State Support Decrease Causes $4 Increase in Parking Decals

by Susie Hawley

The fee for a parking decal entitling students to parking privileges increased to seven dollars due to a decrease in state support and funding.

According to state law, the state is not financially responsible for the creation, maintenance, or upkeep of parking lots on any state-supported college campus. Therefore, the financial responsibility for parking lots has been placed upon the student.

According to John McCaughey, director of Student Life, "The college has taken on the attitude of a users fee. Those who wish to use the facility will have to pay to use it."

McCaughy said, "The money from the increase will go towards the maintenance and upkeep of the current parking lots and towards the completion of the unpaved lot behind Wingfield Hall."

Compared to other state colleges, Chris-

Who's Who Takes Applications

Students interested in applying for nomination to the 1983-84 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities & Colleges should pick up an application and two recommendation forms in the office of the vice president for Student Affairs A403.

This is the second year that CNC has participated in Who's Who. For the 83-84 year the College will be able to recognize up to 51 outstanding campus leaders for their scholastic, leadership and community achievements.

This year, CNC will consider applications from any classified student with a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or better who has already completed or will have completed by the end of the Fall semester 86 credit hours.

Selection is based on academic standing, participation and demonstrated leadership in campus activities and community service.

The application and two recommendation forms must be returned to the vice president for Student Affairs by noon, October 14.

topher Newport's parking fee is minimal. The cost of a parking decal at Old Dominion University is $45 and at Virginia Commonwealth University is $15 a month.

English and Math Depts. May Absorb Basic Studies

by Rose M. Ward

It has been proposed that the Basic Studies department be dissolved, and incorporated into the English and Math Departments.

The recommendation was made by the Program Review Committee, which reviews all the programs of the college.

Dr. Douglas Gordon, chairman of the Basic Studies Department, said that "last year, the State Department of Education required all institutions of higher learning that teach Basic Studies to develop task force reports."

"CNC's task force, made up of four faculty members, made the study, and found the program to be effective."

"They recommended that the college keep the Basic Studies Department as it is."

"Most of the faculty at CNC see the need for and recommend that there be some kind of courses offered to bridge the gap between high school and college learning. In 1974, 40 percent of new students were either failing, or withdrawing. Three years ago, that figure was reduced to about one-fourth because of Basic Studies."

Asimov Speaks on Human Destiny

Free tickets are available for a lecture by Dr. Isaac Asimov, scientist and science fiction writer.

William and Mary's Office of Special Programs is offering free tickets for Asimov's lecture at the Hampton Coliseum Thursday, October 13, at 8 p.m.

Fall Fest begins this year on October 5, with a Sigma Pi cookout.

On Thursday, October 6, the film One Trick Pony will be shown in the Pub.

On Friday night at 8 p.m., the Circle K Club will sponsor a DJ dance in the cafeteria.

On Saturday the Fall Fest will be wrapping up with events from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The Student Association is running this festivity and participation is open to all clubs and the public.

Booths set up by the clubs will sell food and drinks and some will have games. A flea market will also be held.

To acquire a booth, clubs must notify Sherri Lascola in the Student Association Office by September 30.

Any nonstudent organization or individuals wanting to acquire a booth must call the Office of Student Life at 599-7260, and are required to pay a $5 fee for the booth.

A meeting will be held in Lascola's office, CC229, on October 6 at 12:15 p.m. to discuss final details of Saturday's festivities.

Lascola said the SA is hoping to have a "big turnout."

Scott McPherson, SA President, said: "This year the Fall Fest will incorporate events that have been successful in the past, and we're anticipating a large turnout."

According to Lascola, the following organizations have already signed up for these events: Alpha Kappa Psi, Pop Corn and Cotton Candy; Concert Music Club, Dunking Booth; Sailing Club, Clam Chowder; SVEA, Baked Goods; Pi Kappa Sigma, Kissing Booth; Studio A, Art Sale and 25 Pound Bag Relay Race; IVCF, Dart Balloon Game and Cork Gun Game; Captain's Log, Bean Bag Toss Game; Circle K, Candy Apples; Social Work Club, Tip-the-Cat Game; ROTC, Skydiving; Association for Computing Machinery, Video Games; Sigma Pi, Hot Dogs, Hamburgers and Beer; Little Sisters, Soda Sales.

