klang and Nancy Major are volunteers who have been working on the program with the Office of Continuing Education. Mary Sandy, also a volunteer, has been helping with the publicity.

During the event, the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) will be assisting the campus police, and the Jaycees will be helping set up displays.

Alumni featured in Career Program

by Shirley Greene

Accounting students should take advantage of the opportunity to meet two successful Christopher Newport College accounting majors at the Career Program Wednesday, October 27.

Richard P. Pontynen, a Certified Public Accountant for Goodman and Company, and Alfred J. Shrieves, an audit manager for Coopers and Lybrand, will lecture to students and offer their expertise in accounting-related fields.

Pontynen graduated cum laude from CNC with a B.S. Degree in Business Administration and afterwards attended the Fashion Institute of Technology where he received his Associates Degree in Industrial Engineering. He is also a graduate of the Command and General Staff School of the U.S. Army.

Pontynen has had a wide range of job experiences including construction, real estate, taxation, estate planning, retail, and equal opportunity regulations in addition to his seven-year affiliation with Goodman and Company.

Shrieves is a 1973 graduate with a B.S. Degree in Business Administration. He rose from a staff position to a managerial career with Coopers and Lybrand and is now responsible for many public and private enterprises.

Shrieves is active in many community organizations including the Rotary Club of Newport News, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants, and the Health Care Financial Management Association.

The Career Program will be held in the Campus Center Theatre from noon to 1 p.m. All members of the CNC community are invited to attend this event, co-sponsored by the Office of Career Planning and Placement, the Student Association, and Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity.

Powder Puff football

Attention females! This is your chance to play in the "Super Bowl." Powder Puff football sign-ups will start October 14 and continue until October 28. There will be a Captain's meeting October 29 at 3 p.m. in the cafeteria. The tournament starts October 31.

Organizations, individuals may sign-up as such. Individuals will be placed on a team which must consist of eight players. Please, come out and participate!

If there is a good turn-out this year, there will be a regular season established next year. For further information, contact Ron Garner at 596-3880 or 599-7054 or in the Intramural office between 1 and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Spooky Talk

Sigma Tau Delta, the National English Honor Society, will present its third annual Spooky Talk, Thursday, October 28, from 12:15 to 1 p.m. in N204.

Each year in October we set aside some time to put away the books, relax, and listen to a "horrible" Halloween-inspired talk. This year we have invited Dr. Al Millar of the English department to come and scare the daylight out of us. So, pack a lunch and bring a "fiend" and prepare to be scared.

Poster sale

Studio A is sponsoring a poster sale by Poster Porters on Monday, October 25, 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. in the Campus Center. This will be a special showing and sale to include European exhibit, art deco, framed gallery Maeght, Sante Fe artists & jewelry. Most prices will be $5-$30. MasterCard & Visa accepted.

Golf tournament

On Sunday, November 7 there will be a Christopher Newport Golf Tournament open to students, faculty, staff, and alumni. The tournament will be held at Hampton Golf Course. The cost will be $8 per person. This will cover green fees and prizes. There will be a scratch division and a handicap division using the Calloway scoring system. All players must specify the division they wish to participate in at the time of entry.

Entry deadline is Tuesday, November 2. All fees must be paid by this date since green fees must be paid in advance. The tournament will begin at 10 a.m. Individual tee times will be posted at the Campus Center Information Desk on Thursday, November 4.

To register and to pay fees contact Dick Ryther in the Campus Center, ext. 7006. Don't delay since the number of entries is limited.

Costume Party

A Halloween Costume Party is planned for all club members and their guests on Friday, October 22, at 7 p.m. at Danny Pritchard's house. Check the Psychology Club bulletin board for directions and a sign-up sheet for food. Come join in on the fun! Remember the coffee and doughnut sale taking place daily in Wingfield Hall.

Movie tickets for sale

Tickets to Newmarket Twin Theatres & Newmarket Rocking Chair Theatre in Newmarket South Shopping Center are now on sale at the Campus Center Information Desk. These tickets are available to CNC students, faculty & staff at $2.50 each which is a substantial savings. The tickets are good for one performance and must be exchanged at the box office. They will be honored Sunday through Thursday only and expire April 21, 1983.