During the day, there will also be a free egg-throwing contest and a tug-of-war.

Guidelines set by the ABC Board of Virginia will be in effect at this event on Saturday and drinking will be limited to one area on the side of the field.

Student Life Handles Campus Job Placement

by Linda Dozier

On-campus jobs for students are handled by the Office of Student Life in the Campus Center.

There are currently 150 to 160 jobs on campus which are held by students.

These jobs range from custodial work to secretarial work.

Students taking 12 hours or more who are seeking on-campus employment should fill out an application form in the Office of Student Life.

Areas of interest and any special skills should be listed on the application.

Students must also fill in the hours which they are available to work.

Job placement is based on known vacancies or openings on campus. No preference is given to applications based on the length of time they have been held in the office.

When there is a job opening on campus, Mrs. Betty Helm, coordinator and co-administrator of the job program, sends copies of students' applications to the prospective employers. Students are usually interviewed by the employer before being hired.

Students who work on campus are paid minimum wage unless specific skills are required. In such a case students may be paid above minimum wage.

While enrolled in school, students are only allowed to work 20 hours a week with no taxes or social security taken out of their checks.

During non-school periods, students may work up to 40 hours a week. However, taxes and social security are taken out of their checks.

Many of the positions carry over from semester to semester or year to year.

New Scenery Designer & Instructor Comes to CNC

by Scott Helm

Chuck Riccillo, pronounced Ri-chill-o, started work this semester as Skelly Warren's replacement.

With this job comes the title and work of an instructor, scenery designer, and theatre manager.

Riccillo first became interested in theatre after high school, when he acted in summer musicals in his hometown.

He decided to major in theatre in college because he had a lot of interests that were brought together by theatre.

In his 11 years of experience in theatre, Riccillo has been active in a number of different academic and professional theatre departments.

His first work was at the University of Southern Colorado. After this he received his bachelor's degree from the University of Wyoming.

He then worked jobs such as actor, playwright, scenic designer, and technical director. He worked at the Green Mountain Guild in Vermont, the Raleigh Little Theatre in North Carolina, Duke University, and finally at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

As a graduate student at UNC he had some intense professional experience and recommends the graduate technical theatre program "very highly for those people who have already had some professional experience as designers and technical directors."

The one thing that seemed most attractive at CNC to Riccillo, who prefers to be called Chuck by his students, was the broad cross-section of students.

He said he "likes people, and ... likes to teach people, and be taught by them."

Riccillo is very goal-oriented. He keeps a list of goals mounted on the wall above his desk.

Chuck Riccillo

His primary goal is to "become the best possible teacher." He added "teaching is something that I love."

His secondary goals include: reaching out to the community for financial assistance and voluntary labor for the Theatre Department; revitalizing the Captain's Players, a student production group; searching for more funding and grants from the college and state to aid in instruction of students and in production; adding additional professional personnel in the theatre on a long-term basis; and developing the theatre and scene shop as a "teaching and production tool" for students.

This year two major productions will be put on by the theatre department. The first will be Death of A Salesman. This is a classic in drama and is "gripping every time it's done," Riccillo said.

The second production will be Godspell. In this he plans to have some fun and experiment with different things.

Riccillo and his wife, Trish, are a "two-theatre family." She is costume designer at William and Mary. This will hopefully allow a better relationship to evolve between our schools. Riccillo said: "Practically no theatre organization is important enough or adequate enough unto itself to ignore a nearby theatre organization. We all need to help each other out."

About the future of the Theatre Department, he believes "that if anyone has a chance for growth at this institution, it may very well be the theatre because we are the college's window on the community."

Students Juggle on Campus

by Ann Catherine Braxton

From the days when deformed jesters delighted the European kings of medieval times up to the present day, people have been fascinated by the art of juggling.

This art, which many have attempted since early childhood, has come to CNC through an entertainment-oriented club called the Juggling Society.

Founded by CNC students Tim Wahlstrom and Ronnie Dymond, the Juggling Society held its first meeting on Friday, September 23, and outlined its goals for the year.

New members will start out as pledges and through juggling lessons and juggling workshops, will rise to become junior jugglers, intermediate jugglers, and then grand master jugglers.

In its amusing constitution, it outlines the qualifications for membership and calls it president the fool, the vice president the assistant to the fool, and the secretary/treasurer the juggler of the books.