Psych majors

Attention all students: the Psychology department has posted a computer printout which lists those students officially classified as psychology majors by the college. Please check the printout, and, if you appear on the list incorrectly, please mark through your name. If you do not appear on the printout and have declared your major in psychology, please add your name and phone number to the list. The printout is located in the main hall of Wingfield.

SVEA workshop

Members of the SVEA will hold a "Make-it, Take-it" workshop on Saturday, October 23, from 9 to 11 a.m. in N202. Bring posterboard, paper, magic markers, and scissors and learn how to make creative learning centers, bulletin boards, puppets, and home-made slides. "Freebies" for the classroom and SVEA handbooks will be distributed. All students are welcome to attend!

Book sale

Sigma Tau Delta will have a Fall Book Sale on October 25, 26, and 27, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Campus Center Main Hall area. If any Sigma Tau Delta members can spare an hour or two to help sell some books, please do so. Please sign up on the sheet posted on the Sigma Tau Delta bulletin board. If anyone has any old books - paperbacks or textbooks - to donate, please give them to Dr. Jay Paul in N206. The proceeds from the book sale will help Sigma Tau Delta and Currents develop programs for the Spring semester. All assistance will be greatly appreciated.

Benefit horse show at Oakcrest

The Christopher Newport College Equestrian Club will be having a benefit horse show on November 6. If it rains, the show will be held on November 7. It will be at Oakcrest Riding School, located across the York River bridge. The show starts at 10 a.m. There will be jumping, flat class, and fun events (English). Ribbons will be awarded for each class, and a champion and reserve champion ribbon given in each division.

A trophy will also be awarded to the champion of each division. These trophies will be donated to the club by local persons and businesses. We would like to thank the Student Association for its support by donating fees for one of these awards.

Food and drinks will also be available on the show grounds. If you would like to participate in the show, please feel free to join in the fun. If you would like to come and watch, please do so. For more information and directions call Paula Mangus at 898-4644, or ask any Equestrian Club member.

All proceeds from this show will go to the club to cover transportation and entry fees to the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association competitions. Come out and support the club. We have a strong team this year, and we would like to support them at regionals and possibly at nationals. The team would be a strong representative for the college.

Keeping up with Street Talk

By Anne Doop

"It's easy to classify Bob Dylan; it's easy to classify AC/DC; but how do you classify The Band?" Lloyd Bohlinger of The Street Talk Band made an attempt at classifying the band's style of music during an interview following the Wednesday night show.

The band's blend of jazz and rock does not stand out as a single style of music; however, a subtle jazz sound is present in the band's interpretations of tunes like "Tak'n It To The Streets" by the Doobie Brothers and the title track of the upcoming LP, One For The Working Man, which will be produced by the band and distributed by a local record company.

Street Talk is presently comprised of Jimmy Jones on electric piano and synthesizer, Michael Jones on vocals and on both tenor and alto sax, Tom Jones and Curtis Eley on guitars and Jimmy Dunn on bass guitar. None of the Joneses are related.

Even though the sound was too loud for the small space of the cafeteria, it was clean. The vocal separation could have been better, but the harmonies stood out.

The first Ladies' Night at Christopher Newport would have gone over better if there had been more advance notice. As it was, the men outnumbered the ladies, and the crowd stayed relatively small. Others were preoccupied with the World Series game, being televised in the Pub.

Other tunes included "Working For The Weekend" by Loverboy, "Manic Mechanic" by ZZ Top, and the original song "Running Into The Night," reminiscent of Loverboy's "When It's Over." All were done with the jazz flavoring.

Street Talk has improved since the last time it played at CNC. The leads were closer and better constructed, and the vocals were good despite the poor sound. For other local bands, keeping up with these Joneses will be tough.

Antigone chorus lasts through the years

by Ann Catherine Braxton

Sophocles' immortal work Antigone, which debuted in the amphitheater of Athens around 440 B.C., told the story of the ill-fated daughter of Oedipus who is sentenced to death for defying the law to preserve her family's honor. At its first performance, Antigone probably featured a chorus of between 12 and 24 members. The odes (or poetic speeches) of the chorus were divided into stanzas called strophes (delivered when the chorus moved first in one direction) and antistrophes (delivered when the chorus moved in the opposite direction).

The 1982 production of Antigone at Christopher Newport College will be the result of rigorous dramatic exercises designed to deliver a new and experimental interpretation of Greek tragedy and the personal viewpoints of the director, Dr. Bruno Koch; the choreographer, Don Tolj; and the actors.

The word "chorus" implies that the members speak their lines in unison, but Dr. Koch has divided up the dialogue between the six members. He says of the chorus, "They are town elders, representatives of the people, and informers, illuminators weaving in and out from one function to another. They usually represent a mutual view of the community. The Chorus (or leader) tends to show more of a personal point of view."

Don Tolj, the artistic director of the Chamber

Ballet Company in Williamsburg, is staging his second play at CNC with Antigone. The first was last year's season opener You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown.

In interpreting the odes they have to recite, the chorus must perform dramatic movements. Tolj describes the process of selection of movements by explaining, "The cast members work through exercises to help realize the intent of the ode. They read the odes and pick out key ideas and phrases. We take the literal meaning of the ode and try to abstract it. Some odes are pure movement while others are narrative. From there, I incorporate the interpretations of the chorus. I choose the best movements from what the chorus does."

Adds Lori Paschall, who plays the Chorus, "We all had different meanings, different interpretations. You have to start with your own viewpoint and go from there."

"Yes, it's a growing process, hopefully," continues Tolj. "The chorus is trying to discover a character. They're using their individual ideas to grow into a melding of ideas to come up with a unit."

Along with Lori Paschall, the chorus also includes Ed Caldwell, Juanilda Diolosa, David Mattson, Michelle Matzeder, and Gina Lee Moore.

Next week we will take an in-depth look at the chorus members and the other major cast members.

Sports

Soccer needs motivation

by David M. Bean

The Christopher Newport soccer team has had two matches in the last 12 days, and, regrettably, the picture hasn't become any brighter. On October 5, CNC hosted the University of Richmond Spiders and lost 5-4. The Captains fell behind at the half, 2-0, with Brady and Felix scoring for the Spiders.

The second half was much the same. CNC could not get the offense in gear, and the defense played inconsistently. This resulted in the Spider's Streep increasing the lead to 3-0. "We played with no intensity in the first half," CNC Coach Roland recounted later. "It was terrible and embarrassing."

After Streep's goal, CNC's offense started to wake up. Victor Kwantreng, doing what he does best, brought the Captains back to cut the margin to 3-1. He was assisted on the goal by Sean Gatz and Ian Curran. Kwantreng, who now has 11 goals and one assist, was to play an important role later in the match.

The Spiders were not about to sit back and watch things get away from them. Brady continued to be a major problem as he pushed across his second goal of the match to increase UR's lead to 4-1. Most teams at this point would have packed it in, but not the Captains. They responded with three goals in 13 minutes to tie the match at four all.

First came Juan Curz's goal; then Chak Pang with a penalty kick narrowed it to 4-3. From here it was Kwantreng who tied it up. This was the way it stood until the last minute of play when Brady completed his hat-trick to do in the Captains 5-4.

"The half was very good; we played with great intensity, and we lost it in the last minute. Our offense is very unpredictable. Defensively, we're still making dumb mistakes."

The next match found the Captains travelling to Salisbury, Maryland last Saturday. Not much difference in this one, but the defense did play much better. It was 2-1-SS until the final ten minutes of the second half when the walls came tumbling down.

Roland said of the 4-1 loss - "Our defense did play well that game; our offence didn't play that good." Kwantreng got the only CNC goal, and Roland stated Sean Gatz played a good game as well.

One of the major problems, Roland feels, is the lack of pride some players have. "It is hard on me, as a coach, to have to constantly motivate some players. You're on a level of competition where the pride should have already been there. I feel that too much of my time is spent motivating the same players week in and week out. One thing, trying to motivate as much as I'm doing now is silly."

"We also need to put together 100 percent during the games in order to win them. We can't put together one-third, or one-half, or two-thirds. We need that 100 percent effort from everyone. You can't instill competitive pride in someone who does not have it to start with, and who could care less. It is a struggle to get some of them up for a match. Some players are always up for the match and that's one less worry. It is hard not to get frustrated when you're losing. The bottom line is you have to play with pride in order to win."