CLEP Tests On Major Subjects Offer College Credit

CLEP, the College-Level Examination Program, enables students to receive credit for college-level learning acquired outside the traditional college classroom. The program includes general exams and subject exams.

General exams are 90-minute multiple-choice tests that measure college-level knowledge in five basic areas of the liberal arts: humanities, natural science, mathematics, social sciences and history, and English composition.

At CNC, the English composition examination with essay incorporates a 45-minute essay section and is required of CNC students.

The English composition test without essay will not be considered for credit.

The test with essay is offered twice a year, in June and October.

A satisfactory score on a general examination yields six credit hours toward a particular distribution requirement.

Any student who has credit for more than one semester of a course which relates to one of the college's distribution requirements, may not use general examination test results to establish credit toward fulfillment of the requirement.

Subject examinations are offered in the areas of composition and literature, history and social science, science and mathematics, and business.

Most of the subjects are designed to correspond to one-semester courses. However, some correspond to full-year courses.

Each subject examination is 90 minutes long and is composed of multiple-choice questions to be answered in two separately timed sections. Most subject examinations have a 90-minute optional essay section.

If a student misses the minimum passing CLEP score by one or two points, the essay portion is then read by the appropriate department to determine whether or not credit will be awarded.

The CNC Counseling and Career Services Office administers all CLEP exams each month of the year except December and February.

The office has study guides for most of the exams and also a book of sample questions that are available to view before registering.

Italian Renaissance Painting Acquired by Chrysler Museum

by Terry VanDover

The Chrysler Museum unveiled September 16 its most recent major acquisition, a fifteenth-century Italian painting by renowned artist Filippino Lippi.

The painting was donated to the museum by Walter P. Chrysler, Jr. in memory of his late wife, Jean Outland Chrysler.

Museum Director David W. Steadman described the new acquisition as a "beautiful, refined and sophisticated early Renaissance painting by one of Italy's most talented artists."

The panel picture, titled Madonna and Child Enthroned, has a history of ownership which dates back to the late fifteenth-century collection of Gian Giacomo Trivulzio, the French governor of Milan.

At some point in the nineteenth century, the painting passed into a private Roman collection, from which it was purchased in 1936 by Baron Heinrich Thyssen for his gallery at the Schloss Rohoncz in Lugano, Switzerland.

The work came from this well-known collection to the Chrysler Museum.

The Madonna and Child Enthroned has been dated at 1485, the era in which the High Renaissance was coming to fruition in Florence.

The Madonna is seated on a low bench to symbolize her humility, and she is flanked by primroses, which denote purity. The niche in the background displays the artist's knowledge of the architecture of Leon Battista Alberti, a pioneer architect during the Renaissance.

Filippino Lippi, born in 1457, was the illegitimate son of Fra Filippo Lippi and a young nun Lucrezia Buti, a liaison celebrated in a poem by Robert Browning.

Filippino received his earliest training from his father, a pivotal artist in late fifteenth-century Florence. Filippino later became an assistant to Sandro Boticelli, the favored painter of the Medici patrons.

Filippino Lippi, like Boticelli, was a master of flowing, elegant lines and radiant colors.

His talent emerged early, and Madonna and Child Enthroned is a masterpiece from the years just after Lippi became an independent artist.

The Madonna and Child Enthroned has been included in every important book on Filippino Lippi, including those by Scharf (1950), Berti and Baldini (1957), and Gamba (1958). The painting was dated by Bernard Berenson in his Italian Pictures of the Renaissance: Florentine School (1963).

The Chrysler Museum, Olney Road and Mowbrey Arch, Norfolk, is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays. Admission and parking are free.

tradesmen will demonstrate their skills. Food concessions will offer diverse ethnic and typical Tidewater fare.

Those attending the festival will be able to see trappers, wheelwrights, goldsmiths, weavers, potters, and coopers displaying their crafts.

Musicians, dancers, and storytellers will perform.

Tactile Art Show Opens

by Terry VanDover

A tactile art show, designed especially for the visually impaired, will open at the Moton Community House in Newport News on October 9, coinciding with the first day of Handicap Awareness Week.

The art show, titled Impressions: A Touch of Art, premiered in August at the Portsmouth Community Art Center, and has since been touring the southeastern United States.