Berry, Borsheim claim All-State Honors

by Vince Kelly

Ron Borsheim and Tom Berry finished in the top ten and claimed All-State honors as the Captains took third in this past weekend's State meet at Washington and Lee.

Borsheim finished third and Berry fourth as the top ten finishers were within 43 seconds of each other.

Coach Vince Brown, pleased with his team's performance against tough Division II competition, believes the meet was good preparation for upcoming Conference and Regional meets.

The Captains traveled to Hampton Institute Wednesday, but the results were not available at press time.

Baseball improves with age

by June Friedman

After a shaky start in Fall ball, the Captains have won five of the last seven baseball games, winning over the Apprentice School, Bridgewater College, Virginia Wesleyan, Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU), and University of Richmond.

Even though Christopher Newport has had a varsity baseball team for barely a year, the improvements from one season to the next have been enormous. The success of team performances is due partly to the superb pitching of veterans Sam Motley, Mark Voeglin and newcomers John St. George and Mike Hines.

The team also comes alive with outstanding hitting from Steve Cook (.400), Keith Parnell (.360), Nick Spiridigliozzi (.315), Mike Bidelman (.294) and Peter Faller (.257).

The last game of the Fall Season will be on Sunday, October 24, when the Captains travel to Richmond's Parker Field to take on the Rams of VCU. The first game of this double-header will start at 1 p.m.

Flag Football continues strong

by George Koutris

The flag football games this past week were of great importance to the overall playoff picture. The most important game featured the "Good Ole Boys" ("GOB") versus "OU81" with the winner gaining a second place seed and a first round bye in the upcoming playoffs.

The "GOB" team was paced by Steve Giessinger with two touchdown catches. But the "OU81" combined offense of Leigh Smith and Richard Gould evened Giessinger's output. This caused the game to be decided on the final extra point conversion by Tom Wals. The final score was "OU81" 14, "GOB" 12.

The second game featured Sigma Pi against ROTC with Sigma Pi coming out on top due to the last-second touchdown pass from Perry "Chester" Moss to K.C. Laporte. Sigma Pi won that game 8-0.

The final game of the day pitted the Alumni against the "Over-the-Hill Gang" ("OTHG") with the Alumni destroying "OTHG" by the score of 39-0.

Child psychologist stresses importance of relationship

by Linda Dozier

Establishing a rapport by creating sound relationships was a major emphasis in child psychologist Peter Powell's lecture in the Christopher Newport College theatre on October 11.

"You don't cure an individual, but help them one step at a time," said Dr. Powell. In psychiatric treatment, Dr. Powell feels you should "set a series of goals and work towards a commitment." In his studies Powell stresses the goal of controlled behavior.

Powell, who works at the Colonial Institute of Adolescent Psychology, categorized an adolescent as a child between the ages of 13 and 18. Adolescents are frequently characterized by depression and behavior difficulties. Over the past year 150 percent more youngsters have been referred for psychiatric help.

Relationships are of major importance to Powell. He feels that many adolescents' problems are due to faulty relationships in their backgrounds. Powell feels "To have a relationship means there must be a contribution on both sides." He noted that sound relationships between family and peers is important in the development of an adolescent.

Dr. Powell uses a method of treatment which is based on the creation of relationships. This technique, the Multiple Impact Theory (MIT), brings the adolescent together with his family to find and soothe the problems therein.

In the MIT process the youngster and his family are put together, along with the doctor, for a period of five to six hours. This session is filmed and observed by another consultant. In this way Dr. Powell said they "can work with the child and the family."

In many cases the child is given a temporary "good" mommy and daddy at the hospital who help the adolescent put his life back together. The "good" mommy and daddy are not lenient with the child due to his illness. In many cases they can be critical and expect much from the child, who has their love and attention.

Dr. Powell said, "It is not what you do but who you are to the person." He feels that most of the problems adolescents suffer are self-induced and treatable, but a good open relationship between patient and doctor is important. As Dr. Powell said, "They can out-silence us."

CNC Prof turns model

by Patricia Earls

It started two summers ago, when Dr. Robert Cummings, from the athletic department, was playing volleyball on the beach with some of his friends.

Dr. Robert Cummings

Flashback: the sand, the surf and Cummings playing volleyball. The sun has tanned his skin to a dark glow. Pair that with his almost white hair and his electric blue eyes - startling. Startling enough for a representative from Glamour Limited, a modeling firm, to ask him if he would like to work for them.

He says, "They were looking for someone my age, because there is a demand for them in modeling."

Since that day, Cummings has posed as an executive and a family man, in a three piece suit and tennis clothes, for newspaper and television ads. During the school year, while on a CNC contract, Cummings is limited to two hours a month. During the summer, he is free to work as much as he likes.

This past summer, Cummings auditioned for a soap opera. Although he wasn't cast, he enjoyed the experience. The role was a stoic news-commentator in a sticky situation.

Cummings has taught college for 16 years, and modeling for him is a "diversification." Some of this new experience has taken him by surprise. For instance, who would expect that a 10 second speaking spot would take four hours and over 30 retakes to produce? But that and the heat on the sets have not driven Cummings away from modeling. His goal is to go into some national advertisements.

So watch for Dr. Cummings on television; that Racquetball Club representative just might have been your tennis coach.

Concert

Timothy Olbrych, guitar instructor at The College of William and Mary, will be in concert at Christ and Saint Lukes Church, Olney Road and Stockley Gardens, Norfolk on Monday, October 25, at 8 p.m. For more information call 623-8579.

Consort performs repertoire

The Deller Consort will perform at Christopher Newport College on October 23 at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Theatre. Tickets cost $6.

Since Alfred Deller founded the Deller Consort in 1950, the group has become synonymous with the highest level of artistry in the authentic performance of Renaissance and Baroque vocal consort music. With over fifty records to their credit and regular tours throughout Europe and the United States, as well as Canada, South America, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and Israel, the Deller Consort has succeeded in maintaining the highest standard of technical excellence in an unusually vast repertoire, while bringing to each performance a very special vitality and freshness that cannot fail to captivate its audiences.

Although the personnel of the Deller Consort has changed somewhat in its thirty-year history, baritone Maurice Bevan has been with the Consort since its inception. Robert Spencer, who was lutenist to the Royal Shakespeare Company at Stratford-on-Avon and has collaborated with such distinguished artists as Dame Janet Baker and Julian Bream, joined the Deller Consort in 1974, and since 1976 it has been directed by Alfred's son Mark, who became a member in 1963.

Since their last visit to the United States in the fall of 1980, the Deller Consort has toured extensively in France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Austria, Italy, Spain and Latin America. At their thirtieth birthday concerts in Paris, they filled the Theatre de la Ville for five consecutive nights, while in London the Sunday Times lauded their "fine chording, balance and coordination" with a toast - "Here's to the next thirty years!"

Dieting aspects discussed

by Wes Witten

Christopher Newport College and the Riverside Community Mental Health Clinic's Department of Dietetics sponsored a lecture and public forum on dieting, anorexia nervosa, bulimia and other psychological aspects of dieting last Friday, October 15.

People from Riverside Hospital, local colleges and private clinics spoke at this day-long lecture. According to Michele Bordelon, who works at the Riverside clinic, this day-long lecture was given in response to a questionnaire sent out to the general public asking the people what interested them the most. There was such a response to the questionnaire about the psychological aspects of dieting that the clinic decided to give the lecture.

CNC was asked to help by providing the facilities.

Anorexia Nervosa is a mental disorder which causes the person to become obsessed with dieting. In extreme cases, the person may die a slow death. Anorexia nervosa affects in one degree or another up to 30 percent of college females.

Bulimia is a disorder in which people will gorge themselves for a number of psychological reasons. In extreme cases, the people will force themselves to regurgitate after eating to avoid gaining weight.

The clinic has set up a support group to help people with these disorders. Call Michele Bordelon at (804) 599-2194 for more information.

Casemate closes for renovation

The Casemate Museum in Fort Monroe, Virginia, will be closed to the public November 1 through February 28, 1983. During this time a major renovation and expansion will be made.

This renovation and expansion, planned during the past two years, will nearly double the size of the current exhibit area, as well as increase facilities for the economical production of exhibits and the maintenance of the museum collection. Major exhibits programmed for early 1983 will include a new diorama depicting the battle of the Monitor and the Merrimack and an audio-visual display showing the defenses of the Chesapeake Bay from 1830 to 1945. A mini-theater will also be added to the museum.