As a special project for the International Year of the Disabled Person, Cultural Experiences Unlimited in Norfolk commissioned works by recognized Virginia artists for a tactile arts show, whose theme is, "The arts know no barriers - creativity is universal."

Impressions: A Touch of Art is accessible not only to the visually impaired, but also to wheelchair users. Signatures are done in Braille and large type. The show is cued by knotted ropes, which indicate the location and nature of nearby works.

A slide show of the artworks also helps people with certain visual disabilities to see the works better.

For sighted people, blindfolds will be available, so they may explore the exhibit by touch, without the distraction of visual stimuli.

The exhibit includes 23 works, ranging from realistic to abstract, done in fiber, stone, wood, clay and canvas.

Some of the artists used the opportunity for double entendre. For example, John Tobin's carnival clown bust, Seeing is not Always Believing, has a wide smile painted across its face, but discerning hands discover that the clown is really frowning.

Contributing artist Lynne Sward said, "Every artist should put on a blindfold and explore his work by touch before he finishes a piece. The sense of design and form is actually heightened. We hope people who go through this exhibit have as much fun as we did designing the pieces."

The Moton Community House is located at 2101 Jefferson Ave. in Newport News. The exhibit will be open from 1 to 3 p.m. through the end of October.

NASA Shows "Space and Things"

The NASA-Langley Visitor Center in Hampton is currently showing "Space and Things," an exhibit of colorful abstract art by Mary Beard-Detroit.

Captains' Cross Country Runners Start Season

by Steven Grinstead

The Christopher Newport Women's Cross Country Team began its season at the ODU Invitational on Saturday, September 17. The 5,000 meter run was held at Mt. Trashmore.

The CNC team had a strong one-two finish from Cindy Smith and Karen Humphrey.

Sophomore Cindy Smith finished the 5,000 meter run in 20:16. Smith placed tenth in the overall field of runners.

Karen Humphrey, a freshman, followed close behind Smith. Humphrey crossed the finish line at 20:25. She placed eleventh overall in the event.

Coach Vince Brown commended the two runners on their performances.

Brown stated, "I thought Cindy Smith and Karen Humphrey ran very well for this early in the season."

Brown has high hopes that they both will do well in this year's Division III cross country events.

The women's team lacks strength from the third runner on down. Brown commented that the team needed "dramatic improvement" at these positions.

CNC was the only Division III team in the ODU Invitational. CNC placed fifth in the five team event, with 115 points.

Christopher Newport's Men's Cross Country Team had its opening debut at the Old Dominion University Invitational on Saturday, September 17. The 10,000 meter run was held at Mt. Trashmore.

Six other colleges competed in the ODU Invitational. They were: William and Mary, Virginia Military Institute, University of Richmond, Virginia Commonwealth University, Norfolk State, and ODU.

Placing first for the Captains was sophomore Ron Borsheim. Borsheim ran the course in a time of 26:43.7. The run was good enough for a tenth overall placing.

Also finishing high for CNC were freshmen Steve Fuller, Colin Munsey, and Steve Kast. The three runners placed sixteenth, eighteenth, and twentieth in the entire field.

Cross Country Coach Vince Brown said, "Three freshmen—Fuller, Munsey, and Kast—ran very well, especially for a first meet."

CNC was the only Division III team that competed in the ODU Invitational. CNC finished a close fourth with a total of 95 points.

William and Mary won the event with 25 points.

VMI was second with 57 points and Richmond placed third with 89 points.

VCU, Norfolk State, and ODU were the bottom three finishers.

Christopher Newport's Men's and Women's Cross Country teams had their second meet on Saturday, September 24. The meet was held in Williamsburg at the Dunbar Farms course.

The men's team ran against two powerful Division I teams. Both, William and Mary, and Virginia Military Institute, won by wide margins. The two-way meet ended: William and Mary—15, CNC—50, VMI—17, CNC—46.

The tough competition against Division I teams affects the race. But Coach Vince Brown likes the tough competition.

When CNC has its meets against Division III teams, "We'll run even better," states Brown.

The top five finishers for CNC were Steve Kast, Ron Borsheim, Colin Munsey, Steve Fuller, and Tabb Justice.

Costs of Unreported Vandalism Add up

by Scott Helm

Every time someone commits an act of vandalism on campus, we must all pay for it.

Cost may be for replacement of equipment, for labor hours spent installing equipment that must be replaced, or for cleaning up.

Only four incidents of vandalism were reported during the 1982-83 school year.

However, as an employee of the Campus Center, I know for a fact that many things have been destroyed in that building alone.

Chief Capehart confirmed my guess that a large percentage of vandalism is never reported.

Things that have happened in the past year include burning posters, dumping cleaning materials down drains, and scratching graffiti into furniture, mirrors, and fresh paint on the elevator door.

But most often the major damage occurs in the men's bathrooms during concerts and other special events. Why they call this the men's room is beyond me.

Anyone who would pour cement down a toilet can not be called a man.

People who rip thermostats off bathroom walls are not civilized men, but maybe apes.

Those who beat on poor defenseless towel and soap dispensers are not men, but childish bullies wanting to increase their own ego by ripping some defenseless thing apart.

To those who go about destroying state property, I say this - if caught, you can be punished by up to 12 months in jail and/or a $1,000 fine.

How can these inconsiderate creeps be called "men" when even little boys in elementary schools act more civilized?

I recommend to these people who need to cause destruction and hit things to go outside and beat on the nearest brick wall. It will do wonders for an overly-aggressive mood.

I also appeal to those who witness vandalism to get a good description of the person and report it immediately.

You may be saving the college and the taxpayers money by preventing these creeps from doing any further damage.

To those who go about destroying state property, I say this - if caught, you can be punished by up to 12 months in jail and/or a $1,000 fine.

That's a pretty stiff penalty, but I'm one person who wishes it were much stricter.

So if you witness anything out of the ordinary, please report it to the campus police or to someone in authority as soon as possible.

Remember, stopping these people can only be done with the aid of students who will give descriptions of these people and testify against them.

Progress Erases Traditions

by Rose M. Ward

Don't call me "non-traditional." I am a "traditionalist." For nine long, laborious years, I have been haunting CNC's "halls of ivy," and the end is still not in sight.

Does that amaze you? I'm sure most traditional students, or those who fit in the non-traditional category, would have earned a double major and would be back teaching at CNC in that length of time.

Does that bother you, you may ask?

Put it this way: there comes a time when, in the course of pursuing a college degree, the challenge no longer consists of chalking up credits, but of trying to see it through and all the while, keeping step with an everchanging campus. Some of us are unique. Eccentric might be a better word to use here. To be somewhere between a non-graduate and a graduate would appear to some to be weird, but so goes the world. Like the Red Queen in Alice in Wonderland, "I have to run twice as fast to stay in the same place."

As a long-time student at CNC, I feel it to be my privilege to voice my opinion on certain changes taking place at the college.

One of the long-standing traditions that is undergoing a change at CNC is the consolidation of the Placement Office and the Counseling Center.

The two offices will now be classified as Counseling and Career Services (CCS). The change may well be a step forward for the college, but I'm not concerned so much here with what will be gained by the venture, as with what may be lost in the transition.

Will the atmosphere of the formal and technical new set up be more impersonal than the small informal surroundings of the old Placement Office, where each student was made to feel special on a personal basis?

Another tradition of an academic nature may soon disappear from CNC. A proposal is underway to dissolve the Basic Studies Department, and combine it with the English and Math Department. Some students may need basic studies to bridge the gap between high school and college learning. If progress is allowed free rein, there soon may not be any traditions left to salvage. Is it only a matter of time, then, that the Computer Department will replace the Department of Arts and Letters?

Campus Closeups

Pre-Law Club

The Pre-Law Club would like to thank Mr. Jeremy Welts, guest on Friday, September 23, for taking time out of his busy schedule to speak to the group.

At this time the club would also like to announce that the representative of the University of Richmond, Margaret Lane, who will be on campus October 3 for recruiting, is scheduled to speak to the club from 2 to 2:30 p.m. in CC214.

Anyone interested in speaking to Lane is urged to attend this meeting.

The next pre-law meeting will be Tuesday, September 27, at 12:15 p.m. in A305. Anyone interested in the field of law may attend.

If there are any questions, please feel free to contact the PLSA President, Monica Bellflower.

Bloodmobile Drive

Alpha Kappa Psi Professional Business Fraternity will hold a bloodmobile drive in the Campus Center during the week of October 4-6.

The purpose of the bloodmobile drive is to set up appointments for donors to give blood on October 7.

Having an appointment will help donors avoid long waiting lines. Give the gift of life, give blood.

Sociology/Social Work Club

The Sociology/Social Work Club will have its second meeting Wednesday, October 5, at noon in N119.

The Sociology/Social Work Department will have its annual Welcome Picnic on Saturday, October 1, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. behind the Campus Center.

Students should bring their own burgers and a covered dish. Beverages will be provided.

The sailing team took second place to Duke last weekend at the Davidson Regatta. UNC took third place with Davidson fourth.

CNC was in first place at the end of the sailing but dropped to second on a protest.

CNC Is for Sail

Sailing lessons for club members will be Friday, September 30, from 1:15 to 2:30 and from 2:30 to 4, and on Sunday, October 2, from 2 to 3:30 and from 3:30 to 5 at the Warwick Yacht Club.

Christian Fellowship

This week Dorothy Jennings will be the guest speaker for Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. She will be speaking on growing a prayer life.

Come hear her this Wednesday at noon in N125.

CNC Horticulture Club Plant Sale

The Horticulture Club will hold a plant sale on Friday, September 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The tables will be located in the Campus Center, between the cafeteria and the Information Desk.

Half of the proceeds from the sale will go toward furthering the club's projects, and the remainder will be used to purchase supplies needed by the greenhouse such as pots and fertilizer.

This is a great way to get some fine houseplants at reasonable prices. This sale will feature bromeliads, succulents, ferns, and several other types of foliage and flowering houseplants.

Bromeliads are related to the pineapple, and are very easy to care for. They tolerate house conditions well, and their blooms will often stay on the plant for up to three months.

Succulents are also very unusual houseplants, and very easy to care for. They like dry conditions, and not too much water, so they can stand some neglect.

Members of the Horticulture Club will be on hand to answer questions and to help customers select plants.

They make nice gifts, and a plant can help to brighten up a dreary winter day.

Spanish Club

The second meeting of the Spanish Club will be held October 3 at noon in Wingfield 221.

The Spanish club meets the first and third Monday of each month. All interested Spanish students are welcome to attend.

Flag Football Kicks Off

Intramural Flag Football started with a bang on September 18.

The opening kick-off was at 9:30. The first contest pitted I Tappa Keg (ITK) against ROTC.

The game reminded the fans of an air show, for there were three touchdown passes thrown during the game.

Richard Gould of ITK caught two touchdowns of 20 and 30 yards.

John Clark for ROTC caught 25 yards, scoring strike.

The outcome of the game was ITK - 22, ROTC - six.

The second game was to start at 10:30, but because of a forfeit by the Over-The-Hill-Gang, the Alumni had another week of practice. They were awarded one victory.

The third game of the day was almost a repeat of the first game. Todd Repass, the quarterback of the Good ol' Boys, picked apart Sigma Pi's secondary with three touchdowns of 50, 40, and 45 yards. The final score was Good ol' Boys - 22, Sigma Pi - 0.

The final game of the day featured the Animals versus the No-names. It was a very hard and physical game.

Neither team scored during regulation time, so a play-off rule was applied. Each team was given the ball on the 50 yard line and had four plays to gain as many yards as possible. The victory went to the Animals, who won by one foot.

Cross Country

CNC had a strong performance from Steve Kast. Kast finished twelfth overall, with a time of 33:27.

After the race, Kast said, "I felt strong all the way through." Kast also believes, "The good competition helps."

After the race Brown stated, "I do not think they ran as well as they did last week."

The women's team also competed against strong Division I teams.

The three-way event ended: William and Mary - 18, CNC - 43, Navy - 23, CNC - 38, Towson State - 23, CNC - 48.

The top five women finishers for CNC were Cindy Smith, Karen Humphrey, Sheryl Messerschmidt, Silvia Douglas, and Cyndie Cronk.

Both Smith and Humphrey ran the 5,000 meter (3.1 miles) course in good form. Smith finished fourth overall at 19:29. Humphrey finished tenth overall at 19:50.

CNC will have its first home meet on Saturday, October 1. The event will start at 11 a.m., across from Warwick High School.

The teams competing against CNC will be Salisbury State, St. Andrews, Apprentice School, and Hampton Institute.