The Casemate Museum will remain open through October from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day of the week. Normal operating hours will resume in March of 1983. The museum is open to the public and free of charge.

X-mas mail call begins

The 1981 Christmas Mail Call was the most successful ever. For this the staff of Armed Forces Mail Call would like to thank those who participated by sending Christmas mail. Numerous reports have been received from the various agencies which distributed the mail to our young servicemen and women, telling how much all the cards and letters were appreciated at Christmas.

Mail, whether individual pieces or by the box-full, is welcomed from everyone, and is in turn sent to more than 100 locations across the U.S. and around the world, where it is made available to the young volunteers serving in our Armed Forces.

The 1982 Christmas Mail Call is not under way, and this is an ideal project for individuals as well as college groups and organizations. For information on how you or your group can have a part in this unique, morale-boosting program, please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Armed Forces Mail Call, 6520 Selma Ave. - #315, Hollywood, California 90028. Thank you!

Should there be one graduation?

It has come to the attention of the Student Association that financial restrictions may require that only one graduation ceremony be held per year. However, we as a student body can still voice our opinion on this issue. The Board of Visitors will be addressing and voting on this issue on October 28. Therefore, it is urgent that you fill in this questionnaire and make your opinion known.

All questionnaires can be placed in Room 232 in the Campus Center. Please reply. Your opinion is needed.

1. Graduation should be held:
 - ☐ A. off-campus
 - ☐ B. on-campus
 - ☐ C. on the lawn
 - ☐ D. inside
2. Graduation speaker should be:
 - ☐ A. community leader
 - ☐ B. local personality
 - ☐ C. faculty or administration member
 - ☐ D. fellow student
3. Would you be willing to pay a graduation fee?
 - ☐ Yes
 - ☐ No
4. How many graduations do you feel should be held per year?
 - ☐ A. only a winter graduation
 - ☐ B. only a spring graduation ceremony
 - ☐ C. both a spring and winter graduation

Guidelines to improve operation of newspaper

The following statements are a list of guidelines for submitting articles, Campus Closeups, classifieds, and personals to The Captain's Log for publishing.

1. Everything that comes across the Editor's desk must be typed and double-spaced!!!
This includes Campus Closeups, classifieds, personals, and articles. Having to wait for a staff member to type a stack of submitted articles slows down the editing process. Typed articles also eliminate illegible handwriting which leads to misspelled names.
If a typewriter is not available to you, we have two typewriters in our office that can be used for Captain's Log purposes.
2. If an article or Campus Closeup is to be run again in the next issue, it must be resubmitted.
If you know ahead of time that an article should be printed for two or more weeks, make a Xerox copy before turning it in to prevent you from having to write a new article.
3. Make sure that all copy is typed on a full sheet of typing paper.
Full sheets are easier to handle and less likely to get lost.
4. The final deadline for all copy is Monday at noon.
If Monday is a school holiday, deadline is switched to Friday at noon.

Any club wishing to advertise with The Captain's Log must notify Gregg Klich, our ad manager, by Thursday that an ad space will be needed.

Ad copy must be in our office by Thursday, a week ahead of the intended publication date or by Monday at noon for that week's issue. All campus organizations receive a 50 percent discount on Captain's Log ads.

We would like to thank those clubs and organizations that have been submitting articles to The Captain's Log for publication; this semester, Intramurals, the Equestrian Club and the sailing team are doing so. We try to cover every event of which we have prior knowledge, but sometimes we are spread too thin to do that.

We would appreciate that the above guidelines be followed. For those people who have conformed to these standards, we publicly thank you. To those who will adapt to these rules, we will greatly appreciate your help.

The Editor

From Our Readers returns

In our next issue in lieu of an opinion page, The Captain's Log will again feature the creative talents of our student body. If you have an essay, a very short short story, any poetry, drawings or photographs that you would like to have published, please submit all work to the Editor-in-Chief by Monday at noon. Remember that all copy, no matter how little, is to be typed before it is submitted.

All Letters to the Editor must be typed and double-spaced and include the writer's CNC status. Any letter that does not conform to these guidelines will not be printed. Please send all Letters to the Editor to the following address:
